PI KAPPA ALPHA'S DELEGATES TO THE INTERFRATERNITY CONFERENCE

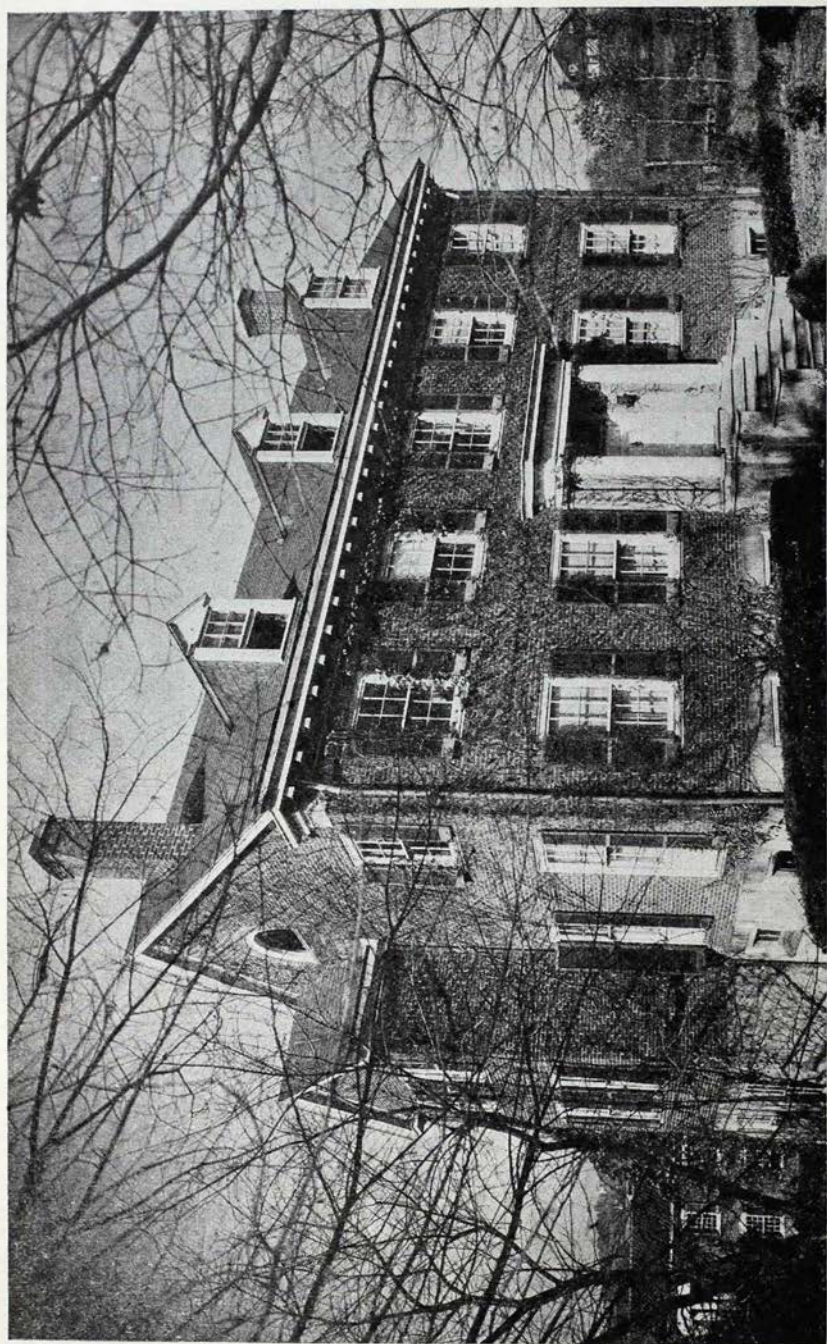

Lambert      Perez      Francis      Smythe      Johnston

The three members of the Supreme Council, the Grand Alumnus Secretary and the Grand Editor were in attendance at the Interfraternity Conference at the Hotel Pennsylvania, New York City, November 28th and 29th. The deliberations and findings of the Conference will be published in the next issue.

This was the first time since the Convention that these Grand Officers had met together and they made the most of the opportunity. Considerable time was devoted to the discussion of a plan for alumni activity as outlined by Brother Lambert. The Supreme Council itself held four executive meetings, granting two new charters as announced elsewhere in this issue.

Taylor, Beta-Alpha, Johnson, Alpha-Chi, and Tuggle, Omega, representing the undergraduate Intrafraternity Councils at Penn State, Syracuse and Kentucky respectively, were also in attendance at the Conference. Pulcipher, Beta-Eta, Associate Editor of the SHIELD AND DIAMOND, was present for one session.

CHAPTER HOUSE OWNERSHIP IN PI KAPPA ALPHA

Editor's Note: The Standing Committee on Chapter House Plans presented a report to the St. Louis Convention, April 23, 1924. At that time information had not been received from all the chapters. During the summer the additional replies have come in. Brother J. Harold Johnston, Alpha-Psi, the committee member who wrote and compiled the original report, has revised it as below. The information given is as of February 1, 1924, and includes every chapter then on the roll, 60 in all.

Each of the 30 chapters owning houses was asked to send in a photograph. All did not respond, but those appearing in the chapter news section are all owned by the respective chapters.

The way to build and maintain a national fraternity is to have strong individual chapters. And the way to have strong chapters is to have every chapter its own landlord.

As far back as May, 1907, at the Richmond Convention, the national fraternity recognized the importance of house ownership and the chapter house fund was established to encourage and assist this necessary work. Various conventions since that time have amended the original plan until now a substantial, ever-increasing revolving fund is available. Recognizing the importance of house ownership, the last convention ordered a standing committee appointed whose duty it would be to help and advise chapters in the purchase or building of a home.

Your committee has made a very careful statistical study of every chapter owning a house, for it was our belief that the experience of those who had successfully negotiated their own houses would be of material assistance to those who wanted to.

In making our tables, we thought it advisable to indicate the year in which the purchase was made, for we could then study amortization more easily, and averages based upon the houses bought within the same year would mean more. The term "second mortgage" is used to cover all junior liens on the property, such as loans from the fraternity fund, bonds, notes, etc. This classification does not include stocks or bonds, with or without interest, given to alumni as receipts for subscriptions. The figures used do not include alterations or indebtedness for furniture but are concerned only with the actual house and grounds.

Table I shows the history of the purchase. Exactly 50 per cent of our chapters own their own houses of which more than 50 per cent were bought within the last five years. In fact our oldest house was only purchased thirteen years ago. At least one house has been purchased each year since then except during the war years of '17 and '18. The average length of ownership is five and one-half years.

Totals.	30	$526,050	$322,250	60	$100,800	20	$423,050	80	$103,000	20

The original purchase price was $526,050 of which 60 per cent was on first mortgage and 20 per cent was on second mortgage or other funded indebtedness. The total cash paid was 20 per cent. Note how these percentages fluctuate. In some cases the first mortgage was but 30 per cent while the second mortgage was 43 per cent, and where the first mortgage was high, the second was low.

We, therefore, can draw the conclusion from the average experience of all our house purchases that 20 per cent in cash, 20 per cent on second and 60 per cent on the first mortgage is needed. Your committee believes that 20 per cent cash should be the absolute minimum, and that the first mortgage should not exceed 60 per cent.

The holders of the first mortgages are as follows:

Banks .....	6	College .....	2
Bonds .....	2	Investors .....	6
Builder .....	1	Life Ins. Co.....	2
Building & Loan.....	3	Sellers .....	8

It is interesting to note that under the heading of "investors," one was a brother and one was the relative of a brother. In every other case the mortgage was taken as a straight business proposition for banks, insurance companies and the like do not lend money on sentiment. Fraternity houses are good investments.

The second mortgages are held by banks, colleges, sellers, individuals and building and loans but the fraternity funds and bond or stock issues predominate. In some instances there are two or more on one house such as a bond issue and the fraternity, etc. Eight houses did not have any second mortgage. One chapter, for instance, exchanged a smaller house and financed the difference by first mortgage plus cash. In other cases a relatively large first mortgage plus ample cash on hand obviated the second entirely. It is your committee's opinion, however, that it is much better to have a 50 per cent to 60 per cent first mortgage, for while the land may increase in value, the house decreases and the tendency is not to reduce the first mortgage in proportion.

The cash in almost every case comes from three sources, a house building fund supplied by regular payment of notes made at the time of initiation or graduation and maturing each year according to a regular plan, cash dues or parts of initiation fees or regular chapter deposits in a building and loan and by the sale of stocks or bonds to the alumni or contributions from friends, parents, etc.

Table 2 shows the history of amortization. The first thing is to get the house, but the mortgages must eventually be paid off. The average reduction in the second mortgages has been 41 per cent. No house purchased previous to 1915 has a second mortgage at this time and the reduction has been 50 per cent or more for houses purchased previous to 1920. The first mortgages have been reduced 12 per cent making the total mortgage reduction 18 per cent. If the average period of ownership is 5 1-2 years, the reduction has been 3 per cent per year. While it is true that half the houses representing 80 per cent of the total cost have been purchased within the last 5 years when the rate of reduction is naturally the smallest, it is your committee's opinion that sufficient effort is not being made to amortize the debt. Very few chapters have a regular plan. In some instances the undergraduates still sign notes but payment is irregular. In other cases stock is still sold, but the effort is spasmodic. There seems to be general satisfaction and consequent indifference just as soon as the purchase has been made. We strongly urge that continued effort be maintained to reduce and wipe out indebtedness.

Table 3 shows that while the original cost of our 30 houses was $526,050, the present indebtedness (February 1, 1924) is $342,830 or 65 per cent. If, however, the present estimated value is used as a basis, our indebtedness is 52 per cent. This estimated present value is $654,650, an appreciation of almost 25 per cent. It is undoubtedly true that land values have appreciated in most cases. The cost of improvements and additions to houses have not been included in any of the figures so far given. If such figures had been included in the original cost, this appreciation would not be so large. It is worth noting that while some chapters did not report increased value over purchase price, no chapter claimed any depreciation.

How did these chapters go about the purchase of a house and what is the general plan to follow?

The first prerequisite of house ownership is a desire on the part of the active chapter to have their own home. And that is not a trite remark. The writer knows one chapter who has wanted a house for five years. But their attitude is this: "Here we are, alumni, we need a new house. What are you going to do about it?" And the writer knows another chapter which, when the alumni did not respond, went out and raised $10,000 from business men and friends in the town. You must want a house badly enough to do more than just talk about it. You must work!

The first step in connection with house ownership is to establish a corporation with the purpose of owning property. Laws differ in each state but most have a "not for profit" class of corporation which serves the purpose and saves various taxes and fees. There must be at least one lawyer brother practicing in the state who would incorporate the association for you. This corporation must be distinct from the chapter management and it should have a distinctive name such as the Alpha Psi Chapter House Corporation, the Southland Hall Association, etc.

Having incorporated, elect a working board of directors and a particularly active executive committee, for they will bear the brunt of the work. Get the hardest working brother you have as chairman. Get a banker, a lawyer and an advertising man on the committee. Make liberal use of names well known to your alumni. This promotes confidence and gives standing in business contracts.

Decide on the house or lot you want and get an option on it. Lay out a definite plan in all its details, including a budget. Show income and expenditures and demonstrate that the house will be self-supporting. The amount of rent the chapter will have to pay the corporation must cover taxes, interest on mortgages, insurance, major repairs, etc., and enough above expenses to provide a sinking fund for the retirement of mortgages, stock, etc. The active chapter budget must take into account the running expenses, upkeep, etc. When these two budgets are made up and balanced, the chapter must guarantee to maintain their's.

With the option secured and the budget balanced, negotiations for mortgages must be started. Almost any bank will give a 50 per cent first mortgage and perhaps 60 per cent if your property is conservatively valued and your budgets are reasonable. The seller will usually take a short term second mortgage. Where this is impossible, individuals or banks may discount renewable notes or second mortgages with a yearly reduction feature. These mortgages should be from 75 per cent to 80 per cent of the purchase price, leaving 20 per cent to 25 per cent to raise in cash.

The best method to raise this money is by the corporation to issue stock or bonds. The par value may vary from $10 to $100, $25 being the most popular. Some chapters make these bear interest from 4 per cent to 8 per cent per year. The advisability of this depends upon the amount to be raised. If bonds take the place of a second mortgage, interest may be necessary but otherwise not. Such interest adds a heavy burden and while stocks bearing it may be sold a little easier, a careful investor looking for income can find much safer investments bearing as high a rate. If it is necessary to sell to other than brothers, interest bearing bonds may help. Sometimes both bonds and stock are issued, one with and one without interest. Be sure that interest charges are included in your budgets.

When the entire plan is well in hand and all the details have been worked out, call a monster meeting of alumni, preferably a dinner. Make a supreme effort to have a large attendance. Make a supreme effort to have a large attendance. Make lavish use of the mails. Assign names to brothers for personal letters, telephone calls, etc. The number of alumni present bears a direct relation to the success of the meeting. But do not call this meeting until you are all set! It does no good to just talk over the situation at affairs such as this, and you take the edge of future meetings. You must have a real plan and it must be worked out in every detail.

After the dinner, with the usual songs, stories, etc., have the best salesman you can find present the plan. It is concrete and based upon accurate figures. The purchase price is so much. The mortgages that can be secured, and you have already made sure of these, are so much. The chapter and the corporation budgets as estimated balance and are reasonable. A certain amount of cash is needed. Make the appeal strong and ask for stock subscriptions. Collect all the cash you can and have the balance sign short term notes. When the smoke has cleared away, a certain amount has been definitely promised within the time limit as set. But be sure that every detail of the plan as well as the meeting has been carefully worked out and ably presented. It is this definiteness, this saying here is what we want, here is how it can be done, and now we want you to do this, that always makes these meetings successful.

Following the meeting, you must stage a whirlwind personal solicitation campaign, simultaneously with the cash collection one to reach those who were not present. The success of such a campaign depends entirely upon the speed and enthusiasm with which it is undertaken. It must not drag. It means work, hard work and plenty of it. That is why we said above that if the chapter is not willing to take off its coat, it can never go across. There must be the determination and will to push it over and only active chapters can supply it. We have never heard of an instance where the chapter did not get the money when the plan was definite and right despite all prophecies to the contrary.

