Pi Kappa Alpha is indeed proud of its first National Dream Girl, Miss Bobbie Pettit, Kappa Alpha Theta, student at Florida State University. She was the sweetheart of all the Delta-Lambda boys, but now she's the sweetheart of the entire Fraternity.

There is a limited supply of the Decca recording of "The Dream Girl of Pi K. A." by Bing Crosby and Frances Langford in the National Office. Orders are still being accepted at $1.00 per record, post-age paid.

Chaplain's Corner

*An open letter from National Chaplain
 U. S. Gordon*

Gainesville, Florida
 November, 1950

Dear Pikes:

Several million dollars have recently been invested locally in erecting the great athletic building and enlarging the stadium adjacent to it—this is the story on every college campus. Like the ancient Greeks, interest and participation in all branches of manly sports enlists the attention of the American college and its students. We eagerly scan the sports page for the football score—we have by heart the names and records, "Backs and ends" and their teammates across the land. College spirit and school loyalty to no small degree is fostered and developed in the games we watch from the bleachers. Thus one has a sense of belonging to something bigger than himself.

However, a relatively small number play on the first team; intramural sports take in the great host of those who make up the rank and file. Some of you, a great majority of you, will get no end of fun and satisfaction here. Beside the immediate benefit to one's health and physical well being from strenuous exercise, every game brings out qualities of good humor, self-discipline, elimination of self for the good of all, to say nothing of playing the game according to the rules. Life itself is like that. As there would be no fun or freedom in playing a game of golf or tennis or softball without the rules, even so the great Creator has appointed Ten great rules for our happiness and well being as we play the game of life. We cannot bend these rules to suit our whim or fancy any more than we can the rules of tennis or golf. Nor do we really break the rules when we cheat—we break ourselves on them. Let every Pike see to it that he takes part in the games! Let every chapter take pride in the fact that its members are playing the game of life according to the rules.

Your Chaplain,
 "PREACHER"
 U. S. Gordon.

POWELL B. McHANEY

National President McHaney Product of a Pi Kappa Alpha Family

◆ POWELL B. McHANEY, executive vice president of General American Life Insurance Company, St. Louis, Mo., was elected National President of Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity at its National Convention in Cincinnati, September 1, 1950. He was elevated to the presidency after having served capably as Alumni Secretary. Brother McHaney followed in the footsteps of his older brother, Hal, who preceded him as SMC of Alpha-Nu Chapter at the University of Missouri. The accompanying vital statistics clearly portray the professional and fraternity leadership of Brother McHaney. He is a worthy successor to the fine National Presidents who preceded him. He is executive vice president of the General American Life Insurance Company, which has assets of more than $177,000,000. During his term as National Alumni Secretary of Pi Kappa Alpha, he prepared and printed a program for the promotion and development of alumni relations by active chapters which has become a standard reference manual for undergraduate officers.

We feel his election to the presidency is properly an honor to one of Pi Kappa Alpha's foremost families. In fact, any one of the McHaney's is apparently qualified to fill the office. Quite properly then, let's talk about the McHaney family.

The five boys were all born in Dunklin County, Missouri, sons of James F. and Eva Ann Moore McHaney. Their maternal grandfather was the first resident of Kennett, Mo., in 1821.

Hal McHaney is 52 years of age. He received a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Missouri in 1919; he was initiated in Alpha-Nu Chapter in 1915 and was the first IKA from Dunklin County. Since that time this rural county of Missouri has furnished more than fifty members to Alpha-Nu Chapter. Hal at one time was SMC of Alpha-Nu Chapter. He attended the University of Virginia beginning in the fall of 1919 and was graduated from that institution with a Bachelor of Laws degree in 1922. He returned to Kennett, Mo., where he has practiced law ever since. In addition to having a good law practice, he owns sizable holdings in farm real estate and has been active in civic affairs, such as the Board of Education and the Chamber of Commerce. He has served on the Board of Governors of the Missouri Bar Association and is at present a member of its Executive Committee.

In 1934 Alpha-Nu's new home which had been erected in 1927 and 1928 was about to be foreclosed and Hal, upon learning of this fact, went to Columbia and spent a full week there, at which time he worked out a settlement with the bondholders reducing the indebtedness of the chapter more than fifty per cent (reducing the indebtedness from more than $40,000 to less than $20,000) and placing the financial condition of the housing corporation on a very sound basis.

Hal married Miss Beulah Hardin of Osceola, Ark., soon after his law school days. They have no children.

John W. McHaney is fifty-one years of age. After finishing public schools in Dunklin County, he attended Missouri University and was graduated with a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1921. From there he went to Rush Medical College, University of Chicago, from which school he was graduated in 1925. He was a member of Alpha-Nu Chapter while at the University of Missouri, having been initiated in 1918. Dr. McHaney practiced medicine for a short time in St. Louis and then went to Jefferson City where he has developed a fine medical practice.

Dr. McHaney married Ruth Chambers of Bethany, Mo., and they have a daughter, Ruth Amanda McHaney, age 15, and a son, James F. McHaney, age 21, who is now a student at the University of Missouri and a pledge to Alpha-Nu Chapter of IKA.

Flake L. McHaney is thirty years of age. After graduating from the public schools of Dunklin County, he entered the University of Missouri in 1938, and was graduated from that institution with a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1942. He was a member of Alpha-Nu and served as SMC. During his Missouri University days he was elected to Q.E.B.H., the highest honorary society at the University, composed of its ten most outstanding students. After graduation he entered Harvard University Law School, from which school he received his Bachelor of Laws degree in 1948. In 1948 he became associated with his brother, Hal McHaney, in the practice of law at Kennett, Mo. He has been active in Democratic political circles. He is not married.

IKA's First Family—Mr. and Mrs. Powell B. McHaney, Powell, Jr., Martha Moore, and Ida Ann.

In addition to the foregoing, there is a younger brother, Robert H. McHaney, age 18, who is now at the University of Missouri and was pledged to Alpha-Nu Chapter this fall.

