On the Cover

◆ THE STRIKING illustration on this month's cover of THE SHIELD AND DIAMOND shows the great statue of the Trojan on the campus of the University of Southern California. Better known, perhaps, as football players, the Trojans of Southern California embrace not only the institution's gridiron team but its hatless men students and charming coeds, as well.

Expelled

◆ ROLAND ASHTON STAGG, initiate of Alpha-Gamma (L. S. U.), now an alumnus, of Eunice, La., has been expelled by the Supreme Council for failing to pay his debt to his chapter.

The following undergraduates have been expelled under the Automatic Expulsion Law:

Paul Callow, ΓΞ (Washington State College); Loris Oliver Johnson, ΓΞ (Washington State College); William Schade, ΓΞ (Washington State College); Harry Richard Edward Lothes, ΑΘ (West Virginia University); George Irvin Martin, ΑΘ (West Virginia University); Kenneth Given May, ΑΘ (West Virginia University); William Samuel May, Jr., ΑΘ (West Virginia University); Robert Simeral Warwick, ΓΞ (University of Pittsburgh).

Each of these undergraduates had 30 days after reopening of college last fall in which to pay the balance due from the previous year; thereafter their names and indebtedness were reported to the General Office.

Each man was advised of the action taken, supplied a copy of the Automatic Expulsion Law, and advised that any appeal he wished to file must reach the General Office within 30 days of receipt of the letter.

To IKA Rushees and Their Friends:

Please read this explanation of the meaning of a fraternity, especially a national fraternity. When a young man goes to college, a new world opens up for him. Part of it is in Books; part of it is in Friendships. In Pi Kappa Alpha, the serious, intelligent, aspiring young man can find that second part of his college education.

Fraternity Means 'Friendships'

◆ SOCIAL CONTACTS are widely recognized today as distinct business assets. From the kindergarten on up, social cooperation is given one of the most important places in the modern educational system. It is accorded that importance because of its outstanding value in later life.

College campus activities do not have an official place in the curriculum. Yet there is scarcely a college anywhere that does not recognize the value of campus extra-curricular diversions such as debate, athletic managerships, campus journalism, student organization and similar social contact activities.

Not a few successful business men today will admit that they may not have applied as much energy as might be desired to classroom subjects but they have no hesitation in acknowledging their debt to the contacts, the acquaintances, the social experiences and the friendships that they made in college.

The college fraternity, such as Pi Kappa Alpha, stands for and means friendship. The fraternity is a primary lesson in altruistic friendship; in doing something for another, in doing something without any thought of return.

There is nothing in life, whether you become a banker or a broker or a butcher, that will be more valuable to you, that will bring you more lasting satisfaction than a national fraternity connection.

Friendship is one of the few things in life that lasts. Those of you who are old enough to see what happened during the depression don't need to be told that the things you can grasp with your hands are here today and gone tomorrow. But friendship is the thing that stays, in some intangible way.

The local fraternity has not been able to consolidate that idea of friendship. The national fraternity system is the finest experiment in friendship in this country.

Of the hundreds of locals all over the country, probably 90 per cent are formed for the sole purpose of obtaining a charter in a national. Hundreds of locals have passed out of the picture the last six years, while many of the older, well-established national fraternities, lost not a single chapter during the depression.

Why? Because you have not only the force of your own local organization, not only the alumni of your own chapter, you have the force of a national organization, distributed from one end of the country to the other, with alumni of other chapters who are interested, keenly interested, to help you to go on, because they are unwilling that one of their chapters should die.

Most college institutions themselves speak of their national fraternities with pride. One of them says: "If we can get one or two more strong national fraternities on our campus, we shall feel that we have a happy solution of our social problem." One of the first questions many a person asks about a college is:

What fraternities are there? If you mention four or five strong national fraternities, the reply is apt to be: It must be a pretty good institution or it couldn't attract those national fraternities. They must have a pretty good type of men, or those fraternities wouldn't be there.

It simply means that national fraternities, in the eyes of the college world, have for over a century stood for something that is definitely attractive to men, that appeals to their judgment, and that the ability to share in that is a good thing for the undergraduate.

The national fraternity gives you other material advantages. It gives you supervision, which the local cannot. It re-enforces the help that your alumni give you. It gives you a guidance. It gives you encouragement. It gives you the benefit of the experience of a great many chapters which the local cannot. Many a chapter has been saved because a new point of view was brought to it.

And then, when your chapter presents to the college administration a problem that they find hard to solve, what is the first thing that they do? They send for your national officers to come and sit down with them and help them work out that problem.

Don't imagine for a moment that your national fraternity affiliation is limited to the men of your own chapter, or even to the men of your own fraternity. Your national fraternity affiliation will help

Everybody Admires a Good Salesman!

That's Why

Good Salesmanship

◆ WHY DID YOU pledge Pi Kappa Alpha? Was it to wear the jewelled pin or to know the secret grasp? Certainly not! It was because the advantages of ΠΚΑ membership were presented to you in such a manner that you wanted to be a ΠΚΑ more than anything else. That's salesmanship.

You were sold on Pi Kappa Alpha without having any idea that salesmanship was being used. Probably the man who pledged you did not realize it either. Salesmanship is the art of persuading another person to your point of view—and then act on it. Some people come by this art naturally . . . others learn it.

Rushing is, in the main, a two-fold selling job. When you entertain a prospect you ordinarily sell him on two propositions. The first, that he should be a fraternity man; and second, that Pi Kappa Alpha is the fraternity.

Of course, there are some colleges and universities at which there is a regulated rushing procedure and only those men who have signified intention of pledging a fraternity are rushed. In this instance your selling problem is obvious.

Now, why should any man want to belong to a fraternity . . . any fraternity? This is old stuff to many of you, but to the freshman just out of high school, college life is a new adventure.

Why should he join a fraternity? He can live in a college dormitory . . . he can buy good meals at restaurants in town . . . he may even be able to point out certain tangibles which to him show non-fraternity life to be preferred.

Now comes the time to use all the forces of fraternity salesmanship. Appeal to his emotions by visualizing the extra advantages that fraternity men enjoy. Extras that can not be had anywhere but in a fraternity group.

Picture him first as an undergraduate, a pledge. Lead him through the friendships sealed during probation week . . . the thrill of initiation . . . the envy of the fellows back home.

Tell him of fraternity parties, of bull-sessions, of the words of cheer and understanding when he gets down with the blues . . . of good-byes when summer vacations start and the glad, sincere greetings upon his return in fall—things he'll never enjoy in a dormitory!

Take him completely through college and graduation. And then . . . Homecoming! An event he looks forward to if he is a fraternity man. Homecomers don't come back to dormitories!

While you are selling him on fraternities in general you tell him of Pi Kappa Alpha. Tell him the whole story. Recount the rich historical background of ΠΚΑ, of its founders in 1868 and its expansion to leading colleges and universities from coast to coast.

Learn the history of your local chapter. Stress the importance of character, scholarship and personality. Show him how he, as a pledge, will participate in the accomplishments and ambitions of the local Alumni!

Send Prospects' Names to General Office

◆ Names of prospective rushees going to colleges and universities where ΠΚΑ has chapters can be sent to the General Office, 503 Commercial Exchange Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

It is not necessary to send the names to the college chapter. The General Office will forward these names to the chapter rushing chairman. You can be sure they will reach the proper person.

The General Office will be open every weekday throughout the summer except July 3-4 and Labor Day and will act as a daily clearing house for your rushing recommendations.

group. Tell him all these things and you will make an impression.

It may be that during the conversation your pledge will reveal that he has dates with other fraternity groups. Do not under any circumstances disparage these other groups. Tell him you are pleased to hear of it. Let him know ΠΚΑ enjoys having rushees approached by other national fraternities. Practically all ΠΚΑ's have been invited to join one or more other groups, yet they chose Pi Kappa Alpha.

If a product or service is basically sound and its advantages are told to the largest possible number of persons, sales are made. The more names your local chapter has on its rushing list, the better chances for a successful fall rushing. You have appointed a Rushing Chairman to plan and correlate rushing activities. His is a most important position and he needs all the cooperation from every active and alumni in securing desirable pledge material.

In a few short weeks you will return to your homes for the summer. Some of you will enjoy a vacation of travel or play, others will be at work in some activity, but all of you will be thinking of your fraternity and will direct your efforts toward a successful fall rushing.

In your home town or surrounding towns are many young men who are planning to enter college this fall. Some will make excellent fraternity men.

Get to know each individual prospect. Find out what he plans to study. Offer to help him plan his courses, to assist him during registration. He will appreciate these things and be sure to send in his name and address to your Rushing Chairman.

Let every ΠΚΑ set for himself a quota of two prospective pledges to be contacted regularly during the summer and the law of averages during the rush week will bring every one of our 77 chapters a fine group of new men.

IKA Names New Rushing Chairman-- Stanton M. Peterson of Iowa

Means Good Rushing

◆ LEADERSHIP in a remarkably successful rushing campaign for Gamma-Nu chapter, University of Iowa, which produced 22 new members in the college year just ending, compared with eight in the previous year, led to the appointment of Stanton M. Peterson, FN, '32, as the new National Rushing Chairman by the Supreme Council.

Peterson's services for the Iowa chapter were enlisted in the spring of 1938 by John A. Hutch, rushing chairman, who also was SMC. They were available because Peterson was making a protracted stay in Iowa City for plastic surgery of the face and eyes necessitated by an automobile accident. He has recovered and is planning to re-enter the advertising profession in agency work, but has assumed the national rushing job enthusiastically.

Praising Peterson's activity for the chapter, Hutch says he is responsible for an attractive and effective rushing folder, which "tended to set us ahead of the parade in the mind of the rushee." Peterson also contributed to the repair of the chapter house and the general plans of the 1938 rushing campaign.

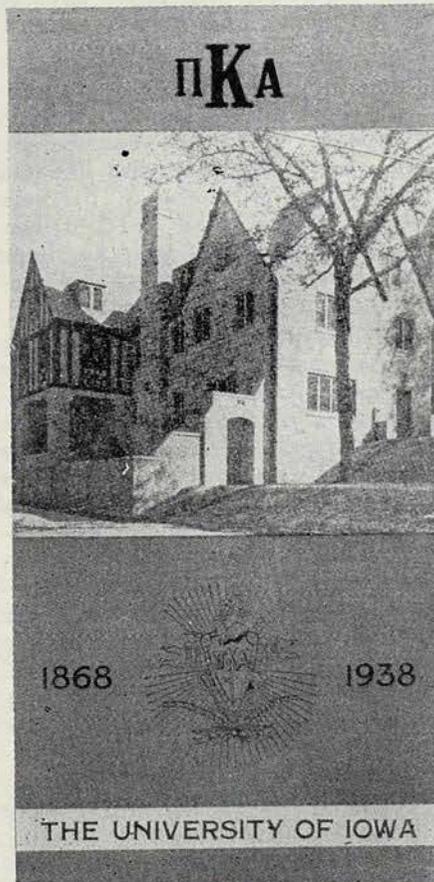

Gamma-Nu is preparing to launch its 1939 campaign along the same lines, with improvements gained from experience, still aided by Peterson's advice. The system consists essentially of definite, thorough plans, carefully followed, from the first inspection of lists of prospective students to the last rush party as college reopens. It makes use of letters and news leaflets and the folder, but also emphasizes personal contacts.

The university authorities furnish periodically mimeographed lists of new students expected, with their home addresses and high school grade averages. The chapter, in its first mail communication to these students—a multigraphed but personalized letter, signed in ink and sent first-class—incloses the folder, Stanton M. Peterson, young advertising man, who will direct IKA's rushing this year.

Cover of the attractive pamphlet which did a successful rushing job for Gamma-Nu.

a list of rushing dates and a return postal for acceptance of dates.

The folder, which reflects Peterson's advertising skill, is an attractively printed job, about 3 by 6 inches. The cover bears the crest of IKA and a picture of the handsome chapter house, together with the name of the university and the fraternity. On the back is a blank list of luncheon, dinner and evening engagements for the September rush week, for filling in by hand on issuance.

This is headed: "An invitation to meet and to know all the men of IKA at Iowa University." At the bottom are the address and telephone number of the chapter house. Inside pages include succinct and interesting facts about IKA, nationally and locally, starting: "More than the secret grip and ritual or the jeweled badge of membership are the benefits to be derived from learning to live and to cooperate within a group of 25 to 50 men. . . . The IKA man learns to get along with people."

Another paragraph says: "IKA has always ranked among the highest in scholarship at Iowa. This record is due in part to fraternity standards of membership, but more to the cooperation of all members to promote the best possible conditions for study. Quiet hours are constantly maintained, giving every man the opportunity to develop beneficial habits of study."

Other topics include a list of special events of the college and fraternity year and information about when and where to register for classes, ending with the suggestion to telephone or go immediately to the IKA house upon arrival in Iowa City. There are pictures of chapter life and of the fraternity badge.

In the letter to the prospective student, signed by the rushing chairman, the chapter says: "We have just received word from the Dean of Men that you are planning to enter the University of Iowa this fall. Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity wishes to take this opportunity to welcome you to the campus and to extend to you an invitation to be our guest. Enclosed is an invitational folder with dates marked when we would like to meet you and have you know us. If the dates checked are acceptable to you, would you please return the self-addressed postcard to me; if not, feel free to change or make additional dates, forwarding the postcard in either case. Please accept this invitation with the compliments of every member of IKA. Whether you plan to pledge a fraternity or not, we want you to know that IKA will be glad to help you get acquainted on the campus and to assist you through the tedious details of registration. Why not drop me a line? Let's begin to know each other now."

The chairman is careful to add his summer address.

Iowa had 1,500 freshmen in the last year, of whom 800 were men. The 1938 letter was sent, in the summer, to nearly 600 of the men, those with low high school scholarship being omitted. The latter criterion is significant. The only freshmen not available for this communication are those registering quite late.

The first mailing in 1938, to 100 prospects, resulted in acceptance of the requested dates by about 25—which any mail-order man will say is remarkable. Fifteen of these youths wrote personal letters to Hutch. This showing led to the decision to make a thorough canvass.

Of the nearly 600 eventually put on the list, 157 accepted rush week dates, or 26 per cent. The season ended with the pledging of 22 of these, or 14 per cent of those accepting dates and 3.7 per cent of those on the original list. To carry the statistics a bit farther, the pledges comprised 2.8 per cent of the entire male freshman class, in spite of the competition of 16 other fraternities and the usual large proportion of men who would not or could not join a fraternity.

Nineteen of the 1938 pledges have been initiated and are full-fledged IKA's today, while the other three will be initiated next autumn.

"This record," says Hutch, "is equalled or surpassed by only three other fraternities on the campus.

WORK—or Washing?

◆ AN OLD SOUTHERN negro once remarked to his mystic order: "And so, brothers, either we take in 16 new members or we take in washing."

Every kind of organization must at some time have new blood to prosper, but the turnover in a fraternity is tremendous, and the new blood must be supplied every year. What the old negro said to his order could be said, figuratively speaking, to any IKA chapter president. But in Pi Kappa Alpha and Alpha-Nu chapter it is not a matter of taking in men.

A successful rush week for Alpha-Nu depends upon two things:

(1) Working together of the active chapter and its alumni. Work by one without the support of the other means failure.

(2) Immediate action on the part of both groups. Under present Pan-hellenic rules, the second and fifth rush dates are most advantageous. There is a boy in your home town coming to Missouri. Sign him up now!

The active chapter is aggressive, but this aggressiveness means nothing without full alumni support. Alpha-Nu got an excellent pledge group this year. Let's work now so that Alpha-Nu will never have to "take in washing."—The Alpha-News of Alpha-Nu chapter.

This is particularly significant when compared with the year before, when we pledged 14 and initiated only eight. Furthermore, the year before was a good one for fraternities, while this year has been the poorest of 10 years for fraternities in general at Iowa."

