Football Cover

◆ THE FOUR-COLOR cover of this issue of THE SHIELD AND DIAMOND marks another step in the improvements which Pi Kappa Alpha's official magazine has undergone in recent years. Favorable comments on the color cover of the October issue prompted a further excursion into the color cover field this month.

Lon Keller, AX, is the artist who painted the colorful football cover appropriate to the gridiron season just closing and to the feature article on the 1939 All-Star IKA Football Team in this issue. THE SHIELD AND DIAMOND acknowledges permission from Brother Keller for the use of the illustration and from the Don Spencer Co., of New York for use of the color plates.

As art editor of the Syracuse year book and Orange Peel and art director of two dramatic societies, Keller had plenty of art experience while still in college. After graduation, he free-lanced, took post-graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania, then began to specialize in football covers. He is staff artist for the Don Spencer Co., who produce and print many of the football programs for colleges and universities throughout the country.

The editors of THE SHIELD AND DIAMOND consider the cover of this issue one of Brother Keller's most colorful and attractive pieces of football art.

Supreme Council to Meet

◆ THE SUPREME COUNCIL will meet in Norman, Okla., on Dec. 17 and 18. This will be the first executive session of the Fraternity's governing body since the Los Angeles convention in September and a long list of important matters is docketed.

Careful study of many phases of the Fraternity's activities by the Council during the past three months promises renewed activity along many fronts. Chapter finances, rushing, chapter house loans, expansion, more efficient district and national executive operation, stimulation of committee work, creation of various new committees as directed by the last convention and other matters of vital concern to the Fraternity membership will be acted upon.

The members of the new Council have been delving into a number of matters of widespread concern to the Fraternity in an effort to improve the functioning of the national organization and of individual chapters. Complete report of the Supreme Council meeting will appear in the February issue of THE SHIELD AND DIAMOND.

All-IKKA Team

◆ DODD RACES 90 yards for touch-down against Minnesota. . . . Tranavitch leads Rutgers to thrilling triumph over Princeton. . . . Russell, Auburn captain, rates with South's best tackles . . . Oklahoma wins another as McCullough stars.

These are some of the headlines that were strung across sport pages during the season just finished—proof that in every section of the land Pi Kappa Alpha football representatives were among the stars of the year.

Players from every sector of the country are found on the 1938 All-Star football team of Pi Kappa Alpha. The South and Midwest produced three each, while two came from the Rocky Mountain area and another pair from the Southwest. One was an Eastern ace.

Here is the IKKA all-star selection:

End: Bill Whitesides, Utah State.

Tackle: Cal Thomas, Tulsa.
Guard: Ferrell Anderson, Kansas.

Center: Ed Merrick, Richmond.
Guard: Bob Knudson, Denver.
Tackle: Bo Russell, Auburn.
End: J. T. Aldridge, Birmingham-Southern.

Quarterback: Hugh McCullough, Oklahoma.

Halfback: Bill Dwyer, New Mexico.

Halfback: Jack Dodd, Nebraska.

Fullback: Bill Tranavitch, Rutgers.

Big Bill Tranavitch probably figured in a more eventful game than any other of the fraternity's all-stars. It was Tranavitch who led the drive that shocked the nation when little Rutgers spilled Princeton.

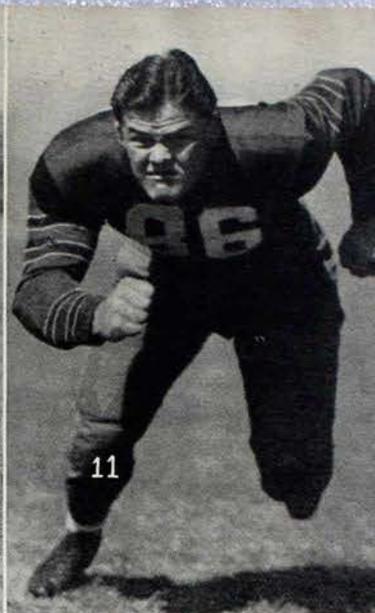

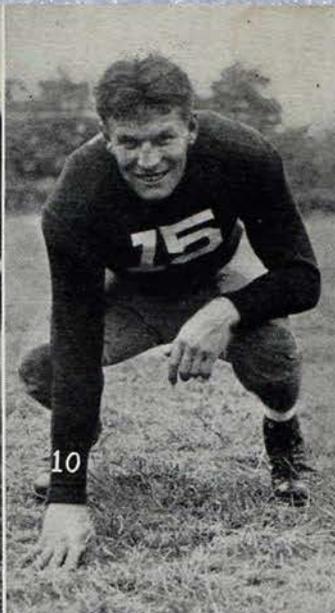

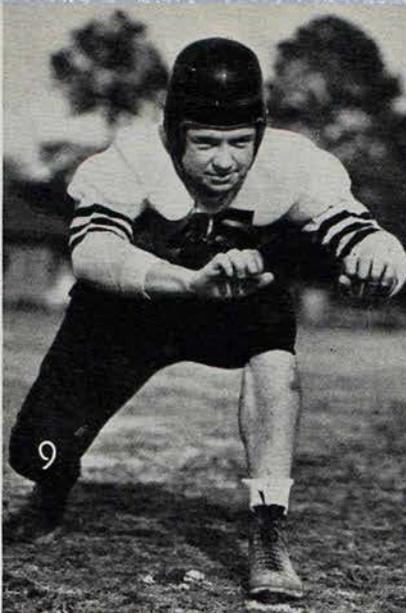

Not since the first Princeton-Rutgers game had Rutgers won. Rutgers beat Princeton away back in 1869 in what is popularly known as the first college football game in America.

Since then Rutgers has taken more than 30 lacings from the Tigers of Nassau without a triumph. Several times Rutgers has come close but victory had always been denied them.

In early November Princeton went to Rutgers to dedicate a new stadium. It was a nice gesture on Princeton's part but Rutgers turned it into a nightmare for the Tigers. Tranavitch scored one of the touchdowns and sparked the late drive that enabled Rutgers to come from behind and squeeze out a sensational victory, 20-18.

Tranavitch was one of the nation's highest scoring backs last year with some 90 points and he carried on his fine performances this season. An injury in the Springfield game slowed him up some but despite his hurts he had the strength and ability to lead Rutgers to the most glorious victory in its football history.

Down in the far Southwest grid-iron enthusiasts rate Big Bill Dwyer

The IKA All-Stars selected here for the honor team of 1938 are (1) Jack Dodd, Nebraska halfback; (2) Co-Capt. Calvin Thomas, tackle, University of Tulsa; (3) Bob Knudson, guard, University of Denver; (4) Ed Merrick, center, University of Richmond; (5) Bill Whitesides, end, Utah State College; (6) J. T. Aldridge, end, Birmingham-Southern; (7) William Dwyer, halfback, New Mexico; (8) Hugh McCullough, quarterback, Oklahoma; (9) Capt. Bo Russell, tackle, Auburn; (10) Bill Tranavitch, fullback, Rutgers; (11) Ferrell Anderson, Kansas guard.

Named for 1938

the best that section has even seen. He starred in all of New Mexico's games.

"Dwyer performed just about all the feats possible for a great football player, including an 89-yard punt, as the Lobos bowled over Arizona State Teachers, 20-0," says an Associated Press account of the game.

"Dwyer figured in all three of the New Mexico scoring drives and his spectacular kicking turned the Lumberjacks back on three touchdown threats. He averaged over 8 yards a try in carrying the ball."

Jack Dodd's play was one of the few bright spots in Nebraska's disastrous season. He scooped up a ball and ran 90 yards for Nebraska's only score against Minnesota. He not only was a fine performer on attack but his defensive skill kept rivals from scoring more often on a below-par Cornhusker squad.

"Dodd spilled Natowitz of Missouri on the 16-yard line after he had intercepted a pass and run 65 yards," says one sport page clipping.

It's been many a year since an Oklahoma grid team enjoyed the successes of this season's Sooner outfit and one of the chief reasons was Hugh McCullough. In addition to running the club from his quarterback spot, McCullough was the most consistent of the Sooner passers. He rates with the best in the Big Six conference.

By Dillon Graham

Associated Press Sports Writer

In collaboration with Lesley Goates, sports editor, Deseret News, Salt Lake City, and chapter sports correspondents.

McCullough scored both touchdowns in Oklahoma's victory over Nebraska, its first triumph over the Cornhuskers in eight years. He tossed an 18-yard pass to set up the first touchdown and then later ploughed through the line for another.

Lynn Waldorf, coach of the Northwestern University grid team, again named head coach of the mythical All-IKA aggregation for 1938.

The ends are Aldridge of Birmingham-Southern and Whitesides of Utah State. Both stood out as dependable wingmen in every contest. Scoring summaries show that each was adept at snagging forward passes.

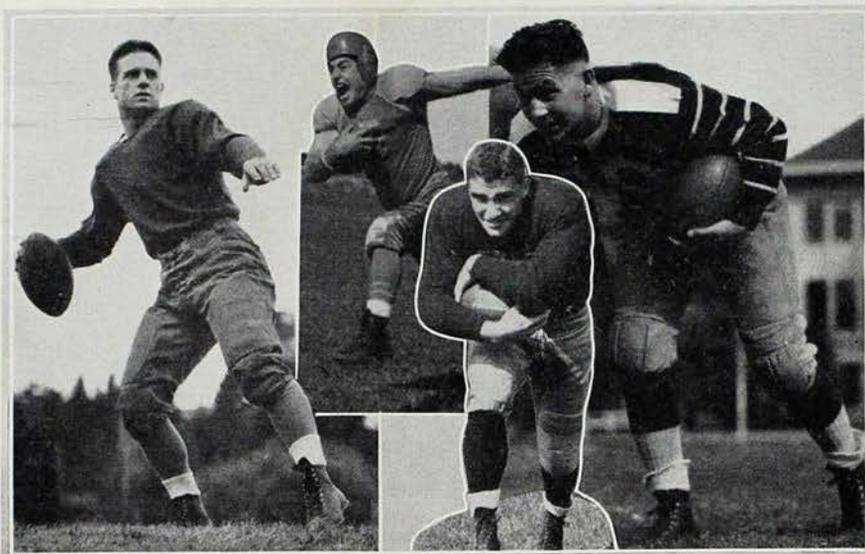

An Associated Press story credits Whitesides with bringing Utah State a narrow triumph over Colorado State.

"Left End Bill Whitesides ripped a hole in the Colorado flank and in a twinkling Tiny Ira Winger was across the goal with the game's only touchdown."

Bo Russell, captain of the Auburn eleven, is the only repeater on this year's all-star team. He was selected in 1937 and his stellar play brought him the choice again this campaign. He has been touted in Southern sections as All-American timber.

At the other tackle slot is Cal Thomas, co-captain of Tulsa's Golden Hurricane. Tulsa coaches rate him as on a par with the finest tackles ever developed at the Oklahoma school. He was named on several all-Missouri valley all-star clubs.

Ferrell Anderson's fine play at guard throughout the year for Kansas was rewarded when the Kansans named him captain for the homecoming game with Nebraska.

A big 200-pound, six-footer, Anderson was a dynamic factor on offense.

Bob Knudson of Denver, who was chosen on the second all-star fraternity team a year ago, moved up to the "varsity" honor eleven on the strength of his fine playing this season.

Virginia sports writers regarded Ed Merrick of Richmond as the standout center in that state. "He was the chief obstacle to the Cadets, making many tackles," says an Associated Press report of the Richmond-Citadel game.

The Fraternity's football board found it extremely difficult to select a first team this year because of the many stars playing throughout the land and because of the slender margin of one's superiority over another.

For instance, it was hard to keep Tracy Maero of Utah State off the honor eleven. A fine blocking back and a bearcat on defense, Maero was good enough to make most any team.

It was largely his fine defensive playing that enabled Utah State to whip Colorado state.

"On fourth down Deason of Colorado grabbed the ball on a wide reverse but with the home crowds screaming for a score, Maero smacked him out of bounds two strides from the goal," says the Denver Post.

"Colorado fought on for a score but twice more Maero stopped them. He grabbed a Colorado fourth down pass on his own 20 to break up one threat and a second Aggie aerial on his 30 to end a last effort."

Walt Zimdahl, Syracuse fullback, was well liked in the East.

This backfield would prove a worthy opponent for the All-IKA team. Left to right, they are Paul Callow, Washington State quarterback; Orlando Maio, Denver halfback; Walt Zimdahl, Syracuse fullback; and Tracy Maero, blocking halfback of Utah State.

Orlando Maio of Denver garnered the plaudits of fans in the Rocky Mountain region. Cheek Duncan was a veteran cog in the strong Tennessee machine.

Bill Forney of Texas, Rooney of Colorado, Ward Proctor of Birmingham-Southern and Paul Snow of Utah were praised repeatedly.

"Snow turned in a great game for Utah in the backfield," says the Denver Post in reporting the Utah-Utah Aggie game. "He ran the ball, blocked splendidly, and was just as valuable kicking and on defense."

Bob Stout, a 6-foot-6, 225-pounder, was a terror at tackle for Arkansas, while Max Kimberly, 6-foot-4 and 205 pounds, starred for Montana State.

Charles Smart, North Carolina State end, was going great until a dislocated elbow in the Manhattan game threw him out for the rest of the season. Ralph Eldred turned in some fine wing play for Tennessee while Steve Reynolds of New Mexico and Larry Toburen of Denver also starred at end.

Here is a typical IKA second all-star team that could give the "varsity" a tough battle:

IICA twin cheer leaders at the University of Texas are Lansing Thorne (left) and Clifford Thorne, engaged in the pleasant task of coaching twin sisters Aurelitha and Eliska Stamm in a few Texas yells.

End: Charles Smart, North Carolina State.

Tackle: Bob Stout, Arkansas.

Guard: Max Kimberly, Montana State.

Center: J. Spafford, Missouri School of Mines.