In addition to being born into a IKA family, Powell "married into" one also. His lovely wife, Ida Ann, is the daughter of the late Justice Albert C. Clark of the Supreme Court of the State of Missouri. Justice Clark was a member of Sigma Chapter (Vanderbilt) and was honored by the Fraternity as a Golden Member last year. He joined the Chapter Eternal only a few months ago.

Powell met Ida Ann while serving as Assistant Attorney General of the State of Missouri. They married in 1933. Their oldest daughter, Ida Ann, is a senior at John Burroughs High School and probably will attend the University of Missouri. Martha Moore, age 12, is a student at Glen Ridge Public School. Pi Kappa Alpha has already attached a pledge pin to Powell, Jr., age 4, and a room has been reserved for him at the Alpha-Nu Chapter house for 1963!

Gamma-Chi Establishes Freeburg Scholarship

By LARRY C. OSIUS

◆ IN MEMORY of one of its most outstanding members, Gamma-Chi Chapter is establishing the Bernard Freeburg Scholarship Award, to be presented to the active member with the highest scholastic record for each semester.

Freeburg died in November of 1949 in a tragic campus accident. He was participating in some friendly horseplay with a close friend at his rooming house, when his friend threw what he thought to be a jar of water at Freeburg. Instead, the jar was full of turpentine, and the turpentine-soaked clothes instantly caught fire from a nearby gas stove. Freeburg was badly burned and died the following day.

A student in architecture, Freeburg had attended Baylor University before coming to Oklahoma A. & M. College for two years. He participated in a foreign student exchange, attending the Delft Institute of Technology in Holland, returning in 1949. He was one of the finest students in the school. Freeburg was a member of Sigma Tau and Beaux Arts engineering and architecture fraternities, and Alpha Sigma Eta, national service fraternity.

The planned scholarship trophy will have an inscription in memory of Freeburg, and the name of the winning member will be engraved on the trophy. The trophy will remain in the chapter house, and a key awarded the member in lieu of it.

Freeburg made his home in Lordsburg, N. M., where his father is superintendent of municipal schools.

New Supreme Council Assumed Office September 1, 1950

◆ POWELL B. MCHANEY, Executive Vice President of General American Life Insurance Company, St. Louis, Mo., was elected President of the Fraternity. Brother McHaney was appointed to fill out the unexpired term of Coach Lynn Waldorf and was elected to a full term as Alumni Secretary at the 1948 Convention. His elevation to the presidency is a recognition of his outstanding abilities and service to the Fraternity.

L. A. McCall, Jr., of Florence, S. C., businessman, farmer, and youth leader, was re-elected Vice President. No National Officer is more beloved throughout the entire country than Brother McCall.

National Secretary Harvey T. Newell, Jr., was elected in recognition of his years of work for and leadership in Pi Kappa Alpha. Since the days of his initiation, he has been a Fraternity stalwart. As District President for many years and as National Pledge Training Director, he has contributed greatly to the advancement of the Fraternity.

Brother Newell served as SMC of Alpha-Iota Chapter at Millsaps where he was a member of O.D.K., honorary leadership fraternity. He later was elected president of the Millsaps Alumni Association. During World War II he was field director for Mississippi in Military Welfare Service of the American Red Cross. He now is vice president of the Jackson Paper Company and manager of the Newell Paper Company in Meridian, Miss., where he also serves as director of the First National Bank. He is a member of the board of directors of the Civic Music Association, Meridian Chamber of Commerce, and Meridian Research Council. Brother Newell has recently been elected to Newcomen Society of England and is a steward in the Methodist Church.

Earl W. Wagner, AΣ (Cincinnati), was elected Alumni Secretary. Earl is an insurance executive in Cincinnati and has long served Pi Kappa Alpha generally and Alpha-Xi Chapter especially. He was SMC of the chapter and was delegate to the 1913 Convention in Lexington, Ky. For 38 years, ever since his initiation in 1912, he has been a member of the Southland Hall Association, which is the Alpha-Xi House Corporation. He served as president of the corporation for 15 years and recently spearheaded a campaign for funds which enabled the chapter to purchase its present beautiful and spacious home.

Brother Wagner is president of the William Klappert Insurance Agency, established in 1872. It writes fire, casualty bond and marine insurance throughout the United States and has foreign operations extending into Canada, England, France, Cuba, Mexico, and the Philippine Islands. He is a director of several companies.

He is an outstanding civic and church leader, serving on the Community Chest, the Red Cross, the Board of Church Extension and as a trustee of the Seventh Presbyterian Church of Cincinnati.

Earl and his lovely wife reside at 3588 Mooney Avenue, Hyde Park, Cincinnati. They have a country home near Cincinnati and winter residence in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Unanimously re-elected was National Counsel John F. E. Hippel, an outstanding Philadelphia attorney. The Fraternity has grown very dependent upon the fine legal services rendered so cheerfully by John Hippel.

The National Office Staff now consists of Executive Secretary Robert D. Lynn, Office Manager Pat Clendinning, Field Secretaries John R. Horton, David Abernethy and Richard Shultz.

A meeting of the Supreme Council and members of the National Office staff.

APPOINTMENT OF New District Presidents

◆ AFTER consideration of the District Caucuses during the 1950 National Convention the Supreme Council is pleased to announce the appointment of several new District Presidents.

Due to the size and number of chapters in District 3 (Ohio) and 14 (Mississippi, West Tennessee, East Arkansas), the Supreme Council has divided these two Districts. District 24 (Montana-East Washington) was dissolved by assigning Montana State to District No. 22 (Utah) and Washington State to District 25 (Washington and Oregon) and renumbering it District 24.

Dr. Zaugg is now president of District 3b with Northern Ohio as his territory. It includes student chapters at Western Reserve and Bowling Green State University as well as alumni activities at Cleveland and Toledo.

LEON TUCKER

Dr. Zaugg has degrees from Valparaiso, Indiana, Columbia and New York universities, and is now director of the School of Education at Bowling Green State University. He is a member of many educational and civic bodies. In 1945-46 he was governor of the 227th District of Rotary International. He is a state director for the Ohio State Society for Crippled Children, and is in demand as a lecturer. He is an outstanding Methodist Church leader.