An important phase of the system is personal visitation during the summer. Last year two trips, covering half of the state, were made by Hutch and John Evans. The activity centered around Des Moines, Cedar Rapids and Iowa City. Calls were made on all prospects who accepted rush week engagements. "The purpose," Peterson points out, "is to cement the friendship created by letter and to learn definitely when the men will arrive at Iowa City and where they will stay there, also to investigate concerning the character and background of each rushee."

A more efficient trip arrangement is being planned for this summer. The chapter is careful to answer letters from the rushees and to learn their Iowa City addresses. Heretofore some prospects were lost because they could not be found on arrival at Iowa City.

One gauge of the success of the 1938 work is the fact that Gamma-Nu had to rent dinner service for more than 30 persons, to accommodate the crowds. The minimum number of dinner guests in rush week was 35.

Alumni are not forgotten in the rushing campaign. The chapter has been pleasantly surprised by the response to tactful requests for aid. Alumni furnished several good "leads" to rushees in 1938. They received letters from Hutch in May of that year, describing the campaign and inclosing copies of the rushing folder and postcards on which to notify the chairman of dates for rush week made with prospects. The alumni were authorized to invite prospects to be house guests of the chapter in the rush season. Hutch promised that every prospect would be visited at home during the summer and that the chapter house would be in apple pie order in September. Alumni were invited to be present for rush week.

Another well-worded letter was sent to the alumni a month later. This was followed by a mimeographed "summer edition" of the Gamma Nus, sent to undergraduates as well as alumni, calling attention to the progress of the campaign, telling how the membership could help and furnishing some general news.

The campaign last year received powerful incidental aid from the donation by alumni of furnishings costing nearly $1,000, including a new rug and furniture for the living room; draperies, lamps, a kitchen stove and 17 chests of drawers. They also helped in redecoration of the second floor.

"The work of a whole summer can be smashed"—to quote Hutch again—"if you don't have a well-organized rush week. Nothing is more boring to a rushee than sitting around making conversation with a lot of strangers. We plan to have cars available, shows, swimming, golf and so on after each meal."

Gamma-Nu does not leave rushing to any single season, but endeavors to look for likely men all year. It has a spring rushing season in May, climaxed by a formal

Have You FIGURED IT OUT?

Can You Balance Your Budget? Can You Learn to Save? Can You Hold Off Old Man Debt?

♦ To the young man planning for the future, 30 to 50 years hence is almost inconceivable. It is generally felt that he must enjoy his possessions while he is young, for he reasons that in old age he will not be physically equal to the strenuous existence of youth.

This man will be rewarded with greater self-realization, however, if he charts his course now and looks to the distant shore where he will bring his ship to port. If he follows true charts in these early years, old age actually will find the man young again.

Very nearly every man of the Class of '39—and every graduating class—hopes to become successful and comfortably off in this world's goods. College graduates have received their basic training. They have learned to think. The chances are that all will find employment at better than average wages for their age.

What will become of this new income?

But one in 200 men graduating this June will be one penny richer in actual wealth in 1946, seven years after graduation. The American policy has been to spend all you earn and a little more. We are born optimists. Tomorrow, next month, next year will be better and our income will be larger; then we can throw off that most merciless taskmaster, Debt.

Will you be the one in the 200 or one of the 199?

With a little planning and a lot of self-discipline in spending, you can establish a reserve out of each pay check. Small at first, of course, but the minute you put even $5 at interest, that $5 goes to work for you. $100 saved in 1939, compounded at 3½%, is equal to $200 saved in 1959. Meanwhile, you have a reserve, in case the job gives estate—a source to tap in an emergency and support him in his old age. You are building the foundation now. You want it to bear any

The accompanying chart may help you plan the management of your income. It is prepared for single men—and does not contemplate the luxury of an automobile until the pay check is $200 per month.

Speculation is not considered in these figures. There is a very good reason. Until a man's income is over $500 a month, all his surplus should be building a conservative strain that may come upon it—not crack, crumble or settle.

Long shots are attractive, but how seldom they hit! When you purchase a security (and you will be an investor if you manage yourself and your income), remember that you depart from investment as the annual income increases above the income of gilt-edge bonds. Look to security first, then to income.

Take a little time out to figure a budget for yourself—and determine that come what may, you will follow it. Then, at June 30, 1941, take stock of yourself, your first two years' accomplishment, if you graduate this year. Total your net worth, in cash, in cash value of life insurance, in personal effects, and deduct the bills you owe. See what you have built in two years on the structure known as Security.

Beloved I I K A Has Taught Hundreds the Meaning of Φ Φ Κ α

◆ WITH THE INITIATION of more than 300 men to his credit, plus the installation of nine chapters, Dr. Howard Bell Arbuckle, I, former Grand Councilor of Pi Kappa Alpha and one of the "junior founders" enjoys a record unique among American college fraternities.

With the exception of one year, when he was very ill, Dr. Arbuckle initiated every man who came into Beta chapter from 1912 to 1937.

Dr. Arbuckle has been a member of the faculty of Davidson College, home of Beta Chapter, for 26 years and during that time, by his own reckoning, he has initiated 291 members of the Fraternity, a number approached only by P. Tulane Atkinson, I, who also has initiated nearly 300 men into the Hampden-Sydney chapter.

Dr. Arbuckle's kindly, homespun, sincere manner shines at its best in the chapter hall, at the thrilling time of initiation, when newcomers, undergraduate members and alumni foregather. Then his voice, known so well to those who have attended national conventions in the past, rings out with all the love he bears to the Fraternity, which has meant so much to him and for which he has done so much.

Solemnly he expounds the meaning of phi phi kappa alpha. Afterwards, in the reception to the new brothers, there is the friendly twinkle in his eye and the warm grasp of his hand; the recollections of other days, other ways of initiation; the quiet example of devotion to an ideal.

His work as an installer of chapters began in 1888 and he has had charge of initiations at Beta chapter since he joined the faculty of Davidson College, Davidson, N. C., in 1912. Although he reached the retiring age of 66 last year and dropped his active teaching career, after 46 years in the classroom, he has kept up his interest in the Fraternity.

Iota, the Hampden-Sydney chapter, took him into I I K A and he was a leader in the rebirth of the Fraternity at Hampden-Sydney in 1889.

Dr. Arbuckle's recollections of his installations follow:

Kappa, Transylvania College—"In the fall of 1888 (when he was still a student at Hampden-Sydney), with the assistance of W. W. Roddick, Kappa chapter was installed by correspondence which was conducted by me, as I had access to Iota's ritual. These men were R. F. Anderson, Jr., Joseph Clement Hearne and R. B. Walker. In the fall (of 1889) only one man returned and the charter was surrendered. The chapter was later re-installed in 1900 but I had no part in this." Roddick is listed "address unknown" in The Directory. Kappa was in Kentucky Agricultural and Mechanical College when installed by Dr. Arbuckle.

Zeta, University of Tennessee (third charter)—"On Dec. 27, 1892, I took charge of the initiation of Zeta chapter. The charter of this chapter was the only one ever acted upon by a convention and the ceremony of installation took place at this convention. Here are the names (of initiates): E. E. Stone, William Atherton Long and Joseph Ervin Borches." The national convention which granted this charter was held at Knoxville, Tenn., seat of Zeta.

Sigma, Vanderbilt University—"Sigma chapter was installed Sept. 23, 1893. The following were initiated: Max Miller Jones, George William Williamson, Thomas Henry Peebles and James Madison Bryson."

Upsilon, Alabama Polytechnic Institute—"Upsilon chapter was installed on April 5, 1895. The following were put through: Leonidas Warren Payne, Jr., Walter Lynnwood Fleming, James Lawrence Pollard, Emile Glines Abbott, Fletcher Dumas Harvey and Peter Mastin McIntyre."

Phi, Roanoke College, Salem, Va.—"Phi chapter was installed in the fall of 1896 and here are the men: William Sterling Claiborne.

At right is Dr. Arbuckle and the IKA coat-of-arms. "I love this coat-of-arms," says Dr. Arbuckle.

The Romance of a IKA Badge

♦ MANY a romantic chapter has been written in Pi Kappa Alpha's history. Here is another thrilling episode.

In the initiation of the charter members of the nine chapters which Dr. Arbuckle has installed, he used a IKA badge which Dr. Arbuckle calls "one of the most historic badges in our Fraternity." It now belongs to Mrs. Arbuckle and is worn proudly by her.

"During my first year in old Iota at Hampden-Sydney," says Dr. Arbuckle, "I could not afford to buy a badge.

"The badge I bought in my second year in college looked almost as large as a policeman's badge. This badge was set with garnets, which at that time were the most inexpensive jewels we could get. I had a tough time getting together the money to pay for my precious pin and I certainly believed it was worthy to bear emeralds or diamonds, which were then our most precious jewels, as they are today.

"Like many of my chapter mates, I had a sweetheart and I wanted her to have my pin. But I just could not be satisfied with the cheaper jewels in my badge, so I undertook a financing scheme to pay for four beautiful emeralds, which still adorn this badge. I recall that I had to work up a trade in second-hand books to get this badge paid for. Well, this badge is the most precious thing in our home and if I dared to do so, I could tell a story of romance in connection with it that would bring a thrill to any heart.

"It is interesting indeed, it seems to me, that this same badge that almost wrecked a college boy's finances and laid the foundation for a romance that could never die was the badge that played so prominent a part in the installation of nine chapters in my Fraternity."

John Janney Lloyd, Jr., Walter Glenn Rhyne, Henry Abel Rhyne and William Worthington Terry. The Rhyne brothers live within 20 miles of me." (The Directory also lists as a charter member Walter Henderson Robertson.)

Alpha-Alpha, Duke University—"Alpha-Alpha was installed Nov. 30, 1901. Here are the men: Edward Octavius Smithdeal, Eli Wade Cranford, John Dallas Langston and Charles Edward Davis Egerton."

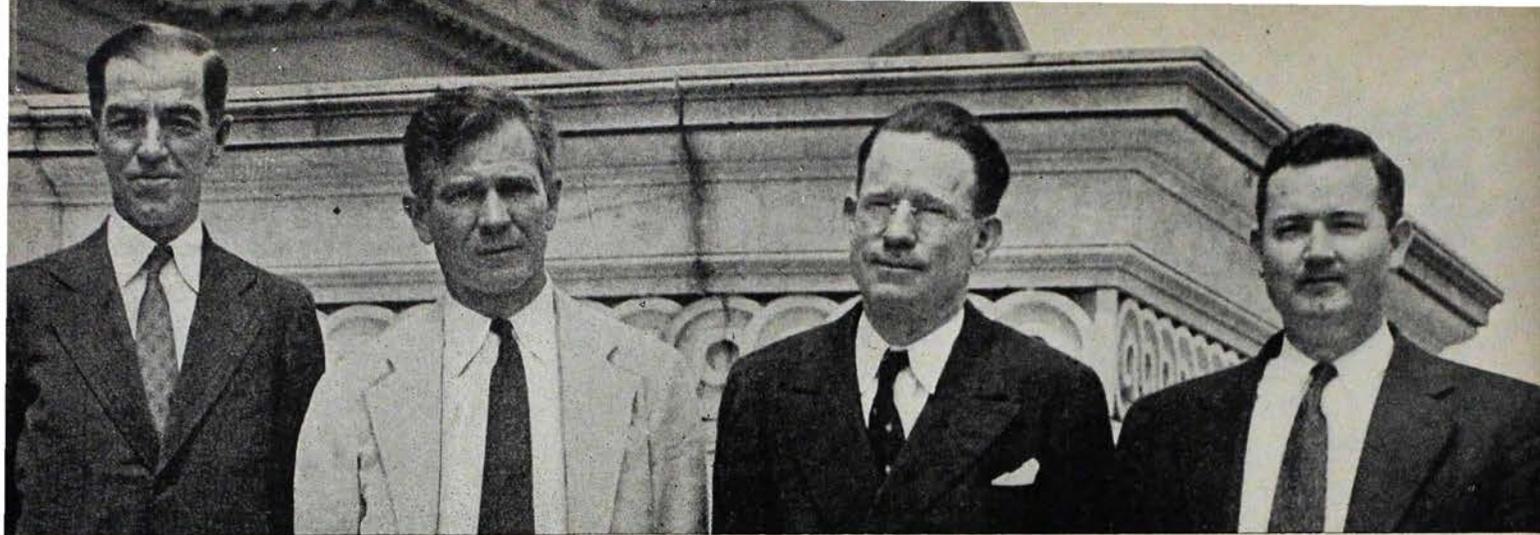

Alpha-Delta, Georgia School of Technology—"Alpha-Delta chapter was installed in Atlanta at the General Office in 1904. The list of the men: John Zachry Collier, Paul Humber Connally, George Albertus Edwards, Thomas Bagley Lamar, Claude Manly McCord and Burton Hoyle Smith."

Alpha-Mu, University of Georgia—"Alpha-Mu chapter was installed Jan. 25, 1908, and here are the initiates: Gordon Weston Glausier, Harold Norman Cooledge, Herman Preston de la Perriere, George Henry Hulme, Jr., and Homer Clifton Smith."

Mu, Presbyterian College of South Carolina (second charter)—"Mu chapter in 1909 surrendered its charter (because of a faculty ban on fraternities) but was revived under my leadership a few years later. I think we initiated 10 men at this ceremony and the chapter has continued with success ever since." This installation occurred

IKA'S High on U. S. Roll

◆ TWO CHAIRMANSHIPS of committees in Congress, are held by IKA's among the seven members of the fraternity belonging to the national legislative body, as shown by the Congressional Directory.

The chairmen are the veteran A. Willis Robertson, O, of Lexington, Va., head of the House Select Committee on Conservation of Wild Life, and Will Rogers, BO, of Oklahoma City, Okla., a Congressman-at-Large, head of the House Committee on Indian Affairs. Robertson also belongs to the Ways and Means Committee and Rogers to the Coinage, Weights and Measures Committee.

In the Senate, IKA's only member in the Seventy-sixth Congress, which was convened last January, is Charles O. Andrews, AH, of Orlando, Fla. On roll call he has the distinction—sometimes uncomfortable for a politician—of being second, preceded alphabetically only by Senator Alva B. Adams (Colo.).

Senator Andrews belongs to the following committees: Immigration, Interstate Commerce, Naval Affairs, Public Buildings and Grounds, Public Lands and Surveys, and Rules.

The other members, in the House of Representatives, and their committee assignments, are:

J. Bayard Clark, B and T, Fayetteville, N. C., Rules.

William M. Colmer, AI, Pascagoula, Miss., Rules.

E. C. Gathings, GA and AZ, West Memphis, Ark., World War Veterans' Legislation, War Claims, Irrigation and Reclamation, Immigration and Naturalization, Census.

John J. Sparkman, GA, Huntsville, Ala., a former District President of IKA, Military Affairs.

Among the 10 members of the Democratic majority of the House Rules Committee, along with Clark and Colmer, are Chairman Adolph J. Sabath of Illinois and Martin Dies of Texas.

Although not a member of Congress, another IKA high in the Federal government is Edgar B. Brossard, TE, economist and educator, a member for several years of the U. S. Tariff Commission.

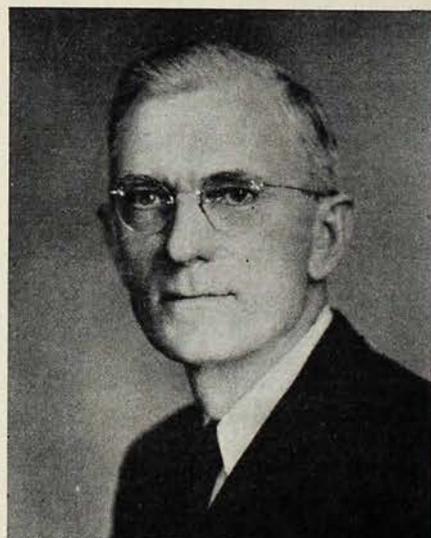

Congressman E. C. Gathings of Arkansas.