The original plan should include an amortization feature to retire the second mortgages and the stock or bond issue. Every initiate should sign an agreement to purchase a certain number of shares either while in college or for a certain number of years after he leaves. Every active man should be a stockholder for it gives a feeling of ownership which prevents willful damage to property. This, with the sinking fund and interest saved as the mortgages are reduced, should retire all outstanding indebtedness including stock issues within twenty years. Then as new stock is sold to the undergraduates, the stock sold to alumni is redeemed.

There are instances on record where the whole first mortgage was floated by the issuing of investments bonds, but this method depends upon a goodly number of well to do alumni. In another case a second mortgage of $3000 was lifted by 30 men giving their notes for $100, which, through a trustee, were discounted at a bank and regular reductions made from the sinking fund. There are many variations to the general plan as outlined above which are more or less applicable under varying local conditions but the principle is as stated and the plan as outlined has been successfully used in the greatest number of cases.

If a chapter is young in years and alumni, and this plan is not possible, a systematic method for a building fund should be started at once. The incorporation should first be completed to give stability and continuity to the project. Four methods have been used with success.

The chapter joins a building and loan association and deposits a fixed sum each month. While this takes about twelve years to mature, the seller will often accept it at the then book value, and if not, it can always be sold or used as collateral for a loan. This method compels systematic saving.

The insurance method is gaining in popularity. An endowment policy is written on each brother's life, he paying the premium and the corporation being the beneficiary. This again takes ten years to mature but the borrowing capacity is there when needed and the saving is systematic.

The note plan is most in favor. The initiate or senior is required to sign a series of notes, say five for $25 each, one coming due each year while he is in college or after he leaves. The corporation collects each note as it comes due and safely invests the money received. One chapter adds a "warrant for attorney to confess judgment for face" fee of 10 per cent. Thus on default, a $25 note plus the 10 per cent as attorney's fees means a penalty of $2.50. The disadvantage of the note plan is that we depend upon the favor of the maker when it comes to payment for we would hardly take an unpaid note, even if it went to protest, to the courts for judgment.

Some chapters set aside a percentage of the initiation tax and one chapter uses all of the amount for this purpose. Several chapters collect regular monthly dues of about $2.50 per man which is paid to the association treasurer. Some chapters from time to time sponsor public dances and the proceeds go into the building fund.

And, of course, various combinations of the above are prevalent. It depends entirely upon the strength of the desire of the chapter to buy a house, and the determination on the part of the officers to collect.

Your committee has also studied the condition of the thirty chapters who do not own their own homes. Five colleges do not permit fraternities to live in chapter houses and one college prohibits chapter house ownership. It seems as if these regulations would be removed within the year in one or two cases. Of the twenty-five who are permitted to live in a chapter house, twenty-three do so, which, to our mind, is a good record. Five more rent at least one suite in a dormitory. These twenty-eight pay a yearly total rent of $25,592.50. Fifteen pay more than $1,000 per year and ten or twelve are now paying as much or more than they would if they owned their own home.

Four chapters have incorporated associations, two own land upon which to build and three have options upon their present houses. Thus five chapters have something definite in mind, three of which seem definite enough to promise early consummation.

Twelve chapters have house funds of varying size totalling $8,452.20, although in one or two instances we cannot tell whether the figures given are all cash or part notes. Fifteen chapters have put the note plan into use, but in some cases these have not come due as yet. As past due notes mean nothing, we do not give the total.

This record is not very satisfactory. Five of the twenty-four have definite plans for house ownership and seven more have very small house funds. Four of five more have established the note system but apparently in a half hearted way.

These non-owning chapters own furniture valued at $36,287. Those owning houses total $65,800, a total value of furniture owned of $102,087.

One chapter purchased a house before they were really ready to swing it and the holder of the mortgage foreclosed. This is the only record of failure, and this chapter knows where the error was made and are on the way again, this time to put it over.

Of our sixty chapters, 30 or 50 per cent own their own homes. six colleges do not permit house ownership so that we have reached 55 per cent of the present possible number. Of the twenty-five chapters permitted to rent chapters, 23 do so or 92 per cent of the possible. Our total owning and leasing houses is 53 out of a possible 55 or 96 per cent.

Your committee earnestly suggests to each chapter that now rents a house that plans be started at once looking toward house ownership. You will eventually want your own home and there is no time like the present to begin. Systematic saving and a definite plan makes it easy for all. Our study has convinced us that the method outlined is entirely practical and, when modified to meet local conditions, is extremely easy of accomplishment provided the proper effort is expended. We stand ready to help any chapter that calls upon us.

Respectfully submitted,

WALTER C. BARNES, Chairman,
J. HAROLD JOHNSTON.

Editor's Note: Three chapters have been granted charters since the above report was written in February, 1924. Two of the new chapters own their own homes and one leases. We know that one other chapter has just moved into a house which they built and another has purchased one. Hence of our sixty-three present chapters, thirty-four, or more than 50 per cent, own their own homes at a total estimated present value of well over $700,000.00. In another instance, college regulations have been withdrawn and the chapter is now living in a leased house. Another "dormitory" chapter has leased a house. In every college where regulations permit, our chapters are now living in owned or leased houses with but one exception.

Be sure to read the editorial in this issue.

PLAN ACTIVE-ALUMNI ST. LOUIS HOUSE

Manifesting something of the same spirit with which the 1924 convention was planned, St. Louis II K A's have joined forces towards acquiring a chapter house for Beta-Lambda, the Washington University active chapter, which will serve also as a meeting place for Alumnus Alpha-Nu and have a constant "welcome" sign for alumni of all chapters in St. Louis and for all members of the fraternity. In short, a home for one chapter is planned which will have something of the aspect of a clubhouse for the order.

Beta-Lambda Chapter House Association of St. Louis has been granted a pro forma decree of incorporation, and has begun to function. The active and the alumnus chapter had joined at dinner in October and a joint committee was appointed to undertake the incorporation and present a plan of financing. At another joint dinner, November 17, a general plan was presented and creation of the organization reported. More, the raising of funds in active fashion was undertaken, several hundred dollars being subscribed on the spot by sons of Beta-Lambda and others.

The fund had a nucleus of cash obtained in an earlier campaign, augmented by house notes for several thousand dollars given by Beta-Lambda men. The chapter roll of Beta-Lambda is being canvassed to complete the necessary quota of cash, as well as asking alumni of other chapters who are in the city to subscribe voluntarily.

Acquiring the house, as everywhere, is largely a matter of finance. Inspection of three houses deemed suitable and available was reported at the November meeting, and one in particular, near the university campus, in the outlying residence district of the city, was favored. The active men agreed to increased dues if a house was obtained, and subscribed several hundred dollars additional cash for payment this year.

The committee, in obtaining incorporation papers, named the following house association officers, who will be ex officio trustees: George L. Stemmler, attorney, who was head of Alumnus Alpha-Nu during the St. Louis convention, president; Arthur A. Joraschky, insurance man, Stemmler's successor as president of the alumni, treasurer, and Harley A. Lowe, senior student, S.M.C., secretary. All are Beta-Lambda men. Approval of these officers was voiced at the November meeting of the two chapters, after which the gathering resolved itself into the first meeting of the house association and elected three trustees, as follows: Joseph A. Sheehan, Alpha-Nu, who was head of the St. Louis Convention Committee, three-year term; Richard G. Baumhoff, Beta-Lambda, District Princeps, two-year term, and C. H. Spreitzer, Beta-Lambda, I.M.C. there, one-year term.

To draft by-laws for the new association a committee comprising Stemmler, Edgar H. Schwarzenbach, Beta-Lambda, and Henry N. Eversole, Alpha-Nu, Grand Chancellor, was appointed. All are lawyers. The association planned for monthly meetings following alumni dinners.

Fraternities at Washington University in the past have occupied suites in the campus dormitories, but they must remove after next June for lack of room. Some fraternities are building houses on the campus under stringent university rules of which  $\Pi K A$ 's have not approved.

PI KAPPA ALPHA AT FORT SNELLING

II K A'S ACTIVE AT FORT SNELLING

By MERLIN BARNES, Alpha-Nu

The infantry camp of the R. O. T. C. units in the Seventh Corps Area opened at Fort Snelling, Minn., on June 12th and continued until July 25th. Being an aggregation of college men, it offered another opportunity for Pi Kappa Alpha in the Middle West to prove its superiority in the colleges and universities in this district.

From Alpha-Zeta, Harding qualified as expert with the pistol, while the other three each rated sharpshooter, and McCain, besides being sharpshooter with both rifle and pistol, proved he could receive as well as he could deliver and caught on the Arkansas Unit Baseball Team, the championship team of the camp.

The junior chapter of the fraternity at the camp, Gamma-Beta, proved its worth and delivered the goods. From Nebraska U. we find this: Kellogg, the champion wrestler of the Missouri Valley Conference, in the 135 lb. class, won this event here and took second in the 145 lb. class. Then going on to his hobby, he took second in the 135 lb. boxing. Treadwell won first in the 115 lb. boxing, then received the rifle shot expert's rating and was second high point man in the entire camp, thereby winning his place on the Seventh Corps Area Rifle Team to be sent to the Camp Perry National Shoot. Fry, Kraemer, McGregor, and Ready could also shoot, the first two making sharpshooter with the pistol and the latter ones the same with the rifle. Linn and Brink amassed a total of 'instructorships' which included all those subjects given in the Basic Unit.

From Alpha-Kappa we had Knight and Mills. Knight was acting platoon leader of his platoon fully half the period of the camp and Mills did his stuff on the ranges, making sharpshooter with the pistol and marksman with the rifle.

Read, from Alpha-Omega, and Tormoen, from Beta-Chi, brought home the bacon by getting us a lion's share of the camp literary work. The former was the Business Manager of the Blue Torch, the camp annual publication, and the latter edited the joke section.

From Alpha-Nu, Casteel proved the shining light, acting as Colonel of the entire camp in seven of the nine regimental parades, also commanding the Missouri Unit in their demonstration drill before General Farnsworth. Besides this, he made 'instructor' rating in six of the seven courses in which the Advanced Course men received training, was second high point man in machine gun work, and shot the third high score with the pistol. Barnes also made expert with the pistol and Pledge Black sharpshooter. Stapp received no favorable chances to show his learning here, but waited until the C. M. T. C. Camp at Fort Des Moines, Ia., there he survived an intensive competition and carried off a large silver cup as the best representative among the thousand men from the state of Missouri.

Treadwell and McCain were two of the twelve men chosen from this camp to shoot as the R. O. T. C. rifle team from this Corps Area in the national shoot at Camp Perry, Ill. This team later won the R. O. T. C. Championship at Perry and also rated high in the national all-teams rating.

All the visiting brothers are unanimous in extending their appreciation to the brothers of Beta-Chi for the royal manner with which they received us and assisted in our entertainment during our frequent trips into Minneapolis.

The camp was an enjoyable affair, a trip which will ever be remembered, and marks another notch in the list of coups for II K A.

NEWSPAPER WORK: A WORTHY VOCATION

By RICHARD G. BAUMHOFF, Beta-Lambda

Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of articles to be published from time to time, with the special motive of acquainting the college men of Π Κ Α with the advantages of various vocations.

Baumhoff, an associate editor of the SHIELD AND DIAMOND, is a rewrite man and special writer and reporter for the St. Louis Post Dispatch where he has attained large success in his chosen profession. His photograph and history appeared in the October issue.

You've got to have not only a nose for news, but a nerve for news, and a love for it; not only a basis of general knowledge, but a sixth sense responding when there's a "story" in the air, to make a go of it in the field of the metropolitan daily journal. Given these and a job as a newspaper reporter, there is a broad opportunity for service, joy and heart-pangs, and a veritable unending course in the post-graduate school of life. Alexander Pope had something of the vision that will come to you when he wrote:

*Know then thyself, presume not God to scan;
The proper study of mankind is man.*

In newspaper work you will study man, you will come in intimate contact with man in all his strength and weakness, cussedness and sublimity, sorrow and happiness; you will come to feel the power of the printed word that has brought to the profession the name of Fourth Estate—separate from and more puissant than the other classes—yet there will be realization that the press is but the pulse of all estates. You may even disobey Pope and presume to scan the Omnipotent as His wonders are made apparent.

This article is designed to deal with the work of the reporter and general news writer, to paint a picture of that work, and only to indicate how from it the journalist may, perhaps, branch into other fields. It will offer answers to the usual questions about journalism. It will not consider the business-office end, which follows advertising and commerce. The paramount question is, What is newspaper work like?

It's a twenty-four hour job. In it you'll find news coming to you sometimes while you dance or dine; you will be called on to work at irregular hours occasionally, or long hours, but nearly every sixty-minute period will have something of interest in it. Three sorts of scenes are especially appealing, and two of them at least are not readily understood by mortals of the rest of the world.

First, the editorial department of the big paper: Its primary impressions are of piles of torn papers on the floor, energetic young men and older men who are little the less energetic, cries of "copy!", the rattle of typewriters, the tinkling of telephones, the staccato fire-alarm bell and the ticking telegraph. Confusion, it appears, but really a scene of the greatest precision. Out of all this comes the daily grist of news that is pretty close to the aim of "accuracy, terseness, accuracy." If the average factory produced with the efficiency of a newspaper plant, with its half dozen daily editions, always on time, America would know a new industrial supremacy.

EDITORIAL ROOM

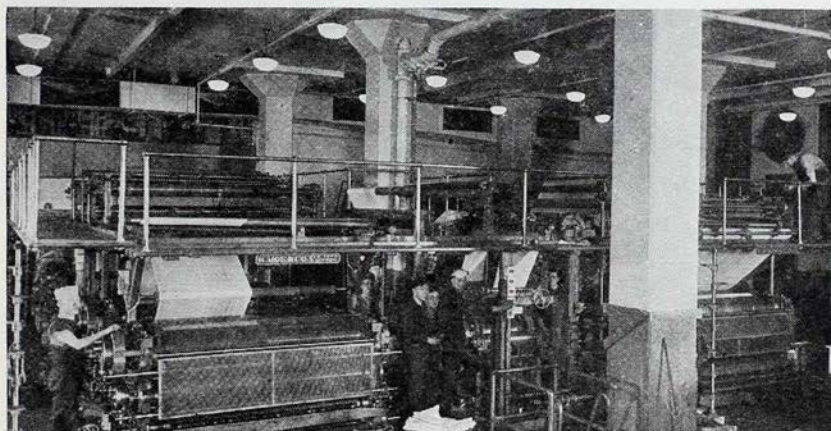

More light is thrown on newspaper efficiency in the second appealing scene: The composing room as edition time approaches. There the hum and buzz of work is difficult to describe; linotypes and matrix presses are not essentially noisy, though the latter hiss through steam exhausts from time to time. The hum is the orderly, speeding activity of many men, whose movements excel those of a good football machine. It all centers around the make-up bank, where the make-up editor from "downstairs" is hustling the news into pages with an eye ever on the clock. The life of the editorial room and of the composing room you will come to love, as you come to understand it.