An initiate of Delta-Beta Chapter he has served the Fraternity well as its Alumnus Counselor since its installation in 1942. In large part due to his leadership, Delta-Beta Chapter received the trophy as the outstanding all-around chapter in the Fraternity for 1949-50.

The outstanding 1950 Leadership School for chapter officers was directed by Dr. Zaugg.

Dr. and Mrs. Zaugg have a son, Phillip, who is also a member of Delta-Beta Chapter, and a daughter, Margaret. Both are in the teaching profession.

Everett Escott

The new District President for North Carolina (No. 6) is Everett Escott whose father also served as a District President. Everett graduated from Beta Chapter at Davidson College in 1934. He is a member of the Covenant Presbyterian Church, Charlotte Board of Realtors, and is sales manager of Marsh Realty Company.

Brother Escott was made a District President while residing in Atlanta, Ga., but it was necessary for him to resign when he moved from the District. We are pleased that he can return to this office with his enthusiasm and talents. Everett and his wife have two young daughters.

Joseph Creel

The new Florida District President (No. 9) was born in Guntersville, Ala., in 1912. After receiving his law degree from the University of Alabama, he practiced in Alabama for several years and then moved to Miami, Fla., in 1944. He is now a member of the firm of Taylor, Burr and Creel, 1118 duPont Building, Miami, and is a director of the Dade County Bar Association.

He was an outstanding leader on the campus and in Gamma-Alpha Chapter. Holding membership in numerous organizations including Phi Beta Kappa, he was SMC of Gamma-Alpha, 1931-32.

He and his wife, Nellie Jo Morton, have two children, Sallie Ruth, 12, and Jo Morton, 10.

Dr. W. W. Nedrow

District 14a is comprised of Northeast Arkansas and West Tennessee. It includes student chapters at Southwestern at Memphis, Memphis State, and Arkansas State. Dr. Nedrow, the new District President, has graduate degrees from Denver and Nebraska universities. He is

CHARLES L. FREEMAN

From the Mail Bag

September 6, 1950

Dear Robert D. Lynn:

Comes now your erstwhile and flee (Fleawhile?) member, James R. Verdier, and for cause of delinquency avows:

First: That during his cadetship at The Citadel, Charleston, S. C., he was approached by one, Smythe, and invited to join the aforesaid Fraternity and thereupon paid the initiation fee.

Second: Owing to green adolescence and the pressure of intimately essential routine he (Verdier) forthwith and utterly forgot what he had done at the instigation of said Smythe—and his oblivion of this matter, Rip Van Winkle-like, continued broken until:

Third: His nephew, James Clyde Kerr, then student at University of California, having joined the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity and received the membership roster, found, to his flabbergastation, his Uncle's name therein—whereupon, out of sheer ecstasy, broke the equally astounding news to me THAT I AM A MEMBER of this great FRATERNITY. And I think another very pleasing factor (to him) was to find that his judgment in selecting such a Fraternity had been equal to mine, automatically lifting him, by his own bootstraps, to a level with me—eh, what?

When it is further considered that this boomerangic aftermath busted the bubble of my aforesaid OBLIVION, case-hardened by fifty years, you can the better appreciate the force of its explosion—plumb in affiant's face.

After all this commotion had subsided, and the swelling was down, and the recalcitrant had shrunk back into his normal shell, he gets another pleasant conk on the head:

Fourth: Comes a letter announcing that affiant would receive a GOLDEN MEMBERSHIP CERTIFICATE attesting to his fifty years of membership. And now, last and

Fifth: Let me express to you my profound appreciation for the most unique and most surprising gesture that has ever come to me out of the past—a gesture of loyalty and confidence, for I hold before me, as I write, the promised CERTIFICATE, "As a member of The GOLDEN CHAPTER of our Fraternity," inscribed to James Robert Verdier.

Now I know, as I never knew before, WHAT IT DOES MEAN to be a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity. To you, Mr. Lynn, as likewise to the five signatories to this valued Certificate, I offer my thanks for the trust so clearly implied in your magnanimous gesture.

When it is framed, there is a story to be told to all who behold, and the point of it is this: ONCE A MEMBER ALWAYS A MEMBER of a Fraternity whose slogan is IT IS MORE BLESSED TO GIVE THAN TO RECEIVE. For in all those fifty years I was never once dunned for dues, and though forgetting, I was never forgotten—that is true fraternity.

JAMES R. VERDIER, A

Dear Friends:

I went home from Cincinnati sick but not from over-trouble but over-delights. I wish to thank every one of you, the Sisters included, who contributed so handsomely to my entertainment and especially those of you who took part in the generous provision for it and for my expenses. The Cincinnati meeting was a grand success, which was due largely to your efficiency and spirit. At my age another meeting may be beyond my date of life; if not, nothing could give me more pleasure than the anticipation of another Mackinac Island, Salt Lake City, or Cincinnati.

I have come home for hard work and semi-indisposition, but my heart and mind are full of joy and gratitude for all your kindness to me.

As always,

Most fraternally yours,
GEORGE SUMMEY, B, 1868

I have a grateful appreciation of your kind letter of invitation for me to be present at the 82nd Anniversary Convention of Pi Kappa Alpha. . . . I regret to say that I will not be able to come. It would be a great pleasure, I assure you, for me to be present, and I feel a strong urge for me to go. This urge had been prompted by my deep interest in the welfare of Pi Kappa Alpha, especially by the gracious letters that I have received from you. . . . Permit me to thank you most heartily, and may I request you to extend my cordial greetings and best wishes to those who attend the Convention.

DR. JAMES D. HOSKINS
President Emeritus
University of Tennessee

. . . Regardless of what little I did to keep with "things," it is only a small way of showing my appreciation and gratitude to the members and officers of IKA for asking me to join their brotherhood several years ago. As I have said many times before, it has meant so very much to me—this feeling of belonging, and now after the Convention I am more convinced than ever that IKA has a jet-lowship of men hard to equal anywhere.