Edgar B. Brossard of the Traffic Commission.

Senator Charles O. Andrews of Florida.

IKA's in Events of 1938-1939

◆ FOR THE third successive year,

THE SHIELD AND DIAMOND presents in its June issue a summary of the accomplishments of some of the outstanding members of Pi Kappa Alpha in the past 12 months.

Men of IKA continue to hold leadership in many lines of American and world endeavor. Business and the professions, science and adventure still beckon them. The fraternity is proud to honor those who have reached or are on the way to the heights.

Among those whose activities made news during the past year, as shown by the files of this magazine, are the following:

Charles Oscar Andrews, United States Senator from Florida, initiated by Alpha-Eta chapter, University of Florida, where his son, Charles, Jr., had been SMC.

Three IKA's remain at their posts in China, despite the Japanese conquest: the Rev. Hendon Mason Harris, AI, '05, with the Southern Baptist Mission at Kaifeng, Honan; Dr. James H. Wiley, O, '15, on the faculty of the University of Shanghai, and Lieut. Carey A. Randall, FI and AT, '34, with the Fourth Regiment, United States Marine Corps, at Shanghai.

Lynn Riggs, BO, playwright, is made a member of Phi Beta Kappa, 14 years after he left the University of Oklahoma.

P. Tulane Atkinson, I, '07, former Grand Secretary and Grand Editor, who has initiated nearly 300 IKA's, participates in the initiation of his son, Paul Tulane, Jr., '41, by Iota.

A voice is raised for "little business" by William Hugh Bagby, O, '17, manufacturer and jobber of furniture at Baltimore.

One IKA, John Garland Jefferson, Jr., I, succeeds another, Edwin P. Cox, I, as a Circuit Judge in Virginia, on the death of Judge Cox, a former Speaker of the State House of Delegates. Judge Jefferson, a descendant of Thomas Jefferson, formerly was chairman of the State Milk Commission.

New members of the Supreme Council are chosen at the Los Angeles convention—Freeman H. Hart, I, distinguished historian, National President; T. M. Beard, BO, National Vice President; Fred A. Anderson, Jr., FI, National Secretary; Daniel T. Oertel, BB, National Treasurer; Roy D. Hickman, BA, National Alumni Secretary. National Counsel John L. Packer, BA, is re-elected.

Another IKA, Ezekiel Candler (Took) Gathings, FA and AZ, elected to Congress, from the district centering around West Memphis, Ark.

Gov. Albert B. (Happy) Chandler, K and Ω, gains national attention in the bitter fight for the Democratic nomination as United States Senator from Kentucky, which he loses to the President's candidate, Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley.

Two IKA army officers discover they are fraternity brothers: Capt. Austin R. Brunelli, BP, ex-'28, and Capt. James R. Hester, Ω, '29, both aides-de-camp of Major-General James C. Breckinridge, commanding officer of the United States Marine Barracks, Quantico, Va.

John Graham Sale, II, former Grand Historiographer and author of the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity Register, another of the men who helped make the Fraternity great, dies at Welch, W. Va.

Albert M. Clark, Σ, former Missouri State Senator, is elected to a 12-year term as a Judge of the Supreme Court of Missouri, highest tribunal in the State. Laurance M. Hyde, AN, is reappointed as a commissioner, or non-voting member of the Court.

Elected Moderator, or national head, of the Presbyterian Church of the United States of America, the Rev. Dr. Charles Whitefield Welch, Θ, of Louisville, Ky., bears a large share of the burden of reuniting the Northern and Southern branches of the Presbyterian church.

Notable Happenings in the IKA World and the Outstanding Men Who Made Them

He leads the Northern section as a result of a movement to give the South a strong voice there. Earlier in the calendar year Bishop Henry St. George Tucker, A, is chosen Presiding Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church. A strong movement is under way to unite the Presbyterians and the Episcopalians.

President John Lloyd Newcomb, A, of the University of Virginia, announces new plans to restrict scholastic privileges to qualified students.

The Distinguished Service Award of the Illinois Junior Chamber of Commerce is given Deneen A. Watson, BH, Chicago lawyer.

Once a law student, then a teacher of speech, finally a member of the Catholic priesthood, the Most Rev. Duane G. Hunt, AT, takes up a difficult and engrossing task as the new Bishop of Salt Lake, with a diocese covering Utah. Reared a Methodist, he is the thirteenth convert to be consecrated a Catholic Bishop in this country.

Will H. Fulton, A, is elected to the Kentucky Court of Appeals, highest Court in the commonwealth. A former Circuit Judge, he was nominated for the appellate court by both major parties and, in the meantime, appointed to the vacancy by Gov. Chandler, K and Ω. With Judge Clark and Commissioner Hyde of the Supreme Court of Missouri and Judge C. Vernon Spratley, Γ and A, and Judge George L. Browning, A, of the Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals, he is part of a chain of IKA court members of last resort extending from the Atlantic seaboard to the fringe of the West.

Alumnus Voice on IKA

◆ THE SPIRIT that makes IKA's bonds strong throughout its many chapters is shown in a letter sent to a pledge of Alpha-Kappa chapter, Missouri Mines, by J. R. McCloskey, AK, '38. He expresses his sentiment toward IKA in this informal message meant for all the Alpha-Kappa pledges:

"I should like to send a word of greeting to you who have been fortunate enough to come in contact with the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. What the organization has meant to me in my college years and what it will always mean to me, I cannot express well enough to fitly describe it. The benefits I have received through the medium of IKA are of that type which defy definition, but which are more evident to me now than they were when I attended college.

"Your being a pledge of Alpha-Kappa makes you an envied person. Every man who has gone through a pledgship at Rolla and later participated in the IKA ritual can offer but one bit of advice—Alpha-Kappa of IKA, like any other organization, can offer you many things—Alpha-Kappa more than most. However, it can only offer! You can get from Alpha-Kappa in personal benefits only what you put back into it by work and genial comradeship.

"Congratulations! May your day in IKA be as happy as mine."

McCloskey was editor of the school paper at Rolla and was listed in Who's Who in American Colleges. He has always been a loyal IKA and a conscientious worker for the good of the fraternity.

This message should convey to every brother and even to those who yearn to be, the deep significance of membership in the bonds. This type of attitude will make IKA better and stronger as the years progress.

Chosen Mr. Pioneer at annual ceremonies at Transylvania College, Charles Perry Taylor, K, wins the highest honor attainable from the student body.

Golden membership certificates are presented to 15 men who have been IKA's for half a century or more. Among them are some of the outstanding contributors to the salvation and development of the Fraternity.

The Governor of Virginia appoints Dr. Rowland A. Egger, BZ, director of the State Budget Division, to take charge of the apportioning of funds. He is the third head of this department; the first was Col. Leroy Hodges, II, who for the last year has been State Comptroller.

The Distinguished Achievement Award of Alumnus Alpha-Theta, Chicago, is presented to Presiding Bishop Tucker, A, of the Episcopal Church. This is the fourth annual award.

Joseph Bentonelli, BO, Metropolitan Opera star, addresses a IKA congressional group at Washington, D. C., urging establishment of a division of fine arts in the Federal Department of the Interior.

IKA Quiz Asks 'Information, Please'

◆ How MANY undergraduate chapters does IKA have?

May chapters contract to buy or build houses without approval of the national fraternity?

When was the automatic expulsion law affecting financially delinquent undergraduates adopted?

These are some of the questions undergraduates of the Fraternity should be able to answer. They were among the 11 groups of questions propounded to them in April by order of the Supreme Council. A partial grading, covering replies from half of the chapters, showed an average passing mark.

Alumni who would like to test their knowledge of IKA may do so by referring to the questions and answers, printed on this page.

At least five undergraduates made perfect scores of 100, in the early tabulation. They are: J. R. Pennington, Π, '39; John S. Raynal, Β, the chapter SMC; George Leeper, Σ; Eugene Pigg, Σ; and Robert Haverfield, ΑΝ.

Executive Secretary Robert M. McFarland, Jr., had completed grading papers of 687 members of 31 chapters as this edition was prepared for publication. Among them were 441 men initiated prior to 1938-39 and 246 initiates of the current year. The older members, naturally, made the best showing, due no doubt to their longer acquaintance with fraternity affairs.

One benefit to be derived from the examination will be the information obtained from the answers as the basis of an overhauling of the pledge instruction material and the system of examination of pledges and initiates.

Outstanding chapters, from the standpoint of member averages, are as follows:

Gamma-Theta, Mississippi State College, 92.1 per cent.

Gamma-Xi, Washington State College, 86.7.

Alpha-Kappa, Missouri School of Mines, 86.1.

Alpha-Omega, Kansas State College, 84.7.

Gamma-Pi, University of Oregon, 84.0.

Alpha-Chi, Syracuse University, 81.1.

Gamma-Iota, University of Mississippi, 80.8.

The only chapters among the foregoing which had submitted answers from all members at the time of the partial report were Gamma-Theta and Alpha-Kappa. The Gamma-Theta membership numbers 64. Most chapters did not trail far behind the leaders in their averages.

There were 111 undergraduates making grades of 90 to 99, out of the first 687 papers.

Varying weights were assigned to the various questions for grading purposes. The final question, "Name seven prominent IKA's," was given the greatest weight, 14 points, but this represented only two points for each acceptable name. Answers to this query, of course, were of diverse character, depending partly on the individual's familiarity with the membership, the section where he resided and his idea of what constituted prominence.

Some of the other questions were of comparatively routine type, designed to test knowledge of the general nature of the Fraternity's administrative machinery and its history.

Only six men were disclosed in the preliminary inspection as unaware of the date of adoption of the automatic expulsion law for financially delinquent members. However, there was a surprisingly general lack of knowledge as to the approximate value of the national chapter house loan fund. Some students were of the opinion totalled about $3,000, rather than $100,000.

All chapters were notified March 28 the quiz would be held, with all undergraduates required to take it. The questions were sent to chapter SMC's in sealed envelopes April 5, with directions to open the envelope and distribute the question sheets at the next meeting.

Fourteen minutes' time was allowed for answers, and each man was required to make his own replies without assistance. The members were told not to discuss the questions later in the presence of any member absent from the meeting. Provision was made for obtaining answers from the absentees. Papers were shipped back to the General Office.

Dr. Summey Gets Golden Certificate

◆ YOUNG in spirit and still a devoted member of IKA despite his 86 years, the Rev. Dr. George Summey, B, '70, oldest living initiate of the Fraternity and thrice Grand Chaplain, was presented with a Golden chapter certificate in a ceremony at the Beta-Mu chapter house, Austin, Tex., March 23.

He was one of 15 veterans of half a century or more in IKA so honored in various cities at about the same time.

The University of Texas chapter gave a dinner in his honor, at which Executive Secretary R. M. McFarland, Jr., presented the certificate. McFarland told Dr. Summey that the award was only a slight token of recognition for his career as a IKA over the remarkable span of 70 years—only one year less than the life of the fraternity—and as a theologian, educator and editor.

A storm of applause greeted Dr. Summey as he arose to respond, a vigorous figure. His remarks were filled with enthusiasm for the glorious past and bright prospects of IKA.

While he has been said to have the secret of some fountain of

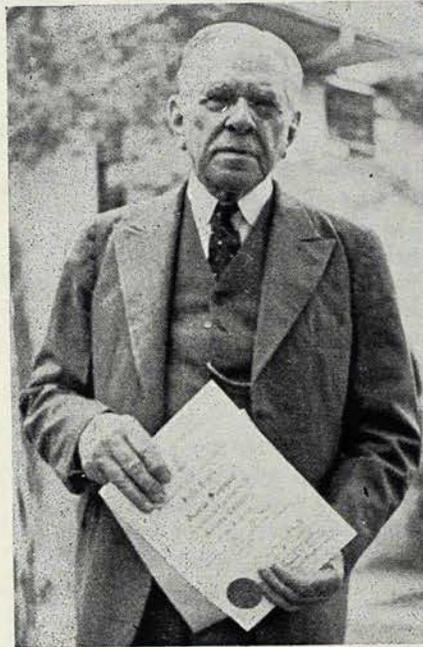

On Chapter Efficiency Board

JOHN C. LILIENTHAL, TΞ, of Spokane, Wash., has been appointed by the Supreme Council to the standing national committee for award of the Robert A. Smythe Trophy annually. He is a district agent of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., with offices in the Paulsen Building. He was graduated from Washington State College in 1927.

This trophy is given to the chapter showing the greatest efficiency in making reports to the General Office each year. The holder for 1937-38 is Alpha-Kappa, Missouri School of Mines. District Presidents, at a caucus at the El Paso convention in 1928, raised a fund among themselves to establish the trophy. C. H. Olmstead, BΘ, who died recently, was chairman of the committee, having taken the lead in proposing and establishing the award. Lilienthal fills the vacancy caused by his death. Other members of the committee are H. A. Smith, AY, of Needham Heights, Mass., and J. Pike Powers, Jr., Z and A, of Knoxville, Tenn.

youth, he denied there was such a rejuvenator, but said he had another—youth itself. While some persons required blood transfusions to keep alive, he went on, he stayed alive and active by drinking of the interest and enthusiasm of the youths about him, particularly with-in the fraternity.

He also recalled the old-fashioned "hell week" which he and fellow neophytes went through preceding their initiation in Beta chapter at Davidson College, Davidson, N. C. Initiation ceremonies in those days, he declared, were far more picturesque than those today. In addition, he reviewed early history of the Fraternity and complimented Beta-Mu on its progress.

After the talks, Walter Lee Porter, Jr., BM, led the gathering in several IKA songs and sang a solo.

Among alumni of the chapter present were A. P. Bagby, Dr. L. W. Payne, Jr., Leo T. Bellmont, and J. R. Bartlett.

Going to Davidson College from his early home at Asheville, N. C., Dr. Summey became an honor student, graduating at the early age of 17. The chapter had been installed as the second unit of IKA March 1, 1869, exactly one year after the establishment of Alpha at the University of Virginia. It was just 40 days later, or April 9, 1869, that Dr. Summey was initiated, the first man taken in by Beta's five charter members. He was graduated the following year.

In 1909 Dr. Summey was elected Grand Chaplain by a notable national convention of IKA at New Orleans. This was the meeting which decided on Northern expansion. He served at the start of this new era, until 1911. At the same city, another convention again made him Grand Chaplain for the term 1920-22 and at El Paso, Tex., he was chosen for the office once more for the term 1928-30.

The Presbyterian Church of the United States (the Southern church) made Dr. Summey its moderator, or national head, for 1925. For some years he has been professor of theology at the Austin (Tex.) Presbyterian Theological Seminary. He holds the degrees of A.B., A.M., B.D., D.D., and LL.D.

Pence Completes Dam Work

HARRY S. PENCE, AK, recently finished the four-year task of building the $12,887,000 Federal dam in the Mississippi River at Alton, Ill., near St. Louis. He was resident engineer in charge of construction for the Army Engineer Corps.

Under his direction the gigantic task moved with dispatch as one of the outstanding engineering works of recent years.

This is the longest and highest dam in the Mississippi and the southernmost of a series of 26 dams between Alton and St. Paul, Minn., which are converting the swift river into a series of quiet pools for the benefit of navigation.

Pence, whose home is at Rolla, Mo., was sent from Alton to the next dam upstream, at Cap au Gris, Mo., a $6,000,000 job, in a picturesque rural setting, to direct its completion. He is nearly through there.

JOBS FOR YOUNG MEN--

◆ EVEN IN these less prosperous years industry needs graduate engineers and each springtime finds employment representatives at our colleges.