The third appealing scene is really any one of a number of things: It is the event of ever varying nature that attracts crowds—a fire, an accident, a convention, a speech, an important funeral, a parade, a mob, an air meet. In these and other events are to be found the infinite variety that will make you agree with Kipling:

*For to admire and for to see,
For to be'old the world so wide;
It never done no good to me,
But I can't drop it if I tried.*

Sir Philip Gibbs, who rose from pressman of Fleet street to international journalist by his typewriter, called that the true song of the wandering men with the wandering eyes. But do not get the idea that there is not a pride of calling in newspaper work; it is coming into its own as a recognized profession and there are only faint echoes of the days when many newspaper men were at worst tipplers of shandygaff and at best unable to meet and talk with leaders of life on an equal footing. The schools of journalism all over the country are helping in that, even though the men whose professors were city editors have some honest fault to find with them.

I know no better way to paint the colorful picture of this work than by relating some of my own assignments within a few years' employment on a widely-known St. Louis paper. Perhaps the incidents to be chosen will seem occasional in the course of week-in and week-out activity, but such occasions are not infrequent. There are times of comparative dullness, but rarely of idleness, and whole mornings spent in condensing the bunk of hired publicity agents. By way of illustration, I have been occupied recently in preparing for publication lists of income taxes paid by St. Louisans, aided by a number of other men. Routine stuff, but not as bad as dealing with figures and lists all day every work day in the year.

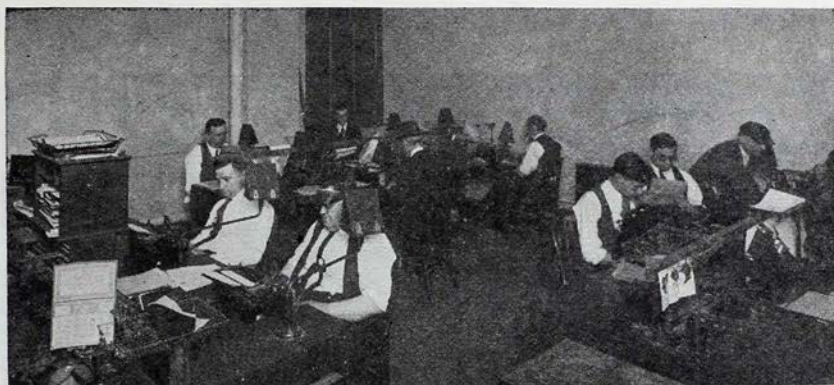

COMPOSING ROOM

Out of all the variegated collection of assignments in these years, which is remembered most vividly? I think it must be one of quiet nature, but heart-stirring interest. On a Friday night last winter I went to a synagogue and, instead of the usual discourse, heard the rabbi unfold a tale that made his hearers weep. He told of distributing a small fortune among the residents of all creeds and classes of a war-wrecked district of Jugo-Slavia, which was left in the will of a friendless, humble mechanic, who had emigrated from there to St. Louis. His $10,000 saved in America alleviated the misery of hundreds back home. The village priest helped the rabbi in the distribution, and the people hailed them as deliverers. In the story was the thread of a life-long unfulfilled love. There in the bright, warm synagogue, in plain words, the speaker made it all touchingly vivid.

If the personal pronoun is injected in this screed, may it be forgiven in one whose daily task involves the subjugation of personal opinion (but not of personality) that is required of the reporter. It is sometimes necessary in relating individual experiences.

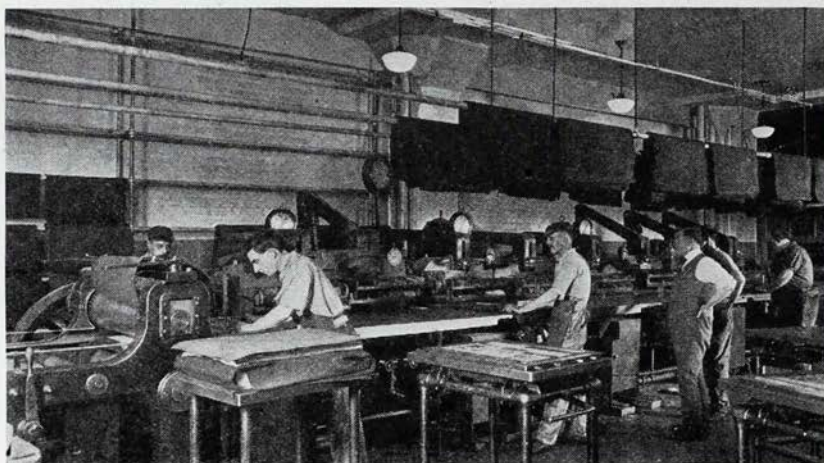

WIRE ROOM

The varied locomotion I have utilized is not uncommon in the work. Before a national air meet there was a speedy flight about the huge racecourse in an airplane, to describe the terrain. At the army's chief lighter-than-air station there was a ride in an airship against near-zero winds. A submarine once ventured up the Mississippi and there was a visit in it, below the surface. Another time, to reach a sinking steamboat, there was a crossing of the Father of Waters at floodstage in a rowboat. Steamboats, too, have given transport, as when viewing extensive dikes in the Missouri River. In the canoe Fourth Estate facts were gathered for a drowning-prevention story. There were trains and trolleys galore, from the fastest and best to the slowest and worst. The flivver Skidamaree and many other automobiles have done yeoman service. Horses and motorcycles helped, and once there was a motorboat chase into Kentucky and Tennessee after a supposed murderer. There was a footpath to news, too, leading over city sidewalks and country hills. Not only did news summon on land and in the air, but one time it beckoned for a mile through five-foot galleries of a coal mine that later was destroyed by fire.

The reporter can understand the fascination of courtroom scenes for authors. I have reported murder, kidnapping, robbery, embezzlement, dope peddling and countless other criminal and civil trials in high and low courts of city and country. Murder, perforce, is the most interesting subject of trial, the most dramatic. Men, women, boys, and girls have alternated in the picture as defendants. In the courts, indeed, is a place to study mankind.

STEAM TABLES

From the kaleidoscope of news the following things were among those flashing brightest, whether in menace, pleasure or sorrow: The funeral of a great bishop, the return of troops from overseas, a beating that resulted from excess enthusiasm for work, hurried trips to small towns without baggage, the hanging of a murderer, reporting "secret" activity of a grand jury, a railroad disaster at night, an excellent performance of a classic drama by negroes, a luckily successful bit of investigation in a gang affair, these and many other things. Probably nothing encountered was more terrible than the death agony of a burned child; the happiest things were the most ephemeral.

After-the-war visits of great men deserve a paragraph of their own. There were King Albert of Belgium, Harding, Lloyd George, whose charming daughter was more interesting than the former Premier; Pershing, an officer and a gentleman; General Diaz of Italy, who arrived in a snowstorm and grunted, "Looks like the Piave"; Foch, who kept the key to the city, and Clemenceau, Tiger of France. A special incident stands out in the latter's visit. While Clemenceau slept at dusk in a country home, detectives, deputy sheriffs and reporters gossiped in the study. Of a sudden all the lights went out—and so did all that idling group. Each man sprang to action, all with the same unspoken thought. But investigation showed that instead of German spies there was only power-plant trouble.

Less distinguished, but equally interesting visitors have come from the Orient, South America, Canada, Mexico, the good and the troublesome countries of Europe, each with a story of his own.

One of the reporter's greatest opportunities for service is in the elucidation of civic affairs—exposure of the bad and fostering of the good. I acquired a taste for that while "covering" city hall news. Broadly, the subject includes all sorts of public movements. Allied in nature and in interest is the field of politics, which most reporters touch in some degree. The work brings a wide acquaintance with public officials and civic-spirited citizens, which is of untold value. Indeed, the whole news field throws the reporter with people of all walks of life. He grows, like the hero of Richard Harding Davis, into "a real reporter, with a fire badge on his left suspender, and a speaking acquaintance with all the greatest men in the city, not even excepting police Captains." Davis might have mentioned, among others, head waiters, bankers and peddlers.

Less thrilling than outside work, but equally interesting to some (and generally more remunerative) is the inside work of the newspaper men professionally known as "rewrites." It is they who take news over the telephone from the others, or put it into shape from a dozen different sources. However, the rewrites get to do outside work of the sort already described. There is a joy in the assortments of facts upon a typewriter and seeing the product flow through the office, into type, onto paper, and into the hands of thousands, while the minute hand of the clock makes a single revolution. To me this is a pleasure that very nearly eclipses all other emotions. This feeling is magnified on the occasions when the writing is done far from the office and the words are hustled over telegraph wires.

These experiences of mine, I think, have not been unusual, but the man contemplating newspaper work should not expect to encounter many like them in his first month or year. The way is paved with plenty of drudgery and disappointment, but is not too hard of passage. A newspaper job is best obtained by gaining admittance on your own initiative to the city editor or managing editor of the sort of sheet for which you think you'd like to work, and making known your supposed qualifications, without telling what a knockout you were in college journalism, and without intimating friendship with the influential. If a man stands on his momentary merits anywhere it is in a newspaper office.

As for preparation in college to be a newspaper man, I believe the school of arts and sciences or of commerce and finance means as much as the school of journalism. Economic subjects, all history, but especially American; English, the romance languages, German, Latin, and some more English, good grounding in natural sciences, are suggested. The spelling, punctuation, diction and general unfamiliarity with their own language of far too many American college men is atrocious.

The pay is good in the large cities, but does not come up to that of some other comparable callings. The leaders in the profession, who are well remunerated, are few compared to other businesses. From the general news service you may advance into feature or supplement section writing, to the editorial page, to criticism of books or the drama, or you may become a political specialist or one of the small and important group of correspondents in Washington; you may even become a foreign correspondent. You may become an independent writer in the particular field of the special article, or you may follow in the footsteps of many authors who began as news gatherers.

But whatever you do eventually, you will discover that life has passed in review before you in the news—that man has presented himself to you for the study of mankind.

EARNs WAY AS POSTMASTER

In the 1923 Emory Campus there appeared the pictures of three "institutions" at that University, namely, "Madam" Peed, veteran of 35 years of instruction in trig and analyt, "Plink" the gentleman of color and man-in-waiting at the II K A Chapter House whose record shows 40 years of efficient janitor service at Emory, and A. B. ("Abie") Austin, II K A and postmaster of the Emory University office. The latter is an institution at Emory and a loyal and widely known II.

A. B. was running express messenger on the I. C. not far from his home town of Wingo, Ky., when he decided to enter his course of higher learning. After a year of study prior to Beta-Kappa's installation, Abie entered the bonds as the second initiate of that chapter.

A. B. AUSTIN, Beta-Kappa

No student is more widely known among Emory men than "Abie the Agent" as he has been dubbed on account of his salesmanship ability. This particular kind of ability has made possible his stay in college and II K A's claim to a loyal brother, for Abie has worked his way through college for seven long years by selling, directly and indirectly. He has sold everything from hair nets to door knobs. He knows gent's furnishings like Dr. Eliot knows his A B C's.

Looking for new fields to conquer, Abie sold Uncle Sam the idea that he needed Austin for Postmaster at Emory, and one night in October 1921 Abe and his roommate burned the midnight oil until the breakfast bacon fumes drove them from their work of officially taking over the Emory postoffice. From then on the sailing has been easier. On a trade of some kind Abie got a Ford Coupe. He traded a Ridpath's History of the World and his Ford for a Dodge. And so it has been! One trade and one sale after another.

During his regime as Postmaster, in addition to carrying a full college course, Abie has raised the rating of the post office from fourth to second class and sold Will Hayes on erecting a new post office building at Emory, which was done.

Abie is Emory's official "glad mitt" man. He knows everybody and everybody knows him. There's always a smile from Abie. The chapter has always had his warmest support especially at rushing season. He is the champion pledger of II K A barring none, and as chairman of the rushing committee and S. M. C. of the chapter, has pledged 32 men. He has held many positions of trust on the campus, editing various college publications, holding many offices and played football for two years.

The University conferred the degree of Bachelor of Arts on him in 1922 and in June next he will receive the degree of Bachelor of Divinity, and the chapter and the University will lose a real man.

BETA-RHO'S MUSIC STOPS TRAFFIC

The chapter house of Beta-Rho at Colorado College is on the main road between Colorado Springs and Denver. There are no amusement houses open on Sunday so the chapter orchestra began giving concerts on the front porch. The populace assembles each Sunday and at times the crowd is so great that traffic is stopped in both directions for several blocks. As no one has complained, the police have not interfered as yet.

Many in the audience know nothing about fraternities or even colleges. Questions are frequently asked and comments are made. The brothers are out in front, mixing with the crowd, enjoying the applause and answering the more humorous remarks. II K A songs are exceedingly popular. A group usually stays around afterwards to hob-nob with the boys.

Beta-Rho is thus getting good publicity. It has helped materially in rushing and has increased II K A's standing on the campus. And the popularity has given confidence to the chapter, increasing chapter spirit and unity. It isn't every chapter that can stop traffic on a main highway, and get away with it!

PI KAPPA ALPHA'S OBLIGATION TO THE ALUMNI

By GERALD S. LAMBERT, Alpha-Tau,
Grand Alumnus Secretary

From the earliest days of my fraternity experience I have heard and read of the duties of an alumnus and of his obligations to his fraternity but so far I have failed to hear anyone's talk of or to see anyone's writing of the fraternity's obligation to its alumni. However I do not write under this title now simply because of its novelty but because I hold it is the logical title to an analysis of our alumnus problem and its solution.

To state the problem let me propose a theoretical questionnaire, containing four questions.

1. Are you a member of an alumnus chapter?
2. If so, do you meet with it regularly? Does it have a definite function in your life?
3. If not a member of an alumnus chapter what is the reason?
4. Are you a permanent subscriber to the SHIELD AND DIAMOND?