Guard: Willard Craft, Hampden-Sydney.

Tackle: Al Dorsch, Wisconsin.
End: Steve Reynolds, New Mexico.

Quarterback: Bill Forney, Texas.
Halfback: Orlando Maio, Denver.

Halfback: Tracey Maero, Utah State.

Fullback: Walt Zimdahl, Syracuse.

And here is the Pi Kappa Alpha honor roll:

Ends: Ned Barbre, Georgia; Watson Ramsey and Bill Howell, Florida; Tom McConnell, Syracuse; Dick Brandt, Bill Scheutzon and Vincent Cooper, Wittenberg; L. Ridley, Missouri School of Mines; Binford, Georgetown; Don Martin, Montana State; Larry Toburen, Denver, and Ralph Eldred, Tennessee.

Tackles: Lester Pojegny, Kansas; Othel Turner, Tulsa; John Parson, Wittenberg; Condor, Georgetown; Emile Petrone, Vanderbilt; Virgil Tampa, Denver; Clark Goff, Florida; Jay Stevens, Utah State, and Ewalt, Transylvania.

Guards: Leo Sas, Tulsa; Earl Moore, Syracuse; Larry Ruppel,

Texas; K. Kreuger, Missouri School of Mines; Bach, Georgetown; Anderson, Georgetown; Bernard Cluzen, Montana State; Mike Jurich, Denver; Warren O'Gara, Utah State; Dorn, Rutgers, and Rex Hill, Utah State.

Centers: Taylor, Transylvania and Lomas, Rensselaer Poly.

Backs: Elmer Lee Gentry, Wayne Lewellen and Herbert (Sweet Pea) Collins, Tulsa; Bill Shek, Syracuse; Carl Reardon, and John Boll, Wittenberg; Bob McClelland, Davidson; Kenneth Simmons, Nebraska; Paul Callow, Washington State; McLaughlin, Day, Rudy and McCandless, Georgetown; Max Stark, Montana State; Ward Proctor, Birmingham-Southern; Delmar Miller and Harold Gutke, Utah State; Rooney, Colorado; Paul Snow, Utah; Null, Hampden-Sydney; Cheek Duncan, Tennessee; Shake, Rensselaer, and Horne, Presbyterian.

The Pi Kappa Alpha coaching nominations of the year are Lynn Waldorf at Northwestern; Jimmy Kitts at Rice; Pete Smith (on last year's all-star team) at Oklahoma; Chet Benfiel at Tulsa, Wes Fesler at Harvard, and Duane Purvis at Purdue.

Press Comments on IICA Grid Stars

◆ AT PRESS TIME few all-star teams had been announced. But the all-stars of the Big Six Conference named by the Kansas City Star included two IICA's—Ferrell Anderson, Kansas guard, and Hugh McCullough of Oklahoma.

Following are some newspaper excerpts about All-IICA stars:

Although Everett Kischer of Iowa State is a well-rounded backfield star, McCullough of Oklahoma is even a greater one.

McCullough weighs 180 and is a 6-footer. He was the hardest line smasher of all the Sooner backs, a deadly forward passer, a good punter, excellent at place-kicking, a savage defense man against both passes and runs and, in addition, a veritable pump for instilling morale in his team.—Kansas City Star.

In Bock of Iowa State and Anderson of Kansas the team has two magnificent guards. Anderson has been a particularly outstanding lineman. He is a 6-foot, 200-pounder, fast and aggressive, a speedy man in swinging into interference, an excellent blocker and a capable defensive player.—Kansas City Star.

Supporters of the University of New Mexico Lobos claim they have an outstanding candidate Thursday for an all-America 1938 back in Big Bill Dwyer.

Dwyer is believed to lead the nation's scorers, with a total of 54 points in three games. He has carried the ball 33 times, for 439 yards from scrimmage, lost 3 yards, for an average of 13 yards.

In punting, the Lobo back has averaged 44 yards and has lofted the oval for distances up to 85 yards.—I. N. S. Dispatch, Oct. 13.

Orlando Maio, Denver quarterback, put on a spectacular one-man show late in the fourth period that had the stands screaming. He staged a running and passing attack which carried Denver from its own 24-yard line to the Lobo 20 and missed victory only on Barnhart's attempted boot of a field goal.—Denver Post.

I I K A Badge Presented To Daughter Of Founder

Dr. Wood's Son Accepts Pin In Memory of Father

Julian Edward Wood, senior member of the founding group of Pi Kappa Alpha, in the V. M. I. cadet uniform in which he fought the Battle of New Market.

◆ A SHIELD AND DIAMOND badge of the Fraternity has been presented in the name of Pi Kappa Alpha to Mrs. A. H. (Mae Wood) Worth of Elizabeth City, N. C., only daughter of Dr. Julian Edward Wood, the senior member of the group of six who founded I I K A 70 years ago.

The presentation was made through her only brother, Capt. William E. Wood, U. S. A., by National Alumni Secretary Roy D. Hickman as representative of the Supreme Council. The ceremony occurred Nov. 10, the eve of Armistice day, at Fort McClellan, Ala.

Published in the April, 1931, issue of THE SHIELD AND DIAMOND was "the story of the Little Corporal," recalling Founder Wood's service in the famous Virginia Military Institute cadet corps in the Civil War. Capt. Wood saw this for the first time last summer when visiting his sister. He wrote to National Historian Freeman H. Hart (now also National President), Sept. 26, asking if he might purchase a I I K A badge for Mrs. Worth.

"She has always wanted one," he said, "and repeated her wish to me last summer. She has no children and later would like to pass the pin to my daughter, aged 7. If the purchase can be arranged, I would like to present it to Mrs. Worth on her birthday in November. Mrs. Worth and I appreciate the many fine things you have written about father and I regret that I am not a college man and one of you."

Hart promptly notified the Supreme Council and there was no hesitation in arranging to meet the request, not as a purchase, but as a gift of honor. Engraved on the back of the badge was this legend: "Presented Mae Wood Worth by Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity, November, 1938."

Hickman, a resident of Birmingham, Ala., went to Fort McClellan to deliver the pin. To give the occasion the proper ceremonious air, he made the following little formal speech as he handed it to the Captain: "It gives me great pleasure to present to you on behalf of the Supreme Council of Pi Kappa Alpha the badge of our fraternity, that you in turn may present it to your sister, Mae Wood Worth, because of her interest in the fraternity which your father played an important part in founding."

Otherwise the meeting was informal, with a delightful conversation. Afterwards Hickman reported as follows:

"Capt. Wood as a young man was very frail in body, although his present stature would not indicate it. His father, being a doctor, suggested that he go West and live on a ranch to regain his strength. He spent a great deal of his young life on this ranch on the border of New Mexico and Colorado, where he gained health and a lot of the western spirit.

"He followed the gold strikes in Colorado, Nevada, California and in Alaska, where he was a Deputy United States Marshal. He served in the World War and is now following his early military inclinations. The Captain has traveled widely. He reports many interesting conversations with his father about the fraternity. He did not go to college and for that reason we were robbed of having him in I I K A. Mrs. Worth has been keenly interested in the Fraternity and was of great help to Dr. Hart at the time he compiled the History."

In Mrs. Worth's keeping are the numerous interesting letters written by her father as a spirited boy soldier for the Confederate cause. Capt. Wood said to Hickman that it was his wish that these letters eventually be given to the Fraternity, and that he would inform his wife of this desire. These noteworthy human documents would constitute a remarkable addition to the archives of IKA.

Capt. Wood was presented with a copy of Hart's History by the Fraternity in 1935. It was inscribed by the late William Alexander, last survivor of the founders, with a message to the Captain's young son, namesake of Julian Edward Wood. In his letter to Hart, Capt. Wood said: "In February, 1937, God called the boy, but I gain some comfort from the thought that he is associated with the fine men that founded your fraternity." The Captain's daughter is Audrey Jeanne Wood.

The History speaks of Founder Wood as a man of "quiet dignity and ready sympathy," "one of the best known and beloved physicians of eastern North Carolina." It contains two portraits of him—one as a cadet, with thick, dark hair and firm, boyish gaze, wearing a quaint dress uniform; the other as a mature and distinguished man.

Born May 3, 1844, in Currituck County, eastern North Carolina, the son of a physician, he was brought up in the vicinity of Hampton Roads, Va. In June, 1861, early in the titanic conflict between the states, he volunteered to drill Southern troops, though only a lad of 17. That winter, in spite of his eagerness for active military service, his father sent him to V. M. I., where he gained the nickname "Ajax." As a member of the cadet corps he served in the defense of Lexington, the Blue Ridge passes and Lynchburg.

In May, 1864, there occurred the Battle of New Market, for the Valley of Virginia. Into the weakened Confederate Army was thrown the V. M. I. battalion. Fate put it in the center of the line, where its splendid charge, as Historian Hart recorded, helped turn defeat into victory. The young Wood was a Corporal and a color guard.

New light on the senior IKA's participation in that memorable battle was contained in his son's letter to the Fraternity Historian. Capt. Wood said:

"In 1913 I came East from Alaska on a visit. In Norfolk, Va., Judge William Martin, a New Market cadet and a relative of father's, said to me, 'Will, I had rather have Jule Wood's New Market record than be President of the United States.' He related then: 'Cadet Sergeant Evans, later a Superior Court Judge in California, was the cadet battalion color bearer at the beginning of the New Market engagement, but fell wounded. Jule, a Corporal and one of the color guard armed with the rifle, grasped the color staff as Evans fell and carried on. The colors did not touch the ground.'"

With the instinct of a soldier and patriot, Capt. Wood added, "I am mighty proud of that."

Historian Hart told the Supreme Council that this account confirmed a tradition from an entirely different source that "the Little Corporal" carried the colors in the New Market charge.

In 1864-65 V. M. I. moved from Lexington to Richmond and the cadet corps combined academic work with military duties. By this time Wood was a Sergeant. He resigned from the corps in February, 1865, though not quite 21, and

The unfinished Theta lodge, now under construction with native Tennessee stone, on fraternity row of Southwestern campus.

◆ THE NEW chapter lodge of Theta, on the campus of Southwestern University, Memphis, was dedicated in an outdoor ceremony the night of Oct. 31.

Spotlights illuminated the exterior of the attractive structure, which is not yet completed. It consists essentially of one large room, and has an advantageous site on the university's new Fraternity Row. The lodge plan provides for addition of more units as needed.

Memphis alumni paid for the lodge and the IKA Women's Auxiliary of Memphis is providing the furnishings. It is intended that at no time shall the place become a financial burden for Theta.

More than 50 persons attended the ceremony, at which Llewellyn Price, ©, '80, veteran Memphis alumnus and only living charter member of Theta, presided. He was in the chapter when it was at Southwestern Presbyterian College, Clarksville, Tenn. Price gave a brief account of the early days of the chapter.

The dedication marked the opening of a new phase in Theta's existence, which had begun just 60 years and 10 days previously, when its charter was granted by the 10-year-old fraternity, Oct. 21, 1878.

The invocation was offered by the Rev. James A. Warren, ©, pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Germantown, Tenn.

Principal speaker was the Rev. Henry St. George Tucker, A, Presiding Bishop of the Episcopal Church, who was in Memphis for a national meeting of the House of Bishops. He told of his student days in the Fraternity, at the University of Virginia, and of the impressions this experience left with him. Although much of his life was spent in Japan, for the church, he often thought of the associations and friendships of his campus days, he said.

A contrast was drawn by the Bishop between the responsibility of students in college and that of men and women in later life, in the development of the finer things of life. He spoke of the Fraternity's responsibility to see that these finer things were encouraged and protected. In closing, he expressed pleasure over the growth of IKA and said the lodge dedication would mean a rededication of his interest in IKA.

National Alumni Secretary Roy D. Hickman, BΔ, spoke as the representative of the Supreme Council. In presenting the council's greetings he spoke of the "60 years of glorious history" of Theta, and said:

"What a magnificent part you have played in the establishment of our Fraternity, its revival and the present-day Pi Kappa Alpha! Theta supported Alpha when Alpha needed help. History records that Theta taking over control of the Fraternity from Alpha until Alpha regained her strength.

"During this period, the early 80's, Theta established Iota through the efforts of your Mark Kennedy and Iota gives us our present President and Historian, Freeman H. Hart. It is interesting to note that Theta and Alpha even today claim the spotlight, just as they did 60 years ago, for they have two outstanding churchmen of America, Bishop Tucker, head of the Episcopal church, and the Rev. Dr. Charles W. Welch, ©, head of the Presbyterian church.

"So history repeats itself. Theta and Alpha carry on through the leadership of their members. Just as IKA has looked to Theta for leadership in men, Theta has never lacked the feminine touch. This year at Los Angeles we looked the country over for a leader of our women's organization and selected Mrs. Joseph Trinner, life president of the IKA Mothers' Club of Memphis.

"The Supreme Council, through me, welcomes the opportunity of helping you dedicate your new home and may it mark the beginning of a new era for Theta. I charge you with the responsibility of carrying on in the same fine spirit that characterized your predecessors in the chapter."