This does not mean that industry goes to the colleges because it has no talent among its non-college employees or because college men have all the brains. All industry has non-college men who can and will be developed to outstanding ability. On the other hand there is a certain tenacity or perseverance needed to complete a college education and this gives some indication of latent ability to master a job.

Industry wants your specialized training, your technical knowledge, your ability to think soundly, your higher average intelligence and if these words make you conceited, the other reasons are—colleges are a profitable place to replenish manpower and it is traditional to visit you.

It is well to remember, John Average Senior, that you cannot step into an executive position immediately.

Let me enlarge a moment upon this "executive complex" so many of us have or have had. Take the telephone industry, for example. You might find your first job in the plant department on outside construction and maintenance work. In due time you become proficient in this work but before you can supervise you must have a knowledge of not only the outside work but also of the work inside the central office and on the subscribers' premises. You might gain this knowledge, become a supervisor and still find yourself lacking that necessary to become an executive.

You have, however, a realization of the need for knowing about the commercial, the traffic, the engineering and all other departments and how they dovetail together in their everyday work. You progress in this knowledge and if "you have what it takes" and are willing to make the sacrifice, you will eventually reach the executive goal.

As you approach these job interviews this spring ask yourself: "If I were that employer, would I hire me for this job?" Would any of you as employers hire any college man for your organization who gave promise of less native intelligence in a specific job than a non-college man who had already formed good work habits? How do you rate in your own eyes? What do you want, just a job, any job, do you want a job along certain lines or are you of a disposition to gamble for maximum opportunity?

I think each of you wants some particular type of work with pleasing environment, reasonable pay and the opportunity to be of increasing value as time goes on. This is the American point of view.

Factual judgment is the weighing of all your time consuming activities during your college course. What can you show for it?

Let's start with your age—How old will you be when you graduate? Experience of many industries indicates that the younger graduates progressed faster in salary and therefore in achievement. Again let us look at details. Early age at graduation indicates that you know how to tend to business, that you have made it a habit to master your studies, that you have a longer industrial life before you and so on.

Scholarship Winner

Wilford M. Smith, Eta, winner of the $1000 Breaux Scholarship at Tulane University.

The employment representative knows all this and although age is not a tremendously important point it has an influence in his estimate of your potential worth.

If you couple early graduation with fine scholarship, first tenth or first third of your class, he is very favorably impressed. Perhaps you won scholastic honors and if your course was an honest one, not packed with cinch electives, you will receive high credit for intellectual capacity and technical knowledge. These are the most significant indices of later success.

While the representative is talking with you he is noting your physical makeup. He will take a slight, studious type for design, study or research but not for construction work. On the other hand he would not consider a sizeable chap with tremendous physical vigor for a sedentary job. In this sizeup, your athletic activities in college will interest him but don't put too much store on athletics for they seem to be of very little value in your industrial progress.

Other campus activities such as editorial, forensic, managerial and social are seemingly of greater training value for industrial progress than athletics. There are good reasons for this. The qualities which assist you in college to gain honors in editorial, forensic, managerial and social activities are very useful in business. Editorial work teaches how to put your thoughts on paper, forensic how to express your thoughts orally and how to sell your ideas. Managerial activities teach the importance of carrying through, of coordination of all interests and compels your working harmoniously with others. Social activities teach cooperation and improve your ability to get along with others.

Did you earn your way through college? Strange to relate it seems to guarantee no greater fitness for industry unless your work provided the type of business experience that the employment representative is seeking. However, it may have taught you good work habits and this is valuable.

We previously touched upon the course you studied. It is a general indication of your occupational preferences. You may keenly desire a certain type of work; if so, point toward it. If you are none too sure, your safest place is in a company having a wide variety of engineering work for when you do find your keen preference it might be only a matter of gravitation or transfer rather than the seeking of a new employer.

Experience indicates fastest progress for those who land in the right company the year they graduate, while for those who drift around a few years their chances of equal success are lessened.

Concerning your social and emotional adaptability to industry, campus activities are a guide to the employment representative. Your character, personality, courage, initiative and appearance will evidence itself during the interview so be yourself, calm and collected, neither boastful nor reticent when you seek your job.

All of this sounds like a sermon in a chapel. It isn't. It's just cold, hard facts amply backed by research and statistics.

For just a moment let us look at the business situation. You are in a buyers' market. Some of you may be compelled to take work which is not at all to your liking, does not pay particularly well and of itself has no obvious future. This situation is the keenest test of character, ability and loyalty for it means disciplining oneself to do unpleasant things. You can, however, use your ability to get the most value out of experience and thereby prepare yourself to benefit with any rising tide in business.

What happens to you after you have entered industry? Some will be placed in student courses for a definite training period so that your employers can better judge your capabilities, tendencies and potentials before definite assignment.

Following such a course you become the cub engineer in the group whose work best utilizes your assets. Others of you will immediately undertake productive work but in most cases it will be of a training or experience building nature. Perhaps you will be moved from job to job until you and your then supervisor find you have found the right place to tarry and start objectively building for the future. The balance of you will probably, as the sailor says "hit the deck" and start producing after an abbreviated, specialized training.

In any event, although you may seem to be on your own, you are

Stout Sets High Mark at Arkansas

◆ THE MOST outstanding student on the University of Arkansas campus was IKA's own Bob Stout and Alpha-Zeta's SMC.

Not only was he an active leader of the chapter but this year was president of the Student Body and also president of Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary fraternity, which has just been established on this campus.

During his four years at Arkansas, Stout has amassed the most unusual and versatile record of any student in the history of the University. For three years he was a letterman in football and track and now holds the University record in the shot put and discus. During his sophomore and junior years he became a member of the "A" Club, the Interfraternity Council, the being oriented by your associates and supervisors. Get along amicably with your fellow workers. Don't highhat the non-college man for if he has equal brain to yours, the chances are, again based on statistics, that you may never catch up to him due to his greater wealth of experience and well-formed work habits.

In closing let me add one sad and one happy observation. More men are eliminated on the way to success in industry by careless eating and drinking than in any other way while more men are made in business than make themselves, provided they are willing,

Commerce Guild, the Scabbard & Blade, honorary military, and the Arkansas Booster Club, and was active in the affairs of each of these organizations. In 1938 he was a member of the Social Committee.

His cumulative grade average since entering college was B and he was on the Dean's Honor Roll one semester as a result of his excellent academic work. This year he is listed in Who's Who at Arkansas and also in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

As SMC he has led the chapter to the most successful year in its history and Alpha-Zeta shall be ever grateful for his tireless work and effort in doing so. A record so enviable as this should be an inspiration to every undergraduate IKA.

Odd Jobs for Frosh

◆ ALPHA-NU CHAPTER, says The Alpha-News, chapter publication, is one of the few fraternity groups at the University of Missouri with a constructive "Hell Week," rather than the old-style roughhouse type.

"During this period," the paper continues, "the pledges are to do little things about the house to help in the attractiveness and appearance of it. Pledges wash windows, mow the lawn, wax the floors, do odd jobs in painting and, in general, keep the chapter house in tip-top shape. The pledges, take most interest in keeping the floor in the best condition that they are able, because the chapter house has the largest private dance floor of the Missouri campus. As a result, a fine spirit of co-operation between actives and pledges has been achieved."

Chapter Holds Memorial

MEMBERS OF Alpha-Kappa chapter, Missouri School of Mines, attended a special service in memory of the brothers now in the Chapter Eternal, Sunday, March 12. The ceremony began with the playing of The Dream Girl of IKA, a minister delivered a sermon and in conclusion there was the playing of the Pal's of the Garnet and Gold. The chapter has set aside a day each year for this service. The ceremony though simple, has done much in strengthening spiritual bonds of the brotherhood.

Grant Sees Duce Siege Albania

♦ WHEN THE Italians seized Albania on Good Friday, April 7, one of the foreign residents in a position of great responsibility and some danger was Hugh Gladney Grant, AII, American Minister to Albania.

He was at his post in Tirana as the Fascist military forces occupied that capitol city early on April 8. A dozen American citizens and four British subjects took refuge at the Legation, he reported to the State Department. Mrs. Grant was with him but it was said their 17-year-old daughter, Louise, was at school in Paris.

Good Friday night was one of terror in Tirana. There was continuous firing by gendarmes, seeking to scare away looters, some of whom had sacked the palace hastily vacated by King Zog, his wife and their new-born son. Mobs, shooting wildly, ran through the streets before the Italians came, but were suppressed late in the night by the Albania police.

Early Saturday Italians bombing planes flew back and forth over the capitol and troops of the famed Bersaglieri made their way to Tirana from the coast, 25 miles off. Tanks accompanied them as they marched into the principal square, to be greeted by a populace which cheered in spite of the sudden loss of independence. By Easter Sunday the capitol began to return to normal life and shops were open for the first time in four days.

The position of the diplomatic corps, including representatives of 11 nations, was not made clear, more than a month after the occupation. Grant and his fellow diplomats were accredited to King Zog, who went to Greece.

War rumors were rife for several days before the invasion. April 5, when the guns boomed 101 times, it was thought at first that the Italians had landed, but this proved to be a salute to the King's new heir. Public uneasiness continued, in spite of a three-day holiday.

How Grant and his household maintained calm was related in a letter to a relative from William H. Danforth, a director of the New York Life Insurance Co. and board chairman of the Ralston Purina Co. of St. Louis. He said:

U. S. Minister Shields Americans as King Flees Before Italians

Minister Hugh Gladney Grant and Mrs. Grant in the grounds of the American Legation at Tirana.

"We moved into Tirana, the capitol, and were told to be ready to be off at a moment's notice. We engaged a car and a chauffeur, but stayed to attend a distinguished dinner party given by United States Minister and Mrs. Grant in honor of the Queen's mother and the new Rumanian Minister. There were many members of the diplomatic colony there and their conversation convinced me that trouble was imminent."

That night the Government confiscated all automobiles and gasoline on the order of King Zog.

"The high priest of the Moslem faith was seen speeding to the border in his special car and we were urged to stay close by the American Legation," Danforth wrote. "At 2 o'clock, Mrs. Grant came running to us, saying: 'Throw a few things into your grip and come quickly.' We found King Zog had provided two cars to take the Queen's mother, her husband and children and her aunt across the border to Dubrovnik, and we could squeeze in if we came at once. In spite of the chauffeur's speed, we failed to reach the Yugoslavian border and were forced to stay in Scutari, near the border, for the night.

"At daybreak on Good Friday, our chauffeur rushed to our rooms and told us to dress in haste; that the Albanian Commandant had said 'pronto.' After much parleying at the Yugoslavian border over passports, visas, etc., we were finally allowed to cross after much use of the word 'diplomatic.' We reached safety with the booming of Italian guns shelling four Albanian harbors."

Minister Grant, 51 years old, who was educated at Howard College and Harvard and George Washington universities, is a resident and native of Birmingham, Ala. After two years' service in the State Department at Washington he was appointed to the Albanian post in 1935. He had been a newspaper man, Army officer and teacher and before entering the diplomatic service was secretary to Senator Hugo Black of Alabama, now a Supreme Court Justice.

Alpha Phi Omega Becomes
IKA's 77th Chapter —
Dates Back to 1900

◆ GAMMA-PHI CHAPTER has taken its place in the ranks of Pi Kappa Alpha—the seventy-seventh active undergraduate unit—at Wake Forest College, Wake Forest, N. C.

The installation was held at the Easter week-end, with National President Freeman H. Hart, Executive Secretary Robert M. McFarland, Jr., and District President Zeb V. Long, Jr., participating.

This newest link in the brotherhood, which brings IKA within four steps of the "Delta" series of chapters, is in a select 106-year-old institution in the heart of North Carolina, a traditional stronghold of the Fraternity. It is within a few miles of Tau, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill; Alpha-Alpha, Duke University, Durham, and Alpha-Epsilon, North Carolina State College, at Raleigh, the capitol. The fifth chapter in the state is Beta at Davidson College.

Alpha Phi Omega, a local fraternity, was taken over as Gamma-Phi. Thirty undergraduates and 12 alumni were initiated.

Present from each of the six older chapters in District No. 5 were two delegates, who comprised the initiation teams. They were: J. S. Raynald and J. H. Reisner, B; C. E. Huntley and J. Craig, M, Presbyterian College of South Carolina; Edmund Tiller and T. C. Smith, E, University of South Carolina; James Currie and Charles Ball, Jr., T; J. Tyler and J. McGimsey, AA; and John L. Milholland, Jr., and Robert Coleman, Jr., AE.

Friday, April 7, the ceremonies began with a reception attended by the president of Wake Forest College, Dr. Thurman D. Kitchin, and some of the other administrative officers and faculty members. Then, until about 9 o'clock that evening the initiating teams were busy with their groups of neophytes, resuming the following day, when the last men had joined in the bonds.

As the climax of the day the chapter installation ceremony was conducted.

In the evening there was a banquet of the new IKA's and visiting brothers at the Washington-Duke Hotel, Durham. Speakers included President Hart, Secretary McFarland and alumni members in the Wake Forest faculty. As Hart finished talking, he pulled a cord, which permitted to fall from the wall back of the speaker's table a banner of Alpha Phi Omega. This disclosed a bright new banner of IKA.

Neill L. Britt, president of Alpha Phi Omega, who became SMC of Gamma-Phi, made some introductory remarks about the local.

Special efforts were made by the Supreme Council to arrange the installation at this time, to coincide with the annual "Tri-Fraternity" dances, at the Washington-Duke Hotel. Gamma-Phi's fellow hosts were chapters of Theta Kappa Nu and Phi Chi. Members and guests of Gamma-Phi attended the dances in a body both Friday and Saturday evenings.

Hart and McFarland were guests at the annual dinner of Alpha-Epsilon Easter night, celebrating the chapter's thirty-fifth anniversary. They also visited Tau and Alpha-Alpha.

Officers of Gamma-Phi, besides Britt, are: William E. Eutsler, IMC; Walter C. Clark, ThC; Wirt Corrie, MS, and Regan McIntyre, MC. They held corresponding positions in the local.

Gamma-Phi occupies one of the five sections of Simmons Hall, a $100,000 brick structure of Colonial design, opened in 1936 for use of fraternities. Other occupants are Kappa Alpha, Alpha Kappa Pi, Theta Kappa Nu and a local, Chi Tau. The IKA chapter's section contains a meeting room on the first floor and 10 dwelling rooms accommodating three men each. In Old Wake Forest Dates Back to 1883- Near Raleigh, N. C.

◆ WAKE FOREST COLLEGE, one of the largest Baptist educational institutions in the country, has a student body limited to about 1,000 members, with women admitted only to the graduate schools. It operates a general college or school of liberal arts and sciences, a law school and a medical school.

The law course covers five years and the medical school offers two years' training, after three years of preparatory work in college, with the addition of two clinical years under consideration. The only women students this year are two in the medical school.

Shading the 25-acre main campus are numerous fine old trees, which, in combination with an encircling low stone wall give the place a distinctive appearance. The town of Wake Forest, a center of what was the forest of Wake county in early Federal days, is 16 miles north of Raleigh, North Carolina's capitol, on U. S. Highway No. 1, a great motor artery of the nation.

Wake Forest Institute, as the college was called until 1838, was chartered by the Legislature in 1833 and opened the following year with 16 pupils. The Civil War interfered with its development and cost it all but $11,700 of a $100,000 endowment. In 1879 there was a re-opening; by 1882 the enrollment was 169. During the next two decades the college profited from the interest of Jabez A. Bostwick of New York City, whose gifts and legacies constitute two-thirds of the present endowment funds.

Together, the endowment and the physical property, including more than 200 acres besides the campus, are valued at $3,500,000. Buildings include Hunter Hall, Bostwick Hall, Library, Alumni Building, Wait Hall, Jackson Medical Building, Simmons Hall, and a power plant. There is an athletic field, also a golf course, and plans have been made for a new stadium. Three of the buildings were erected in recent years.