From the best available statistics and from answers from alumnus chapters and alumni the probable answers can be computed thusly:

To question 1. Probably less than 15 per cent of the alumni could affirm membership in an alumnus chapter and many of the 15 per cent would be doubtful as to what constituted membership.

To question 2. It is hard to give a number or quality to the answers, but the members of probably not more than 15 per cent of the alumnus chapters and probably not more than 30 per cent of this membership could answer affirmatively. Thus about 1 per cent of our alumni are active in alumnus chapter work.

To question 3. Many reasons might be given for non-membership in alumnus chapters but the likely ones are: (1) Not situated near a chapter, (2) Not particularly interested, and (3) Too busy.

To question 4. Other than the members just out of college whose three-year subscriptions are in force, but relatively few alumni could answer that they were subscribers.

More problems than one are suggested above, at least two of which are pertinent to this paper; a question of the fundamental function of the fraternity in its members' lives and a question of the proper alumnus activities. But since these two are actually one, because the latter is but an outgrowth of the former, they may be considered as "The Alumnus Problem," whose solution was the first task two years ago of the newly organized office, the Grand Alumnus Secretaryship.

If the apparent pessimism of the various answers from a few alumnus chapter secretaries and the lack of response from the great majority of alumnus chapters had been the only basis of solution, it would have been most depressing, but there were so many other happier portents throughout the fraternity body that there was no chance for a loss of faith in the ultimate answer. However there was loss of faith in the present functions of the fraternity in alumnus circles for investigation showed that the organized functions were failures or faltering experiments in every case except where special conditions obtained. These special conditions were found in the New York and St. Louis Alumnus chapters where preparations for a national convention had welded the former and was welding the latter into interested bodies. They were found in Chicago where the alumnus chapter had become a well organized and active body because it had assumed a definite function in housing the younger alumni who were sufficient in number to support a residential club house. Otherwise the chapters have thrived sporadically, usually at periods of founding or revivals and reelection of officers, or the chapters have functioned periodically but more or less indefinitely due to the persistence of some individual without whom the chapter becomes dormant. But there were favorable signs. From all sections came letters of inquiry from alumni who wished to form alumnus chapters. The increase in the active chapter roll was bringing enthusiastic new blood into alumnus ranks which was stimulating to alumnus chapters in at least three ways, by introduction of the fraternity into new areas, by increase of members in areas where formerly only a few were found, and by injection of new enthusiasm into the older groups. Although it was apparent that much of this activity would be abortive if the new alumnus chapter life curves followed the rule, yet was satisfying because it showed an urge to do something.

It is written above that the rather general unsatisfactoriness of the alumnus activities raised two questions, first as to the fundamental function of the fraternity in the alumnus member's life and second as to the machinery to express this. That fraternity interest is inversely proportional to the period of alumnus membership seems to be a definite rule. The demands for new alumnus chapters as well as for revivals of chapters already organized generally were from men shortly out of college for rarely is the more mature member acquainted with the new developments or apparently greatly interested in them. And that is not typical merely of members of Pi Kappa Alpha, for I well remember my surprise as a sophomore fraternity enthusiast to find a member of a large national fraternity who was even a bit hazy as to its exact name. It would appear that during the college life of a member the fraternity functions so satisfactorily that the urge of it continues afterward but without further material stimulation and therefore decreases as outside interests increase. It is as though a winding-up process continues through the active chapter days followed by a running down process during alumnus days. Yet the fundamental ideals of friendship and love and the same capacity for good fellowship characterize alumnus as well as active members. The difference must lie in a lessened opportunity of the alumnus rather than in a change of capacity or loyalty. In other words the inactivity of the inactive alumni must be chargeable in large part to the fraternity's failure to provide a plan which lets him remain interested.

Of many statements in this article which may appear unduly critical, this is possibly one which may seem most unwarranted. For a long time the fraternity has been a close-knit loyal body with provision for both alumnus and active participation in its functions. For many years it has enjoyed a continuous periodical publication with alumnus as well as active news. Scores of alumni have served energetically as national and district officers stimulating a steady growth both in new chapters of good standards and in improvement of old chapters. However true this all is, yet it is also true that the alumnus activity visible through the channels which had been established for its expression, was negligible. But it did not seem possible that this could indicate the true measure of alumnus interest and loyalty because there is a quality to Pi Kappa Alpha which can not easily die out or be replaced.

It is fundamental for us who have glimpsed the soul of  $\Phi \Phi \kappa \alpha$  through initiation and through our associations within the brotherhood, to be loyal. It does not seem a contradiction to presume loyal, interested alumni even with the record of inactive alumnus chapters because the average alumnus chapter can have no basic function in the average alumnus' life and therefore, in and of itself, can not measure his interest or loyalty. It is not a part of his business or professional life, it does not house or feed him nor is it a civic club, and it often fails as a Pi Kappa Alpha organization because it often has no permanent fraternity problem to justify its existence, since an alumnus is not so much interested in the fraternity in the abstract as in the concrete, namely, in his chapter, its competitions and successes, its finances, its "scandals"; in the intimate friends of his chapter days; and in his Alma Mater.

And so failing of purpose, it naturally becomes dormant and its members, withdrawn from the channels of active fraternity life, become inactive as they hear little or nothing of their fraternity and are immersed more and more in other activities. Even more quickly does this happen when the alumnus goes to a district where no contact or very infrequent contact with fraternity members is possible. Thus, the obligation and duty of Pi Kappa Alpha to the alumni is not wholly solved by the organization of the past. It is necessary to develop a more intimate individualistic plan that will tie each alumnus closely to his fraternity no matter where he lives or what he does, to maintain the active loyalty of his chapter days.

This can be accomplished only by regular, organized, persistent, correspondence and contact between each chapter and every one of its initiates, and by the development of the idea that each initiate is a permanent member on the active chapter roll. It means a less drastic division into active and alumni, formerly often designating "present" members and "once upon a time" members but now signifying members in college and members out of college. It means an obligation to each initiate to permanently support his chapter in each of its functions.

With these ideas in mind a plan has been evolved and written in the fraternity laws but whether its results will justify its enactment must await the test of experience. Obviously for success it needs the cooperation of interested chapters and alumni and this interest in turn depends largely on the success of the plan. In the beginning it must be undertaken on trust and it is hoped that this article may have given a reason for looking on it with some favor. And may we hope that through the stimulation of its operation our organized alumnus chapters will become more active and efficient so that the recent splendid growth which Pi Kappa Alpha has made in the college world will find a parallel in its growth in alumnus activities.

TOLLEY ELECTED TO CONGRESS

As predicted in the October issue, Brother Harold S. Tolley, Alpha-Chi, Republican, was elected to Congress from the Fourth Congressional District of New York State despite tremendous opposition. His victory in the primary was most unusual for the city of Binghamton and environs are "regular." For a man not in politics to run in opposition to the then present incumbent, was considered foolish. But Tolley rallied his former army buddies, appealed to the law-abiding folks, and won by a majority of 239. His election naturally followed.

The election of Brother Tolley is inspiring to all of us. As college men, we should all take an active part in civic affairs. We too often criticise office holders and complain about rotten politics. But our interest ends there. If men of the type of Tolley would stand for office, they would be thankfully supported by thinking, decent people and we would have efficient, clean government. Our hats are off to "H. S."

A DEDICATION BY MOTHER CAMPER

By F. C. WOODY, Alpha-Sigma

The memory of that day in September, 1923, when fire, driven by a sixty mile gale, swept down the hills into the very heart of the beautiful residential district of Berkeley, California, will remain forever with those who lived near the Golden Gate. Every able-bodied man and boy in Berkeley and Oakland were mobilized into service, and rushed to the scene of disaster, but all attempts to check the onslaught were futile. The fire started about two o'clock in the afternoon and by five, the wind had died down, and the fire was checked. Approximately 150 acres of homes were destroyed, causing a loss of over $3,000,000.

That fire took much from the active and alumni members of Alpha-Sigma Chapter although the chapter house was not in danger, but in the center of this burnt area, namely 1516 Le Roy Ave., Mother Camper's home was located. Mother Camper was, is, and always will be Alpha-Sigma's House Mother; it was Mother who organized Pi Kappa Alpha's Mothers' Club, it was she who welcomes each new neophyte, with a mother's caress into the folds of brotherhood and everlasting friendship. A truer and finer woman never lived.

She had kept Chapter pictures, letters, newspaper clippings, and all those things that we treasured so dearly, in her home, and all this was destroyed by the fiery hand of Fate.

We, of the active chapter and those of the alumni keenly felt this loss, and immediately made plans to reconstruct her home, so that we could again gather in her folds before the open fire, and sing to good old II K A. It was decided to give up our formal dance and pool the assessment, which, with various subscriptions coming in from Alpha-Sigma's Alumni, were placed in a fund, and presented to Mother on Christmas Morning by Brothers Roy Warren and Ray Morgan.

Immediately plans for reconstruction were started and on September 1, 1924, we held the ground breaking ceremony, and Mother Camper made that memorable dedicating speech, which is written here:

"I gratefully dedicate the welcome of this home, the hospitality, comfort, and the warmth of its fireside, with my love, my loyalty and devotion to its ideals, to Alpha-Sigma, alumni and active, and to Pi Kappa Alpha of America. May the bond of past memory and association and the friendship that endures through time and circumstance remain forever unbroken."

With these few words, followed by the ground breaking by Brother Roy Warren, and some twenty active men, each turning over a spade of earth, a new home at 1516 Le Roy Ave., Berkeley, California, was started.

Those of you who are fortunate enough to have a House Mother like ours will realize and appreciate the love we have for our dear little Mother Camper, and we were very happy to be able to accept this dedication to Alpha-Sigma, and to Pi Kappa Alpha.

Her new home is rapidly nearing completion, and soon again her fireside will call us to its midst. Thus my story ends, but its memories will live on forever, so, Brothers, if you chance to find yourself in San Francisco, or thereabouts, in your wanderings from shore to shore, don't fail to visit Mother Camper and your Alpha-Sigma Chapter, and feel again the good old grip of  $\phi \phi \kappa \alpha$ .

THE FATHERS' AND MOTHERS' CLUBS OF ALPHA-XI

A fraternity, strictly speaking, is a group of college men bound together by inseparable ties of loyalty and friendship; but Alpha-XI at the University of Cincinnati, has looked further and by means of its Mothers' and Fathers' Clubs has made the fraternity mean much to the entire families of its members, by bringing them into intimate contact with the true fraternal spirit and loyalty of Pi Kappa Alpha.

Away back in 1914 the Mothers' Club was founded. Its objects were many, among which were, the general care and supervision of the fraternity house, the effort to create a home-like atmosphere for the out-of-town men, or better still, to exert a mother-like influence over all. Since the time of founding, this organization has had regular meetings and is governed by a constitution and by-laws. There is a payment of annual dues and with this money, the Mothers have made it a practice of presenting to the chapter every year a Christmas gift in the form of a useful article of furniture. Just recently, they have outfitted the house with exquisite curtains, which they both paid for and put up. There are about thirty members in the Mothers' Club at the present time.

It was not until 1923 however, that the Fathers, not to be outdone by their wives, formed the Fathers' Club. The purpose of this organization was primarily to further the father's interest in his boy's fraternity and to bring the two together into a closer companionship. As yet, this organization has no constitution but it meets regularly and there is a payment of dues.

Together, the Mothers' and Fathers' Clubs have presented the house with a beautiful set of over-stuffed furniture for the living room. The Fathers' Club has given the active chapter several banquets and theatre parties and has taken a very active interest in all fraternity affairs. There are about twenty-five fathers in the club at the present time.

Alpha-Xi is exceedingly proud of these two organizations and is very enthusiastic in recommending the formation of similar ones in her sister chapters. Outside of giving the parents a true insight into college fraternities and being of singular benefit to the chapter itself, these clubs have brought about many close friendships between the families and that, perhaps, is the greatest achievement in the end, for is it not the lasting and beautiful friendships we are able to make in this world that mark our success or failure as fraternity men?

The Duniway Scholarship Trophy has found a permanent stand in the Beta-Rho Chapter House, that chapter having led all fraternities at Colorado College for three years.

Beta-Tau ranked fourth among the general fraternities at the University of Michigan this past year, having lost the scholarship cup two years ago.

UNUSUAL RECORD OF GAMMA MAN

Captain John Todd, Gamma, center of the William and Mary football team and probably the leading contender for the pivot position on the mythical All-South Atlantic eleven this fall, brought his brilliant college football record to a close Thanksgiving day when he led his team against the University of Richmond.

This is the second year that Todd is serving as captain of the Indians. Only once before has a

J. B. Todd, Gamma

William and Mary player captained the team for more than one year and incidentally Todd's predecessor for this honor was a Pi Kappa Alpha man, Oscar L. Shewmake, now a member of the Virginia State Corporation Commission.

Todd, during his four years at William and Mary, has made for himself a record that will stand long in the history of the ancient college. He has played in every game in which the college has participated since the beginning of the 1921 season and in only one game has his team failed to score and that was his first game when the Indians were beaten by V. P. I. 14 to 0.

Not only did he make the team the first year but he has played in every position in the line. Only once in his career has he been taken from a game with injuries. In the Navy game this fall his nose was broken during the last few minutes of play. The following week found him playing against Syracuse.

Not only does he excel in football but in other sports and studies as well. He is a natural leader of men, firm yet congenial, respecting the authority of his superiors and the rights of those under him. By an overwhelming majority he was elected the best all round college man and the best all round athlete on the campus by the students of William and Mary last year. This year he is the only four letter man in college, basketball, track and baseball having also shared in his attention last year.

Todd will probably enter the coaching field next year.

BROADCASTING PI KAPPA ALPHA ORCHESTRA

Beta-Alpha has developed an orchestra at Penn State that has received wide attention. During the past winter they broadcasted regularly from station WPAB located at State College, Pa., under the name of the Pi Kappa Alpha Entertainers. While the station is now closed for repairs, they will shortly take the air again.