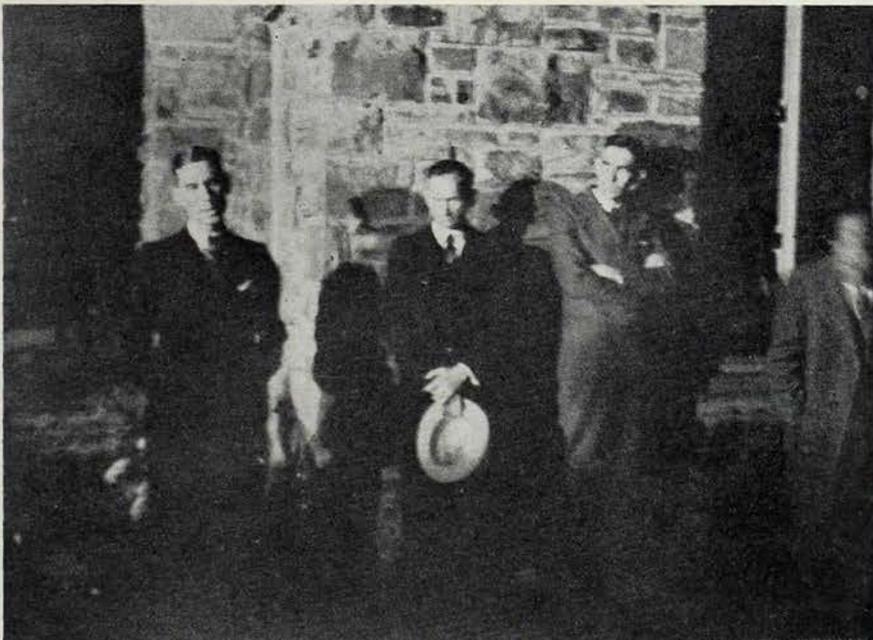

Ralph Brown, SC of Theta, spoke on the chapter as it is now and J. R. Meadow, AZ, professor of chemistry at Southwestern, spoke about the university. Mrs. Trinner and several Memphis alumni leaders also spoke. Telegrams of congratulation were read from President Hart, National Secretary Fred A. Anderson and Executive Secretary McFarland. Among those participating in the ceremony were District President J. Harold Trinner, son of the Auxiliary head, and Joseph E. Dean, Z, head of the Memphis alumni.

Present in Memphis at the time, in connection with the business meeting of the Episcopal church, were the Rt. Rev. Thomas C. Darst, ©, Bishop of Eastern North Carolina; The Rev. Prentice A. Pugh, X, of Nashville, Tenn., former National Chaplain of IKA, and the Rev. Smythe H. Lindsay, BZ, of Cincinnati, who was a newspaperman at El Pasco, Tex., during the 1928 national convention there.

Alumni Secretary Roy D. Hickman (left) represented the Supreme Council at the Theta lodge dedication and addressed the gathering on behalf of the national fraternity.

Dean Massey Extolled

♦ RESOLUTIONS of sorrow and regret in the death of Felix M. Massey, Σ, '03, National Educational Adviser of IKA and Dean of Students at the University of Tennessee were adopted by the Supreme Council and by the Executive Committee of the National Interfraternity Conference.

Dean Massey died at Indio, Calif., Sept. 3, a few days after participating in the Los Angeles national convention.

The Supreme Council's expression, dated Sept. 19 and signed by the five members, was sent to Mrs. Massey and perpetuated in the records of the fraternity. It told how the dean had for many years endeared himself to IKA by his work for the order, and continued:

"We knew and respected him for what he was and what he did. His intellect was of surprising force. He had an inveterate accuracy of thought and was one who did not follow vague values of reason or over-indulged in speculation of theories. These, among other features made him a powerful advocate of any cause he championed. He gained for himself the respect, love and admiration of IKA's throughout the world. Sincerity, the leading virtue of every achievement, was characteristic of him. Love for humanity was with him, in thought and practice, a rooted principle. The welfare of others was his constant aim and never did he 'pass on the other side' when grief and desolation swept through some mortal man's soul. When, after mature deliberation, he had assured himself he was right he

Ohio State Holds 'Greek Week'

◆ THE FIRST "Greek Week," or convocation of national fraternity representatives, ever sponsored by a large university, so far as is known, was held at Ohio State University Oct. 20-23. It will be repeated annually under auspices of the Council of Fraternity Presidents of the campus.

Outstanding event of the program was a banquet at the men's gymnasium, attended by 1,300 fraternity men, while hundreds of others were turned away for lack of room. The walls echoed to many fraternity songs and cheers from the various fraternity leaders present.

Addresses were delivered by Russell MacFall, ΔX, New York, chairman of the National Interfraternity Conference, and Alvan E. Duerr, ΔTΔ, New York, past chairman of the conference. Duerr's subject was "Fraternity Faults."

Plans for the convocation were in the making since spring, under direction of Frederick J. Stecker, assistant dean of men. An executive committee of five was appointed from outstanding fraternity chapters on the campus. One of the members was Irvin A. Eubanks, AP, who acted as the publicity director.

The opening event was a banquet for pledges, addressed by Cecil J. Wilkinson, editor and executive secretary of Phi Gamma Delta. His topic was "What Your Fraternity Expects of You."

There was a conference of the national representatives. Some of the questions taken up were: Content of chapter programs, substitution for Hell Week, chapter administration, successful rushing, a good pledge-training program, educational objectives of the fraternity, collections from undergraduates and alumni, fraternity publicity and alumni relations.

Among notable participants in the discussions, and their connections with their various fraternities, were: Howard L. Hamilton, ΦKΨ, educational advisor; George Starr Lasher, ΘX, editor; Malcolm Sewell, ΣN, general secretary; Daniel Lawrence, ΣX, past president; Lee Dover, ZBT, general secretary; Ralph F. Burns, ΑΣΦ, executive secretary; Bruce H. McIntosh, ΑΧΑ, administrative secretary; Sleeter Bull, AFP, grand secretary; Edward Kirchner, ΘKΦ, executive secretary;

Hugh M. Dorsey, Jr., XΦ, executive secretary; Maurice Jacobs, ΦEΠ, editor; Harold Jacobsen, ΣΠ, executive secretary; Don H. Gardner, ΒΘΠ, president of the National Association of Deans of Men; Charles F. Collins, ΣAE, president; Paul Beam, ΦΔΘ, executive secretary; John D. Scott, ΔΥ, vice president and editor; Leland F. Leland, TKE, editor; C. F. Williams, ΦKΨ, secretary; Stewart S. Howe, ΚΣ, president of Howe Alumni Service.

Dean F. M. Massey, ΠKA Educational Advisor until his sudden death in September, had been slated as a participant representing Pi Kappa Alpha.

The final day of the meeting, Sunday, was devoted to formal autumn initiation ceremonies at the various chapter houses. The delegates attended the Ohio State-Chicago football game and afterwards went to smokers at the chapter houses.

Tulsa to Build $20,000 Lodge

◆ PI KAPPA ALPHA'S youngest chapter, Gamma-Upsilon, University of Tulsa, is building a new chapter house valued at $20,000. It will be completed early in December.

The building will be of native stone, as are other buildings on the campus, McFarlin Library, Tyrell Hall, and Phillips Petroleum Engineering Building. It will be located on Seventh St., near Florence Ave.

The plans call for a dormitory style structure with living quarters to accommodate 30 men.

The house will be the second built by a Greek letter group. Chi Omega sorority recently completed a $5,000 home and will occupy it the beginning of the first semester.

All other fraternities on the campus rent their homes as did Phi Delta, the local absorbed by ΠKA.

The local was organized in 1914 and was the first Greek order to affiliate with a national fraternity. Pi Kappa Alpha chartered Phi Delta in 1936.

Wins Science Honor

◆ HENRY B. COLLINS, JR., AI, associate curator of ethnology of Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D. C., was elected vice president of the International Congress of Anthropology and Ethnology at Copenhagen, Denmark, last summer.

Henry B. Collins, noted ΠKA ethnologist (right), in Copenhagen with Dr. K. Fischer-Moller, Danish anthropologist.

Attending as a representative of Smithsonian, he was appointed chairman of the American delegation by the State Department.

In the course of the meeting he read a paper on "The Origin and Relationships of the Old Bering Sea Culture," which summarized briefly his excavations in northern Alaska, for which he was honored some time ago by Danish scientists. He has specialized in a study of the primitive people of Alaska.

There were 30 American anthropologists at the congress. Some of their papers covered such subjects as Maya hieroglyphics, physical types of Iran, primitive economy and Eskimo and Mongolian archeology.

The congress was held under the patronage of the King of Denmark, who attended the opening session. Thirty-two nations and more than 200 universities were represented officially, with more than 700 members in attendance, including some of the world's foremost anthropologists.

Before and after the congress, Collins visited Oslo, Stockholm, London and Oxford to study museum collections, particularly those bearing on the Eskimo and other northern peoples. He was graduated from Millsaps College in 1922 and took a master's degree at George Washington University three years later.

E. C. Locklear, BK, '28, Prescott, Ariz., was retained as head of district No. 15, for which he was selected late in the spring.

Those reappointed are: S. Roy Smith, AΨ, '12, South Orange, N. J., No. 1; J. S. Lloyd, BA, '20, Verona, Pa., No. 2; Claude J. Parker, BE, '25, Cleveland, No. 3; Guy A. Scott, BO, '25, Norman, Okla., No. 14; J. Grant Iverson, AT, '27, Salt Lake City, No. 16; Wilson B. Heller, AN, '14, Los Angeles, No. 18.

Kansas City was transferred from district No. 10 to No. 13, for administrative convenience, leaving the rest of Missouri in No. 10.

In law school he was on the editorial board of the Tulane Law Review. Debating, dramatics and Y. M. C. A. were among his special interests and he held various elective positions on the campus. His honorary fraternities are Omicron Delta Kappa, Kappa Delta Phi and Phi Phi and his professional Phi Delta Phi, Theta Alpha Phi and Alpha Alpha Alpha. McFarland Visits Chapters on Eastern Tour

◆ ALTHOUGH some fraternities have administrative officers in charge of their national headquarters and also traveling secretaries visiting the chapters and alumni, Pi Kappa Alpha combines these duties in one officer, the Executive Secretary.

During the last two college years, Executive Secretary R. M. McFarland, Jr., has spent 40 per cent of his time visiting Pi Kappa Alpha chapters and alumni—and 100 per cent in managing the General Office!

The first visitation trip of 1938-39 took McFarland to all chapters in District 2 (Pennsylvania West of Williamsport and West Virginia east of the Little Kanawha River) and District 3 (Ohio and West Virginia West of the Little Kanawha River) and one chapter of District 8 (Tennessee and Kentucky).

He helped Beta-Alpha Chapter at Penn State celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of its chartering in October. Nearly 50 alumni returned. Some brought their families, others had sons and daughters attending their Alma Mater. Six of the charter members returned!

McFarland found rushing season in full swing at Pitt. The undergraduates and alumni were dizzy when the last of the rushees left each night—and then the chapter meeting started, with the chapter divided into teams. The best work done during each day was rewarded by a prize given by R. M. Arnold, ΓΣ, '34. The alumni gave one smoker for the rushees, in addition to the chapter's heavy schedule of entertainment. Gamma-Sigma has a House Mother resident in the chapter house this year.

Beta-Sigma was found securely ensconced in the ΠΚΑ (formerly Thaw) mansion, meeting all competition and carrying on to more successes. Apparently every ΠΚΑ student at Carnegie Tech came there with a definite purpose—a rare but worthwhile resolve. This house has a capacity of 42—but there is always room for one more, if he be a visiting ΠΚΑ.

Alpha-Theta at West Virginia is off to the finest start in years, according to McFarland. During the summer the chapter was anxious for the future, for the house which the Chapter had rented for years had been sold. Through the efforts of Eddie (E. H.) Cubbon, ΑΘ, '32, and his ΑΞΔ wife, the chapter located an even more desirable house at 445 Spruce St., Morgantown, W. Va. These two reupholstered furniture and raised the necessary shekels to buy three double-deckers, three single beds, and six desks—all maple—and new rugs, drapes and stair runners. (Incidentally, Eddie, who is now athletic director of the University High School, Morgantown, would make some chapter a good proctor next year. He is planning to work on his master's degree. Chapters that are interested should contact him.)

The chapters in Ohio were found to be prospering, the one weak spot (Western Reserve) being slightly stronger. Alpha-Xi, at Cincinnati, the first chapter established (1910) north of the Mason-Dixon line, has grown so large that two new rooms were added. Improvements were made throughout the house. Undergraduates and alumni passing through Cincinnati should take time out to visit "Southland Hall," so named by the charter members of Alpha-Xi in tribute to the chapters of the Southland. The cooperative plan, originated at Cincinnati, makes Alpha-Xi unique.

Alpha-Rho, at Ohio State, is fortunate in having Gomer Jones, now a coach at O. S. U., in the house. The newness of the enlarged house (a big job handled by loyal alumni in 1937) has not worn off and the enthusiasm is running high.

Gamma-Zeta, at Wittenberg, returned to their newly renovated home on Oct. 14, after fire partially destroyed it on Aug. 26. Sororities and fraternities at Wittenberg gave several floor lamps, bridge tables, etc., at the open-house on Oct. 15.

Gamma-Omicron, at Ohio U. (Athens) was not to be outdone by the other Ohio chapters. The lounge room was completely refurnished—new battleship linoleum in colors of ΠΚΑ, with the ΠΚΑ coat-of-arms, brightened the room, and the panelling added the luxury of a cardroom in a swank club.

Alpha-Sigma Men Enjoy Mother Camper's Sunday Tea

By Ernest G. Van Leeuwen, Jr.

◆ NOT A CRUMB remains after one of Mother Camper's delightful Sunday evening teas at the home of Mrs. H. H. Camper near the Alpha-Sigma house at the University of California.

Delicious chocolate cake, cocoa, marshmallows, and bananas are provided by Mother Camper for her Pi Kap sons every Sunday night. This little social event has been a regular happening since 1911. On the walls of this room, known as the Pi Kap room, hang many pictures of ΠΚΑ's and still many more fill her photo albums and memory books.

After a conversation-sprinkled repast, a few yarns are unwound and then the pledges adjourn to do right by the dirty dishes.

Hunting, Fishing Paradise Part of Georgia Resources Under Burch's Commission

Reuben Flournoy Burch, IKA head of Georgia's new State Department of Natural Resources, invites IKA sportsmen to enjoy real hunting at his farm, Burch Haven.

◆ AS COMMISSIONER in charge of Georgia's new State Department of Natural Resources, Reuben Flournoy Burch, Jr., AM, is undertaking to make the people of Georgia realize the advantages of conservation on broad lines, not alone in limited directions.