GEORGE H. ZIMMERMAN, ΔΓ

. . . I want to express my appreciation, first, of the privilege of membership in Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity and, second, the many courtesies, both personal and official, that you extended me when I was at Miami University for the initiation and part of the Leadership School. I was profoundly impressed with the high ideals of Pi Kappa Alpha as set forth in the initiation exercises. I prize very highly my membership, and I am going to try to be a good member. . . .

B. L. PARKINSON, President
Mississippi State College for Women

. . . I think that it was an excellent Convention, and I'm very happy to have had a small part in it. . . . This letter brings to you my sincere wishes that Pi Kappa Alpha will continue to grow and develop in the pattern of the past.

T. J. WOOD, Vice President
Proctor & Gamble Co.

. . . What a wonderful time I did have at Cincinnati! I'm very much impressed with not only the great leadership as shown in the group of national officers and the staff of the office but in the type of young men who make up the backbone of IKA. . . .

GEORGE F. KRUEGER
Professor of Music

Beta-Phi CANDLELIGHT— Best In Nation

By JOSEPH E. QUINTY and PAUL VAN NATTA

◆ BETA-PHI Chapter came up from behind this year to win the Karl B. Pauley trophy for the best chapter publication with their Beta-Phi Candlelight. Second and third places went to Gamma-Omega and Alpha-Kappa chapters, respectively. The award was won last year by Upsilon Chapter's The Plainsman Pike of Auburn University.

Addressing the Leadership School this summer in Oxford, Ohio, Beta-Phi Editor Paul Van Natta revealed the basic policies of the Candlelight—presumably the policies which won the national trophy. He emphasized that chapters have a tendency to forget their alumni readers and direct their writings toward the men in the chapter. Beta-Phi, he stated, tries to remember that four-fifths of its readers are the 450 alumni of the chapter.

Much of the credit for the Candlelight goes to the Beta-Phi Home Association, which pays for the printing of the four-page, slick paper quarterly, and to the Stewart Howe Alumni Service, which collects and edits the page of alumni news and prepares the entire publication for the printer. The Stewart Howe organization, which has offices on many college campuses, and helps many fraternities with their alumni relations problems, has offered much constructive criticism for which Beta-Phi is thankful.

Besides the page-and-more of alumni news notes, changes of address, and oft-printed list of "lost brothers," the Candlelight concentrates on alumni visits to the chapter house (not just Homecoming and Founders' Day, although those are the big ones). Also hit hard are contacts with other chapters and with the national Fraternity. Next in order of importance comes improvements to the chapter house, leadership on campus, and traditional events. Run-of-the-mill social and athletic events, as well as gossip, are often left out completely, since they are of little or no real interest to the alumnus who has been out of school for a few years.

Plenty of pictures are a good selling point—if you are trying to "sell" the reading matter to your alumni. The Beta-Phi Candlelight tries to get pictures of new initiates, pledge classes, alumni at Homecoming and Founders' Day, graduating seniors, new chapter officers, winning intramural teams, Dream Girls, house improvements, and just about anything else that will make a good cut.

The Stewart Howe service offers a two-color Christmas cover each year. This serves as a Christmas greeting to all alumni, chapters, national officers, parents of actives and pledges, and friends of IKA on the Purdue campus who are on the mailing list. It also provides an impressive relief from the usual black-and-white front page.

Some of the other innovations which may have helped win the contest for Beta-Phi are:

1) From the SMC. This is a regular column which gives the chapter president a chance to have a personal word with the alumni on whatever subjects he deems pertinent at the moment. It might include any topic such as rush, a particular house project, moral support for a house drive for better scholarship, activities participation, an invitation to return for Homecoming, or a little back-patting here and there aside from the Candlelight's usual.

2) Graduation. Seniors who have finally made it rate a picture and paragraph in the Candlelight, as recognition of the fact that they have advanced another rung in the Fraternity ladder, as opposed to the popular misconception that they are leaving IKA.

3) Names Plus. Mere names do not mean a thing to the greater majority of the alumni, although it is often hard to get this idea across. However, names may be made to mean something to the alumni by including, with the name, the graduation year and home town of the

Awards of Life

Address of T. J. Wood, AΩ

Vice President in Charge of Sales, Proctor & Gamble Co., Cincinnati, Ohio
Delivered to the 1950 Convention

◆ FOR years we have heard it said that fraternities have no place in college life—that fraternity membership encourages snobbishness, limits academic and social contacts—and that it encourages the belief among members that success and place in life are primarily dependent upon friendships and influence, that those who are not chosen for membership feel that they are the victims of discrimination.

There could be sufficient truth in these assertions to remind one that throughout history man has constantly struggled for an ideal social and economic state. The ultimate has not yet been reached, but agreement to questionable criticism makes us soft and complacent. Disagreement builds our strength and forces us through thought, action and example to justify our chosen position.

Certainly, whatever progress has been made or will be made toward social and economic ideals is influenced greatly by the young men who each year finish college and take up the tools of their chosen life's work. In preparation for the use of these tools, particularly as pertaining to business, it is my opinion that the college fraternity makes a very valuable contribution.

Let me draw a few parallels to emphasize this point. We all know that election to a fraternity is not a haphazard affair. The choice of men to whom invitations are extended is carefully made. So far as the existing members are able to determine, the candidate must have a good character, a promise of scholastic achievement, indications of leadership, a pleasing and congenial personality, and evidence of potential value to the fraternity.

These same qualifications are emphasized to an even greater degree in selecting a man for a job in business. No business concern, if it is to grow and prosper, can neglect these qualifications in selecting its personnel. In fact, some of the outstanding business organizations have instituted at great cost psychological and aptitude tests in order to lessen the hazard of "the square peg in the round hole."

In the fraternity as in business, the selection of the right people is just as important as providing an environment which is conducive to the development of the finer and higher attributes of man. No fraternity reached number one position on any college campus, and no business organization became outstanding in its field except through rigid adherence to these fundamentals.

Some men like to explain their failure to get into a fraternity or to get the opportunity they wanted in business by saying that lack of connections, or lack of influence were responsible. You and I know of many cases where a prospect for the fraternity failed to get a bid even though his family connections or acquaintanceship were very good, the reason being that he lacked the qualifications and aptitude. The same is true of business. Influence, at times, has perhaps been of minor importance in getting a job, but it is of no value in holding a place in the highly competitive business world. With the growth in size of the business unit, business has become more and more impersonal, and influence or connections have less and less weight.