The college has made good use of this excellent combination for they entertained at both the Fifth Annual Industrial Conference and the Ninth Annual Engineering Extension Conference held under the auspices of the college. In fact they play at all the banquets, entertainments and dances that a full academic schedule will permit and have built up an enviable local reputation as the best orchestra between Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

DR. W. W. DAVIS, Upsilon
Grand Historian

OUR NEW GRAND HISTORIAN

WILLIAM WATSON DAVIS, Ph.D., Upsilon

Editor's Note: The announcement of Dr. Davis' acceptance of the office of Grand Historian reached the Grand Editor so near the day of going to press that time did not permit our finding a biographer. We, therefore, had to ask him himself to divulge the innermost secrets of his past life, expecting to rewrite them ourselves, for autobiography is sometimes unpleasant.

But the literary style of Dr. Davis is so far superior to our own that we feel the story would lose much of its charm if changed to the third person. We, therefore, print it as written, apologizing to Dr. Davis for the liberty we have taken.

The Supreme Council has made a fortunate choice in the selection of our Grand Historian. His ability, training and experience will be of great value in the office he has assumed. We congratulate Pi Kappa Alpha upon his acceptance and we bespeak for him the hearty cooperation of the chapters as they come in contact with him.

In reply to your kind letter of November 14th, I am writing you this rather vainglorious account of myself, and I am sending you a picture under separate cover. Please return the picture, as I borrowed it from my wife. Of course you will cut the account and fix it as you see fit. Here goes.

I was born in Pensacola, Florida, February 12, 1884. My parents—Matthew L. Davis, living, and Annie Laurie Lane Davis, deceased—were of Southern origin. Both grandfathers were in the Confederate army. On both sides the family comes from old American stock, the various strains extending back into colonial South Carolina, Virginia, Georgia, and New York. A great-great-grandfather, whose name my father bears, was a major under Washington and was killed at Monmouth. His grandson, my father's father, died with Lee's Army in Virginia.

My boyhood was spent mostly in Oak Grove, Mobile County, Alabama, the old family home, where my father, a brother, a sister, and other relatives still live. My memories of boyhood in Alabama seem to revolve mainly about immortal books of adventure read aloud to me always by my father, and about the actual glory of adventure involved in hunting, fishing, and riding. I spent about as much time in the woods—afoot and horseback—as I did in school. The woods are glorious in Southern Alabama. I sometimes think that if I could live it all over again I would fish, ride, and hunt even more than I did. My old guns and old pictures of my horse and my favorite dog and the woods I love so well hang on my study walls today.

I was prepared for college in the University Military School of Mobile, Alabama. Here for four years I was taught to study and to drill. The discipline and training were exceptionally fine. In 1900 I entered the Alabama Polytechnic Institute of Auburn, Alabama, and from that institution received the degree of B.Sc. in 1903. It was in Auburn that I was so fortunate as to become a member of Pi Kappa Alpha, Upsilon Chapter. This has proven, I think, one of the formative factors in my life. I have had two brothers and nine cousins who have entered our fraternity through Upsilon Chapter at Auburn. Undergraduate memories are apt to be happy memories, and mine are no exception. Though out of touch with Auburn now for many years, I follow its development with pride and satisfaction, and I have faith that Upsilon Chapter will continue to be a foundation stone for a more splendid Auburn in the future.

Being awarded a scholarship in History and Latin, I returned to Auburn for graduate work under Dr. George Petrie. In 1904 I was granted the degree of M.Sc., and became Acting Librarian of the institution. Wishing to carry on graduate study in the East, I resigned the Librarianship at the end of a year's service and in 1905 entered the Graduate School of Columbia University. There I took advanced work in history and economics under Dunning, Robinson, Osgood, Botsford, Shepherd, Sloan, Seligman, and Seeger. In 1906 I received the degree of A.M., from Columbia. In 1906 and again in 1907 I was awarded a University Fellowship. In 1908 I became a Lecturer in History, Columbia University. I was one of the organizers and the first president, I believe, of the Southern Club, Columbia University. For two years I was chairman of the graduate students in history.

In 1908 I entered the Sorbonne, University of Paris, as Honorary Fellow from Columbia University. In Paris I studied modern history under Aulard, Seignobos, Blach, and Bourgeois, during 1908-09. I came to the University of Kansas from Paris, entering the department here as Assistant Professor of History.

In 1913 I was granted the degree of Doctor of Philosophy by Columbia University and in that year published my thesis, "The Civil War and Reconstruction in Florida." Since then my time has been pretty fully taken up with teaching large classes in this institution. I helped in the installation here of Beta-Gamma Chapter, Pi Kappa Alpha. It is a great satisfaction to me to see this chapter forge ahead and win a fine place in this strenuous university. I expect even better things from them in the future. My studies and lectures here have led me into various fields: United States History, Comparative European Government, Contemporary Diplomacy, Military History of the United States, Spanish American History, and Modern Asiatic History. I have contributed on occasions to various periodicals, to the Dunning Essays, and to the publications of the Alabama Historical Society. At present I am at work on a history of Spanish America.

In 1915 I married Miss Roxana Henderson, of Cambridge, Massachusetts. She comes of old New England stock. We have one child, a boy, born in 1918, who will some day, I hope, become a member of my fraternity. In 1918 I went to France for the American Red Cross and was attached to the Field Ambulances, 314th Sanitary Train, 89th Division. I served through the Meuse-Argonne Campaign and went into Germany with the 89th as part of the Army of Occupation. I returned to America in 1919 and since then I have been plugging away here in Kansas.

My official rank is Professor of American History. I have come up through the two lower grades, attaining the present rank in 1920. I have been Secretary of the College Faculty. For the past three years I have been a member of the College Administrative Committee, Chairman of the Athletic Eligibility Committee, a member of and Secretary of the University Athletic Board, and the Representative from the University of Kansas in the Missouri Valley Athletic Conference (the inter-collegiate governing board for the bigger institutions—nine in number—of this section).

I am more or less associated with various student activities here, being one of the Faculty Councilors for Sachem (Men's Senior honorary group for the University) and for Torch (Women's Senior honorary group). I am a member of the Cosmopolitan Club (an international order with chapter-house here), of Scabbard and Blade (National Military Fraternity), and of the "K" Club (the usual University association of athletes, alumni and others who have made up Kansas teams). Also, I am one of the Faculty members of the Pan-Hellenic Council, and recently accepted the appointment from Brother Perez, our Grand Princeps, as resident alumni secretary for Pi Kappa Alpha here.

I am one of the Board of Governors of our University Club in Lawrence, a member of the Country Club, a member of the Chamber of Commerce, a member of Rotary (Historian of Chapter here), a member of and Secretary of the Vestry of Trinity Episcopal Church, and a member of Old and New. I also belong to the American Historical Association, the Mississippi Valley Historical Association, the American Political Science Association, and the American Association of University Professors.

With the very best wishes, I am

Yours in the bonds,

WILLIAM WATSON DAVIS

COLLEGE TRAINING FOR BUSINESS

By SHIRLEY J. COON, M.A.,

Dean of the School of Business Administration, University of Montana

Before the beginning of the present century a great majority of college students were obtaining an education for the purpose of becoming preachers or educators. The young man who wanted to go into business assumed that he could get the necessary training only in some commercial organization. Indeed it is only in the last twenty years or so that the colleges and universities have attempted to furnish any vocational training for business. But today business has become so specialized and competition has become so keen that the young man who tries to get his training "on the job" soon finds that he is in a narrow blind alley and progress is difficult, if not impossible. The pace of today is too rapid and the school of experience is too slow and ineffective to make it worth while for a young man to forego a college education if it is in any way possible to obtain one. He must take the short cuts.

Underlying the great field of business are certain principles, an understanding of which can be obtained in a college training rather than by the costly process of trial and error. Not that a college education can be made a substitute for the technique of any particular industry; young people can still for the most part make application of what they have learned only in practical experience. But they can take a short cut to a wide knowledge of general principles; the experience of the past can be made available to them in such a way that rapid progress is at least possible.

The collegiate school of business administration has three objectives. First, it offers courses which are broadening in their effect, which give the student some contact with the whole field of human knowledge and which make him conscious of his responsibilities as a member of society. Second, it includes courses which give him a knowledge of the fundamental principles underlying the work of the business executive. This means a knowledge of facts and theory in the technical field of business. Third, the student should have some training in practical applications of his knowledge, and should be given the technical means which will not only enable him to make his start in a productive position, but which will also always be useful tools, no matter to what executive heights he attains.

Let it not be thought that in choosing a business or professional course at the university a student is surrendering his cultural development. Isn't ability to earn one's living, adjustment to one's environment on a basis that leads to improvement both of self and the environment, just as truly cultural, if not more so, than a knowledge of how Cæsar built the bridge, or ability to write a sonnet to a ravishing eyebrow? The utilitarian course may be more truly cultural because it is kinetic; intelligent moral thought that results in action is really more cultural than just thought.

It has at times been said that university commercial training tends to quicken a pace already too fast and merely makes a man more adept in extracting money from the pockets of his fellows. Such criticism shows little understanding. The true business man is a producer. In our intricate modern civilization goods must not only be produced by the farmer and the manufacturer but they must be put into the possession of the consumer. The specialists of commerce are essential. Without business the whole fabric of our civilization would disintegrate.

Today is not only pregnant with opportunity for the young man, but it is full of ominous portent for society. We are confronted by problems worse than that of slavery. This time there is no geographical line. Every city and village and hamlet is a potential center of division. If these problems are to be solved they must be solved by the business man and they can only be solved when business is humanized. And business can only be humanized through education. Hence, university training for future business executives is not only desirable in order to increase productiveness and earning capacity, but it is also necessary to cultivate the social point of view.

THE CHAPTER'S OBLIGATION TO THE INITIATE

By B. E. SCHMITT, Beta-Eta

Fraternity membership is a serious matter. The chapter assumes a big responsibility when it extends an invitation to a man. Sometimes in the multiplicity of college activity and the routine of chapter life, we fail to realize that the chapter has an obligation toward its initiates and pledges.

The chapter selects his intimate friends for him. Of course men have many friends, and intimate ones, outside of the wicket door, but an initiate is placed in the middle of a group of twenty men and he is told that these men are his friends, his brothers. At some later time he has the right of blackball but in a real sense, the chapter selects his friends during his college career.

And this is no small responsibility. We know that good friends are a help and inspiration but we also know that bad friends can blight and destroy. We must see to it that the friends we offer pledges and initiates are right.

The invitation is for life. If we do not like the college, we can leave and go elsewhere but it is not so easy with fraternity membership. The cause of any life decision denotes a responsibility.

The pledge or initiate comes within the influence of the chapter and at an age when he is most impressionable. This influence is strong. No one likes to be called "queer" if he does not go with the crowd. We are quick to adapt ourselves to our environment, and the psychologists can tell you its importance.

The chapter will impress upon the new men, whether they are conscious of it or not, their ideals in life, their outlook upon things, their purpose in college, their mode of living, their attitude toward their fellow men. The chapter will leave its stamp upon every man who comes in contact with it. We must see to it that our influence counts in the right direction.

Fraternities have a very definite place in the educational world of today. College courses give mental power and training and the opportunity for the acquisition of facts. The fraternity develops the human contact side and makes the well rounded man. When the chapters realize their responsibility, the indictments against the fraternity system will disappear. Can we be snobbish or extravagant or indolent or wasters or irreligious or immoral or drunkards or gamblers or play dirty politics if we realize our obligations of membership?

If we are to play fair with our pledges, we must offer them something worth while. We must have background and tradition, we must have an homogeneous group and real brotherhood, we must be active in college life and students affairs, we must have good leadership and intelligent direction, we must have interested alumni and strong support and we must have high ideals and the proper motives.

Fraternity chapters can be a constructive or a destructive force. Men can leave as better or poorer citizens than when they entered. Their ideals can be higher or lower, their vision greater or less. Do we not assume a serious responsibility when we say to a man, "Come, be our brother"?

CEREMONY AT PENN STATE

The class of 1928 made Andy Lytle an honorary member of its illustrious aggregation at the first football game of the season. Andy, although not an alumnus of Penn State, is one of the famous characters on the campus and the first rooter of the team. Pledge "Red" Caudill made the speech of invitation with head cheer leader "Buck" Taylor lending his moral support.

THE BENEFIT OF CHAPTER DISCUSSIONS

By MARKS SMITH, Beta-Rho

The college man, as the complexity of modern living increases, is certain to be called to positions of trust and responsibility. He is going to be asked to direct the removal of obstacles which stand in the way of progress, to act in affairs of state, to take a leading place, in short, in most of the lines of activity today.

Now, if he is to measure up to the requirements placed before him he must have many qualifications. Leadership, foresight, perseverance, integrity, and a knowledge of the field in which he works—all these he must have, plus an ability to push over his own ideas, that they may be grasped and carried out by others. And it is this ability which the fraternity man can develop and improve right in his own chapter room.

All of us have seen the new man within the chapter. As a usual thing he remains passively inactive for a time, taking little or no part in the meetings. His only contribution is an occasional vote, cast most likely in accord with what seems the most popular opinion. Some men never rise out of this lethargy of spirit. They drift along, content to abide by the decisions of their brothers, never adding a word of comment, favorable or adverse. But there are others in whom there soon rises a desire to be a part of what goes on in the meetings. They become animated with the feeling that what they themselves think may be worth while.

A man's first attempt to advance his own ideas may not be impressive enough to sway a chapter from an accepted policy; it may not materially affect the vote one way or another. If action in meeting is new to him it is probable his delivery will be weak and a bit stammering, his logic may be faulty and he may feel that his trial has been a miserable failure. But he has made a start, and if his fraternity brothers are wise they will encourage him and commend him for his effort, not bring it to bear upon him what a chump he is by magnifying his errors before his eyes. His subsequent efforts will be easier; it will be an increasingly simple thing for him to present his point of view, to analyze it for the inspection of the chapter, and to make its merits known. He will have gained self-confidence, a thing which will be invaluable to him in all his relations after he leaves the environment of college halls and chapter room. He will have acquired the faculty of putting his solutions to problems before the eyes of others where they may be dissected and examined at will, and this ability, if not actually created there, in a large measure developed in his own fraternity chapter room.