Through the work of the department, the state has more than 25,000,000 acres set aside as forest lands—the largest such area of any state. An influx of pulp mills has added impetus to the establishment of the forests.

Burch's department comprises four divisions: Forestry; game and fish; geology, mines and mining, and state parks, historic sites and monuments.

"Naturally," Burch told THE SHIELD AND DIAMOND, "with such a tremendous wooded area, Georgia becomes a sports paradise; hunting and fishing are unexcelled from the mountains to the sea. Georgia is especially proud of her quail, or Bob White, population, which I dare say is the heaviest in the nation. We also have large and increasing numbers of deer, and turkeys and a good many bears in the large swamps of the coastal plains area, including the Okefenokee Swamp."

"Georgia is rich in its quantity and diversity of minerals. This administration has constructed an engineering experiment or minerals research building for the further utilization of Georgia's minerals.

"The state parks division has newly created, or now have under their direction, eight additional state parks under construction and development. These, added to our historical sites and scenic points of interest, attract and impel visitors from all parts of the Union to come and tarry with us and enjoy Georgia's sunshine and hospitality.

"The department is especially desirous of furnishing information to visitors or investors along all lines.

"I am interested in tennis and golf and am an inveterate huntsman. I own a farm in the coastal plains area of Georgia, with sufficient acreage to enable me to grow large numbers of cattle and hogs, and am especially interested in timber production. In that section we are blessed with the wonderful slash pine tree, which is used for pulpwood lumber and is our heaviest naval stores producing tree.

"I have a pecan grove of 100 acres on my farm, and through diversity of crops, livestock, pecans and timber, this farm becomes not only self-sustaining but a very interesting spot to spend leisure hours. The farm is well-stocked with Bob White, the finest game bird in America, and I gladly extend IKA's all over the United States an invitation to visit me for a few days' hunt during our open season and, at the same time, to enjoy Burch Haven Farm Georgia cane syrup, sausage, hams and other delectable dishes.

"During my service as a member of the General Assembly I introduced and aided in the passage of a bill giving the State Highway Department 2 cents additional gasoline tax, which has enabled it to give to travelers a network of modern paved roads. I also introduced a bill, which failed of passage, which would have relieved all abandoned lands, eroded cultivated lands and cutover timber lands from taxation, if they were put back into trees, until such time as the timber was harvested in some form, either naval stores, pulpwood, crossties, piling or lumber. This would have been an incentive to our landowners to reforest lands unprofitable to cultivate. In 1933 President Roosevelt issued an edict to encourage such reforestation of our lands by giving $5 per acre as a reward to owners for replacing trees. The legislation I introduced, though apparently premature at the time, has since been put into practice by state and federal authorities."

Last summer Burch and Gov. Rivers went to Washington to seek Federal funds for development of the state park system and a CCC camp for a new wild life refuge and recreation center on St. Mary's River.

Burch, who is 48 years old, was born near Eastman, Ga., the son of a Confederate soldier and farmer. He studied agriculture at the University of Georgia but his college work was stopped by a severe attack of typhoid fever shortly before he would have entered the junior year. He took up farming and later was Dodge County's first County Agricultural Agent.

A resident of Eastman, he was elected Commissioner of Roads & Revenue for the county in 1920, serving until he became a State Representative in 1924. Twice he was re-elected to the Legislature. In 1932 he was State Supervisor of Purchases by appointment of the Governor and in 1933-36 he was Federal inspector of emergency conservation work in Georgia. Called back to the job of supervising purchases by Gov. Rivers, he was shifted to the Department of Natural Resources, taking charge March 24, 1937.

He is married and has a son and a daughter. His office is at Atlanta, the capital.

Purdue IKA's Gain Honors

◆ BETA-PHI, PURDUE UNIVERSITY, closed one of the most successful years in its 32-year history in June with a record membership of 60, including some of the outstanding students on the campus. Since spare time of engineering students such as those at Purdue is limited, honors gained in extra-curricular activities are all the more coveted and praiseworthy. Beta-Phi is justly proud of the large number of honors held by the present membership.

Jack Rudolph, '39, is probably the outstanding Pi Kap in scholastic achievement. He belongs to Tau Beta Pi, Phi Lambda Upsilon, Purdue Order of Military Merit, Scabbard and Blade, Catalyst and Skull and Crescent. Recently he received a silver cup for the highest average in gunnery in the junior class of advanced military training. He was top-ranking junior cadet officer.

Beta-Phi had the best freshman soldier in the entire corps. Robert Morrison won the annual contest in which more than 1,000 freshmen military students participated. He also collaborated with James Ashton and Pledge Henry Amt to win the annual intrafraternity rifle meet. They scored 579 points out of a possible 600, winning a gold trophy.

Ashton was elected vice president of the Purdue Memorial Union, a coveted position of high responsibility. The union is the center of all important activities and social functions.

One of the leading actors of Playshop is Ben Burns, '40. He has had the male lead in several of the most successful productions and has made quite a name for himself in the entertainment field of the campus. Frequently his baritone voice may be heard over station WBAA, "the voice of Purdue."

Another gold trophy was won by SC Herschel Eberhard in the interfraternity squash matches.

In the pie-eating contest held every year between Beta-Phi and Pi Kappa Phi, the IKA pledges brought back the copper piepan, which is the emblem of victory for the fastest-eating neophytes.

Beta-Phi is a typical cross-section of good American fraternity life, characterizing the freedom and talent of American college youth. The membership is geographically representative of the entire country, coming from as far as New York and New Jersey, Montana and the Canal Zone. The variety of hobbies includes amateur photographers, radio operators, collectors, play producers, writers, music arrangers, taxidermists, model airplane builders, woodworkers and machinists. They make the house a busy place at all times. Beta-Phi is a great group of happy, industrious and ambitious young college men, who share the high ideals and fellowship of IKA.

IKA Goes to West Point

◆ GALEN P. ROBBINS, II, junior at the University of Oregon, receiving an appointment to West Point, entered the academy in June. He was president of Scabbard and Blade and a member of the Eugene (Ore.) National Guard rifle team which won the national championship this year. He also was a member of the Oregon R. O. T. C. rifle team which won second place in national competition with other college teams. He has medals for excellence in pistol shooting.

Robbins was voted the outstanding man at C. M. T. C. camp in Vancouver, Wash., two successive years. His chief interest always was in military studies. He was popular in the chapter and an excellent scholar.

Bear Named Roanoke Mayor

JAMES A. BEAR, Φ and Α, was elected Mayor of Roanoke, Va., in August. A lawyer, graduated from college in 1901, he formerly was a member of the State Legislature for several years. He will serve as Mayor for four years.

He is a brother of Charles E. Bear, Φ and T, of Roanoke, who was a visitor at the Los Angeles convention.

Famed Estufa Entered

◆ BETA-DELTA'S ESTUFA or private meeting place at the University of New Mexico, was broken into last June when a hole 12 by 18 inches was bored through the roof. A careful check of Estufa contents made by IKA's attending summer school at the University failed to find anything missing.

The round ceremonial chamber of Beta-Delta stands about 15 feet high. It is built in true Indian style, being an almost exact replica of many Indian kivas. The walls of the Estufa are of thick adobe covered with cement and plaster. The roof is a huge iron plate with many reinforcements of wood, concrete and steel. It is centrally located on U. N. M.'s campus.

The Estufa was entered once before, in the summer of 1930, when a book of Beta-Delta records and a small bundle of letters written to the chapter from various organizations, were stolen.

Enters Race on Bet, Wins

By George DeCroes, Western Reserve

◆ ROBERT W. DE WELIES, BE, was probably the greatest track find at Western Reserve University this year. No one had any idea that he could run until he entered the Case School of Applied Science track meet, which he did on a bet. With no previous training, he put on his track shoes for the first times at the preliminaries and just qualified with time of 10.4 seconds for the 100-yard dash.

As the finals came up he thought he would not have a chance with the well-trained men. He came in, however, nosing out the Case men by an easy distance. His time was 10 seconds, flat.

Since then he has been clocked for the 220 and 440-yard dashes, with records of 22.6 and 52.9 seconds, respectively. In view of the facts, authorities believed he would be a record breaker in coming years.

BETA-ALPHA MEMBERS at Penn State play the card game known as Hearts before going home for the Christmas holidays each year. The loser must take a cold shower in the presence of the whole chapter.

Pictures -By Radio

Is Facsimile
Transmission
Through the Air

By Aaron Shelton, Vanderbilt
Engineer Radio Station WSM

◆ IF SOME NIGHT after 12 o'clock you should hear a noise from your radio, which you had forgotten to turn off, and this noise sounded as if a new form of static or tube trouble had suddenly developed, don't get excited and think that your radio needs repairing. That noise is probably the latest weather report, or a picture, or a last minute news flash being transmitted by facsimile from the tallest radio tower in the United States, that of WSM in Nashville, Tenn.

What is facsimile and how does it work? A facsimile system consists of equipment to translate pictures or printed matter into electrical impulses; send these impulses to the desired destination, and then translate them back into pictures or printed matter.

Until recently, the medium for the transmission of these impulses has been telegraph or telephone lines. Following a progressive policy, the Federal Communications Commission has licensed several radio-broadcasting stations to use their wave lengths and full nighttime power to broadcast facsimile matter, to determine whether the public wants this type of service and whether it can be supplied at the present time. Broadcast stations licensed for facsimile are required to transmit this matter between midnight and 6 a. m.

The development of principles and apparatus for facsimile transmission was of necessity a long drawn out process. Alexander Bain, a Scotsman, was working on this problem prior to 1841. That year an English patent was issued to him covering electrical picture transmission developments. Many of the basic principles of scanning, synchronizing and electro-chemical recording were laid down by him.

Of course there have been a great number of workers since that time, and each has had his share in the refinement and development of the art. Today the four outstanding systems are those of Finch Telecommunications Laboratories, the Radio Corporation of America and the Fultograph, Inc., all with headquarters in New York, and Radio Pictures, Inc., of Long Island City.

So far the following stations have been among those licensed for facsimile transmission: WHO, KFBK, KMJ, WGH, WOR, KSTP, WGN, KSD, and WSM. Each is using or will use a system supplied by one of the above companies. The Finch system is in use at WSM and the author will attempt to give a general description so that the average radio listener will have a better understanding of the workings of this newest broadcast form.

The matter to be transmitted is placed in the facsimile transmitter at the studio. This transmitter is a scanning machine and takes the place of the microphone in the ordinary radio system. This machine will scan a column of news, pictures, etc., the width of two ordinary news columns. Then begins the process of translating the light and dark parts of this matter into corresponding small or large electrical impulses, which are sent to the WSM transmitter, over the regular telephone wires used to carry normal radio programs. This translating process is achieved by focusing a pinpoint of light on the printed matter and then moving this pinpoint of light from left to right across the strip. This pinpoint of light reflects from the printed matter onto a light-sensitive tube or photo-cell, which actually changes the light impulses into electrical impulses.

These weak electrical impulses are in turn amplified by ordinary radio tubes and then sent to the regular transmitter as mentioned above. This movement of the pinpoint of light from left to right continues at the rate of 100 sweeps per minute. At the terminus, or right hand side, of each sweep, the impulses are automatically stopped so that the printed matter or picture being transmitted can be moved up one one-hundredth of an inch while the pinpoint of light is moving back to the left to begin the next line sweep. In other words, one inch of copy is transmitted each minute, or five feet each hour.

This is The Shield and Diamond cover heading as it appears after being sent by radio. Who knows? Perhaps the entire magazine will some day be sent to subscribers by air!

At the receiving end, the facsimile attachment, designed to work in conjunction with any modern radio receiver, is translating the above described electrical impulses into a facsimile of the original printed matter. It is doing this by another left to right movement; but this time a fine pinpoint of wire moves across a chemically treated paper. This pinpoint of wire is charged with the electrical impulses that have been mentioned so often above, and these impulses cause a small spark to jump through the chemically treated paper, leaving a heavy or light dot on the paper, corresponding to the magnitude of the impulses. At the receiving end these left to right movements, and the one one-hundredth inch upward movement of the paper, are kept exactly synchronized by a special tone sent at the beginning of each line sweep by the facsimile transmitter, and by the use of the same type motors in both sender and receiver.

At this rate of five feet each hour, if the radio station broadcasts facsimile matter for five hours, a facsimile receiver owner will have available for breakfast table consumption 25 feet of news, pictures, comic strips, etc., all automatically printed for him while he has been soundly sleeping.

The Federal Communications Commission has licensed the stations mentioned on an experimental basis. These stations have agreed to purchase and place in their service area a minimum of 50 facsimile receivers and to make reports to the commission from time to time as to the results achieved. At the present price of $125 for each receiver attachment and about ten times that amount for the transmitter, one can see these stations are contributing in more ways than one to the development of this new medium for public service. Of course with a greater public demand for receivers the price should drop to between $50 and $75 or even lower.

The various manufacturers of facsimile equipment have not as yet standardized their equipment so that one receiver can be used with any other system but this defect will be remedied as soon as there may be a public demand for facsimile. Stations other than WSM using the Finch system and equipment as above described are WHO, Des Moines, Ia.; KSTP, St. Paul, Minn.; WOR, New York, and WGH, Norfolk, Va.

So if late some night you happen to tune across a signal that has a certain regularity but sounds like nothing in this world, you can be assured that science has taken another step forward and that the sound probably represents the latest news flashes or your favorite comic strip.

IIKA's See High Adventure on Coast Survey

◆ FOR THE SECOND successive summer, Chester H. Ottinger, BB, '41, of Snoqualmie Falls, Wash., spent nearly six months this year as a fireman on the U. S. S. Surveyor, one of the fleet of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey.