Wake Forest has one of the largest law libraries in the South. The general library has the state's outstanding collection of the works of Charles Dickens.

Degrees conferred are Bachelor of Science, Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Laws, Master and Science and Master of Arts. The original intention of the college was to train men for the Baptist ministry; at first it combined manual arts with its classical courses.

There have been more than 30,000 students, and 4,230 degrees have been awarded, the largest number in one year having been 195 in 1936. From this college have gone into the world 3,000 ministers, many of them becoming foreign missionaries; 1,500 lawyers, 1,000 physicians and varying numbers of educators, journalists, editors and authors, engineers, chemists, business men, farmers and leaders in politics.

The college is affiliated with the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, the Association of American Colleges, the Association of American Law Schools, and the Association of American Medical Colleges. The law and medical schools are on the approved lists, respectively, of the Council on Legal Education of the American Bar Association and the Council on Medical Education of the American Medical Association. Athletic affiliations are with the Southern Conference, National Collegiate Athletic Association and North Carolina Athletic Conference.

Students entering Wake Forest are acquainted with its traditions and requirements in their first week and there is a strong college spirit. It is the custom, said to be as old as the college, for every student to greet every one he passes on the campus and in the corridors.

Alumni Activity Shows Big Gain

◆ IT WAS OF interest to our alumni and active chapters to learn through the pages of the April issue of THE SHIELD AND DIAMOND of the great success of the Founders' Day gatherings. Throughout the country, many enthusiastic meetings were held, ranging in attendance from 15 to well over 300.

The significant thing was the enthusiasm of the members at these meetings about Pi Kappa Alpha, its growth and their desire to further it. Many of these meetings brought to the attention of our younger men, those of our fraternity that have been members over 50 years. These grand old members were presented with Golden Chapter Certificates.

Renewed interest at Founders' Day was shown by every alumni group not only by the election of officers and appointments of committees but by the adoption of an alumni program of selecting an objective to be accomplished by each chapter during the year.

It will be of interest to each of you to know of these many objectives, the number of worthy causes they are fostering and their intention of accomplishing these things by our next Founders' Day.

The office of National Alumni Secretary will cooperate with these groups by helping them with these objectives and keeping constantly in touch with the progress made by the groups throughout the year. There will be a definite effort made to accomplish every one of these objectives. If any alumni group has not yet formed its objective for the year, efforts will be made to Alumni Chapters: Pay Your Dues and Send a Delegate to 1940 Convention!

◆ DON'T LET the Chicago Convention in August, 1940, find your Alumni Chapter unrepresented.

Dues to the National Fraternity of $2 per man per year on a minimum of 12 must be paid by June 1 in order that your delegate may receive his transportation expenses from the National Fraternity.

Please check into this with your chapter and see that this is handled prior to June 1 so as to avoid a 10% penalty charged after June 1.

We do want every alumni group represented. A bulletin on this subject has been sent to every alumnus chapter and notice is given here so that no chapter will fail to have representation.

If you are paying on 12 members, $24 is due before June 1 and $24.00 next year before June 1, payment of which entitles your delegate to transportation expenses to the 1940 convention.

The revival of interest manifested so clearly on our Founders' Day marks another milestone in the history of our Fraternity. The renewing of our faith definitely will push Pi Kappa Alpha forward and our accomplishments will be apparent to each of us during the year to come.

It is interesting to report that every alumni chapter has shown an interest in doing its part in our program revival of interest. Many chapters that have been dormant for a year have shown new life. One new chapter, at Fort Worth, Texas, also has been chartered. More organizations will follow as plans are in effect in many cities throughout the country. We want every group to analyze the particular situation in its locality and accomplish that objective which they know will further Pi Kappa Alpha's interest.

May we call attention of the undergraduate chapters again to the desirability of keeping in touch with their alumni and keeping after them until they have visited your chapter?

The April issue of THE SHIELD AND DIAMOND, sent to every living member, carried in detail the story of this year's extensive Founders' Day celebrations. If you have not received your copy, notify our General Office. It is a copy worth keeping in your library as it definitely shows the achievements accomplished up to that time.

Again let your National Alumni Secretary state that if he can be of any service in any way toward furthering the interest of Pi Kappa Alpha in your alumni group, write him. Let's make this year and next, years of activity in alumni work.

Collections Pushed on Chapter House Loan Fund

◆ CASH IN THE chapter house loan fund, available for loans, as of April 3, 1939, was $10,155.97, the Executive Secretary has reported to the Supreme Council and the Chapter House Loan Committee.

This was an increase of 81 per cent over the fund's cash balance of $5,610.98 at the end of the year 1938. The increase amounted to $4,544.99. Drastic revision of the policies governing handling of the fund has been adopted by order of the Supreme Council. (April, 1939, SHIELD AND DIAMOND). A determined effort is being made to enforce prompt payment of all obligations of principal and interest on outstanding loans. The balance owed by borrowing chapters as of last Dec. 31 was $99,183.79.

April collections aggregated $2,576.23, McFarland reported. This consisted of $2,380.70 in principal from seven chapters, $49.70 in interest from three chapters and $145.83 from proceeds of royalties from official jewelers.

By comparison, collections for the last six months of 1938 totaled only $2,834.70, including $2,179.33 principal and $655.37 interest.

The largest April payment was $1,900 on the loan of the defunct

Beta-Chi chapter, University of Minnesota. Installments of principal due in April but unpaid that month amounted to $317, owed by four chapters.

Last year's national convention allocated one-half of the receipts of jewelry royalties to this fund. April payments under this rule were: L. G. Balfour Co., $61.15; Burr-Patterson & Auld Co., $75.15, and Edwards, Haldeman & Co., $9.53.

It is the intention of the Supreme Council to build up the value of the chapter house loan fund and make it more generally useful, under stricter rules than previously.

IICA Rules St. Pat's Fiesta at Arkansas

By Garvin Fitton, Arkansas

The present stone used is from Blarney castle in Ireland.

The idea spread until finally a convention was held in Missouri to form The Guards of St. Pat, a cooperative organization for the furthering of Engineers' Day. The society's first pin was designed by G. B. Irby, Arkansas delegate.

Robert Hudson as St. Pat delivering the convocation address.

Robert L. Hudson, AZ, in the robes of St. Patrick, with his Queen, Miss Marion Jennings, XΩ. They are flanked by two Guards of St. Pat.

◆ INAUGURATED by a brilliant display of fireworks on March 16 Arkansas' 30th annual Engineer's Day got in full swing the next day with all the disciples of St. Patrick taking a full day off from classes and with their guests making merry the campus over.

Robert L. Hudson, AZ, and Marion Jennings, XΩ, his queen, escorted by members of their court and pages led the procession from the Engineering building to Main building to open and preside over the convocation at which St. Pat knighted all senior engineers. The closing event of the day was the annual ball which was opened by a grand march led by Hudson as St. Pat and his Queen, Miss Jennings.

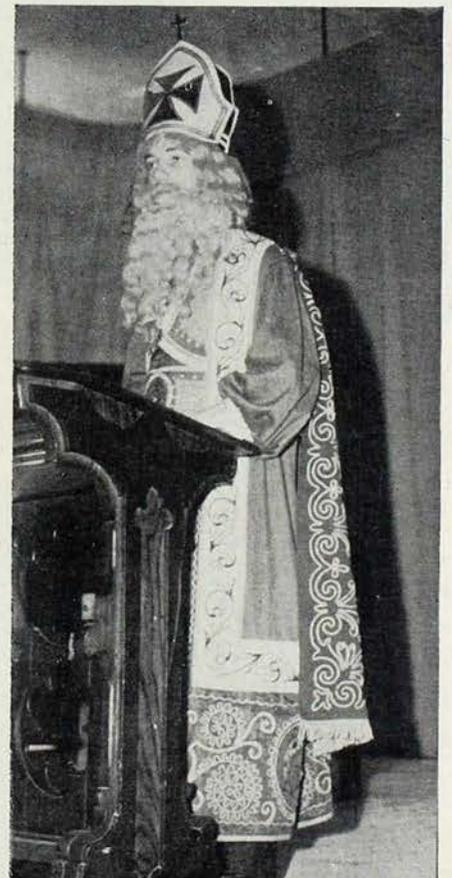

In 1903 at the University of Missouri, during the excavation for an annex to the engineering building, a strange stone bearing meaningless hieroglyphics was discovered almost coincidentally with the publication of a history of St. Patrick, one of the first Engineers.

Going into a huddle over their slide rules and imagination a group of ingenious Missouri engineers conceived the idea of celebrating St. Patrick's birthday and proceeded to do so by walking out of their classes and staging a day of wild revelry. Now in this day and age walking out of classes was pretty bad, not to mention wild revelry; therefore St. Pat's birthday party was frowned upon by the faculty.

But eventually the Missourians saw the possibilities of their brain child and proceeded to organize the event along more serious lines to include banquets, dances and exhibits. The faculty approved and thus was born Engineers' Day which has now spread over the entire country.

Second school to adopt the custom of celebrating St. Pat nativity was the Missouri School of Mines at Rolla in 1907, then two years later the idea hit the University of Arkansas which became the third school in the country to make a tradition of the event. Strangely enough the Arkansas engineers also found a Blarney stone which they used until someone abducted it during the Agri-Engineer brawls which accompanied the fiesta at this time.

33d Pika Ball at N. C. State

By Robt. Coleman, Jr., No. Carolina State

◆ ON EASTER MONDAY, April 10, Alpha-Epsilon chapter entertained with its 33rd annual "Pika Ball" in Frank Thompson Gymnasium on the State College campus.

For many years, the Pika Ball has been to many young people all over the state the outstanding social event of the spring season. The ball originated in 1906 and has been given on Easter Monday every year since.

New faces and customs replaced the old at this year's ball. Music for the event was furnished by Earl Mellen and his orchestra, who came from the fashionable Cavalier Hotel and Beach Club at Virginia Beach and Bill Green's Casino in Pittsburg, where he was featured several times a week over the Mutual Network. Radio station WPTF in Raleigh carried the program for a half hour from 10:30 to 11:00 p. m.

The gymnasium was elaborately decorated in garnet and gold. A large electrically lighted pin featured the decorations, streamers of garnet and gold evenly draped from the ceiling to the walls, forming a colorful canopy.

Alpha-Epsilon introduced the fraternity figure many years ago, but since that time the figure has become so commonplace that the chapter abolished its traditional figure. Hanging from the ceiling and centering the decorations was a huge crest made of gold cardboard and garnet cellophane. Above this crest were nearly 200 balloons. Instead of the usual figure, when the band played The Dream Girl, the garnet center of the crest was torn away and the balloons allowed to descend upon the dancers while the members and their dates tossed confetti from the balcony.

The dance was black formal, members and pledges wearing white dinner coats to distinguish themselves. The sponsors for this year's dance were Miss Miriam Gibbs of Statesville with John L. Milholland, Jr., SMC; Miss Mildred Davis of Chester, Va., with Robt. Coleman, Jr., IMC; Miss Edyth Townsend of Hickory with Jim Murray; Miss Anne Nash of St. Paul with Ted Strupler; Miss Cora Hoover of Concord with D. R. McEachern; and Miss Jo Petty of Concord with Laval Waldin.

On Sunday night preceding the dance, the chapter entertained at a banquet at the Carolina Hotel at which Mr. John Park, a charter member of the fraternity, Ex. Sec'y R. M. McFarland, and Dr. Freeman H. Hart, National President, were guests of honor. Neil Britt, SMC of the new Gamma-Phi chapter, was also a guest.

Dates of the members and pledges wore corsages in the fraternity colors of garnet and gold. Fraternity plaques were given to the girls as favors.

"INTERFRATERNITY RELATIONS Week," designed to promote more cordial relationships between the eleven social brotherhoods on the University of Richmond campus was featured by a week long open house among the organizations. The fraternity which had the largest number of men visiting other groups and signing their guest registers during the week received a prize. A dance on Saturday night ended the week long program which was opened with a banquet on Tuesday evening.

Named to IIKA Office

◆ FROM Beta-Omicron chapter at the University of Oklahoma, the Supreme Council has selected J. F.

J. F. Malone

Malone to become Pi Kappa Alpha's Assistant Executive Secretary. Announcement of the appointment was made shortly after the Supreme Council held its meeting in Oklahoma City. Malone was graduated from the University of Oklahoma in January of 1937. During his undergraduate work in high school and at the University, he was active in forensics and radio work, winning national honors in debate and extemporaneous speaking. While he was in college, Malone's work in the Extension Division closely allied him with Herbert H. Scott, President of District 14, and T. M. Beard, National Vice-President.

During his senior year at the University, Malone was manager of WNAD, the University Radio Station. After taking his Bachelor of Arts degree, he was employed by the Oklahoma Tax Commission, but later resigned to become Assistant Registrar of the University.

Later, when the University undertook to sponsor a museum project with a Federal grant of $85,000.00, Malone was promoted to state director of the project. It was while employed in this work that he received his present appointment with the Fraternity.

Always interested in the activities of the Fraternity, he gained his first recognition at the New Orleans Convention in 1936, when he presided as SMC on the model initiation team. Since that time he has participated in the initiations of more than 300 men.

ODK Convention Draws 15 IKA's--- Brian Bell Is Feature Speaker

By Harrison Burgess, Washington and Lee

◆ PI KAPPA ALPHA furnished 15 delegates and a featured speaker at the silver jubilee convention of Omicron Delta Kappa, national leadership fraternity, at Washington and Lee university March 23-25. The convention, the most important in years, attracted eight of the original members.

The convention chose to invite one person for initiation who was considered to have conformed to the standards of Omicron Delta Kappa and to have "attained a high standard of efficiency in collegiate activities." A member of Pi Kappa Alpha, Brian Bell, M, B and II, chief of the Washington bureau of the Associated Press was the man thus honored. He was initiated into the Alpha chapter the first day and spoke at a banquet the next evening.

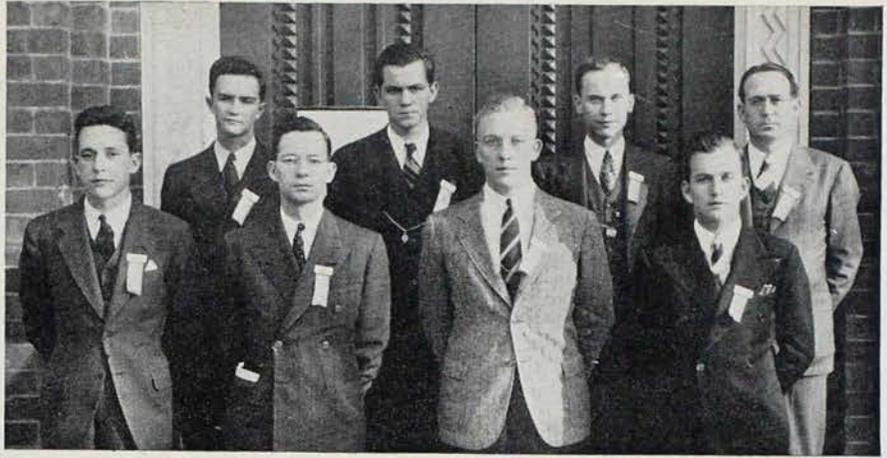

In his speech to the 250 campus leaders, Bell accused them of being too serious.

"Relax," he said, "If you don't you'll be a stuffed shirt. Be more like those two relaxed Americans, Mark Twain and Will Rogers."

Other features of the convention were an address by Omicron Delta Kappa's founder, Dr. William Moseley Brown; a model initiation by Mu chapter, Kentucky, and the unveiling of a memorial plaque to the founders by Mrs. Fielden Woodward, pretty wife of the president of Alpha chapter.