Another similarity in fraternity and business life is that each requires close and constant cooperation among its members. The very life of each depends upon teamwork. By teamwork I mean unison of thought, spirit and action. The real team worker does not expect to have everything his way. He is big enough to see the other fellow's point of view. He reasons that his first duty is to his organization and he knows as his organization grows, he himself must grow. No one person in a business organization—no matter how high his position—can always have his own ideas and policies accepted. All important decisions in business, as in fraternities, are the result of cooperative thinking and discussion.

Concerning the complaint that some of those who are not invited to join a fraternity feel discriminated against—in nearly all cases a man gets into a fraternity because he sells himself to the membership as a person who would make a good fraternity man—one who could be of value to the fraternity, and one with whom the members would like to be associated. It is no different in the business world.

In applying for a job a man must also sell himself. Some applicants are certainly going to be rejected, and only a few of those who are employed are going to achieve notable success. Those who do so will prove that through the process of work—hard work—work which is never finished—work which demands the highest quality of courage and an unwavering faith—that they are always prepared and willing to assume whatever responsibilities may be theirs.

Loyalty to an organization, business or fraternity is essential if the individual is to achieve happiness and satisfaction in his daily life. The privilege of wearing a IKA badge demands this loyalty, and in addition it carries the responsibility to aid and influence your fraternity brothers, to think and act in conformity to the high concepts on which the Frater-

Cincinnati National Convention Outstanding

◆ THE Fraternity held one of its most outstanding National Conventions at the Netherland Plaza Hotel, Cincinnati, Ohio, August 29-September 1, 1950. The Convention itself was preceded by the Leadership School for Chapter Officers and Members held at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio. An adroit mixture of business and pleasure made possible the adoption of several constructive Fraternity programs and the selection of the National Dream Girl. On the final day of the Convention, Powell McHaney of St. Louis was elevated from Alumni Secretary to National President.

The Convention took positive action to assure the realization of plans for the construction of a National Headquarters and Memorial Building adjacent to Southwestern at Memphis, Tenn. The undergraduates increased their initiation fees, earmarking this amount for the Memorial Foundation, and directed the Supreme Council to institute General Alumni Dues of $5.00 with the net income to go into these permanent funds.

A Pi Kappa Alpha Memorial Foundation was chartered as a non-profit corporation in Tennessee in 1948. Due to the specialized use of its funds, contributions to it are deductible for income tax purposes. Members of Pi Kappa Alpha in good standing who donate $25.00 or more to the Foundation become members with all voting privileges.

Delegates from the chapters expressed appreciation for the work of the Field Secretaries and urged the addition of a third Field Secretary. The sincerity of the desire was evidenced by their action to increase fees in order to provide the third Field Secretary for chapter visitation and guidance.

Laws governing the granting of charters to new chapters were tightened by the delegates. A longer probation period is required and the approval of 9/10ths of the chapters before the Supreme Council can grant a new charter.

Increased emphasis on scholarship was evident by the requirement that pledges be dropped if they shall not within two semesters or three quarters make grades sufficient to permit their initiation. The national average of pledge grades averaged considerably lower than those of student members. Raising the scholarship requirement for pledges should increase the over-all average definitely.

The facilities of the Netherland Plaza Hotel were excellent. The general operation of the Convention was most successful, due to the excellent planning of General Chairman Douglas Hoge and his fine staff of committee chairmen and members. The presence of Honorary National Chaplain, George Summey, a Beta initiate in 1869, served as a real inspiration. Uncle Billy Briscoe, of Knoxville, Tenn., one of the first initiates of Pi Chapter, was also present with his charming wife. The Memorial Service to past National President Packer, and all others who have joined the Chapter Eternal since the 1948 Convention was very impressive as was the formal installation of officers.

Challenging messages were brought to the Convention by the Convention bandguard, Vice President and Executive Ediguard, vice president and executive editor of the National Underwriter Company; keynote speaker, Brother Kenneth Tuggle, prominent Kentucky citizen and political leader; Brother T. J. Wood, Vice President in charge of sales of the Proctor & Gamble Company; President Raymond Walters of the University of Cincinnati; and Charles P. Taft, nationally known civic and religious lay leader.

A unanimously and enthusiastically approved resolution expressed appreciation to retiring President Andrew H. Knight for his excellent leadership during the past two years. The last official action of the Convention was the formal installation of the newly elected officers and the turning over of the gavel to new National President Powell B. McHaney.

Parkinson Initiated At National Convention

◆ THE Supreme Council selected Dr. B. L. Parkinson, president of Mississippi State College for Women, Columbus, Miss., as the candidate for the model initiation held during the Leadership School at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio. Dr. Parkinson is an outstanding national citizen and educational leader. His cordial relationship to Gamma-Theta Chapter at Mississippi State College for many years was a factor in his selection. As an alumnus of the University of South Carolina, he becomes a member of Xi Chapter but Gamma-Theta Chapter feels it, too, can claim him as one of its own.

President Parkinson was born in Lincoln County, Tennessee, January 1, 1887. He received degrees from Erskine College, the University of South Carolina and George Peabody College. He taught, and later served in an administrative state capacity in the schools of North Carolina, South Carolina and Alabama. He was president of Presbyterian College, Clinton, S. C., 1927-1928, and since 1932 has been president of Mississippi State College for Women, Columbus, Miss.

He is the author of numerous educational books and articles. He holds membership in Phi Beta Kappa and many other organizations. It is interesting to note that both he and his wife are listed in Who's Who in America.

Dr. Parkinson appeared on the program at the Leadership School subsequent to his initiation. He embodies the type of character and ideals which are most compatible with membership in Pi Kappa Alpha.

brother or pledge. By including home towns, you may hit an alumnus who lives just down the street from an undergraduate member, and it's possible that the two men would not have met otherwise.