Last year he and Pledge Douglas Ebersole of Beta-Beta were on the same ship, Ebersole as a yeoman. The boat was stationed both seasons among the Aleutian Islands, the far-flung outposts of Alaska, in a region of mist and shadows. Its territory stretched westward from Dutch Harbor, going a little farther each year in the bureau's task of mapping, measuring heights and distances, sounding waters and locating reefs and rocks.

On the first of these two voyages the Surveyor headed north from Seattle, Wash., the morning of May 5. Up through the Sound it went, past a sleeping Vancouver and on into the inside passage, sighting fewer and smaller ships in the days that followed, and finally heading across the Alaskan Gulf without sight of any other craft.

The long summer passed in a regular tic-tac-toe pattern—out to the working grounds for a month or five weeks, then back to Dutch Harbor for more oil, staying perhaps for a weekend into which the crew must squeeze a month's recreation. This included the long pull up Mount Ballyhoo—almost a requirement for the greenhorn; none too successful fishing from the dock:

Miss Laura Dell Torgeson

◆ THE ANNUAL SPRING formal of Gamma-Epsilon, Utah State Agricultural College, was held at Logan, Utah, in honor of the graduating members. Miss Laura Dell Torgeson, AXΩ, of Logan, was honored as the newly elected "dream girl" of Gamma-Epsilon.

Glen Worthington, TE, alumnus, acted as toastmaster. Toasts were given by Wendell Wilkin, past SMC, and Allan Thomas, SMC.

a trip across the channel to Unalaska, the real "metropolis" of the islands, where might be found an aged movie or perhaps a hastily arranged dance, or both, or where one might buy candy and fairly late magazines. Regardless of their courses after leaving the Unalaskan dock, the crew always finished the night at the A. C. Co. cafe, a polite name for a hodge-podge of accoutrement and gear. Within its walls were combined a meat market, barber shop, soda fountain, pool hall, beer parlor, grocery store, restaurant and dance hall — everything crowded into a space not greater than that of the average drug store in the states. Last, but not least, of the pleasures of port was the receipt of mail from home, great sacks of it that were sorted on mess deck and distributed to an almost silent crowd of men.

Working in the field was a matter of scurrying from place to place, taking advantage of the weather of the moment. During the season the ship skirted the west coasts of Unalaska and Umnak islands, reaching the last outpost, Nikolski; then along the north coast in the Bering Sea. For the most part the days were fog-bound, with occasional sun.

The ship finished the last of the possible field work Oct. 17 and betook it self to Seattle as rapidly as its 10-knot speed would allow.

Fulton and Clark Named to High Courts

◆ TWO IKA's were chosen judges of the highest courts of neighboring states in the general election of Nov. 8.

They are Will H. Fulton, A, '09, Kentucky Court of Appeals, and Albert M. Clark, S, '00, Supreme Court of Missouri.

In taking their places they extend a chain of IKA members of high tribunals in three adjacent states from the Atlantic seaboard to the fringe of the West. The others are Judge C. Vernon Spratley, F and A, and Judge George L. Browning, A, of the Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals. In addition, Laurence M. Hyde, AN, is a commissioner, or non-voting member, of the Supreme Court of Missouri.

Judge Fulton had the unique honor of receiving in the August primary the nominations of both the Democratic and Republican parties, to fill the place of a man who wanted to retire, so that he was elected without opposition to an eight-year term. Between the primary and the election his predecessor died and Gov. Albert B. Chandler, K and O, appointed Judge Fulton to the temporary vacancy. Hence Judge Fulton has been on the highest appellate bench in his state since the middle of October, while Judge Clark will not take his place until Jan. 1.

Born just 50 years ago, Judge Fulton received his secondary education at Pantops, Charlottesville, Va., and was graduated from the University of Virginia with highest honors, as well as a letter in baseball. Thereafter he practiced law at Bardstown, Ky. Formerly his partner was Frank E. Daugherty, a former Attorney-General of Kentucky, and later his brother, Ernest Fulton, entered a partnership with him.

Eventually he was elected Circuit Judge for a circuit centering at Bardstown, a position from which he was promoted to the Court of Appeals, which corresponds to what is called the Supreme Court in some other states.

In the World War he was a Lieutenant in the Field Artillery. His wife, the former Miss Belle McCandless, was the daughter of the late Judge D. A. McCandless of Louisville, Chief Justice of the Kentucky Court of Appeals. They have three children.

Judge Clark, a Democrat, moved from the Missouri Senate to the Supreme bench, after an arduous election campaign. The vote was about 720,000 for him and 523,000 for his Republican opponent, a majority of about 197,000 for Judge Clark. His term will run 12 years.

A resident of Richmond, Mo., he was born at Lawson, Mo., 59 years ago and educated at the Ray County Presbyterian College and Vanderbilt University. Since his graduation he has practiced law in Northern Missouri. For four years he was Prosecuting Attorney of Ray County and for another four years he was the county's State Representative. Since 1931 he had been an influential member of the State Senate, being President pro tem, in the 1937 session and majority floor leader previously.

In 1922-23 he was a member of a State Constitutional Convention and in 1924 and 1932 he was a delegate to the Democratic national conventions. At the 1924 gathering the prolonged effort was made to nominate the late Oscar Underwood, A, for President, but the Missouri delegation went to John W. Davis, the nominee.

One of Judge Clark's three daughters is the wife of Powell B. McHaney, AN, St. Louis lawyer. In the State Senate one of his 33 colleagues was Paul C. Jones, AN, of Kennett, whose term expires in 1940.

Edward T. Eversole, AN and BA, cousin of the late Henry N. Eversole, AN, former Grand Chancellor of IKA, was made Circuit Judge for a group of five Ozark counties of Missouri southwest of St. Louis, in the November election. A Democrat, he won by a vote of about 16,100 to 13,600. Previously he was Prosecuting Attorney of Jefferson County and some time ago he was prosecutor in Washington County. His home is at Festus, Mo.

Joseph B. Wentker, BA, another Democrat, failed of re-election as Prosecuting Attorney of St. Charles County, near St. Louis, when that community went Republican.

Beta-Gamma Equips Recreation Room

The newly redecorated and equipped recreation room at Beta-Gamma, shown here, includes tournament ping-pong equipment, pool, and other amusements.

◆ BELIEVING THAT a well-equipped recreation room is not only a good rushing point but also plays a large part in keeping a feeling of unity and fellowship within the chapter, the 1937-38 pledge class of Beta-Gamma has completely redecorated and re-equipped the chapter recreation room.

To give a restful effect, the walls were painted a light sea green. Upon this background the Greek initials of each sorority at the University of Kansas were inscribed in a bright red, providing a lively and fraternal atmosphere.

Equipment was purchased to make the place available for 10 to 25 men at a time. There are two regulation-size ping-pong tables with tournament equipment of the best quality; a full-size billiard table, and smaller game equipment.

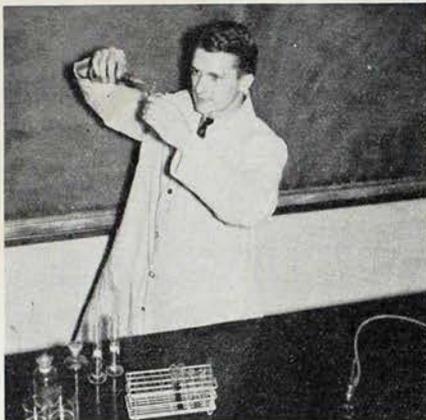

The new room affords a fine place to entertain women guests and has proved an important factor in rushing.

Solve Fish Murder?

By Charles Guthrie, Tennessee

◆ WHAT CAUSED the death of the 30 million fish in TVA-created Norris Lake in Tennessee?

Donald P. Chance, Z, is one of two men who are attempting to solve the problem. He is doing the work as part of his research for his master's degree in the department of zoology at the University of Tennessee.

Donald P. Chance in his laboratory, running tests to determine Norris Lake water conditions.

His collaborator is Dr. E. B. Powers, head of the department.

They are approaching the problem on the assumption that it is predicated upon the constant temperature of the lake water.

"To live, fish must have varying temperatures at different water depths," says Chance. "Constant pressures, from the water surface to the bottom, cause fish to absorb gases into their swim bladders which they cannot throw off when rising to the surface."

When the solution is found and the Norris waters are made healthy again for fish, it is likely that they will become a popular center for both the amateur and commercial fisherman.

'Apple Butter' Back

◆ "C-GAR, the apple butter man," has returned to the University of Oklahoma as professor of commercial teachers' training. He is C. Guy Brown, BO, '23, who gained his nickname as business manager of the chapter when an undergraduate in 1921. The sobriquet, by which he is known to hundreds of Beta-Omicron men and their friends, resulted from his thrifty practice of buying apple butter for the table in barrel lots and making 'em like it.

For 13 years he was manager of the chapter's house corporation and board of control, after leaving the campus. In Oklahoma City, where for the last 12 years he was director of commercial education in the city schools, he was active in the business and social affairs of the Pi Kappa Alpha Club. He joined the university faculty Sept. 1.

At the same time, Charles C. Bush, Jr., BO, '23, became director of remedial work on the university's administrative staff. He has complete charge of placement examinations for the 7,000 students. For the past several years he had been head of the history department of Northwestern Teachers' College, Alva, Okla.

National Vice President T. M. Beard is secretary-treasurer of the University of Oklahoma Association, director of the campus radio station and manager of the student union. District President Herbert H. Scott of District No. 14 is with the university's extension division.

H. A. WEISS, Z, '30, has been appointed district passenger agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Jacksonville, Fla., where he has his office in the Barnett National Bank building.

Dr. Hall Renamed Alumni Head

Outstanding Freshman

◆ THE DRUID TROPHY, awarded each spring to the most outstanding freshman on the University of Alabama campus, was presented last spring to Joe Leslie Payne of Huntsville, Ala. The selection was made by a committee of campus leaders and members of the faculty. The freshmen were judged by their scholastic average and their activity in extra-curricular work.

Payne is a sophomore in the school of commerce and business administration. In addition to making a 2.9 average he took an active part in the freshman Y. M. C. A. cabinet, and was very active on the business staff of both the University year book, the Corolla, and the University student paper, The Crimson-White. He also holds membership in the Philomathic Literary Society, Rho Alpha Tau, Alabama Quadrangle, Druids and Phi Eta Sigma.

IICA Observer Reports Nazi Crisis

◆ IT REQUIRES no great amount of political wisdom to suggest the probability of war in the future. What most people want to know is when will the conflict break. I know of no one who has the magic answer to this question, but of this one conclusion, I am reasonably certain—armament and military preparations are proceeding at an unprecedented pace in central and western Europe.

Travelers in the Rhine valley especially are well aware of the gigantic programs now under way. The highways are crowded with soldiers, artillery and the weapons of destruction. As is well understood, most of the muffled comments heard center around the plans of Germany. Strategically situated as it is in the center of the Continent, the nations round about it see a revived active country which is determined never again to stand on the sidelines.

The German people have not forgotten the "insult" of the French Senegalese Army of Occupation, nor any of the "lies" of Versailles; they scorn the war guilt stories, and are now entering a new era of military glory and unity. The army and Hitler are symbols of this advance. It knows no boundaries. The fact that there are undoubtedly a number of concentration camps in the recesses of the Rhine valley where political antagonists of the Nazi group are kept should not lead one to any conclusion which would question the supremacy of Der Fuehrer—Hitler.

Though the objectives of the German Minister of Propaganda, Goebbels, may not be altruistic, he does deserve recognition for a duty executed with rare display. A year ago I saw a fair number of Nazi flags in several cities. But during the past week I have seen literally thousands of these banners in every community visited. Every city on the Rhine from Cologne (750,000 pop.) to Mainz (60,000 pop.) seems to be celebrating a national holiday—and that daily. Even in the lower class district of cities such as Mannheim and Ludwigshafen (on the upper Rhine) large clusters of the Nazi swastika are to be seen. Certainly these people know but one flag—the "superior" or Nazi flag—and every appearance is of disinterest in all other national emblems.

I do not believe that very many Americans are acquainted with the program of the Hitler Youth. It is this program which must inevitably breed further seeds of distrust in the minds of Germany's neighbors. We have seen scores of platoons of Hitler Youth—boys of 12 to 18 years of age, carrying at their side a 14-inch knife on which is inscribed in German the words "Blood With Honor." These young chaps see but little of home life; in fact practically their entire routine from diet to discipline is patterned after that of the regular army. Loyalty to home is not taught, nor loyalty to God; there is only one loyalty and that is to Der Fuehrer. Allegiance to God and to the leader of the State would be regarded as contradictory and therefore impossible. Cologne Cathedral, begun in 1248, and regarded as the most beautiful Gothic church in Germany, is slowly emerging from a religious sanctuary to merely a Nazi "showplace."

◆ CHARLES L. FREEMAN, BA, has joined the faculty of Belleville Township High School, in Illinois, near St. Louis, after resigning as an instructor, with rank of lieutenant, at Kemper Military Academy, Boonville, Mo.

Lt. Freeman's observations while on a European trip in charge of a group of cadets last summer were published in several Missouri newspapers. They are pertinent in view of the troubled political situation of Europe. It was Freeman's second successive summer abroad.

"This second trip abroad following only in part the route of a year ago has given me not merely an opportunity to gain new information, but also to confirm many of my initial conclusions," he reported.

Written prior to the Czechoslovakian crisis, Lt. Freeman here reports trends which have developed into headline news during recent months.

Perhaps there is interest in a conversation I had with a German merchant living at Mainz. He had been studying English in evening classes and asked many questions about the United States, while speaking freely of his own country. Though a practical business man, his geographical vocabulary of North America did not extend beyond New York and Eastern Canada. Our discussion inevitably lead to the absorption of Austria by the Nazis.