This is worth a passing thought on the part of chapters. Each one has within it the elements necessary to the growth of its men, and the one best way to nourish this growth, to bring it to its full power, is to make it an easy matter, an agreeable job, for each man to say what he thinks on any question that may come up for discussion. It is neither necessary nor desirable that all opinions should coincide. Without friendly opposition to stimulate interest most organizations would slowly die of dry rot. Divergence of thought, differences of opinion, the viewing of problems from various angles—all these tend to bring to the surface the best parts of all plans. When a majority decision has been reached it is time enough for united effort toward one end. Until such a decision has been reached after consideration of the ideas of every man in the chapter who happens to possess any thoughts at all, the chapter should encourage the expression of all view points, no matter how at variance they may be with one another. Only in this way will the personalities, the potential powers of all the men of the chapter be developed; this development of the dormant qualities of a man's nature seems a laudable aim for each chapter to undertake.

SOLVING THE PROBLEM AT ILLINOIS

Plans for active cooperation between the alumni and the active chapter, Beta-Eta, at the University of Illinois, were worked out in a special chapter meeting at Champaign on November 1. An alumni advisory committee will form the direct connecting link between the chapter and the board of directors of the Pi Kappa Alpha Building Association, the incorporated alumni body.

At the annual meeting of the association, held in connection with Homecoming at Illinois, Walter C. Barnes, of Chicago, and A. F. Essm Mueller, of St. Louis, were elected to fill expiring terms of two directors. K. D. Pulcipher, of Chicago, was elected president of the board, with C. C. McEvoy of Ottawa, Ill., vice-president, R. E. Winkelmann, of Champaign, treasurer and A. F. Essm Mueller, of St. Louis, secretary.

Proposals looking toward the erection of a new chapter house within the next three years were presented at the annual meeting of the alumni and a campaign was launched to collect subscriptions now due from alumni. Pledges toward the house building fund have been signed by every man initiated into the chapter since its installation in 1917. The work of pushing collections for this fund was placed in the hands of W. C. Barnes, who was elected financial secretary by the board.

In order that the chapter may have the active guidance of the alumni in their work, President Pulcipher appointed an advisory committee which will keep in close touch with all affairs of the Illinois house. James A. Peterson of Chicago was named chairman of this committee, with the following members: G. E. McGaughey, Lawrenceville, Ill., John W. Freels, East St. Louis, Ill., and Lawrence D. Smith, Chicago.

This committee will advise the active men on finances, scholarship, athletic and social activities and endeavor to aid them in every way possible. The committee will report direct to the board of directors, with such recommendations as it may think necessary.

The Illinois chapter owns its own home at present, although the property is subject to a mortgage amounting to approximately half of the property value. It is the plan of the building association to purchase a site for a new home at the earliest opportunity, sell the present house, and build a new chapter home which will equal that of any fraternity on the campus at Illinois.

The first report of the advisory committee was made at a regular meeting of the board of directors on November 22, at the time of the Illinois-Ohio State game, and frequent reports will be made hereafter as it is the committee's plan to have at least one member meet with the active chapter every month. Meanwhile the alumni are striving to build up the building fund from men out of the university, so that work on the new house can be started as soon as possible.

WINTERS, BETA-SIGMA, WINS SCHOLARSHIP

Winters, a junior in the College of Fine Arts at Carnegie Institute of Technology, has just been awarded a Founder's Scholarship for scholastic ability, personality and character. One such award is made each year, and is the highest honor an undergraduate can win.

The students at Carnegie Tech are rated on "points of quality" received. To be in good standing, and eligible for activities, a student must make 150 such points. To be in the highest honor group, a student must make 274 each semester. Winters made a total of 768 for the year, the highest in the college and 438 above the average.

RAY WINTERS, Beta-Sigma

Winters is active on the campus. He is a member of Scarab, a professional honorary fraternity in architecture and has won two prizes in their sketch competitions. He is senior editor of the Thistle, the college annual and is a sergeant in the R. O. T. C. He will finish four years of army academic work in three years.

In his spare time, Winters teaches mathematics and as the caterer of Beta-Sigma, he is devoting his ability to the chapter.

BETA-ETA'S BASEBALL TEAM

Beta-Eta won the interfraternity baseball championship at the University of Illinois last fall when they defeated Alpha Chi Rho, 6-1. They then beat the unit team, Neola, 7-4, which made the Beta-Eta team the intramural champions. This is the first time that a fraternity has won the intramural championship. Two circulating trophies now rest in the Beta-Eta house, and the above nine brothers were awarded an intramural 'I.'

BETA-ETA'S CHAMPIONSHIP BASEBALL TEAM

Pi Kappa Alpha at Ohio State boasts a record holder in Pledge John Benton, who participates with more than average skill in 10 sports, despite the fact that he only has one leg. He pole vaults, high jumps, skates, plays football and basketball, and performs numerous similar feats with ease. He is receiving wide publicity in newspapers for his proficiency.

T. L. HANSON, Alpha-Psi

Thomas L. Hanson, Alpha-Psi, was elected to the Assembly of the State of New Jersey for the third successive term on the Republican ticket. Although his district is nominally Democratic particularly on local issues, he experienced little difficulty in leading his colleagues.

Brother Hanson, who is a prominent lawyer, has been active in the affairs of Alpha-Psi Chapter since the granting of the charter eleven years ago, serving as Treasurer of the House Owning Corporation since its inception, and being largely responsible for the purchase of the new house 5 years ago.

J. D. H. PETERSEN, Beta-Xi

James D. H. Petersen, Beta-Xi, received a large majority in the recent election for member of the State Assembly of Wisconsin, running as a Progressive Republican. Petersen was endorsed by the Women's League of Voters, the dries, the wets, the labor unions, the Ku Klux Klan and the Anti-Klan, so it was no wonder that his majority was so large.

Brother Petersen passed his state bar examination this past July and entered the law offices of F. E. Withrow in La Crosse, Wis.

GOOD THINGS TO TRY

A Department for Chapters

Editor's Note: It will be the attempt each month to set forth in detail a timely plan or suggestion which some chapter has used successfully and which, in our opinion, every chapter might use with profit. These articles are not theory but actual experiences.

A COURSE OF INSTRUCTION FOR PLEDGES

It is a truism to say that the pledging of men is important. But pledging is only half of the job for these pledges must become active brothers, bearing their share of the obligations of brotherhood. We must realize that the work of the chapter, the carrying on, will soon be placed in their hands and we must see to it that they are well grounded in the background and operation of Pi Kappa Alpha. Strong chapters are built and maintained by well informed and instructed brothers for the trained brother is the active worker and the active worker is the brother most interested in fraternity affairs.

The fraternity has realized the importance of this instruction and our by-laws require and provide a standard examination for initiates but as no standard course of instruction has been laid out, Alpha-Upsilon undertook to prepare such a course a few years ago, which at the suggestion of the Grand Editor, is submitted herewith with the statement that it has worked well.

The course is mapped out to cover the five weeks period immediately preceding the initiation ceremony. Pledges are required to meet once a week, one hour before the regular chapter meeting which gives them the opportunity of becoming acquainted with any visiting alumni.

The S.M.C., I.M.C. or other selected brother presides at each meeting. The hour is divided into a lecture period followed by a written quiz on the material presented the previous week so that it isn't just parrot writing. The papers should be carefully examined by the brother in charge, not for the purpose of giving a grade but to be sure that the pledge actually understands what has been said, and to correct errors. Plenty of opportunity should be given at the end of each talk for the asking and answering of questions.

The talks should be carefully prepared and each should fit into the whole plan. Explain carefully to the speaker the purpose of his topic, the questions which the pledges will be expected to answer afterwards, etc. Material for these talks can be secured from Dean Massie's and Dr. Arbuckle's speeches, Sale's 1915 Register, the January 1922 and October 1924 issues of the SHIELD AND DIAMOND, the Constitution and By-Laws, Baird's Manual and College Fraternities.

SEVENTH MEETING

The prescribed examination for initiates.

Brother readers, the results of the course of instruction outlined above were magical. The pledges entered into the spirit of the thing were actually anxious to get at the written work. The problem of showing new men their responsibilities is not new nor is it restricted to any one chapter alone. We all have to face it and as originator of the class in Alpha-Upsilon and S.M.C. at the time, I found that the cause of lack of interest on the part of many men can be laid to a misunderstanding or lack of information when new to their fraternity. If instruction will correct this fault alone, surely it is worth trying.

THE CHAPTER ETERNAL

Zeta

Edwin Wiley, Zeta, native of Knoxville, graduate of the University of Tennessee, former professor of English at that institution and son of Captain Edwin F. Wiley and Mrs. Kate McAdoo Wiley, died October 20, 1924, at his home in Peoria, Illinois, at the age of 52 after a brief illness. He was a nephew of William Gibbs McAdoo, Secretary of the Treasury in the Wilson administration.

Dr. Wiley was well known in educational circles throughout the United States. He was graduated from the University of Tennessee in 1892 with the degree of A.B., accepting the position of instructor in English while doing graduate work for his master's degree, later becoming head of the English department. He received his Ph.D. from George Washington University.

Brother Wiley became interested in library administration and methods and devoted much of his time to this work, serving as librarian of the University of Tennessee, Vanderbilt University and the University of California. His work in this field attracted attention and he was invited to become a librarian at the Congressional Library at Washington, which position he filled with distinction.

Besides his well known work in library methods, Brother Wiley was a gifted author and editor. He was the author of many essays and books, among which are "The Old and New Renaissance" and the "History of the United States."

Dr. Wiley married Miss Garnet Noel, of Nashville, in 1903. He is survived by his widow, two sons, his mother, four sisters and three brothers. He was a man of fine character and scholarly attainments. He made friends easily and had a brilliant personality. Pi Kappa Alpha has lost one of her finest alumni, and the chapter has lost a warm friend.

ERWIN JOHN GARMHAUSEN*Alpha-Rho

Erwin John Garmhausen, Alpha-Rho, a distinguished welfare worker in the South, died of typhoid fever at Bluefield, West Virginia, at the age of thirty-six. During his undergraduate days at Ohio State University, Brother Garmhausen specialized in social welfare work, and, upon graduation, was appointed to a responsible position in the Noel Settlement House, Washington, D. C. Later he became director of city recreational service in Macon, Georgia.

During the war, he was in charge of Camp Community service at Newport News, Virginia. In 1919 he served as director for the Community Service, Inc., in Virginia. After a brief period as manager of the Lock Two Grain & Milling Company at St. Mary's, Ohio, he returned to welfare work, directing recreational service in West Virginia. Early in May of this year, he was stricken with typhoid fever, and his death occurred on June 1st.

Brother Garmhausen was born at New Bremen, Ohio, on September 15, 1887. He received the Bachelor of Arts degree from Ohio State in 1913, and was initiated into Pi Kappa Alpha when the local of which he was a member became Alpha-Rho.

Brother Garmhausen is survived by his wife and four children.

JOHN TAYLOR TWYMAN,*Alpha

John Taylor Twyman, Alpha, '11, died in his thirty-seventh year as a result of an automobile accident near Harrisonburg Virginia, on October 18. Brother Twyman served as secretary and treasurer of the Pi Kappa Alpha Corporation which was formed for the purpose of financing the building of Founders Memorial Hall at the University of Virginia.

Brother Twyman was born in Madison County, Virginia, on June 9, 1887. He entered the University of Virginia in 1907 and was an active member of Alpha chapter. For several years he was a member of the Maphis & Twyman-McKennie Insurance Agency of Charlottesville, Virginia, and played a prominent part in civic affairs. At the time of his death he was one of the most active and faithful alumni of Alpha chapter.

Brother Twyman is survived by his wife and two children.

Chapter House Ownership

The leading article in this issue is a report of the first serious study that has been given the problem of chapter house ownership in Pi Kappa Alpha and, as every chapter has supplied the information upon which it is based, the report is complete and the figures absolute rather than estimates or percentages. The brothers writing the report are thoroughly experienced in the financing and operation of chapter houses so that their conclusions are not mere theory.

Pi Kappa Alpha has done well, bearing in mind that the average length of ownership is only  $5\frac{1}{2}$  years and that half the number owned were purchased within the past four years. The total cost of the 34 houses owned is over \$600,000 and the present valuation is over \$700,000, a respectable figure even in these days of high finance.

We do not know how this compares with other national fraternities nor do we care. In fact we deprecate comparisons, for comparisons mean rivalry which, in turn, means extravagance. Our goal should be number, not cost. We do not want the best or the poorest house on the campus. A $15,000 house on one campus may be a hovel, and on another a palace. The important thing is that every chapter, where college regulations permit, own its own home. We agree with that national fraternity who decided in convention that after a suitable time, non-house ownership would constitute charges for charter withdrawal.

This report of our committee shows that ownership is not as difficult as many had supposed. The amount of cash needed, about 20 per cent of the purchase price, is easily attainable from any alumni body and the business methods are clearly outlined.

The difficult part is to get the directing force, the business ability, the unquenchable enthusiasm, the sticking to it spirit, all so necessary and that desire which knows no abatement until completely satisfied.

It is high time that every non-owning chapter laid careful plans for the acquisition of a house. It may not be possible this year or next but now is the time to start, and to start with the determination of keeping at it until the deed has passed.

To Pi Kappa Alpha, we suggest this motto, "Every chapter its own landlord before the Atlanta Convention."

Every chapter, of course, exercises great care in the selection and pledging of men. Why? In order to get congenial brothers, men who will fit into the chapter and make an homogeneous group. But if this was the ultimate, a chapter would be nothing more than a social club. There are duties connected with the rights of membership. We want a brotherhood in which each member assumes his share of responsibility. And this means instruction. To be a good member of Pi Kappa Alpha, the brother must know our history, both past and present, our background, our organization, our traditions, our prestige, our men. He must be informed for the informed brother, the man who knows what it is all about, is the active and intelligent brother. He is the kind who assumes his share of the burden and who keeps his interest in fraternity affairs long after leaving college. If you want your chapter and your fraternity to be strong and active, educate your pledges thoroughly.

Many new brothers will enter our bonds before the next issue is printed. What will be their impression as they join us? Will the ceremony be so conducted that the beauty of our ritual will be apparent? Will the initiate experience the dignity and solemnity of the occasion? If we are to have intelligent, interested brothers, the act of initiation must be administered in such a way that an indelible impression of the meaning of Pi Kappa Alpha is made. This means careful preparation on the part of each brother and

Instruction of Initiates

The Initiatory

officer taking part in the ceremony. We have noted imperfect memory work and a tendency toward too great speed. Every initiate is entitled to the best rendition it is within the power of the chapter to give and any S.M.C. who does not insist upon it or who does not properly perform his part should be summarily removed from office.