By the mention of some of these practices and ideas, Beta-Phi hopes that the quality of chapter publications all over the country may be improved to some small degree, at least.

It is a mimeographed news sheet, Pikes Peaks, that won second place in the national contest for Gamma-Omega Chapter at the University of Miami, Florida. Their Garnet and Gold, although it is an outstanding annual, could not have won alone. Alpha-Kappa Kapers, the third place winner, is similar to the Beta-Phi Candlelight.

Wilkinson Appointed S. & D. Trustee

◆ JOHN F. WILKINSON, BO (Oklahoma), Assistant Vice President of the Mercantile-Commerce Bank & Trust Company, St. Louis, Mo., was elected a Trustee of the Shield and Diamond Endowment Fund by the 1950 National Convention. He succeeds Brooks Ragen of Portland, Ore., who insisted upon retiring after 12 years of service as a trustee.

Brother Wilkinson is an executive officer in the Trust Department of his bank. He brings to the Board of Trustees a wealth of experience in the investment field. He is also experienced in the operation of our Endowment Fund, having served as a trustee from 1936 through 1940 at which time he was forced to resign because of ill health. The Fraternity is fortunate to again secure his services in this capacity.

It was a sad day for Pi Kappa Alpha officers and veteran Convention attendants when they learned that Brooks Reagan was insisting that he be permitted to retire as a Trustee of the Shield and Diamond Endowment Fund. Brooks has made an outstanding contribution to Pi Kappa Alpha as Shield and Diamond Endowment Fund Trustee from 1938 through 1950 and as National Treasurer from 1940 through 1946. His prompt, efficient service and leadership in all fields of Fraternity endeavor and particularly in the financial field, have enabled Pi Kappa Alpha to make tremendous advances during the past decade.

The sincere hope and expectation of all National Officers and student delegates is that Brooks, an alumnus of Beta-Nu at Oregon State, will continue to be present at every Convention with his charming wife, Florence, and their three lovely children.

The present Board of Trustees is composed of David C. Powers, chairman and treasurer, who has directed the Fund with outstanding success since his appointment in 1936, Herbert Koch, who was appointed in 1946, and John Wilkinson.

RICHARD C. SHULTZ, BA

Penn State Graduate Appointed Field Secretary

◆ RICHARD C. SHULTZ, BA (Penn State), joined the National Office staff as a Field Secretary October 8, 1950. Delegates to the 1950 Convention requested the services of an additional Field Secretary. After careful consideration of all applications the Supreme Council selected Dick because of his outstanding character and record.

Dick served on his chapter's Executive Committee for four terms, was delegate to the 1948 Convention, served as SC, IMC and SMC (two terms).

In general school activities he was a member of the Forensic Council, Delta Sigma Rho, Forensic Society; Varsity Debate Team, and Liberal Arts Student Council. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree in February, 1950, with a major in economics.

After a few weeks work in the office he has begun chapter visitation. He will primarily serve the chapters in the northeast and north central states. He is a fine addition to the National Office staff.

Beta-Gamma Graduate Receives Fellowship

◆ DANIEL C. STARK, BΓ, (Kansas), has been named one of four recipients of new fellowships established in the Graduate School of Business at Columbia University by F. S. Smithers & Co., New York investment bankers. Announcement of the fellowships was made by Dean Philip Young, at the Graduate School of Business.

Brother Stark studied at Swarthmore College, Arkansas City Junior College, and the University of Kansas, where he was graduated in 1949. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel C. Stark, he is a native of Arkansas City where his father is a professor of chemistry at the Junior College. Following graduation from high school, he enlisted in the Navy, and on completion of his duty enrolled in the Junior College. On graduating, he was awarded the Lion's Club prize, given annually to "the most outstanding student." At the University of Kansas, he was elected a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

Brother Stark is already studying at the Graduate School of Business under his fellowship.

By DILLON GRAHAM

◆ It's the simplest thing in the world to start to select an All-Time All-ITKA Football Team.

You just write down two words: Wesley Fesler.

And then, with your start out of the way, you find it's a big tough to recall the Fraternity's fine players during the more than two decades that an annual all-star team has been picked, and to decide on ten other players to join Fesler.

So far as I know, Fesler is the only honest-to-legitimate three-time All-America Pi Kappa Alpha ever boasted.

As a sophomore end at Ohio State in the fall of 1928 his spectacular play brought him nomination to The Associated Press All-America. As an end during his junior year, and as an end and a back as a senior, he won top honors again. All-America end for three straight years—that's par for the course.

After he was graduated from the Columbus campus, Fesler remained in the public eye as a sports figure, chiefly as a coach. Last New Year's Day his Ohio State team whipped California in the Pasadena Rose Bowl game.

There's little question but that Fesler is our Fraternity's greatest gridiron hero—and a grand sportsman, too. But more about Wes later. Let's move on to the other players on this mythical team.

As a long-time sports writer, I saw quite a few of Pi Kappa Alpha's aces of the last two decades. I followed others through newspaper stories of their football exploits. Since about 1932 I have had a hand in selecting the annual All-ITKA team. I mention this to show that I am familiar with most of these players.

Lynn Waldorf is as much, and perhaps even more, of a legend in Pi Kappa Alpha than is Fesler. Lynn was a standout tackle at Syracuse, and has won renown as a coach, particularly at Northwestern and California. The Fraternity is proud to name him the All-Time All-ITKA Coach.

As I checked back over the teams picked down through the years, I found it difficult to settle on the best boys of all-time. They were all good.

It was simple to start with Fesler. Then Sinkwich and Dobbs and Suffridge were certain choices, too. That left seven other spots, and they were tough to fill.

Sinkwich, Dobbs and Suffridge made The Associated Press All-America team, as well as others chosen by press associations, coaches and magazines. Also selected on some such national football honor teams but a step or so behind the previous trio as popular choices were Gomer Jones, Purvis and Cafego. Our other standouts won regional acclaim and perhaps some All-America honorable mention.

So let's gather them up and list the team, which this writer nominates as the All-Time All-ITKA football team:

Along with Wes Fesler of Ohio State at end is Joe Whitesides, who played at Utah State in 1934-35.