Although present for business, the IKA delegates had moments of relaxation with Pi chapter as hosts. They were taken to Natural Bridge, one of the great natural wonders of America; to Mikes' Place, where bock beer was plentiful, and to the convention dance with dates from Southern Seminary, nearby girl's school.

Pi Kaps in attendance besides Brian Bell were: Sam Allen, O; Roger Anderson, AΞ; Edward Chappell, II; Frank Cosby, O; Richard Edwards, II; William Ester-mayer, AΞ; Newton Harman, Ξ and II; Frank Jordan, Jr., Ξ; William McGhee, Y; "Bo" Russell, Y; William Shule, II; and William Weems, IΘ.

McFarland's Travels

◆ DURING the college year 1938-39, R. M. McFarland, Jr., Executive Secretary of Pi Kappa Alpha, has made 66 visits to undergraduate chapters, nearly as many alumni centers, spoken at Founders' Day celebrations in many cities, visited four petitioning locals, conferred with trustees and national committeemen in New York, Washington, Charlottesville, Va., Chicago, Kansas City, Cleveland, New Orleans, State College, Pa., Auburn, Ala., and Austin, Texas; participated in the installation of Gamma-Phi chapter at Wake Forest College; and attended the National Interfraternity Conference, the College Fraternity Secretaries' Association meeting and one meeting of the Supreme Council of Pi Kappa Alpha.

Fifty-five of IKA's 77 chapters were visited during the year, 47 chapters once, five chapters twice and three chapters three times.

This program of chapter visitation was planned with cooperation of railroad passenger agents in Atlanta, so that advantage was taken of routes most economical of time and money. This is evidenced by the transportation cost averaging $9.30 per chapter visit and 26 nights having been spent in sleeping cars.

Nov. 19, 1921; the initiates: Louis Cossette La Motte, James Lewis McCord, James McDowell Dick, Jr., William J. Cherry, Jr., Malcolm Shields Dixon, Van Kirk Bland, James Curtis Young, James Lina Nickles, Clarence Eugene Peiphoff, Howard McKnight Wilson and William Douglas Hudson. The actual number, according to The Directory, was 11.

Of the nine chapters certainly installed by Dr. Arbuckle, all are active still except Phi, which was legislated out of existence. The Supreme Council revoked its charter, with the approval of the 1909 national convention at New Orleans, because of the relatively small size of Roanoke College. Psi chapter surrendered its charter in 1933 when the regents converted North Georgia into a junior college.

A native of West Virginia and a graduate of Hampden-Sydney in '89, Dr. Arbuckle began his teaching career in 1891 at the Seminary West of Suwanee, the foundation of the University of Florida. From 1898 to 1912 he was on the faculty of Agnes Scott Institute, a girls' school at Decatur, Ga., near Atlanta. Then he moved to Davidson College, where he has held forth with distinction ever since. In the course of time he has become the most beloved figure of IKA.

you meet hundreds of men in other fraternities, form friendships through other fraternities that will prove invaluable in later life.

You will find after you are graduated that every time you meet a college man, your first words will be: What fraternity did you belong to? If he names a fraternity that was represented on your campus, you at once warm up; you are interested in him, not because he belonged to your fraternity, but because he belonged to a fraternity. The extension of that idea simply means this: It gives you an easier contact with a million men all over the country, and it will be the source of some of your most delightful and helpful acquaintances and friendships through your entire life.

dance. Members going home for Easter vacation inquire of their old high school principals about prospective university students.

Influence on parents is not forgotten. An outstanding purpose of Peterson's folder is to give parents an idea of the activities and benefits of fraternity life as known in IKA. These folders, incidentally, have the effect of rearing the enthusiasm of members themselves.

Outstanding among improvements proposed for the 1939 campaign are a better method of personal visitation, on the theory that letters serve merely as introductions, and a better planned rush week.

The cost? Hutch reports that the 1938 campaign cost the chapter only $125. The printed portion of the campaign, due to some savings Peterson was able to effect through his personal contacts, was estimated by him at only 8 cents per prospect.

Peterson's appointment to the office of National Rushing Chairman, which was created by the New Orleans convention in 1936, was made by the Supreme Council April 27, on unanimous vote, as a direct result of his successful work at Gamma-Nu.

He is 29 years old. Born at Las Cascades, Canal Zone, a construction town on the banks of Culebra Cut, in the early days of work on the Panama Canal, he was educated in schools of the Zone, graduating from Balboa High School in 1927. His parents were lowans, so he and his sister went to the University of Iowa. There he became a member of the local, Phi Kappa Rho, and later a charter member of Gamma-Nu, which was installed in 1929. He was awarded a B.A. and a certificate in journalism in 1932 and took graduate work in advertising, psychology and marketing at the university in 1933-34.

Thereafter he was engaged in selling and advertising agency work, assisting in the preparation of material for several national advertisers. His specialty has been advertising copywriting. Aug. 29, 1937, he was injured in a highway accident which laid him up for six weeks. However, he was forced to resign in March, 1938, and return to the Iowa City medical center for extensive plastic surgery.

the spacious, well-lighted attic is a recreation room. There are no dining provisions. Rent charged for the section by the college is only $1,800 a year. The college collects dues from the individual members and remits to the Fraternity the excess over the rent, thus assuring chapter income.

Other national fraternities on the campus and the dates of their installations are: Kappa Alpha, 1881, and reinstated 1922; Theta Kappa Nu, 1924; Alpha Kappa Pi, 1932; Kappa Sigma, Delta Sigma Phi and Sigma Pi, 1938. The local, Chi Tau, dates from 1923. There are also a legal fraternity, Gamma Eta Gamma, and two medicals, Phi Rho Sigma and Phi Chi. Another dormitory houses Gamma Eta Gamma and Phi Rho Sigma, while the remaining organizations rent houses. The college is reported to be considering plans for a second dormitory for Greek-letter use, like Simmons Hall. There is a campus Panhellenic Council.

The "Ain't Puttin' Out Club," forerunner of Alpha Phi Omega, existed at least as early as 1900. At that time social fraternities were forbidden at Wake Forest and hence records are lacking. Seven men organized Alpha Phi Omega formally Oct. 1, 1919. Meetings often were held at Raleigh, 16 miles away. Eventually a faculty member chanced to run across the fraternity in session and reported to the trustees, recommending expulsion of the members. With some reluctance the trustees complied, but the students came from influential families and many complaints resulted.

At the next meeting of the trustees, the expulsions were set aside and the fraternity ban was rescinded. Thus Alpha Phi Omega paved the way for the modern fraternal development.

Positions of campus leadership held by members of the chapter in the current year included the following: Business manager of Old Gold and Black (Britt), editor of The Student, junior class president, senior class vice president, member of Golden Bough, four varsity football players, president of Gamma Sigma Epsilon, two members of Gamma Nu Iota, two varsity baseball players, five members of Publications Board and the president, two members of Flying Club, member of The Howler staff, vice president of Panhellenic Council and member of the Freshman Advisory Council.

The local's petition for a charter listed 85 alumni, mostly residents of North Carolina.

Arizona Gets New Home

GAMMA-DELTA CHAPTER, University of Arizona, has prepared to move to a new and better house, near the campus, June 10.

The new home, accommodating 20 men, will be kept open for the summer for the benefit of members and pledges remaining in Tucson. While it is smaller than the one being vacated, its facilities are more desirable.

Pay Up Week Named

◆ THE BIGGEST handicap to a fraternity chapter is financial difficulty. All other troubles follow quickly. If a chapter's income is not 103% of its expense, it is failing. If a chapter does not collect 100% of its charges, it is failing.

"Pay Up Week" was May 19-25. Every chapter was directed by Executive Secretary R. M. McFarland to collect every undergraduate account during that period. Any man who failed to pay by May 25, was required to sign a note for the balance payable during the summer—and his name was reported to the General Office.

Every undergraduate who has not cleared his 1938-39 account within 30 days of reopening of college next fall, will be automatically dropped from the chapter and his name reported to the Supreme Council. The delinquent will have 30 days in which to make satisfactory arrangement with the Supreme Council. If satisfactory arrangement is not made, the delinquent will be expelled from the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity.

Alumni accounts are handled for collection by the General Office and those who can but do not pay are recommended to the Supreme Council for expulsion. Seventeen cases are before the Supreme Council at this time.

The Supreme Council of Pi Kappa Alpha believes it is as important to require respect for financial obligations as to uphold other right principles of manhood.

Setting an example for IKA's other 76 chapters in financial management is Upsilon chapter, at Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn. For five consecutive months, not one penny has been owed to the chapter at the end of the month. This chapter has 68 members and pledges.

Pledge MacKinney, 150-pound All-American tackle, is working for a guard position on the Scarlet Varsity.

As head of the new personnel committee, James will lead the younger alumni in a drive to bring the financial condition of the chapter up to a better standard through organized rushing and initiation control.

Joint Formal At Lehigh

By Allen M. Paget, Gamma-Lambda

LEHIGH—The annual mid-winter formal, held in conjunction with Alpha Kappa Pi fraternity, was one of the highlights of the winter season. Despite the snow storm on Mar. 11, the date of the dance, 150 couples were present.

Alex Bupp had the second highest basket average on the Lehigh squad this season. His average of .297 was .051 points behind the leader. Lehigh was the only team to beat Swarthmore who had not been defeated in 21 games. Bupp is given credit for making this victory possible because of his five points in the closing minutes of the nip-and-tuck battle.

DISTRICT No. 2. President: J. S. Lloyd, Beta-Alpha, Riverside Heights, Verona, Pa.

Dream Girl of Alpha-Theta

Beta-Pi Makes Strides

By Henry J. Rhode, Beta-Pi

PENNSYLVANIA—Since 1935, Beta-Pi has been on a steady upgrade in all-around activity—membership, extra-curricular activities, house improvements, etc. With its most successful rushing season in quite a few years just completed, it is sure to occupy a place among the leaders in District 1.

Scholastically the chapter worked a miracle. Last year it ranked thirty-second on the campus. This year it occupies the number five position in scholastic standing.

Athletically it has men represented in soccer, lacrosse, golf, fencing, crew, swimming, tennis, and 150-lb. football. William Marbaker is the first Beta-Pi man in a number of years to become assistant manager of swimming.

In interfraternity sports, Beta-Pi has, and had teams represented in bowling, basketball, ping-pong, bridge, golf, football, and softball.

Men represent it in societies, such as: Interfraternity Council, Christian Association cabinet, band, Towne School Triangle, a magazine published by that school, Freshman Handbook, Mask and Wig, and R. O. T. C. Men are now in competitions for Beta Gamma Sigma, honorary business society, and Kite and Key, good will society.

On March 18, an alumni dance was held in the chapter house. This year's annual spring formal dance was held at the North Hill's Country Club, in suburban Philadelphia. Music was furnished by the Del Nova orchestra.

House improvements have been numerous and most important. Early in the school year the house was completely painted and the walls re-papered. Then the living room was "given" a new rug and the chairs re-covered. The latest and most prized possession is a beautiful and expensive Philco radio-phonograph combination.

Initiates: Thomas W. Bainbridge, Erdenheim, Pa.; C. William Bentz, James Batson, and Charles R. Gamper, Philadelphia; William J. Hanley, Wilmington, Del.; B. Franklin James, Ebensburg; Arthur F. Lefferts, and Paul Millicap, Jenkintown; Richard S. Merriam, Catonsville, Md.; Charles J. Utt, Slatington, and Kenneth A. White, Morton.

Pledges: William Burrows and David E. Longacre, Philadelphia.

Gamma-Tau Grades Jump

By Ed Specht, Gamma-Tau

RENSSELAER—The Rensselaer chapter started the second semester off with a bang by raising its scholastic interfraternity rating one step. In the fall it was rated eighth and recently it moved up to seventh place.

Baseball season sees three I I K A first stringers. George Shako, veteran catcher and captain of this year's team, will play with two sophomores—Charles Carman, second baseman, and David Kline, pitcher.

The swimming season ended with Jack Reynolds, leading backstroker of the team, going through the season undefeated, bringing another record to I I K A.

The sophomore Soiree, leading social function was held April 8th. Chairman of the committee on organization was Frank Sherry assisted by Ed Specht as publicity manager.

Elling is the present house manager.

Initiates: Edward Amman, Ed., '40; Gene Tedick, Bus. Ad., '41; Richard Duchene, Eng., '40; William Kissel, Eng., '42; and Edmund Hollstein, Col., '40.

The Cap and Gown show, At Your Service, Pitt's all male musicale, could not get along very well without the Pi Kaps. DeRocher is production manager of the show. Also on the production staff is Frank Mateer, Col., '41, co-stage manager.

Bentonelli Feted at Carnegie

By Robert F. Bildstein, Beta-Sigma

CARNEGIE TECH—During the week-end of March 1, Beta-Sigma honored as its guest, Joseph Bentonelli, Metropolitan Opera star. On Sunday, March 2, Bentonelli was given a reception at the chapter house. This reception was attended by many prominent Pittsburgh citizens, among whom were officials of the school and many well-known music lovers. He sang several solos, but insisted that the brothers sing one song for each one that he did.

The occasion for his visit to Pittsburgh was his performance of Beethoven's Ninth Symphony with the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Fritz Reiner.

The Mothers Club has proved itself to be an invaluable ally to the chapter. The mothers have contributed dishes, curtains, and articles of furniture which have made the chapter house more homelike. The Mothers Club held a card party and dance on March 3 which was attended by some 200. A Mothers' Day tea was held at the chapter house on Sunday, May 7th.

Initiates: Charles Jackson Raiffeisen, Pittsburgh; Raymond Keirn Jr., Vandergrift; Benjamin Roy Ertell, Buffalo, N. Beta-Alpha Sets Up Court

By Wayne Bortz, Beta-Alpha

PENN STATE—In an effort to put more teeth into the by-laws of the chapter, Beta-Alpha has established a petty court to deal with a man breaking existing rules, or whose conduct is considered improper by another member.

The court consists of one judge, the SMC, and a jury of five actives. Cases are presented by those persons accusing the violator. Both the prosecution and defendant are given opportunity to present their sides of the case and the decision rests in the hands of the jury.

Four cases have been heard to date with three men being fined for a breach of the by-laws. Two were penalized for playing golf on the lawn and another for taking a shower during the dinner hour.

Cases involving fines less than one dollar must have a three-fifths majority while those greater than one dollar must have four-fifths. Each defendant is given a written summons and is subject to a fine for contempt if he misses the session. All such decisions are final and fines are paid to the treasurer who must place the money in a separate fund until delegated to spend it for a specific purpose.

H. Clifton MacWilliams has been elected the first single captain of the varsity basketball team in five years. He is a junior and one of the most popular men in the school. He is at present a candidate for the all-college presidency and is leading for the honor. He is a pre-legal student.

McWilliams, new SMC of Beta-Alpha, brought high honor to the chapter when he was elected first all-college president at Penn State.

DISTRICT No. 3. President: Claude J. Parker, Beta-Epsilon, 309 Union Bldg., Cleveland, O.

Chapter Pledges 15

By William MacNamara, Gamma-Omicron

OHIO—Fifteen new men were added to the pledge chapter during the last two months: William McQuistan, Ernest Fraser, Frederick Greiner, Eli Floasin, William Armbrust, Woodrow West, Paul Nofft, Charles Angle, Alwyn Lewis, Norman Kreeger, Si Johnson, Charles Herrell, Richard Schroeder, Robert Hetzler, and Harold Smith.

Officers: James P. Isaacs, SMC; Lewis Sutherland, IMC; Robert Banner, ThC; Robert Welch, SC; and William MacNamara, MS and historian.

Charles Herrell, Eli Floasin, Si Johnson, and Frederick Greiner are varsity lettermen; the first three having earned football letters, and the last having won recognition in baseball.