In his comment he revealed, I believe, something of the mental makeup of Germany today. He emphasized Germany's racial superiority and the consequent need for drastic action in the way of geographical readjustment. He did not even suggest a defense of the Nazi policy on economic grounds. Then suddenly in broken English he shrieked: "Why don't you people in the United States take Canada?" It was inconceivable to him that two nations could continue to live indefinitely side by side on a peaceful basis. His logic was that of a continuous struggle by a "superior" people.

Holland, Belgium, England and France are not idle; on the contrary each of them is strengthening frontier lines and applying universal conscription in ways previously untried. The dimensions and strength of the French subterranean fortifications in the Alsace-Lorraine district are frequent subject of speculation. In Brussels I visited the Belgian shooting gallery and found a number of English-speaking people convinced that Belgian preparations were far superior to those of August, 1914.

As to England, it appears that for all of Chamberlain's opinions, the British are embarking on a gigantic plan of "defense." Abundant illustration is easily found. I understand a California firm is now at work on an order for a large number of aviation units.

As an interested observer of contemporary affairs, these are some of the thoughts which dominate my mind. Though there is some talk of international accord in Europe, certainly we in America should be quick to realize that unless the sinister forces are either checked or reversed, dark days are in prospect for our own country.

Thumb Vacation for Pi Kaps

◆ THE WONDERS of Old Mexico were revealed this summer to Wendell Wilkin, PE, '38, and Mondel Spencer, PE, '34, when they toured that picturesque country via the thumb route.

Wilkin, former SMC, packed his bags immediately following graduation last spring, met Spencer, who teaches school in Lava, Idaho, and set out for the west coast. He reported by mail to the chapter house that "this hitch hiking is really a cinch."

Wilkin and Spencer had plenty of time and did not miss a single opportunity to see all there was in every city and hamlet in Utah, Nevada, California, Old Mexico, Arizona, Texas, and Colorado. While in Mexico, the two adventurers had experiences they will not forget and they are eager to try a similar jaunt in the near future.

The two boys met many Pi Kaps all over the west and in Mexico.

Spencer resumed his teaching duties soon after his arrival in Logan but Wilkins still has the wanderlust.

Chandler to Quit Politics

◆ ALBERT B. (HAPPY) CHANDLER, K and Ω, who was defeated for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator from Kentucky in a memorable contest with Senator "Dear Alben" Barkley in the August primary, announced at Ashland, Ky., Oct. 19, that he would return to private life at the conclusion of his four-year term as Governor of the Commonwealth at the end of 1940.

In an address at Ashland, he said:

"I am going to abide by the voters' decision (in the primary), although I think you made a mistake. I see no hope for future reward in politics and so at the end of my term I will retire to private life. I face the future unafraid and confident of my ability to make a living for my wife and family."

The Governor, who is a lawyer, said he did not believe "that it is best to permit a man in Washington or Podunk to tell you how to solve your problems. My advice, based on my own experience, is to take all the advice you can get, then solve your own problems."

Barkley was supported by President Roosevelt in the primary.

Wins Army Commission

◆ AUSTIN G. MUELLER, former SMC of Alpha-Nu, who was graduated from the University of Missouri last June, has been commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the Army. He is stationed at Fort Sill, Okla.

Twice he served as head of the Missouri chapter. He was active, on the campus, in the Sophomore Council, Tomb and Key, Stripes and Diamonds and other military organizations. During his four years as a student he was in the R. O. T. C.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Mueller of University City, Mo.

Publish IKA Monthly

◆ THE OFFICIAL monthly newspaper of District 14, The Bulletin, was first issued in March 1931, according to records at the Beta-Zeta house. The second issue a month later is the last issue on record until August 1937.

On May 1, 1937, Beta-Zeta decided to distribute a small mimeographed newsheet to the chapter and alumni. Jack Johnson was named editor and, with several other brothers, ran off about 125 copies. This was Vol. 2, No. 1 of the Beta-Zeta Bulletin. It has been published monthly since.

Each month more chapters in the district became interested in the paper and later sent in monthly news. National officials recognized the importance of the paper and letters of congratulations came in from district and national officers.

The Bulletin now goes to every state in the Union, Hawaii, Mexico and Canada.

Travels 450 Miles to Party

By C. F. Brown, Gamma-Epsilon

◆ FRANCIS THOMAS, AT, '37, Butte, Montana, newspaperman, was judged the winner of the prize offered by Gamma-Epsilon to the brother traveling the greatest distance to the chapter's annual summer party held at Lagoon, Utah, on Aug. 13.

Traveling by air from Butte, Montana, 450 miles to Salt Lake City, he arrived just as the prize was to be presented, Bennie Egan's claim of 693 miles from Spokane, Wash., was judged ineligible since he did not come expressly for the party. Another, William Thomas, drove nearly 300 miles from Victor, Ida. The average distance traveled by the 70 couples was well over 30 miles.

The party was planned by Gamma-Epsilon for both Gamma-Epsilon and Alpha-Tau chapters. After swimming, boating, and other amusements, IKA's and their partners gathered at a dance and sang fraternity songs, with features offered by both chapters. Clyde Carlisle, PE, was in charge of arrangements.

Farmer Party at Alpha-Pi

◆ ONE OF THE most novel parties ever given by a fraternity on the Howard Campus was that of Alpha-Pi at the chapter house on Oct. 26.

Guests dressed as farmers and farmerettes, with removal of their shoes as admission tickets, entered the straw covered house at eight o'clock.

The interior of the house had been transformed into a deluxe "barn" by using straw, crepe paper and corn stalks. Hallowe'en decorations also added colorful charm.

The farmerettes chose their dates for intermission by selecting a shoe and finding the farmer it fitted. Refreshments, carrying out the Fraternity colors, were served during the evening.

Dancing and contests for bobbing apples, biting apples on strings, and for the best dressed farmer and farmerette, were enjoyed.

Douglas "Wrong Way" Corrigan holds wrong way campanile wrong way, on visit to University of California campus where he was presented with an "upside down" replica of the campanile by Ernest Van Leeuwen, $\Delta\Sigma$, '39, in the name of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

IKA's Give Wrong-Way Corrigan Upside Down Statuette

The presentation was made at a rally on the campus attended by 5,000 or more students. The crowd, centered around the steps of Wheeler Auditorium, stretched for several hundred feet in all directions and many others looked on from windows, cornices and fire escapes.

On receiving the IKA trophy, Corrigan scratched his head and said: "Maybe I can stand it up on the other end and use it for something. I don't know yet who gave this to me. I only caught the 'pie' part."

By his own confession on the campus, Corrigan is unfamiliar with college studies and fraternities, but he paid some of the expenses of his brother, Harry, at the University of California a few years ago.

"So this is the University of California!" the flyer said to the students. "I always did want to find out what my brother was doing with the money I was sending him when he was here. He always mentioned Prof. John Younger. He taught Harry mechanical engineering, I think. That's all I remember about it. I never got through high school myself. You're a lot brighter than I am—especially in geography. If I get a chance to get into one of these buildings, I can say I went 'through' college anyway."

The junior class president gave Corrigan student body card No. 28—"for his 28-hour ocean flight." Another gift was a football autographed by the members of the California varsity team. The university band played, the crowd sang college songs and the cheer leader led them in "12 big one for Doug." He refused to pose or take part in a radio skit with Roy Riegels, University of California center, who gained national attention as a wrong-way man himself in 1929, when he carried the ball towards the wrong goal line in a

'Preacher' Gordon Assumes Dean Massey's Duties

◆ THE REV. DR. U. S. GORDON, ©, National Chaplain, has been appointed by the Supreme Council to the additional office of National Educational Adviser of IKA, succeeding Dean Felix M. Massey, Σ , of the University of Tennessee, who died Sept. 3.

Files of the dean's fraternity office have been turned over to "Preacher" Gordon, who agreed to handle the scholastic grading of chapters and advise them in scholarship matters until such time as an adviser in the academic field may be selected. Meantime, because of his close association with students at the University of Florida, "Preacher" Gordon has undertaken the work with his usual vim.

not alone expressed his convictions, but had the courage to stand up and fight for them."

The Interfraternity Conference resolution was adopted in New York, Oct. 12 and sent to the Fraternity's general office. Asking that its statement be conveyed to the membership generally, the conference said:

"Dean Massey was unusually qualified for his office by his deep understanding of human nature, by his love of fellows and a devotion to their interests which was unsparring of himself, and by his sense of humor and of proportion, which refused to magnify little things. He was an active fraternity man to the end of his life and gave much of his energy to vitalizing fraternity life on his campus and to strengthening his own national organization. His hold on youth was furthered by his great sympathy with its endeavors—a sympathy which was always fired by high purpose and lofty standards."

New House Mother at Kansas

♦ MRS. CLARK MANDIGO of Kansas City, Mo., has been retained as house mother at Beta-Gamma, University of Kansas, Lawrence. She is the mother of Robert A. Mandigo, BF, '34, of Fort Peck, Mont., and James A. Mandigo, BF, '34, of Kansas City.

She succeeds Mother Wilmot, for years the house mother, who resigned due to illness. Mrs. Belle Wilmot was the oldest housemother on Mt. Oread in point of service.

Everyone has heard, of course, of the old woman in the shoe? Well, Mrs. Wilmot has had more than 600 children under her care in nearly 25 years of service. She knows youth, its hopes, secrets, inexorable demands, illusions and occasional sacrifices.

She knows "her boys" better than their own blood mothers—the sizes of the shirts they wear, the color of the ties they sport.

She has seen unheralded youth blaze paths of glory, the heralded simmer into mediocrity. They are her boys and she'll fight for them every inch of the way, if necessary.

"The zest of it always will be there," she said. "I'm not in the least worried, as so many parents often ask. If anything, the sense of well-being that comes from past victories is enough to fortify me in the future."

Being a housemother is a multitudinous job. It is a crazy quilt task of maternity, paternity, fraternity and modernity, a sprinkling of old ideals and slow, measured acceptance of the new. While the university rules require a chaperon, or housemother, in all organized houses, both fraternity and sorority groups, the position affords a zealot a chance to build the foundation of good citizenship.

One of Mother Wilmot's first major problems was arbitrating a feud between IKA and the Chi Omega sorority, which occupied a house next door north. Several of the boys had seized a pet dog belonging to one of the girls and had given it a whitewashing. The girl was furious. The feud grew in proportions. The boys next found a cow and tied it on the front porch of the sorority lodging. Their procedure was to go singly and solemnly, tin cups in their hands, over to the front porch and milk the cow.

The feud soon gave way before an alarming and vastly more serious storm—the world War. Eighty-nine IKA youths packed and left for training camps and overseas. Only three members and Mother Wilmot, remained. Two of them were too young to enlist, the other was a medical student.

Mrs. Belle Wilmot

Off to the training camps they trudged, their young voices hoarse with patriotism. Most of them returned once more to the fraternity house before leaving for the front. She remembers all of them. One in particular, Charles (Buck) Seward of Neodesha, Kan., was a football and track star. A shock of blond hair and flashing eyes.

Buck returned to the house to say good-bye. He was then Lieutenant Seward of the 139th Aero Squadron. She remembers every detail of that farewell. The lad bantered much with the other students. "I'll get the Kaiser's scalp, don't worry," he said to them. But to Mother Wilmot, he said, "I'm not coming back at all; I just feel it—somehow."

He didn't return. A month later his plane crashed. A fraternity brother from an eastern chapter in the same squadron cabled news of his death to the fraternity.

Through the years Mother Wilmot has been able to recall every IKA's name and face, even their nicknames. "Shorty," "Mac," "Pepper," "Stubby," "Tiny" (he weighed 250 pounds), "Stony," "Pete," "Flop," "Flip," "Runt," "Rubberneck." She knows the major forte of each, their athletics, their aspirations, whereabouts and occupations. They're sprinkled now all over the globe.

Heads Student Air Staff

By Aladino Duke, Syracuse

♦ SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY has recently completed its $5,000 radio studios, where student announcers, engineers and artists present daily programs over two stations, WFBL and WSYR. As chief engineer for the studios, Paul H. Lee, AX, has charge of the technical operations and sound effect production.

The university has a complete set of RCA sound effect recordings, which include over 150 different sounds which might be required during a radio drama. Three other student engineers are on the studio staff, one man being selected from each of the lower classes. Each year a freshman is added to the staff, to fill the vacancy left by the senior who is graduated. It is the hope that the experience gained will prove helpful to the students by providing them with a background for future employment in the field of broadcast engineering.

When the last Byrd Antarctic expedition was at Little America Lee communicated with them by short wave.

Lee is a Chief Radioman in the U. S. Naval Reserve and executive officer of the local unit, and has served aboard two destroyers, the Tattnall and the Bernadow. He recently installed the necessary equipment for voice transmission instead of code. A broadcasting microphone of the condenser type is used and on certain frequencies, two-way voice communications with Europe and other continents is easily possible.

Clough, BZ, '34, formerly of Dallas, new publicity and civic program director for the Texas State Network, Ft. Worth, Texas, which started operation Sept. 15 under the direction of Elliott Roosevelt. Texas State Network is comprised of 23 radio stations over Texas.

A graduate of Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Clough holds three college degrees, one in journalism and two in government. Rensselaer I I K A Alumni Organize ◆ ALUMNI of Gamma-Tau chapter, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y., have formed a definite alumni organization to perpetuate the interest of old grads in the chapter.

Shelley Healy, Beta-Gamma, is the male model pictured here in the University of Kansas Student Style Show with Miss Agnes Mumert, campus beauty.

Frank E. Lalley III, '37, of Nichols, Conn., was elected president, at a meeting at the house last June 12. He is in the product development department of U. S. Rubber Products, Inc., Naugatuck, Conn. Roland H. Trathen, '30, of Troy, was made vice president. The secretary-treasurer is James S. Rising, '25, faculty adviser of Gamma-Tau.

It was arranged to have four stated gatherings in the course of the first year—at the Rensselaer-Union football game Oct. 22, a banquet at the house on the Sunday before Christmas recess, at Soiree week-end in the spring and at next June's commencement.