Your tackles are Jack Johnson of Utah, selected in 1930 and 1932, and Bo Russell, Auburn, named in 1937-38.

Paired with Bob Suffridge, from the University of Tennessee, 1939 and 1940, is another Tennessean, Vincent Sarratore, Little All-America guard at the University of Chattanooga, 1949.

Gomer Jones, another Ohio State standout in 1934 and 1935, gets the call at center.

And in the backfield are Frankie "Fireball" Sinkwich, University of Georgia, 1941-42; Glenn Dobbs, University of Tulsa, 1940-42; Duane Purvis, Purdue University, 1931-33, and George "Bad News" Cafego, University of Tennessee, 1939.

That is a very fine ball club. But there are a handful of other players who should have been on there. I hated to leave them off, but eleven just adds up to eleven. These aces include such backs as Jimmy Nelson of Alabama, Carl Brumbaugh of Florida, Earl Pomeroy of Utah, Mike Mikulak of Oregon, and Teeny Lafferty of Davidson; Marion Hammon, Southern Methodist tackle; Mario Paccetti, Wisconsin guard; Walter Gilbert, Auburn center, and Richard Weber, Syracuse guard.

A Mid-Western sports writer said of Fesler:

"He stands out above all Big Ten stars. He was more than a player; he was a team."

Walter Eckersall, a Western Conference gridiron immortal, said:

"He plays brilliantly. He knows how to box a tackle and permits few runs around his end. Opponents very seldom send plays in his direction."

Coach Sam Willaman rated him the greatest athlete ever to attend Ohio State, not excepting the great Chick Harley.

Besides starring in football, basketball and baseball, Fesler was a Phi Beta Kappa and a leading figure in campus political, social and other activities. The Lantern, college paper, said:

"Unassuming modesty is a characteristic of Fesler which deserves hearty appreciation and consideration. Fesler in body will leave his old stamping grounds in June, but his spirit will live forever on as long as football is played here and sportsmanship is a characteristic of the American people."

Grantland Rice, who succeeded Walter Camp as selector of Collier's All-America, wrote in 1930:

"In many ways, Fesler was the most remarkable player of the year. He was a star defensive end and also a star backing up the line. He ran the team, called the signals, did most of the passing and kicking. When he finally assumed full running charge of the team, Ohio State with only fair material won five straight games. There was no star who could do so much and do it so well throughout a football game."

After a short stretch of professional baseball with the St. Louis Cardinals, Fesler became head basketball and assistant football coach at Harvard in 1933. Then came the head football and basketball and freshman baseball coaching assignments at Wesleyan University, the head basketball and assistant football and baseball coaching jobs at Princeton in 1945. Next, Fesler became head football coach at Pittsburgh in 1946, and then returned to his alma mater in 1947.

During Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf's days as an undergraduate, Syracuse was a power in intercollegiate football. Chick Meehan, later to acquire even more football fame in New York, tutored the club.

Waldorf was tops as a tackle, and you had to be good to suit Chick. Lynn was selected on Walter Camp's All-America squad in 1922 and 1924.

That was a few years before the first of the yearly Pi Kappa Alpha all-star teams was chosen. Waldorf surely would have been chosen if a team had been picked. He is the only all-timer who dates back to the period before the custom of naming a Fraternity team was adopted.

Leaving Syracuse in 1925, Waldorf went right into coaching, at Oklahoma City University. His ability and success brought him a long-time assignment as Northwestern University mentor and finally to his present post at the University of California.

Sinkwich, the flat-footed fireball of Georgia, was named on the A. P. All-America in 1941 and 1942. That latter year he was virtually a unanimous choice, also winning nomination to the United Press, International News Service and Collier's teams. And he was given the Heisman trophy as the country's outstanding player.

Frankie became known to football followers particularly because of publicity about the specially designed headgear he wore in 1941 after fracturing his jaw in Georgia's second game of the campaign against South Carolina.

He was the country's leading ground gainer and second in total offense, and he sparked Georgia to an Orange Bowl win. He scored seven touchdowns, passed for ten more and booted a field goal. He picked up some 1,000 yards rushing and added another 700 pitching.

As Jack Harding, then Miami coach, said: "It doesn't do to let him see daylight in a line." Harding added: "I have never seen a back who could do so many things so well. Sinkwich has an amazing burst of speed, and an uncanny knack for picking holes."

Bob Kelley said in his New York Times story on the Georgia-Columbia game: "On fourth down from the ten, Sinkwich faded back as though to pass. It may have been a planned play, but at any rate his receivers were covered and he drove off left tackle. Three Columbia men hit him and bounced off, another had him on the two-yard line, but he lurched over for the score. Sinkwich was running out of men's arms all afternoon as Georgia won, 7-3."

In 1942 Sinkwich became the first player in modern history to pass the 2,000-yard mark in total offense—he passed and ran for 2,187 yards. He either scored or passed for touchdowns in every game, averaged five yards a try lugging the ball, kicked off, called signals and averaged 36 yards punting.

Twice he showed his ability to lift Georgia out of trouble. Trailing Kentucky in the last quarter, he led a long drive and scored the winning touchdown which, with the extra point, brought Georgia victory. And, with Alabama leading, 10-0, Sinkwich threw two fourth-period touchdowns to put Georgia ahead.

Associated Press Correspondent Dillon Graham, AH (Florida), is the right man for the job of selecting the All-Time All-IICA Team. An outstanding veteran sports writer for Associated Press for many years before promotion to still greater responsibilities he has participated in the annual selection of All-IICA Teams for over a decade.

The previous year Alabama won, and down South they still gab about that game, when Sinkwich and Georgia met Jimmy Nelson and Alabama. Alabama won and it was Nelson's running and passing that brought triumph, but Sinkwich, playing for the losing cause, out-gained the whole Crimson team, and saw receivers drop three perfectly pegged passes which might well have gone for touchdowns.

ALL-TIME ALL-IICA FOOTBALL TEAMS

"No Alabama man will ever admit Sinkwich had anything on Nelson. No Georgia man will ever admit that Nelson had anything on Sinkwich—and both will be right," wrote Zipp Newman, veteran Birmingham sports editor.