During April, Gamma-Omicron dressed up the chapter house with a lighted marquee, pre-vue display, ticket office, theater lobby, and uniformed ushers for a well-attended Bank Night party. Technicolor Crazy Kat, homecoming parades, and football games were run off as a special attraction, while each movie-goer was provided with a big bag of popcorn for added sound effects. Bank night prizes were given for the best candid snapshots submitted as the admission fee.

In store for next year's social calendar is something new on the campus; the Western Reserve football squad will be banqueted at the chapter house after the game here and a costume dance is being planned as a frolic for the team.

Two points meant the difference between a volleyball championship and a runner-up position, for Gamma-Omicron in the finals of intramural competition, but those two points eluded the Gamma-Omicron spikers' best efforts. Boasting three victories, the softball team is tied for first position in its league.

Initiates: Robert Whitford, Robert Hetzler, Robert Banner, Robert Welsh, Dean Chatlain, Charles Bushman, Raymond Johnson, Lambert DePompeii, Richard Schroeder, and Charles Herrell.

George Kuhar, sophomore in the School of Dentistry at Western Reserve University, was heartily received by the chapter during his recent weekend visit.

John Weber, editor of the MacArthur Journal, has returned to Gamma-Omicron on frequent visits this year.

Art Bryan has been welcomed at the chapter house several times this semester.

Freddy Weiderman, who graduated last January, is now teaching school at the Thomas Edison school in Cleveland.

Robert Moore, former SMC, has entered the lumber business on a large scale.

Wittenberg Convention Host

By Fred Glantz, Gamma-Zeta

WITTENBERG—Gamma-Zeta held a joint spring formal and district convention dance at the Country Club on May 12. Being host to the other four Ohio chapters at the semi-annual district convention, the local chapter climaxed the business session with social festivities.

The convention delegates were headed by district president Claude J. Parker, who spoke at the Saturday meeting.

Spring activities on the Wittenberg campus saw I I K A well represented. Four members took leading roles in The Fool, a social satire. Harold Bound, Lakewood senior, was chairman in charge of the silver anniversary of The Torch, campus weekly. He is president of Pi Delta Epsilon, journalism honorary.

Fred Glantz was nominated to Blue Key and Skull and Chain, senior honoraries. He was sports editor of The Wittenberger, campus year book.

Louis Golder was the key sponsor of the Lutheran Student Association convocation held recently. He is president of the association. He was asked to accompany the local Lutheran Church as second tenor in its annual tour. Ralph La Fontaine was selected to tour with the band during April.

The chapter's athletic pursuits also fared well with William Scheutzwon winning the middleweight title in the Springfield Civic Amateur Boxing Tournament. Carl Reardon reached the semi-final round of the tournament but lost by a decision.

Letterman Vincent Cooper, Weirton, W. Va., made a fine showing in spring football practice. Warren Thomas, Richmond, Ind., Charles Ballato and Edwin Markowicz, also of Weirton, are also candidates.

Leading contestant for No. 1 position on the tennis team is Gaylord Gourley. He was last year's runner-up in the Ohio conference.

John Boll continued his impressive track record as star hurdler while Robert Angus, last year's intramural broad jump champion, performed for the varsity this spring.

Fletcher Wins Scholarship

By Robert DeWelles, Beta-Epsilon

WESTERN RESERVE—Charles Fletcher, who, during his four years at Reserve, had almost a perfect average, has climaxed his college career by receiving a scholarship from the Standard Oil Company. This scholarship consists of three years additional schooling at Reserve, all expenses paid and a job after the three years are up.

Arthur Moeller, who is following in the scholastic steps of Fletcher, attained a perfect average last semester. Fletcher also received perfect marks.

The chapter gave a George Washington Birthday party at the house on February 21 and a smoker on March 27. Several members of the Western Reserve faculty attended the stag.

The chapter engaged Mrs. Black as its new house mother at the beginning of the new period.

Joe Charney was a finalist in the intramural wrestling matches. He is also a candidate for the varsity football team.

The Mothers' Club has been very active this year in arranging several benefit card parties for the chapter. Numerous gifts have been made to the chapter, including several lamps and a vacuum cleaner.

New officers: Paul Meagher, SMC; Norman Gross, IMC; Arthur Moeller, ThC; George DeCroes, MC; and Nick Marku, House-manager.

Pledges: William Haude, '42, and Armin Ross, '42, Cleveland.

Initiates: Roy Reyant, '42, Cleveland; Emil Nowak, '42, Garfield, N. J.; Arthur Thomas Laird, '40, Canton.

Alpha-Rho to Graduate 15

By Robert M. Ullrich, Alpha-Rho

OHIO STATE—Of the 50 actives and pledges, graduation will take about 15.

The pledge class was entertained by the Delta Gamma pledges at their new sorority house at the start of the third term.

Alpha-Rho continues its hold on various campus activities. Bus Eubanks, '39, is editor of a gossip column in the University daily. William Cook was recently appointed Lt. Col. of the R. O. T. C. unit.

The chapter held a Mother's Day banquet at home, and many out-of-town mothers as well as Columbus mothers attended.

Alpha-Rho's athletic teams have achieved many victories. The chapter reached the semi-finals in basketball and volley ball and received two cups for volley ball and one for basketball. At the same time the bowling team was University runner-up. At present the baseball team is undefeated.

Roland Wolf, '40, was University runner-up in wrestling in the heavyweight division.

Jack Dawson received his letter for his excellent work on the varsity basketball team. Jack held the distinction of being the only sophomore who saw much action. Frank Smith and Walter Seamon are members of the varsity baseball team, while Pledge John Lohrey is a member of the freshman baseball team. Pledge Robert Fackler is a member of the freshman golf squad.

Several dances were held, including a spring formal at the Wyandotte Country Club May 26.

New pledges include Kenneth Elliot and Dick Blend, both of Columbus.

Officers: SMC, David Gray; IMC, John Garvin; ThC, John T. Smith; MS, Paul Meehan.

Alpha-Xi Is Busy Chapter

By George F. Moore, Alpha-Xi

CINCINNATI—Spring and summer sports are commanding much time on the part of Alpha-Xi this year. William Thomas, Pete Kreulen, Bob Stadler, and Pledge Charles Stein were finalists in the intramural indoor track meet, which added a number of points to the all-year total. IKA now ranks high. The chapter hopes to retain the golf championship, won last year by Dick Martin, Jim Van Horn, and Dick Klepinger. The freshman track team has IKA representatives in George Coombs, Fred Daniell, and Pledges Bob Beans and Charles Stein. Pledge Bob Stebbins is freshman manager of the varsity track team.

The Alpha-Xi summer formal was held May 27 at a Cincinnati country club. Roderick Stewart's orchestra was the band of the evening. Informal house parties held in March and April under the leadership of Bob Stadler, made these early spring week-ends very enjoyable.

The Varsity Vanities, the original campus musical show, featured two specialties by Jess Wilson. He was assistant dance director of the show, reported by dramatic critics of Cincinnati as one of the most entertaining and versatile shows produced by the campus organization. Daniell and Coombs, and Pledge Hassen were members of the cast.

IKA was represented in the spring Mummies Guild production, Topaze, by actor George Moore; in business management by Don Martin, and back-stage by Jack Schaber and Gordon Boling.

The university mourns the loss of its engineering college dean, Herman Schneider, founder of the co-operative form of education, who died March 28. Jess Wilson was an honorary pall-bearer at Dean Schneider's funeral, representing the Engineering Tribunal, the engineering college governing body.

Odin Wilhelmly has been elected vice president of men's senate. He is SC of Alpha-Xi. Rushing activities are under the leadership of Don Martin. New pledges include Milton Garvin, '40, Cincinnati, and Dwight Prugh, '41, and Jack Heywood, '41, Dayton. The latter two men bring the number of Dayton men in the active and pledge ranks of Alpha-Xi to seven.

Pi Recognized Social Leaders

By Harrison Burgess, Pi

WASHINGTON and LEE—Pi chapter got into the swing of spring social affairs early this year with a St. Patrick's Day house party that stood head and shoulders above the rest according to a columnist in the W. & L. newspaper. Three stalwarts on the baseball team, an all-southern lacrosse player, and the number one man on the golf squad, sent IKA off to a sports lead.

The columnist in the Ring-Tum-Phi, bi-weekly student newspaper, had this to say about the party:

"Again we came through in promising the season's biggest social event in the IKA's house party. Those boys know what they are talking about in the entertainment line, and they consistently turn out nifty brawls in a refined way. We thought that their decorations for the Christmas dance were about as good as they come but with St. Patrick's Day as a theme they outdid themselves. Even Student Body President Beale, who is more concerned with affairs of state than hide-ho, reported that they are unsurpassed as hosts and are irresistible as purveyors of refreshment."

The best W. & L. baseball team to take the field in several years boasts Lea Booth, '40, on the mound, Jimmy Humphreys, '41, at shortstop, and Johnny Dill, '40, holding down second base.

Paul Gourdon, '41, is called the spark plug of the lacrosse team, having won a position on the 1938 all-southern team and been instrumental in the team's 5 to 4 win over Navy's junior varsity in the first game this year.

Golf Coach Cy Twombly is looking for Bill Avent, '41, to uphold the Generals' fine reputation in Southern golf meets this year. Snapper is well known in both Florida and Virginia amateur circles for his ability to get distance in his drives and accuracy in his putts.

Initiate: Robert W. Root, '42, Washington, D. C.

Honorary Societies: Jack H. Ward, KΦK; Price Wiswell, '41, Washington Literary, and Robert T. Mooney, '42, TKI.

Mu Drops Close Contest

By Walter W. Wise, Mu

PRESBYTERIAN—In a hot and bitterly fought contest, Mu chapter lost the fraternity basketball championship to the Pi Kappa Phi's. This close competition resulted from a wager that the loser must give a social to the winner.

The B team left four strong teams lying by the roadside. It has a marvelous airtight defense, allowed only 15 points to be scored upon it in four games.

Our A team won second place in the university last year, and should do even better this year as it has wept all opposition before it like a tornado, having scored 228 points against the opponents' 96. Purvis, Case, and Hails are the spark-plugs of the team, having scored 190 of the 228 points.

Several other social events went on at the various fraternities between and after the big dances, but the IKA's breakfast after the last dance, Saturday night, was one of the main functions. After the breakfast everyone assembled in our large living room and sang all our fraternity college songs. It was a grand climax of the week-end and is always one of the finest fellowship gatherings on the campus.

Kappa Star on All-State

By Jack Watts, Kappa

TRANSYLVANIA—George Stopp, Kappa sophomore from Chicago and varsity center of the Pioneer quintet, was selected as all-K.I.A.C. center following the tournament held in Richmond. Stopp was in the game against Kentucky Wesleyan for little more than a half, but in that time he rolled up enough points to be high-point man and one of the most talked of players at the tournament. In the following games he lived up to the standard he set in the first game. Also prominent on the Transy team were Peyton Horton, Kappa sophomore from Paris, Kv., and Harold Murphy, Kappa senior from Cincinnati, Ohio.

Transylvania men and coeds turned out for the Sadie Hawkins' Day party clad in rustic garb, but the most rustic costume of them all hung on the brawny shoulders of Harold Murphy, Kappa senior, who stomped off with first prize for the best Li'l Abner impersonation. The party was sponsored by the Transylvania Day Committee, of which Kappa senior, Wayne Braden, was chairman. The party was given to raise funds for the Transylvania Day program which was given May 13. Under the able guidance of Braden the party netted a $70 profit.

Ed Ruto Cops Mat Crown

By Bob Haverfield, Alpha-Nu

MISSOURI—Gene Miles, Flake McHaney, Herbert Gregg, and Bill Spenser are all candidates for the freshman baseball team.

Pledge Scammon recently won his numerals and sweater in track. Scammon runs the 60-yard-dash. The IKA intramural softball team is listed as the most likely prospect for the intramural championship in this sport.

Ed Ruto fought his way to the semi-finals in intramural boxing tournament late in March. Ruto fights in the 120-pound class. Earlier in the year, Ruto captured the lightweight crown in intramural wrestling.

Alpha-Nu's annual spring formal was held April 21 at the chapter house. A Kansas City band was imported for the occasion. The decorations were very cleverly worked out by social chairman Bill Dalton and Howard Burnside. A small waterfall at the fireplace ran across the entire living room and disappeared out the side entrance. Clever indirect lighting was used.

Alpha-Nu is off to a fine start in its summer rush campaign this year. The actives and pledges have started to concentrate on boys who will be coming to Missouri next year, and have met with amazing success. Four members were entered in the race for student offices. Billy Oliver was unopposed for the business manager of the student newspaper. Vernon Easley, secretary of the student government, is a candidate for vice president, while John and Vernon Beard are running for president and treasurer of the student association, respectively.

Holds Fais Do-Do Party

By Jack Q. Sloan, Eta

TULANE—Eta chapter held its annual Fais Do-Do May 6, at the historic Embassy club. The IKA's and their ladies were dressed in every type of costume available. IKA's Fais Do-Do is a tradition here at Tulane. Noted for its informal, unique atmosphere, the Fais Do-Do is hailed on the campus as being the best costume dance of the year. The term, stolen from the original Creole celebration held in the Teche country of Louisiana, means go-to-bed, and is so termed because Creole mothers came from miles around on Saturday night to a neighbor's house to celebrate, bringing their children with them. They put the children to bed, and revelry proceeded from dusk to dawn. At the IKA Fais Do-Do a negro orchestra supplied the music in typical fashion.

Eta's softball team has victories over Sigma Alpha Mu and Delta Sigma Phi. Interest in softball has increased considerably since Eta and Alpha-Gamma at L.S.U. have jointly purchased a 30-inch cup to be awarded the victor of a game between the two chapters at a joint picnic to be held late this year.

Bob Parker received the highest honor possible in the Naval R.O.T.C. when he was appointed Commandant. Parker, with Pledges Hayden Lanois and Wirth Davis are members of the R.O.T.C. rifle team.

Woody Logan was one of the three men recently selected for membership in Gar-goyle society, national architectural honorary. Logan is also president of the Tulane glee club, and vice-president of the junior class of the college of engineering.

Anderson Talks to Chapter

By George Muller, Alpha-Gamma

LOUISIANA STATE—Fred A. Anderson, Jr., of Gloster, Miss., paid Alpha-Gamma a visit on April 24. He met with the combined pledge and active groups and discussed vital chapter policies and plans. He spoke about the expansion movement and the building up of the chapter.

Alpha-Gamma and Eta, together with alumni from Baton Rouge and New Orleans, held a joint picnic and observance of Mother's Day in Covington, La., on May 14. This was the first joint meeting of the two chapters. In addition to the commemoration of Mother's Day, the party was for rushing. Feature of the outing was a ball game between the two chapters for possession of a new trophy. This trophy stands 19 inches high. It is topped with a baseball batter standing atop a ball on which is engraved IKA.

Should this outing prove successful, the two chapters will install a year round system of competition in various other sports such as football, tennis, basketball, and swimming.

Alpha-Gamma is undertaking a drive to recover many of the records of the chapter that have been misplaced and subsequently forgotten during our 29 year existence.

Working together with the Eta chapter, Tulane, a plan is under way to contact every alumni in the state to acquire information about them.

We are endeavoring to do this in order to make Louisiana the leading IKA state of the nation. This will also enable Alpha-Gamma to include all alumni in Louisiana on the mailing list of the chapter publication, The Stamma. Under the proposed plan, Eta has consented to work New Orleans, and Alpha-Gamma will cover the rest of the state.

Actives and pledges, and their dates, staged a combination picnic and party on the Amite River April 22.

The early evening entertainment included a ball game in the sand. An informal dance was held at the house upon the return of the party-goers.