News bulletins will be sent to the members at intervals. Annual dues have been fixed at $1, to cover expenses of this publication.

After the Union game there was a buffet supper and housewarming at the chapter's new home, 2256 Burdett Ave. A block of 100 seats was reserved for the game, for attendance by alumni and undergraduates in a body.

Alumni organizations of this type have been comparatively uncommon in I I K A, as most formal groups have been for alumni of all chapters.

Authors U. S. Constitution Book

◆ ONE OF THE two authors of Manual to the Constitution of the United States is Harry Clayton Cook, BE, '23, an Ohio lawyer. The volume, issued recently (Michie Co., Charlottesville, Va.), is particularly timely because of the numerous constitutional questions of far-reaching importance which have arisen in recent years, many of them in connection with New Deal legislation.

Such legislative fields as general welfare, commerce, police power, combinations in restraint of trade, compacts between states, impairment of the obligation of contract, due process and equal protection of the law, price fixing, delegation of power, administrative hearings and taxation are covered by the book. One chapter deals with many elements essential to a valid congressional bill.

The volume, of which J. Leonard Peirce of Massachusetts is co-author, is intended to remove some of the awe and bewilderment which surrounds the question of constitutional law for many lawyers, legislators and laymen. It results from the authors' governmental practice, in which they were constantly confronted with constitutional problems raised by business men and attorneys. They decided that a handy treatise, which would eliminate much research, would be useful for persons wishing information on the soundness of recent federal and state legislation.

Supporting the key to constitutional questions in the manual are excerpts from ruling cases decided by the Supreme Court of the United States. Not founded on conclusions, the work is based on these select decisions. It stresses the particular constitutional provisions that Congress has used in an effort to extend its legislative powers.

Lawyers have commended the book for brevity, clearness and general informative value.

Freshman Tragedy

TAKE THE WORD of The Bulletin, official publication of District No. 14 — Evatt Gates, Alpha-Zeta pledge, slept so soundly one evening recently that he failed to keep a date with a girl for the Harvest Moon formal dance.

"It happened," says The Bulletin, "that after ordering a corsage and renting a tux for the formal Evatt fell so soundly asleep just before time to go after his date at the Kappa house that the boys could not wake him. Accordingly they arranged for his date to be squired by one of their stags and let him sleep on. He awakened at 1 o'clock in the morning. The boys told him it was 9:30 p. m. Breathlessly he called a cab and went straight to the Kappa house, panic-stricken because he was late. House Mother Sullivan told him that the girls had been in hours before and the big night was all over."

◆ GARVIN FITTON, a law student from Alpha-Zeta chapter at the University of Arkansas, is the Pi Kappa Alpha golf champion. Fitton won the title by beating out some home talent on the beautiful but tough Brentwood course in Santa Monica, California, just outside Los Angeles, according to belated reports following the Los Angeles Convention.

To Fitton goes the handsome perpetual trophy donated by L. G. Balfour Co. The trophy will remain in his possession until the next convention when he will turn it in to be played for once again. However, he has promised to defend his title and it is going to take a good golfer to win it away from him. The winner at each convention will have his name engraved upon the trophy.

The beautiful low net trophy donated by Burr, Patterson & Auld Co. was won by Carl White of Los Angeles Alumnus Beta-Alpha chapter.

The tournament was not as well attended as the tournament committee had expected, due to a change in date and a concluding business session that lasted until late in the afternoon. Only those who ducked out early were able to play, much to the committee's disappointment.

However, the committee is happy to have started an event and hopes it will become a feature of each convention calendar.

Berman, Transylvania Actor, Heads Student Body

◆ LOUIS BERMAN, Kappa senior, was elected chairman of the Transylvania student body for the present year after one of the closest and most exciting elections the campus has seen. He takes over the position made vacant by the graduation of Kappa Bob Johnston.

Transferring from Clemson to Transylvania, he first became known for his work in the backfield of the crimson eleven. Forced out of football by an injured knee, he turned to dramatics. His first effort in Stagecrafters' Ladies of the Jury was a success and he followed it with another excellent performance as Pietro in The Firefly.

After this success he turned his attention across town to the Guignol Theatre, supposedly one of the hardest of the little theaters to "crash." His first performance there was in the important role of Detective Riley in The Spider. His acting was one of the high lights of the production. His next role was

By Jack Watts, Transylvania that of Captain Locicero in Idiots' Delight. Lexington theater goers will long remember the gay, swash-buckling, philosophical Captain, who starred in nine performances.

Louis Berman, IKA chairman of Transylvania students.

Turning to farce, Berman was the star of the Stagecrafters' production of One Mad Night. As Danny Stiletto, the gunman in an insane asylum, he showed his ability to utilize a farcical situation for the most laughs. His make-up work for Transylvanian's production of Blossom Time forced him to turn down a role in Stage Door at the Guignol.

As his junior year came to an end Berman was unanimously elected president of Stagecrafters for 1938-39. With the completion of the new campus little theater, the organization looked forward to another successful season.

Berman was further honored when he was pledged to Lampas, men's senior honorary fraternity. In '37 he received the short story award offered by the campus literary magazine, The Transylvanian. He has been selected for inclusion in the Who's Who in American Colleges.

NEWS of the ALUMNI

By Roy D. Hickman,
National Alumni Secretary

◆ IN THE OCTOBER issue of THE SHIELD AND DIAMOND, under "News of the Alumni," I wrote a general letter to the Fraternity expressing my personal views on the activities of the alumni.

I am now asking your comment on our projected alumni program which I am briefly outlining below. While this program touches only a few of the major objectives, I invite suggestions and criticisms of the program so that I may have first-hand reactions to present at the first Supreme Council meeting on Dec. 17-18.

At this meeting of the Supreme Council, I intend to lay a complete program before the Council and ask the Council's acceptance and authority to proceed. Therefore, your suggestions will be vital and I hope that you will do me the favor of writing what you think will increase alumni interest and help create more activity among the alumni in our fraternity. I await your instructions.

It may be a matter of interest to you to know that since my election to the office of National Alumni Secretary I have endeavored to meet with a number of alumni groups and active chapters to learn first-hand their wishes. I list those meetings which I have attended since election to give you some idea of the activity that I hope to bring to this office.

Beta-Delta, University of New Mexico, first week in Sept. (returning from convention).

Talked with officers of Alumni in Albuquerque, N. M.

Visited University of Alabama, Birmingham-Sou., Howard College active chapters.

Talked with the officers of Alumnus Nu, Birmingham.

Visited the president of Jackson, Miss., Alumni group.

Spoke to Washington, D. C., Alumni group in October.

Talked to president of Alumni group in Chattanooga, Tenn., and also had the rare privilege of attending the dedication of Theta's (Southwestern, Memphis, Tenn.), new lodge.

The projected and tentative program of alumni activity is as follows:

Appointment of Alumni Editor (to edit alumni news for this magazine).

Appointment of Alumni President for each State in the Union (To encourage alumni interest).

Ask each Alumnus group to establish a definite objective for the year and follow through on the objective.

To have more Founders' Day celebrations each year.

To revive alumni consciousness in the active chapters.

To promote the women's organization formed at the Los Angeles convention.

A determined drive for subscriptions to THE SHIELD AND DIAMOND among alumni.

These are some of the more important items that need our attention. I know that there are many more and I will appreciate your criticism as well as suggestions. I am asking your cooperation so that I may do the job that you wish me to do.

◆ GATHERING within the shadow of the nation's Capitol dome, 30 IKA's, representing 21 colleges and universities, members of Washington's Alumnus Gamma-Xi Chapter, held their annual election-dinner meeting at the Continental Hotel, on the night of Oct. 18.

After an excellent dinner, made possible through the efforts of Clifford J. Cook, BA, manager of the hotel, those present heard Roy D. Hickman, BA, National Alumni Secretary of Birmingham, Ala., sound the key-note to successful alumni chapter organization in four major suggestions. Said Brother Hickman, "(1) Set yourselves a definite project as a part of the chapter's yearly program. (2) Build a fund to finance your project and general chapter activity. (3) Give your alumni members something to do, and (4) Revive your interest individually in Pi Kappa Alpha and that of brother alumni through attendance at meetings."

That the members assembled greatly appreciated the visit on the part of National Officer Roy Hickman, was evident in the long and loud applause at the close of his address.

Chas. K. Dunn, Ω, retiring president of the chapter, presented an interesting account of his experiences at the 70th Anniversary Convention. Hon. Edgar B. Brosard, PE, a member of the U. S. Tariff Commission, told of his travels in Europe, especially in Norway, during the past summer.

Then the nominating committee, under the chairmanship of Sam W. McCart, AY, produced an election slate that brought Joe M. Howorth, AI, long active in the affairs of Gamma-Xi, to the chapter's presidential chair for the coming year. Others chosen were: Burt W. Andrews, A, Vice President; Joe C. Rich, AT, Treasurer; David C. Longinotti, AI, Corresponding Secretary; Ivan B. Smith, AT, Recording Secretary; and Harold D. Baker, BΩ, Publicity Chairman.

Dr. J. H. Neff, Alpha

THE BODY of Dr. John Henry Neff, A, '07, nationally known urologist on the medical faculty of the University of Virginia, was found the night of Nov. 9 in a fishing lake 14 miles from Charlottesville, seat of the university. Several hundred feet away from the lake was his locked automobile, in which were found sealed envelopes addressed to his wife and to John Lloyd Newcomb, I, president of the university. These were delivered unopened.

Dr. Neff, who was 51 years old, disappeared the night of Nov. 8. He said he would return to the University Hospital, his habitual working place, in an hour and when he had not returned much later an alarm was sounded. Not only police but agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation were called in, on the theory he might have met with foul play. The next day a systematic search was conducted over a large area by students, townspeople and police. Finding of the body in 10 feet of water followed discovery of the car and a clear track to the water's edge. The doctor's hat, watch, wallet and car keys were lying a few feet from the bank of the lake.

On the day of his disappearance he had been going about his professional duties in his usual good spirits and associates knew of nothing troubling him. A newspaper editorial, mourning his death, said he was "admired and looked up to by his patients and his students; adored by his family, a man who seemingly had everything to live for."

He was born at Harrisonburg, Va., and obtained his A. B. and M. D. at the University of Virginia. The varsity football team made him captain and later he was alumnus coach. In 1910-16 he was an interne and house surgeon at the University Hospital and in 1917-19 he was acting associate professor of surgery. Since 1916 he had been, successively, adjunct professor, associate professor and professor of urology. He was a member of the council of the American Association of Genito-Urinary Surgeons, a select group, and a member of various other professional societies, as well as Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi, Phi Rho Sigma and Alpha Omega Alpha. His wife, two sons and a daughter survive.

He was Sunday School superintendent of the First Presbyterian Church and a member of Phi Chi and of various Masonic bodies. Formerly he was president of the Southern Homeopathic Medical Society. He is survived by his wife, two daughters, father, two brothers and two sisters, all of Richmond. The funeral was held at his church Nov. 13, with burial in Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Gamma-Mu Optimistic

By Phil Smith, Gamma-Mu

NEW HAMPSHIRE—With 12 men back in the house this fall and two brothers working outside, Gamma-Mu's chief interest was rushing. The New Hampshire rushing season is a deferred one lasting from September 25 to November 19, and Gamma-Mu entered strongly. The quota limit assigned by the Faculty Advisors' Association this year was 24, and at the next issue we expect to report 24 new potential "Pi's" from the 50 being actively rushed.

Again Pi Kappa Alpha was well represented in the fall production of the Ferber-Kaufman "Stage Door" given by Mask and Dagger. Twombly and Schlesinger upheld the histrionic glory of Pi Kappa Alpha, MacLaughlin played in the orchestra, and Gile and Smith were members of the lighting crew. Schlesinger was particularly to be noted as a Stepin' Fetchit "Frank", the lazy house-man.

Gamma-Mu is enjoying the offerings of a new chef who admittedly "takes an interest in his work".

Gamma-Tau also has two members on the school newspaper boards as well as a member on the students executive committee.

Frequent dances were held during the football season, and an open house party to celebrate the annual game with Union College, were noteworthy.

Five men were initiated. They are: Frank Sherry, Charles Carman, George Bucher, David Swan, and William Andrin.

The Bachelors of Rensselaer Cup, awarded to the most outstanding athlete of the freshman class was awarded to Charles Carman, recent initiate. George Shako was awarded the cup last year. The chapter was well represented on the gridiron with Shako, Lomas, Kline and Specht in uniform.

Beta-Pi Renovates

By Henry J. Rohde, Beta-Pi

PENNSYLVANIA—Through the splendid cooperation of the 24 actives who returned, Beta-Pi's house has been completely renovated for the first time since 1933. All dormitory rooms have been papered and painted, the kitchen and dining room have been painted, and with the help of the alumni, a new furnace will soon be installed. In the near future, the parlor furniture will be recovered.

Robert Pratchett and Robert Erskine are members of the varsity soccer squad while Henry Rohde is a manager. James Cryer is a football manager and Geoffry Dolman helps with the band. William Torrey, Donald Allen and Werner Dahl are contenders for the varsity wrestling team.

Nathaniel Doughty and William Torrey have been retained by the Mask and Wig society and will be given a part in its 51st production. Robert Erskine and George Zubrod have been elected to the Christian Association Cabinet.

Alpha-Psi Gets New Face

By Robert von Schenk, Alpha-Psi

RUTGERS—When the brothers and pledges of Alpha-Psi returned to college this fall they found that the chapter house had received a new coat of paint and a few minor repairs.

Although activities directed to get new men from the freshman class have been seriously hampered by a deferred rushing rule issued by the university, the chapter has pledged Louis J. Bowlby, Jr., '41, of Bound Brook, N. J.