The reception of the first effort of the new staff has been most gratifying. Letters of commendation and suggestions have come in by the dozen. The response was far greater than we dared hope for. But we can't publish a magazine on kind words, nor are editors clairvoyant. Many chapters and individuals suggested more photographs. But not a single photograph in this issue was sent in voluntarily. We wrote a letter to every chapter owning its own home asking for a picture of it and less than half responded. We asked every chapter for the time of meetings and less than half replied. We asked for the names of prominent alumni, sent a form to each chapter which just needed filling in, and less than half did so. We asked certain individuals to write specific articles on assigned subjects and less than half even acknowledged the request. The SHIELD AND DIAMOND is a news magazine, which the editors cannot manufacture without the raw material. We like appreciation but please say it with news and photographs and save us from early graves!

We have been fortunate in enlisting the services of two brothers for regular editorial work who we hereby cordially introduce to our readers.

H. Wilson Lloyd, Alpha-Psi, '24, is the S.M.C. of the "Outlaw Chapter." This is old stuff to Wils for he not only conducted a colyum in the Rutgers College newspaper and annual for several years but established and edited the Chanticleer, one of the good college humorous magazines.

C. H. Deterly, Beta-Kappa, '23, is the "Personalities of Pi Kappa Alpha" editor. He has had large experience in the publication field. While a student at Emory University he was editor-in-chief of the Emory Wheel which was adjudged by the Association of Collegiate Editors as the best in the country.

STATE COLLEGE, PA.—From a musical standpoint, Beta-Alpha is preparing for a banner year. Cockley is playing in both the orchestra and the varsity band, and Ruehr, Narbeth, and Lingle are members of the Glee Club. Lingle receives his charm this year for three years active membership.

The II K A orchestra, which broadcasted on several occasions last year under the name of II K A Entertainers, has been requested to agitate the ether again at an early date.

A gratifying successful Freshman Smoker on October 4, at which Alan Hellfrich talked very entertainingly of his experiences with the Olympic Relay Team, prided the lid off our social season. This was followed by a highly enjoyable dance on October 10.

These functions seem doubly sweet now that fifteen of the campus fraternities have been deprived of their social privileges following failure to equal the scholastic average of non-fraternity men last semester. The boys are determined to fight for their social rights to the last ditch. Our freshmen are compelled to spend their evenings in the study-hall, supervised by an upper-classman. This system brought results last year.

Beta-Alpha announces the pledging of twelve new men as follows:

Richard Ehrhart Fritz, Box 387, New Kensington, Pa.; Elmer Davis Caudill, 516 Adair Boulevard, Shelbyville, Ky.; Kenneth Furey Bottorf, 242 Frazier St., State College, Pa.; Charles Eduard Williams, 301 South Burrows St., State College, Pa.; Otto Albert Miller, North Second St., St. Clair, Pa.; Washington Roebling Vogeley, 506 E. Sixth Avenue, Tarentum, Pa.; John William Brown, South Second St., St. Clair, Pa.; William Franklin Parson, 1405 Center St., Wilkinsburg, Pa.; Philip Criswell Henninger, 548 S. Braddock Avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Fred Mitchell Ruehr, 2822 W. Chestnut Avenue, Altoona, Pa.; Charles Matson Dougherty, Oakland Avenue, West Grove, Pa.; Clemens Burdette Schwartz, 302 Fifth Avenue, Tarentum, Pa.

Several of these men have already distinguished themselves on the campus. Parsons is freshman Cheer-Leader and Caudill, president of the Y. M. C. A. The latter was also chosen unanimously by his class to make the Andy Lytle Day speech.

"Buck" Taylor, varsity cheer leader and I. F. C. president, and Jay Eisenhuth, outstanding star on the varsity nine, have made Parmi Nous.

Roseberry has added a seat on the Student Tribunal to his laurels and is almost certain to break into some of the remaining games as guard on the varsity football team.

Hagenbuch is playing his third year on the soccer team which has not been defeated for six years. If they keep their slate clean of defeat this season he will get his straight "S."

Musser has recently been appointed major in the R. O. T. C.

HOUSE ALL SHINED UP FOR PAT'S TROPHY

(By R. S. MacKENZIE, M.S., Beta-Pi)

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—The Chapter House underwent a general overhauling at the opening of school. Much work has been done on the upper floors and the front room on the first floor has been refurnished. The bowl which was awarded to Pat Ma'in as second honor man in the Senior class last year has been installed in the front room.

The Sophomores of Beta-Pi have inaugurated a policy of every man being out for at least two activities. Since this policy has been put into effect, we now have men out for practically all of the campus activities. PITTSBURGH, PA.—Beta Sigma's rushing season was very successful in that the chapter managed to get some very good men, men who are sure to be prominent in activities and high in scholastic standing. ## TRINITY FRATERNITIES ACQUIRE HOUSES

(By R. C. FINLEY, M.S., Alpha-Alpha)

DURHAM, N. C.—Trinity College opened here on September 25 with an enrollment of 1118. Only 15 out of 24 men from last year returned to our fold, but still we have a good nucleus around which to build. According to the new Pan-Hellenic rules bid day came this year on November 5, but the pledges can not be initiated until after the first term.

For the first time in the history of the college, fraternities are occupying houses, which came into possession of the college through recent property additions. Alpha-Alpha was successful in getting one of the best, and we are now well established in our own home. The College is planning a big building program, and nobody knows what is going to happen in the shake-up.

Trinity football team under the famous mentor, Howard Jones, has been very successful this year, considering the material with which he has had to work, only four varsity men returning. Frank has about made his place as regular quarterback and Finley has been playing halfback all the season.

Coach George Buckheit from the University of Kentucky is now actively engaged here as track and basketball coach. He is especially well liked and is having good success with his cross country team.

Burns is taking an active part in the fall tennis matches, and Latta is busy every afternoon with the track team.

J. M. Atkins is assistant manager of football, while Ruark has made a place on the college orchestra. McDaris and Harris were recently initiated into the Tombs, honorary athletic order.

Since school opened, the chapter has had a number of welcome visitors including Crute, Shute, Folger, J. R. Smith and numerous men from nearby chapters.

A party held at the house Saturday, Oct. 25, was in the nature of a Hallowe'en dance. Several alumni attended the Wisconsin game and stayed for the party that evening. The chapter was glad to have with us at the dance several brothers from Beta-Xi.

NEW BUDGET AND NEW HOUSE KEEP PURDUE BUSY

(BY GEORGE A. GEYER, M.S., Beta-Phi)

LAFAYETTE, IND.—This year will see a new attempt toward the budget system operated by men in the house. Last year the system as operated from Chicago by Brothers Bowes and Gray proved very successful, and it is hoped that even greater things will be accomplished under the new regime. In the event that the building fund is swelled as much this year as it was last year, we shall undoubtedly realize our anticipations for a new home. The chapter is contemplating a very desirable piece of property in the new fraternity block that is being exploited just east of the Ross-Ade Stadium.

Beta-Phi began its third year at Purdue when twenty-one old members returned on September 5. Of those who returned six are seniors, ten are Juniors, and five are sophomores. Charles N. In activities this fall Pillman and Hetrick play the stellar rôle at present while they are out for their third year at football. McMahon and Troxler are largely responsible for the success of the daily paper, The Exponent. Gardner is making a big hit as drum major, and is thrilling the crowds that come to see Purdue's famous band. Other minor activities are numerous and the freshmen are getting a good start.

MISSOURI BOYS PLAN NEW HOME IN 1925

(BY MERLIN BARNES, M.S., Alpha-Nu)

COLUMBIA, MO.—Alpha Nu's fall informal dance will be held December 12 in the form of a Christmas Party. Until then the principal social functions of the chapter will consist of dinner dances, 6 to 9 o'clock on occasional Saturday evenings and a dance given by the Pledges on November 15.

Plans for the construction of a new home are progressing rapidly. It is hoped that a year from now we will be able to welcome our rushees and alumni into the new home of this chapter. Brother Wm. Tandy, now at Vanderbilt, has worked with us in a way which all our alumni should emulate and has started us on a road which can end only in success.

Brother Richard Baumhoff, the new District Princeps, paid us a visit a few weeks ago and we were all glad to receive him and become acquainted with him.

Missouri has been very successful so far this football season, having defeated in succession, University of Chicago, Missouri Wesleyan, Ames, and the Kansas Aggies, and during that time has been scored on but once, that by the latter team. Homecoming and the Kansas game were to be held November 27. Many alumni and former students were expected back for this biggest event of the school year.

With the opening of the University of Missouri on September 12, Alpha-Nu chapter began humming with activity and satisfaction. Twenty-five active men have returned to the university and two more alumni are here as instructors.

Emery Johnston and Jim Price have been detailed as assistant professors in the School of Journalism, the former as the head of the advertising department, the latter as his assistant. It might be said here that the advertising department is "all II K A" as Brother Ralph Taylor has been appointed student assistant.

Intra-mural athletics have been inaugurated at the University of Missouri. Tournaments in seven sports will be held during the year, points being awarded each organization for entrance, for games won, and for completing their schedule. At the end of the year a large silver cup will be awarded to the organization having accumulated the most points. At present Alpha-Nu is standing fairly well. Eliminated from baseball by losing the first game to the Sig Alphas, we came back and placed three men in the high eight in tennis, only to lose out there. These men were Jameson, Stokes, and Dan Joyner. Wright, Duncan, and Pledges Wild and Sandknop make up our bowling team and to date are tied with the Sig Alphas for first place, having won eleven games and lost one.

At the end of the first seven weeks of school these new honors have been placed upon the chapter thus far this year:

"Rusty" Casteel has become a member of Phi Delta Phi, legal fraternity, was promoted to Lieut. Col. of the R. O. T. C. and put in charge of instruction of the President's Guards, is assistant director of the Memorial Union Campaign, and elected to the offices of president of the Sophomore Lawyers and secretary-treasurer of Pan-Hellenic.

At the end of school last year Russell was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and also permanent secretary-treasurer of the Class of 1924. As this letter is written news reaches us that he has been elected Q.E.B.H.

highest grades in advertising in the School of Journalism the last two years, and is student assistant of the advertising department.

WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY WORKING FOR NEW HOUSE

(BY CARL E. PFEIFER, M.S., Beta-Lambda)

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—The chapter expects to be living in our own home by next semester. Plans as yet are not fully developed, but in a few weeks everything is to be ready for a chapter house drive.

Among the pledges, Ames, Harding, and Hickey are shining lights on the freshman football squad, as was "Chief" Baumgarner until he broke his collar bone early in the season. Ames is in school on athletic scholarship and was captain of East St. Louis' championship team last year. Hickey is known as the fighting Irishman, and Harding is coming in for his share of the glory. These boys will make strong bids for a varsity berth next year.

Weddell, Fisher, and Bishoff have passed preliminary tryouts for the glee club; Unruh, a sophomore, is already prominent in the club. Unruh has also been admitted to the Chapel Choir.

Schwindeler has passed the mandolin club tryout. Mueller is going to try out with his cello for a berth in the club, as is Fisher (mandolin) in the spring.

Biggs, another soph, is on the varsity wrestling team and should win a letter this year.

The chapter wishes to thank Brother Lowe and those Alumni and others whose unselfish efforts were so big a factor in our rushing and in obtaining such a live bunch of pledges.

The chapter is very sorry to lose Harris and Davis. Harris has gone to Missouri University and affiliated with Alpha Nu. Davis is inactive this year because of his outside work, but was of great assistance to the chapter in rushing.

Brother Edward Eversole of Alpha Nu has affiliated with us.

Due to the absence of Harris and Davis the officers of the chapter have been changed somewhat.

Men who have returned this year are: Matthew Kavanaugh, Terrell; Trueman Gray, 3201 West Avenue, Austin; Warren Payne, 2104 Pearl Street, Austin; Frank Tucker, 803 Kipling, Houston; Sandy Esquivel, 419 Prospect, El Paso; Mac Iver Furman, 604 West Twenty-fifth, Austin; Donald Duson, El Campo; Stanley Hornsby, 1201 Rio Grande, Austin; Julian Blair, 205 West Agarita, San Antonio; Gordon Lewis, North Pleasanton; Ben Howell, El Paso; Murray Shields, Bonham; Ted Weaver, Henrietta; Milton Vance, 3813 Marimar, Dallas; and Kindred McLeary, Paris, France.

Football prospects for this year look rather gloomy with only four letter men back, but every one has great confidence in Coach Stewart's ability to whip the men into shape. The Orange and White was undefeated in football, basketball, and track last year.

APACHE DANCE FEATURES OKLA. SOCIAL SEASON

(BY DONNELL ROBINSON, M.S., Beta-Omicron)

NORMAN, OKLA.—Beta-Omicron opened the college year 1924-25 up with a bang and we are pleased to announce to the fraternity the following new pledges: Julius Knauth, Burkburnett, Texas; Leslie Gray, Purcell, Okla.; Leonard King, Clinton, Okla.; Cedric Randol, Clinton, Okla.; Harvey Harrison, El Reno, Okla.; Max Freeman, Tonkawa, Okla.; Howard Baird, Blackwell, Okla.; Pete Garrison, Harlingen, Texas; Otis Cargile, Okemah, Okla.; Frank Kelly, Davis, Okla.; Alfred Greenwald, Oklahoma City, Okla.; Ray LeCrone, Bristow, Okla.; Roy LeCrone, Bristow, Okla.; John Mayberry, Sayre, Okla.; and Frank Jones, Independence, Kansas.

The following new men have been initiated: Delbert Willard, Norman, Okla.; Hurshel Underhill, Cherokee, Okla.; Martin Cunningham, Watauga, Okla.; and Cellus Kerlin, Homer, La.

Beta-Omicron hopes to make this the best year in her history and so far everything seems to point that way. In our chapter we have several men who have received various honors and have added new activities to our list. Among them we have:

Hillis Bell as president of the graduate class.

Lazelle White is the new president of the athletic association.

Gene Rawlings was recently elected president of the sophomore engineers.

Jesse Johnson was pledged to Sigma Gamma Epsilon, an honorary geological fraternity.

Merwyn Black and Chester Warren were elected to membership in the Ruf Neks, a pep organization.

Warren Terrel and Gene Rawlings were initiated into Mystic Keys, a sophomore society.

Julius Knauth and Harvey Harrison were admitted to membership in Battle Axe, a freshman society.