The international professional commerce fraternity, Delta Sigma Pi, has extended bids to four IKA's. They are: Edward Bundy, Thompsonville, Ill.; Walter Dorrah, New Orleans; George Muller, New York City; and Jack Rutledge, Laurel, Miss.

MISSISSIPPI—IKA prestige on the campus soared upward when Charles Traylor, '41, Biloxi, was elected business manager of the Ole Miss, student yearbook. Sim King, '39, Pelahatchie, is the retiring business manager of Ole Miss.

Following a policy formulated by the Gamma-Iota social chairman, actives and pledges of the chapter are hosts every other Thursday evening to one of the campus sororities. All IKA's make dates with members of only one sorority and bring them to the chapter house on fraternity row for an evening of dancing. Entertained thus far have been the Phi Mu's and Delta Gamma's, with Chi Omega next in line. This policy has been exceedingly successful.

Pledge officers for second semester: C. Rand Jones, '42, Pass Christian, president; Joe Haney, '42, Gulfport, vice-president; and C. A. Walker, '41, Gulfport, secretary.

Chapter Fund Needs Aid

By Lawrence Painter, Alpha-Iota

MILLSAPS—Alpha-Iota will have a new chapter house at the beginning of school next year if $1500 can be raised by July 1.

Chapter officers and alumni leaders are confident that the necessary amount can be obtained in time to let the contract for the planned house.

The house, to be located on college property, will provide for 16 boys and will be semi-colonial in style. It will be a two-story structure.

An active campaign is already under way to raise the lacking funds. The actives all pledged various amounts and a number of alumni contributions have been sent in or pledged since the campaign started.

Balance of the amount needed to let the building contract for the $10,000 house will come from the house building fund and a loan from the college.

Because of outside work, Godbold was unable to make the trip to Farmville, Va., pa Delta national tourney. However, Clark remained on the team and won the where the Majors competed in the Pi Kapp-southeastern problem solving contest.

In the world of sports the IKA's also have been close to the front. Charles Wright, served as captain of the Major tennis squad. Pledge Jesse Lee Carpenter was a member of the varsity squad.

Gamma-U's Cop Crowns

By Harry Heath, Gamma-Upsilon

TULSA—I I K A came through in its usual fashion in intramural basketball this year. In the collegiate league, Gamma-Upsilon took first, while in the organization league, which excludes varsity athletes and unrecognized campus organizations, I I K A finished second.

An all-star team was selected by the Tulsa Collegian, from the organization league, and Harry Heath was named as guard.

The Mothers' auxiliary gave a book review March 9 in another of their many efforts to raise money for the new chapter house soon to be constructed on the campus.

A picnic was enjoyed at Lost City by Pi Kaps March 19. The picnic was given by the members for the pledges as a result of a chapter contest. The contest was to determine whether members or pledges could sell the most tickets to a benefit movie sponsored by Gamma-Upsilon. The pledge class won.

Three Pi Kaps who have brought fame to the fraternity in intercollegiate athletics are Baskett Mosse, Harry Lamprich, and Bob Patterson. Patterson is the No. 1 junior singles player in M. V. A. A. U. tennis circles. He was named on the second team of All-Missouri Valley Conference all-stars by league coaches, while the Des Moines Register-Tribune placed him on the first all-star lineup. Lamprich placed as honorable mention on the team. Mosse finished first in the Missouri Valley Conference swimming meet in the backstroke. He also swam on a first-place relay team.

Alumnus Oras A. Shaw's farm provided an ideal setting for a fine barn dance for Gamma-Upsilon April 1. Several alumni members as well as the active chapter were on hand.

Hold Novel Texas Dances

By George Irwin, Beta-Mu

TEXAS—Beta-Mu gave several successful dances this spring. Among the parties and costume dances given were a Valentine Day dance, a St. Patrick's Day dance and Beta-Mu's annual frontier dance. A I I K A innovation in the way of a costume dance was the Sport Hop. This dance really made a hit with the women, who liked the idea of wearing sport slacks and sweaters for a change instead of evening gowns.

Beta-Mu won both the fraternity and intramural basketball championships. The team won eight consecutive victories. Jack Meadows, intramural manager, captained the victorious team. E. D. Rogers and Bill Forney made the all-intramural five.

Twelve IKA's were placed on the various honor rolls of the university. They were: Sheffy Mahan, G. A. Pringle, Jr., James Windham, and George Irwin, arts and sciences; Dudley Gowland and E. T. Summers, business administration, and Murray Voss, Earl Van Painter, Frank Cage, W. H. Tonn, John B. Pope, and Robert Jackson, engineering. Jackson was also elected to Phi Eta Sigma.

Initiates: Raymond McNutt, Schuyler Marshall, and Robert Jackson, El Paso;

John B. Pope, III, Austin; Jack Boren, Demitt, and James Crouch, Dallas.

John Roberts was elected chairman of the judiciary council in the spring election. He had previously served one year on the students' assembly and one year on the judiciary council.

Lloyd Barbee was elected vice president of the San Antonio club.

Lonnie Hill and Boyce Gatewood, IKA trackmen, have been trying to outdo each other in breaking Southwest conference meet records. Hill is captain of the freshman track team and Gatewood is the varsity's star hurdler. Victor Sohle is a pitcher and Bill Forney is a catcher on the varsity baseball team. Edwin Bayer, IKA's 126-pound wrestler, was not eliminated until the finals on Fite Nite in his weight in intramural wrestling.

On March 24, the entire Beta-Mu chapter, with Executive Secretary R. M. McFarland, Jr., and a number of alumni, honored Dr. George Summey, IKA's oldest living initiate, with a banquet at the chapter house.

Douglas Arnold was recently elected president and Bobbv Hammack was elected vice president of the Beta-Mu pledge class. A new Beta-Mu pledge is Stewart Boney from Iola.

DISTRICT No. 15. President: E. C. Locklear, Beta-Kappa, Prescott, Ariz.

Gamma-Delta Men Honored

By George Barley, Gamma-Delta

ARIZONA—Gamma-Delta has six members of national honorary fraternities. Porter Murry, Douglas Clark, and Lewis Bell are members of Phi Delta Phi, national law fraternity; Jerry Caldwell is a member of Theta Tau, national engineers fraternity; Bill Kistler is a member of Alpha Kappa Psi, national commerce fraternity; Boyd Branson is a member of the Scabbard and Blade. Other outstanding members are Tom Hargis and Herb Gartin, who received letters in football for the year. Bill Craig is vice-president of the sophomore class.

Gamma-Delta sponsored a Frontier Dance, and the annual house dance, held in November. Both affairs were very successful.

Formal Tops Social Set

By Jack Phillips, Gamma-Gamma

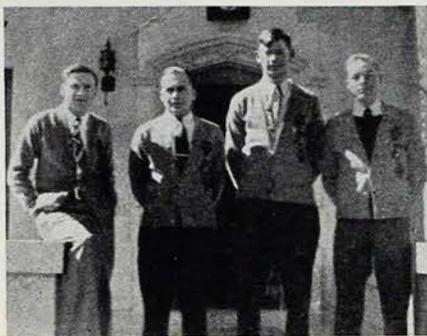

DENVER—The annual spring formal of Gamma-Gamma was held at Cherry Hills Country Club, May 27. The event, always one of the most successful of the year in Greek circles at the university, gained the support of many alumni as well as that of the active chapter.

One of the most unusual social events of the past few months was a sports dance held April 14. Each Pi Kap and his date came dressed in a manner typical of some sport. The idea was especially applicable due to the large number of athletes in Gamma-Gamma chapter.

Intramural basketball proved something of a disappointment for IKA this year. After sweeping a clean path to the finals, the Pi Kaps were nosed out by two points in the championship game.

Five men are actively engaged in varsity sports at this time: Martin Morgan, Mike Jurich, John Phillips and Fred Schaefer, all trackmen; and Bob Kershner, tennis.

Clarence Ogden, graduate electrical engineer, contributed considerable time and effort in constructing a large, electrically-lighted crest for the front of the chapter house. During the latter part of March, the interior of the house was redecorated, and modern indirect lighting facilities were installed. Practically all the work was done by the active members.

IKA is honored by the membership of four men in Phi Epsilon Phi, exclusive men's pep organization on the campus. They are Douglas Duncan, Bob Kershner, John Phillips, and Troy Miller. Duncan, SMC, is further honored by being an officer in the organization.

Initiates: Norman Knight, '40, and Jimmy Hellon, '42.

New wearers of the pledge button are: Dick Willars, '42, and Fred Beuck, '42.

Boast Fine Landscaping

By Walt Prockter, Beta-Upsilon

COLORADO—Beta Upsilon prides itself on having the finest landscape of any fraternity on the campus. In order that this reputation may be upheld, the universally disliked dandelion club was initiated with the first appearance of those pests. Everyone including those not living in the house must be up by 6 A. M. and in his working clothes. The penalty for sleeping too long is a ducking in the fish pond—a thing not very pleasant because its constructors failed to install hot water plumbing. The first morning brothers Herzeberger, Henshaw, Lovering, and pledge Conover were unfortunate in incurring the disciplinary measures.

Officers: Stanley Dodson, SMC; Jack Condon, IMC; and J. P. Collier, ThC. Other officers appointed were: Robert Grum, SC; Wayne Smith, MS; and Harold Panches, MC. James Garrett was appointed social chairman.

Jim Cowden is first string catcher on the varsity nine and has big years ahead. Lloyd Dunbar starred on the track team this Spring, while J. P. Collier, bantam weight wrestler, tossed enough opponents to collect his varsity letter. Joe Watson and Walt Proctor are strong men on the varsity golf team.

Our serenades under the leadership of Stan Dodson have been second to none on the campus. Practice for the annual University songfest is now in progress.

A new rushing plan was carried on during Spring vacation in which two-men teams made tours of various sections of the state. The names of the graduating seniors in the high schools were obtained, and they were contacted personally.

Several men recently pledged into honoraries were: Jim Hertzberger, Jim Cowden, Bob Bohman, Joe Hobbs, and Wayne Smith.

rington, Harold H. Howells, Lee Jay Glen, and Glen Craig. Hamilton senior, a founder of Alpha-Tau, was present to witness his son's initiation and was the principal speaker at a banquet following.

Swamping their Sigma Chi rivals in the final student body elections, Richard P. Ensign and D. James Cannon were elected second vice-president and treasurer respectively, and Hal R. Harmon was elected secretary and treasurer of the associated men students. Earlier in the year, Harmon, who managed the 1939 convention of the Rocky Mountain Intercollegiate Press Association, was elected as its president.

Robert L. McKay was elected the head of Utah's Scalper chapter of Intercollegiate Knights for next year at the May 1 meeting. Marshall Brinton was elected president of a local religious fraternity this spring also. Among lesser student body offices, Alpha-Tau placed several important councilmen and committee chairman.

Greatest triumph of the year was the appointment of three out of seven members of Beehive Club, most exclusive society for outstanding seniors in activity and scholarship. Those selected were Herbert L. Price, student body president, Loftis Sheffield, president of Owl and Key, and Stuart Jardine, president of the associated men students.

Dee Parkinson, recently returned missionary, was elected SMC of Alpha-Tau for the second time, having been elected once before his departure. Other officers are: D. James Cannon, IMC; Ray Johnson, reelected Th C; James Hewes, MS; Grant Mann, SC.

New pledges: Hyrum Smith, Bruce Hillam, Joe Hewes, Cyril Callister, Val Scoville.

A Dream Girl of IKA was elected before the annual spring formal, held May 19 at the Hotel Utah.

A mother's banquet and a father's banquet were held for May 19 and 26 respectively.

Stand First In Scholarship Gamma-Epsilon

UTAH STATE—IKA led the campus scholastically for the fall term according to a letter from the dean of men.

IKA rose to second place in the final stretch of the intramural race when the water-polo team captured first place in the fraternity league. The suicide squad, led by Warren O'Gara, had only one point scored against it in the entire watery tournament.

IKA had previously copped first places in the swimming meet and the volley ball tournament.

Duane Hillam, junior engineering student, was elected to the student executive council recently. He was a member of the junior prom committee at the time of his election.

its history. Professor Ben Edwards, musical faculty member and the man responsible for Gamma-Eta's winning of the interfraternity sing trophy, was the honored initiate.

At the conclusion of the initiation the chapter adjourned to the Rainbow Isle of the Mayfair Hotel for an alumni-active banquet. Mickey Rooney and party were the guests of the chapter, at the initiation dance, and the popular M-G-M star provided plenty of entertainment for the dancers. Mickey took over the drums in the orchestra and a jam session was held on the spot.

The chapter enjoyed two novel activities planned by Ronnie Briggs. The first of the activities was an all-day outdoor calendar of games and sports. It was held at Whiting's Woods, a ranch close to Los Angeles. The main feature of the day was a softball game between the fresh-

IKA Song Contest Closes

◆ A NATIONAL contest for new songs of IKA, preparatory to publication of a new Fraternity songbook, closed June 1.

Prizes offered by the Supreme Council for the best entries submitted were: First, $50; second, $25; third, $15. Entries were to be sent to the General Office at Atlanta.

It is planned to have the new songbook ready for delivery by Sept. 1, in time for opening of the coming college year.

A committee to judge the songs submitted is headed by R. Dale Vliet, BO, Oklahoma City lawyer, who has had a broad experience as a singer, plus knowledge of the piano. Prior to the date set for the close of the contest entries were not forwarded to the committee, which, accordingly, has not discussed plans.

"I am interested in getting for the consideration of the committee completely new songs," Vliet told THE SHIELD AND DIAMOND; "that is, new tunes as well as new words. That type of entry would get most consideration from me, for I have some aversion to parodies. What the opinion of the committee will be I cannot say."

Notices of the contest were sent to the various chapters by the General Office for posting on bulletin boards.

Members of the committee of judges, besides Vliet, are: Joseph Bentonelli, BO, opera and concert tenor; Jimmie Joy (Maloney), BM, orchestra leader; Glenn Lee, AT, orchestra leader; Mark S. Love, AX, widely known basso with the Chicago Opera Company and radio station WGN, and Harry J. Pomar, BK, an accomplished musician handling merchandising and continuity for radio station WATL, Atlanta.

Chairman Vliet, who is with the law firm of Butler, Brown & Rinehart in Ramsey Tower, Oklahoma

City, has specialized, as a musician, in concert and oratorio singing. He has done considerable solo work with Oklahoma City choirs and concert work throughout Oklahoma. For three years he was baritone soloist with the Westminster a Cappella Choir, appearing in Kansas and Missouri.

While a student of voice at the noted Juillard Institute of Music, New York City, he was guest recitalist at the Riverside Church. Since then he has been guest baritone at two festivals at the Panhandle Agricultural and Mechanical College, Goodwell, Okla., and has appeared in Oklahoma City recitals. He has sung for radio stations at Oklahoma City and Norman, Okla., and Lawrence, Kan.

Besides going to Juillard, he has studied voice at Oklahoma City University's school of fine arts and the University of Kansas school of fine arts.

● Balfour Superiority is neither a hope nor a myth. It is the practical result of placing materials of the finest quality in the hands of expert craftsmen.

In this first editorial of a series to acquaint you with the quality of Balfour-made insignia, we discuss the PEARL.

Only the finest quality of pearls meets the rigid Balfour standard. Our pearls are genuine, Oriental pearls imported from Bombay—selected only on the most exacting inspection as to perfect roundness, white color, and orient (iridescence).

BALFOUR PEARLS permit perfect setting—pearls are in perfect alinement on a high level to show full roundness and beauty of the stone. Inferior badges show excess gold around the stone, irregular setting and stones jammed deep in setting.

Nearly a million perfect pearls are set in Balfour badges each year, thereby establishing a preference that permits us FIRST choice in the market. Balfour pearls can never be confused with oval-shaped seconds or cultured pearls.