The house is represented on the gridiron this fall by William J. Tranavitch, '40, who last fall earned himself a place among the immortals of Rutgers football and who is paralleling this success this year. Wilfred C. Dorn, known in football circles as the Cranford Crusher, also represents I I K A.

Among R. O. T. C. officers at the University are Capt. Thomas Finnie, infantry; and Wilfred C. Dorn, Sgt., infantry.

Alpha-Theta In New House

By Charles Reed, Alpha-Theta

WEST VIRGINIA—The 1938-39 school year at West Virginia opened with Alpha-Theta firmly established in a new and more desirable chapter house. With the help of the actives and the alumni advisor, Edward Cubbon, the chapter now has an up to date dwelling.

Alpha-Theta pledged 21 men during the rush week period. They are Miguel Montisinos, Puerto Rico; John Brenan, Max Cubbon, David Mazzie, Bob Richardson, and Charles Wilson of Shinnong; Henry Comley, Raymond Houston, William Herrod, John Smith, Jack Stephenson, Hardie Forman, and Alden Thompson of Morgantown; James Headly, Elkhorn;

Raymond Murphy, Jenkin Jones; John Plummer, Keyser; Richard Sycapoose, Webster Springs; Walter Bowman, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Gardiner Cornwell, Bridgeport; George Umbarger, Richwood; and Gene Tudor, Montcoal.

Elected to honorary societies were Thomas Finnie, Scabbard and Blade; Frank Updike, Philosophian; and John Franklin Burke, Scarlet Key.

Fall Lacrosse practice claims the attention of Clarence Macnelly, William Evans, and Edward Chartrand. Chartrand and Evans are veterans of previous years while MacNelly is a neophyte from the freshman squad of last year.

Bolton Tops on Hardwood

By Robert Weldy, Alpha-Chi

SYRACUSE—"Big Bill" Bolton, 6 ft. 3 in. basketball center, is representing Alpha-Chi on the hardwood at Syracuse this season. Bolton, a varsity man last year is the outstanding candidate for the pivot position of the strong Syracuse quintet.

Earl "Dinty" Moore is the outstanding weight man on the track team and in view of his rating among the collegiate heavy-weight tossers last season Coach Keane, track mentor, is counting on Moore to represent Syracuse in the important relay and dual meets this year.

Tom McConnell and Bill Shek made a fine showing on the gridiron this year and with the experience garnered are expected to be first string in the next two years.

Husky John Nixon, sophomore candidate for crew, has been working out daily in the tank shell and there is little doubt about him being a sure bet for a position in the varsity crew.

Pledge "Mac" McTiernan, veteran reserve catcher, will be top man in line for the varsity post when baseball season again rolls around. Bob Weldy and Johnny Cox will also figure prominently when the starting nine is considered.

Alpha-Chi has one of the strongest intramural aggregations at Syracuse based on the results of early fall competition. Bob Jackson, Bob Kolb, Army Briddon, and Dick Floyd compose an outstanding backfield for a football team which features several former prep school stars. The soccer team led by Gene Casadei and Bob Weldy, with high school experience, is a sure winner.

Five boys spent the summer as lifeguards at various pools and beaches—Floyd, Casadei, Shek, Nixon, and McTiernan. They led our swimming team in quest of championship laurels.

Due to the fact that the Interfraternity Council of the University adopted new rushing rules the number of pledges for early season rushing showed a marked decline.

New pledges are: Roger Case, '40, and Robert McNeely, '40, Syracuse, N. Y.; Thomas McConnell, '41, Elmira, N. Y.; William Shep, '41, Stratford, Conn.

The following were initiated by Alpha-Chi: John Joseph Cox, '40, Haverhill, Mass.; James Lewis Vermilya, '41, Muncy, Pa.; Robert Joseph Kolb, '40, New York City, N. Y.; Stephen Marciniak, '39, Hicks-ville, L. I.

Mrs. Dorothy Dennison, house mother of Alpha-Chi for the past two years, accepted a position with Delta Tau Delta at the University of Washington for this year.

Honorary societies: John McTiernan, president of Double Seven, Junior Honorary; Walter Zimdahl, Double Seven; Donald Hustleby, Alpha Delta Sigma (advertising).

Duke and Roy Madden, University Glee Club; Robert Childs, University Band; Michael DeSisti has entered Syracuse University law school. Jack Caffrey is playing scrub football. John McTiernan is assistant publicity director for the Athletic Department.

The pledge dance was held the last week in October. Our first open house was the week-end of the Cornell-Syracuse football game at Syracuse.

Other rushing events included an alumni smoker, complete to the last detail with movies and a magician; and a bowling party and spaghetti-fest. A gala dance Saturday night ended the campaign.

Dr. Vincent Lanfear, Dean of Men at the University of Pittsburgh was guest of honor at the Pi Kap pledge banquet, Oct. 24. Addressing the new pledges, Dr. Lanfear pointed out the value of a fraternity during undergraduate years and after graduation.

Robert Corley, director of fraternity relations at Pitt also gave a short talk. Gamma-Sigma's faculty advisor, Theodore Biddle, Gamma-Sigma, alumnus told of the chapter's past record. SMC Ray Light was toastmaster at the celebration. After dinner speeches over, the group assembled in the chapter room where Maurer Arnold, an alumnus, took moving pictures. Alpha-Epsilon Wins Fifth

By George W. Bethell, Alpha-Epsilon

NORTH CAROLINA STATE—During the '37-'38 intramural season Alpha-Epsilon amassed, for the fifth time in succession, the largest total of points in intramural sports. There is now five gold cups resting on Alpha-Epsilon's mantle.

Another I I K A was engraved on the Homecoming cup presented by Blue Key each year to the fraternity having the most attractively decorated house.

Alpha-Epsilon added another cup when it made the second highest scholastic average on the campus during the '37-'38 year. Only three-tenths of a point separated first and second places.

Because of a newly inaugurated delayed rushing system this year, there will be no freshman pledging until after Christmas. Negus W. Knowlton, Charlotte, was initiated on Sept. 27.

On Oct. 11 Alpha-Epsilon gave its annual steak supper to the varsity football squad. Coach Williams "Doc" Newton was present with his assistant coaches. This year as a special feature the local radio station WPTF broadcast for 15 minutes the highlights and proceedings at the banquet. This broadcast took place directly from the banquet room of the chapter house on the campus. The welcoming speech was made by John L. Milholland, SMC, after which the program was turned over to Robert Coleman, IMC, master of ceremonies.

The banquet proved a very enjoyable affair with many tall stories and jokes, especially those by Brother Smart of the varsity team. Milholland, Alpha-Epsilon's own photography "bug," was a constant source of amusement with his perpetually operated camera and unexpected flashings and angles.

Wade Ison, college publicity agent, and WPTF aided greatly in the arrangement and presentation of the program. Their assistance was very deeply appreciated.

Alpha-Epsilon is well represented in the R. O. T. C. regiment with two lieutenant-colonels; two captains; one lieutenant; and four sergeants.

SMC Wins By a Hair

By Bill Woods, Beta-Phi

PURDUE—Beta-Phi began the new year with a spirited battle between the freshmen and seniors. It is an old Purdue tradition for the frosh to shave the moustaches and hide the yellow corduroys of the seniors. This year's crop of pledges carried on with true IKA spirit. SMC Charlie Luce was the only senior who could display a growth of fuzz worthy of being called a moustache after the quest was over.

One victim of a freshman's razor was Col. Jack Rudolph. Beta-Phi is very proud of Rudy's accomplishments. After being initiated into nearly every important honorary organization on the campus, he has been chosen to command the entire Purdue R. O. T. C. unit. This latest achievement is a fine addition to his enviable record.

Robert Morrison brought more military recognition to our chapter when he was chosen "best soldier" of the freshman R. O. T. C., while Jim Ashton was named one of the vice-presidents of the Student Union.

Henry Amt, Bennie Burns, and Pledge Bob Burns represent the chapter in the University Choir and Glee Club, and pledge Hank Bremer is holding down a berth on the varsity football squad.

The pledge class now has 21 members. Those whose names have not appeared previously are: Bill Bartelt, Huntingburg, Ind.; Bob Burns, Chicago, Ill.; Tom Bushnell, W. Lafayette, Ind.; Bill Ellsworth, Huntingburg, Ind.; Bob Howard, Hickman, Ky.; Lindsey Lewis, Louisville, Ky.; Bill Nuetsel, Tell City, Ind.; Bill Risley, Atlantic City, N. J.; Bob Schornstheimer, White Plains, N. Y.; Paul Sturm, Indianapolis, Ind.; Bill Unger, South Bend, Ind.; and Harold Wilson, Lima, O.

R. O. T. C. officers: J. M. Rudolph, col.; Jerry Ciral, staff lieutenant; Lindsey Lewis, Benton Burns, William Unger, and Bill Benjamin, lieut's.

Intramural hopes are high at Omega after a successful place in the finals of the touch-football series. Practice has Sigma chapter captured the two major awards of the Homecoming ceremonies of the Vanderbilt-Georgia Tech game.

The two cups awarded for the outstanding float and house decorations were won in competition between 25 fraternities and sororities.

The float was based on the idea of a "Flit Gun," aimed upon a Tech Yellow Jacket. The house decoration was based on the idea of a rhyme ridiculing Tech's chances of victory painted on a large sheet mounted in front of the house. A much-banded Tech player, seated in a rocking chair, was surrounded by appropriate Red Cross signs. The song, "Rocket for Me" was heard from a concealed loud-speaker.

This was the first time in the history of Vanderbilt that both trophies were awarded one organization.

Winston Tipton was appointed manager of the varsity basketball team for the coming season.

By Joe Bowlus, Beta-Gamma

KANSAS—The Beta-Gamma chapter had its annual fall formal in the chapter house on Nov. 5, homecoming day. The house was beautifully decorated, combining the homecoming and party decorations which consisted of special effects denoting a modern cocktail lounge. One hundred couples attended.

Formal Rushing Incomplete

By George O. Hipskind, Beta-Xi

WISCONSIN—Starting the school year with 18 actives and 12 pledges Beta-Xi is expecting great things when the formal rushing period is completed.

The inter-fraternity fall sports program has started and IKA defeated Triangle 19-0 in its first football game.

Beta-Xi will have the distinction of having a major league baseball player this year. John Berlach, captain of last year's varsity played short stop with the Chicago White Sox this summer. He returned to Madison to continue his studies in the College of Law.

The first social event on the calendar was the annual home-coming party held at the chapter house Oct. 29 following the Indiana game. Many alumni returned for this event and we were pleased to see the fine turnout.

IKA is showing quite an active interest in campus politics this fall following the success of members of the chapter engaged in politics the past two years. Frank Potter and Malcolm Little are in the band, Malcolm doing some very fancy beating on the giant base drum. Jim Little is working on the union assistant's staff. George Hipskind is a member of the Daily Cardinal staff.

During the Colorado game, he played during a blizzard, made many lengthy punts that enabled the team to have the only clean slate in the conference.

Alpha-Sigma, California

By E. A. Moody, Alpha-Sigma

CALIFORNIA—As Alpha-Sigma was co-host to the convention, many students from far distant chapters visited during the early portion of the semester. Since school was in session at the time of the convention many of the members were unable to attend the convention, but a fair representation was present in Los Angeles.

The Chapter, in conjunction with Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity, gave a "Pi Kap" Formal at the Berkeley Country Club. The dance was such a success that the event promises to be an annual affair. In conjunction with this dance, the chapter has also given several informal radio dances which have resulted in a splendid social semester. The Annual Big Game Dance was given at the Chapter House on Nov. 18 and preceded the California-Stanford Football Game which is the gridiron Classic of the Pacific Coast.

The Chapter also gained considerably in scholastic average, being included in the first ten fraternities in the campus in that respect. There are 45 fraternities on this campus so to be in the first ten scholastically, is quite an achievement.

'Selling' Chapter at Gamma-Eta

By Jack Tobin, Gamma-Eta

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA—A new system of rushing has been introduced into the fraternity system at Gamma-Eta in which the

"selling" of the fraternity and the congeniality of the men is stressed rather than the provision of elaborate, expensive parties for the rushees. Though the rush season is only half over at the writing 14 men have been pledged under the new plan.

Two of the pledges are outstanding athletes who have made records for themselves prior to coming to the university. They are Leroy Weed, 1:56 min. 880 state champion and Dick Pettigrew, 185 foot javelin man.

Employed at the film factories is Clark Lidell who assisted Director Frank Lloyd in the production of Paramount's If I Were King.

The chapter is firmly entrenched in all four of the major honorary fraternities on campus, with Tom Dwiggin and Bill Flood as members of the Trojan Knights; Bill Brent and Jack Tobin as brothers in Blue Key; Ronald Briggs and Ralph Sarli in Sigma Sigma; and Harry Campbell is a member of the Trojan Squires.

Bishop Speaks at Pageant

◆ THE RT. REV. THOMAS C.

DARST, Φ Bishop of the Episcopal diocese of East Carolina, delivered the sermon at services preceding the opening performance of The Lost Colony at Manteo on Roanoke Island, N. C., July 3.

The Lost Colony, an historical spectacle and drama with music, was first given last year in observance of the 350th anniversary of the settlement of the island by Sir Walter Raleigh's colonists.

Bishop Darst, whose home is at Wilmington, N. C., took as his text a line spoken by the chief character of the play, John Borden: "Even if we die, we win." He spoke in tribute to great leaders of lost causes in the world's history, who triumphed in martyrdom and disclosed "the splendor of noble defeat."

The Bishop is president of the Province of Sewanee of the Episcopal church.

Organize Breakfast Club

◆ MEMBERS of Alpha-Pi eat breakfast in the Howard College Cafeteria each Friday morning at 6 o'clock.

Fines are charged for any member being late, absent or having a date who is wearing "make-up."

The purpose of the club is to promote good health through early rising, to help bring about a feeling of friendship between the members of the Fraternity—and to see what I I K A "Dream Girls" look like that early in the morning.