Jack Bell and Lazelle White are our representatives on the varsity football squad and expect to make their letters this year. This will be the third letter that White has made in football and will be his last year. This is Bell's first year in varsity football but he sure looks good in there and few gains are made over his side of the line. Both play at tackle.

At a recent National convention of Alpha Kappa Psi, an honorary commercial fraternity, held at Austin, Texas, two of our members, Hurshel Underhill and Dick Grisso, were delegates.

Louis Fink and Ben Morgan are new affiliates. Morgan is from Alpha-Kappa and Fink is from Alpha-Nu. We also have with us John Pope Hayes, of Beta-Delta, who, though he hasn't affiliated with us as yet, takes an active part in our activities around the campus.

We have already had two dances this year and both were hot numbers and as the story goes, 'a good time was had by all.' Our next dance will be held at the Varsity Hall and will be on the evening of December 13. It will be a novelty Apache dance and we hope to start the custom of having an Apache dance each year. A live social committee is putting things over in great style this year.

The chapter is exceedingly proud of its pledges this year as they include several potent athletes. Harrison is an all-state basketball guard and is also a good football player. Great things are expected of him in the future. He was a member of the El Reno High School team last year. El Reno won the state basketball championship last year and also participated in the National meet held last spring in Chicago.

John Mayberry stood an excellent chance of making the varsity football team this year until he was forced to quit due to sickness.

Pete Garrison, Howard Baird, Roy and Ray LeCrone are members of the freshman football squad this year and all are excellent prospects for the varsity next year.

Besides Harrison, basketball prospects are Garrison, Cargile, and the LeCrone brothers.

Prospects are pretty bright this year for Beta-Omicron to come out on top in the inter-fraternity basketball series and the chapter also has a good chance to add the baseball cup to our collection.

The following are the names and addresses of the active members in the chapter this year: O. H. Hanson, El Reno, Okla.; R. Chester Warren, Temple, Okla.; Orrin Stevens, Norman, Okla.; Hillis Bell, Tulsa, Okla.; Ronald L. Camp, Wichita Falls, Tex.; Carleton Cunningham, Tulsa, Okla.; A. B. Carpenter, Ardmore, Okla.; Thomas R. Benedum, Morris, Okla.; Lazelle White, Drumright, Okla.; Herbert H. Scott, Beggs, Okla.; Cecil Baird, Blackwell, Okla.; Forrest Means, Norman, Okla.; T. Lynn, Fairfax, Okla.; George McKinney, Norman, Okla.; Warren Terrell, Norman, Okla.; Clarence Stevens, Okemah, Okla.; Colbert Moore, Norman, Okla.; W. Dixon Grisso, Seminole, Okla.; W. B. ### COLORADO CHAPTER SCORES SCHOLARSHIP VICTORY

(BY RUSSELL E. MANN, Beta-Rho)

COLORADO SPRINGS, COLO.—Here's greetings to all our sister chapters. Now step up and meet our new pledges: James Adams of Louisville, Kentucky; Austin Brunelli of Raton, New Mexico; Wade Giggey of Loveland, Colorado; and Robert Tice and Robert Moses of Colorado Springs.

The chapter now is the permanent possessor of the Duniway Scholarship Trophy. The cup was awarded to us several weeks ago for the third and last time.

Homecoming at Colorado College, held October 18, was the largest ever staged. Mobs thronged in to see, we regret to say, the Tigers fail before a powerful Boulder football machine. However, the Tigers are still full of the old fight that usually spells disaster for somebody.

The Beta-Rho Homecoming banquet was held that night and in spite of the bitter defeat we managed to devour food, swap songs, cheers, and stories until time for the All-College Dance. Among our guests were twelve men from the Boulder chapter and the new district princeps, Bob Davis.

Our first dance of the college year was held Saturday, October 25, at the Acacia Hotel. This affair was our annual pledge dance and the programs were in the shape of pledge-pins. Gray's Collegiate Orchestra, under the management of Brother Gray, furnished the music and introduced many novel features. Plenty of the old Pi Kap pep was in evidence and the girls enjoyed a very large evening. Heaven bless 'em!

Beta-Rho is laying special stress on the importance of campus activities this year and hopes by the end of the semester to have every man engaged in at least two activities.

Matthews and Leech are on the Varsity football squad.

Pledge Giggey is showing flashes of good stuff on the frosh football team.

"Ernie" Davies is manager of the Glee Club and is already working on plans for an extensive western slope trip.

Pledge Heckenlively has been elected assistant director of the college band.

Leonard Young is a department editor on the Tiger.

Mann is the art editor on the Nugget.

Olson, Sando, and Sanford were elected president, vice-president, and secretary, respectively, of the newly organized Engineers' Club.

In addition to this we have three men on the Glee Club, three in Pearson's Dramatic Club, six in the band, three on the Tiger staff, two on the Nugget, and one on the Y. M. C. A. cabinet.

Pledges Adams and Giggey have been pledged to the Question Club and Cliff Fritchle has been pledged to Alpha Kappa Psi, the national business fraternity.

In the elections held last spring Davies was elected sophomore representative on the Disciplinary Council and Allison was elected sophomore representative on the Administrative Council.

The following is a list of the returned men and their addresses: Roy Breckenridge, Ordway, Colo.; Edwin Daily, Ernest Davies, Clifford Fritchle, Wray Gardner, Bevier Gray, Leslie Green, Russell Mann, Arthur Matthews, Colorado Springs; Kenneth Ogle, West Colorado Springs; Lewis Rader, Colorado Springs; Robert Leech, Colorado Springs; Leonard Young, Greeley, Colo.; Howard Olson, Colon, Neb.; Mark Smith, San Diego, Calif.;

Emmett Moody, North Platte, Neb.; Stanley Sando, Versailles, Ohio; Allan Marshall, La Junta, Colo.; James Allison, Denver, Colo.; and James Torbit, Fountain, Colo.

FROSH GET COACHING AT OREGON AGGIES

(BY C. H. YORK, M.S., Beta-Nu)

CORVALLIS, ORE.—The Oregon Agricultural College opened its doors September 22, registration coming on the following Saturday. This year a new system has been tried on the campus in which the freshmen arrived a week early and were given instruction along the lines of college traditions, songs and ideals. Each freshman received individual attention, several persons being assigned to a professor, and it was his duty to explain the different courses of study. This eliminated to a large extent the dissatisfaction that generally follows a registration in which everyone looks out for himself.

The Aggies have high hopes along the line of varsity athletics this year, especially in football. The new coach, P. J. Schissler, is a man of whom any school should be proud and under his generalship we hope to have a very successful year.

BETA-NU

With 18 members back to start the year 1924-25, Beta-Nu has reason to expect a banner year. The returning brothers are: Melvin J. Brugger, Gresham, Ore.; Ralph R. Clark, Corvallis, Ore.; Robert I. Gray, Woodburn, Ore.; Russell L. Harris, Central Point, Ore.; Donnell T. Henderson, Bingen, Wash.; George R. Hopping, Vernon, British Columbia; George H. Jenkins, Glendale, Calif.; Vernon P. Jenkins, Glendale, Calif.; Lindley V. Koons, Orland, Calif.; William D. Link, Eugene, Ore.; Glenn Mercer, Gresham, Ore.; John S. Morse, Fullerton, Calif.; Henry G. Meyers, Portland, Ore.; Herbert G. Pollock, San Diego, Calif.; Carl Thelan, Lewiston, Idaho; Lyle Winters, Gresham, Ore.; Wescott J. Wells, Pittsburg, Calif.; and Converse H. York, Chino, Calif.

Three pledges from last year returned: L. Verl Miller, McMinnville, Ore.; Burnett Pope, Oregon City, Ore.; and John B. Weigant, Yamhill, Ore.

We also wish to announce the following new pledges: Jamie Hudson, Beaverton, Ore.; Irving Kline, San Diego, Calif.; Leonard Lemke, Fullerton, Calif.; Elnathan Lowe, Lebanon, Ore.; James Norman Pixley, Santa Ana, Calif.; Glenn Roberts, Glendale, Calif.; Glen Winters, Gresham, Ore.

More interest than usual is being taken in athletics this term. Mercer and Winters are on the varsity basketball squad. Wells has joined the necktwisters. Pledge Weigant is on the freshman football squad, Pledge Winters is out for freshman basketball, and Pledges Kline and Pixley for swimming.

Intra-mural basketball is going in fine shape and with the team we have this year Beta-Nu is expecting at least an even chance for the championship.

Beta-Nu started her social activities for the year by giving an informal dance Saturday, October 11. The boys all declared that it was one of the best dances given in the chapter house and were so well pleased that they have scheduled a breakfast dance for November 11. Homecoming this year is going to be a big event and a number of Alumni are expected back. Brother Vernon Jenkins is chairman of the homecoming committee.

CHAPTER GETS SNAPPY START AT UTAH

(BY GLEN HOWE, M.S., Alpha-Tau)

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH.—Alpha Tau starts the school year with twenty-five men in its chapter. Thirteen men were graduated from this chapter last year and are now holding down various responsible positions. The large number of men in the chapter this year is due to the return of several men who were not in attendance last year.

The chapter is well represented in the various phases of campus activity. Four members are office holders in the Associated Students of the University of Utah. There are as well, men in debating, dramatics, and publications.

ALPHA-TAU

Heber Whiting and Pledges Howells and Rock are holding down regular positions on the Varsity eleven.

Melvin Watkins, after some months in New York has again returned to school. Roger Cannon is likewise back again after a year's absence.

The chapter also takes great pleasure in welcoming William Cox from Alpha-Sigma chapter at the University of California. Cox is an able athlete, who holds state records in field events. He is playing on the freshman eleven at present.

THE OUTLAW CHAPTER

The Cynic's Christmas Chant

So this is the Yuletide, happiest of days,
Merry, merry season for which father always pays!
Days of happy laughter, days of splendid jokes,
During which one spends about five minutes with one's folks;
Days of hearty dinners, eaten with good will;
Days of indigestion and the vile dyspepsia pill;
Days when cheerful greetings come from brethren near and far—
Days, in short, quite full to brimming of old-fashioned blah.

ADDENDA TO "GOOD THINGS TO TRY"

Co-operation is the watchword of the Outlaw Chapter. When the Grand Editor instituted the "Good Things to Try" department, the Outlaw Chapter immediately thought of several good things for certain brothers to try. Placing carbolic acid, razors, and other "good things to try" aside for a moment, let us concentrate on the Annual Historical Record.

In view of the fact that 1925 is approaching, all opinions to the contrary notwithstanding, the matter of an A. H. R. is timely. An A. H. R. is a listing of the high spots which every chapter hits in its annual career. Why not hang such a record on the chapter-house wall? Would it not be fit company for the photographs of Alonzo B. Cozy, who captained the famous 1902 team, and Peter Frium who introduced plus-fours to the campus in the Spring of 1917?

Following is the A. H. R. for 1924, as compiled by the chapter which originated the idea and which accordingly wishes its name withheld:

Jan. 1st (New Year's Day)—Four brothers partially sober.

Jan. 17th (Wednesday)—Cook served hash today, instead of on Thursday.

Feb. 2d—Only 45 per cent of chapter stuck out this year.

Feb. 14th (Valentine's Day)—Brother Bonzo receives valentine from Registrar. Brother Bonzo goes home.

March 4th—Brother Flurb contracts measles, causing chapter house to be closed for three weeks. Brother Flurb elected Most Popular Boy and photograph hung on wall.

April 1st—Brothers Squirgg and Dill give steward checks for last twelve weeks board.

April 2d—Above checks prove worthless. Brothers Squirgg and Dill point out that yesterday was April Fools' Day.

- April 3d*—Funeral of Brothers Squirgg and Dill. Badges undraped.
May 16th—Photos of Brothers Squirgg and Dill hung on wall to cover spots where wall-paper has come off.
May 24th—Spring Ball. Brother Margorine creates sensation by bringing girl who has long hair and who doesn't smoke.
June 1st—Seniors commence to worry about exams. Brother Damp breaks college record for leg-dragging.
June 14th—Four seniors graduate, receiving diplomas from college and bills from Th.C.
Sept. 20th—Fall term starts. Pledge Garfinkel goes out for football.
Sept. 22d—Pledge Garfinkel receives black eye during scrimmage.
Sept. 23d—Pledge Garfinkel drops football and goes out for debating.
Oct. 5th—Brother Sweezy elected president of college Y. M. C. A. Motion at chapter meeting to take back his badge narrowly defeated.
Nov. 1st—Cook serves coffee that tastes more like coffee than anything else. Bonfires and dancing in the street follow.
Dec. 2d—Brother Glurk astonishes chapter by dressing for formal dance without borrowing a single thing.
Dec. 17th—House Manager announces huge saving in coal bill, due to use of Christmas cards received from other chapters as fuel.
Dec. 19th—Intensive training for Christmas holidays starts.

If you can think of any good reason for keeping such a record, why not try it out?

POST-PLEDGING SONG

or, "Just Break the News to Father"

"What means that white pin on your coat?",
 Asked Henry van de Veer de Groat.
 And Henry, Jr., smiled, enraptured:
 "It means, dear Pa, that I'm Pi-Kaptured!"

* * * *

A magazine writer said recently that it is the consistent student rather than the erratic genius who makes the biggest success of college. Not so. The most consistent man we knew lasted only six months. While everyone else was pursuing a hit-or-miss plan of study, he consistently refused to study at all.

* * * *

Neither Diogenes nor George Washington would have succeeded as chairman of a fraternity rushing committee. Diogenes was too fussy, and George was—well, too honest.

Symbols of Friendship

At Christmas time it is fitting that we express our feelings of friendship by means of gifts. The spirit of good-will is then abroad and sooner or later its contagion reaches us until we feel the urge to give.

Gifts of precious metals symbolize the enduring qualities of friendship and their value is enhanced by sentiment.

For the Fraternity man or woman many suggestions for appealing gifts may be made. Articles of jewelry with the insignia of the fraternity are doubly significant. Many special novelties with the insignia may be selected, and embossed stationery will prove both welcome and useful.

In the 1925 BALFOUR BLUE BOOK the newest creations in the jewelry art may be found. Novelties of various styles are shown, as well as the standard articles always in demand. Copy of this catalog will be sent on request. Badge price list furnished if desired.

Make your holiday gift plans early and avoid difficulties and confusion later.