Glenn Dobbs of Tulsa was selected along with Sinkwich on the A. P. All-America in 1942. That was the first—and the only time—that two Pi Kaps have been chosen on a top-ranking All-America selection the same year.

Chances are that Dobbs was the finest punter ever to represent the Fraternity. He could really boot 'em. He averaged 48 yards a whack.

And he topped the country's passers in at least two respects in 1942—he had the highest percentage of completions, 67 of 107, and the fewest interceptions, three. He passed for 1,066 yards.

Straight as a No. 1 iron and standing several inches over six feet, Dobbs was at his best against Washington University. He threw ten passes and completed them all, including three for touchdowns.

He was a tailback who called signals, and when his Purple Hurricane had gained a safe lead, frequently shifted to wingback.

Dobbs, along with Fesler and Duane Purvis, was selected on the Pi Kappa Alpha team in each of his three varsity years.

Duane Purvis was selected in 1931, 1932 and 1933. And his brother, Jim, was named in 1930, while also a star at Purdue.

Mid-Westerners who saw him play say Duane Purvis could do anything required of a back. He rated as one of that area's best during all his years of competition.

George (Bad News) Cafego of Tennessee rounds out the backfield. The Harassing Hungarian was the ace of a club which went unbeaten and walloped Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl.

Cafego was an all-round threat, whether he carried the ball or not, for as Zipp Newman, that Southern sports writing expert, wrote: "Cafego kept Alabama's Crimson so busy watching him that they couldn't give much attention to the other backs."

That was a pair of Pi Kap stars Tennessee had in 1939—Cafego in the backfield and Bob Suffridge in the line. Bob has had few peers in the South as a guard. In 1940 he was selected on the A. P. and on Collier's All-America. He had the unusual experience of playing in a postseason bowl game in each of his varsity years.

He starred for the Volunteers against Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl at Miami as a sophomore, against Southern California in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena as a junior and against Boston College in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans as a senior.

He was a vicious tackler, quick to knife through a line and spill opposing backs for losses, and fast enough to lead interference for Tennessee's speedy backs.

On the night that Bill Stern, the radio sports broadcaster, was naming his All-America selections for Life magazine, the Tennessee team was en route to Nashville to play Vanderbilt. In order that Suffridge might go on the air and tell radio listeners what he thought of being named on Stern's team, the Southern Railway halted its train at little Lenoir, Tenn., so Suffridge could make his talk.

On the opposite flank from Fesler on our mythical team is a standout from the Rocky Mountain area, a wingman who played a decade after Fesler—Joe Whitesides of Utah State, 1934-35. Joe was highly regarded in the Skyline country, but since his team did not ramble much out of its own bailiwick, Whitesides did not have opportunity to show his talents elsewhere and lost any chance of top national recognition.

Another chap from the high timber country gets the call at one of our tackle spots—Jack Johnson of Utah. He was named to the Fraternity team in 1930 and 1932. Les Goates of the Salt Lake Deseret News says Johnson is one of the best tackles ever developed out that way. He drew All-America nominations for several selections.

At the other tackle is Bo Russell of Auburn, a fellow always mentioned down South when gridiron fanatics get to chatting about the all-time greats. He was a standout for the Auburn Plainsmen in 1937 and 1938. After captaining Auburn in his senior year, Bo played professional football with the Washington Redskins. He recalls kicking a field goal in the closing seconds of a game against the New York Giants: "The ball went sailing pretty high and over the top of the goal posts. We all thought it was good and started jumping up and down, but to our utter amazement, the referee was waving it no good. At this time the fans poured onto the field and they had a bigger fight than we did during the game. That field goal try, and how it cost us the 1939 Eastern championship will always stand out in my memory."

Our listing of the all-time all-star lineup started with an Ohio State man, Fesler. It ends with the mention of another,

All-IKA Football Teams 1938-1949

Cox, Missouri, and Vincent Sarratore, Chattanooga; center, Mike Murray, Lehigh; backs, Hal Littleford, Tennessee, Andy Davis, George Washington, Blake Watts, Presbyterian, and Gene Mazzanti, Arkansas.

Gomer Jones. He's the center and he ranked along with the best of his day, anywhere in the country, in 1934 and 1935. Gomer not only was a standout performer but he also was a leader, chosen captain of the 1935 Scarlet and Gold team.

That's your team, as this corner sees it.

Just a word, in conclusion, about the fellows who, down through the years, have had a hand in selecting the annual all-star Fraternity team.

Lawrence E. Rose started it. Brother Rose of Arizona named a 1927 team for The Shield and Diamond.

The next year Les Goates of the University of Utah came up with a selection. Goates was sports editor of the Deseret News in Salt Lake City, and was a football-writing expert who had such connections that he could obtain first-hand reports on Pikes throughout the country.

Goates also selected the 1929 team, and in 1930 this correspondent came into the picture as co-selector with Walter F. Coxé of Georgia Tech.

Coxé named the 1931 team, assisted by Goates, Charles F. Dufour, Tulane; Roy Hunter, Duke; William M. Stearns, University of New Hampshire; Orren Pickard, Southwestern University; Albert Peery, Washington and Lee; Earl Johnson, Milwaukee; and this Florida product.

Coxé, a rabid football enthusiast if there ever was one, continued to select the team through 1937. I worked closely with him every year as did Les Goates and Charles (Pie) Dufour of New Orleans.

The demands of his business life kept Coxé so busy that at his request I took over in 1938 and have handled the job since then, aided by such enthusiasts as Harvey T. Newell, Goates, Harry Heath, Coxé and others.

It has been an enjoyable annual assignment and one that has kept me closer to the Fraternity and its current active members than I probably would have been otherwise. I hope Editor Bob Lynn of The Shield and Diamond will let me continue to pick the team for many years to come.

FLASH!!

Bob Suffridge of Tennessee and Frank Sinkwich of Georgia have just been selected by 58 football writers and announcers on the All-Time All-Southeastern Conference Football Eleven. George Cafego of Tennessee was named on the second team.

Where Are They Now— These All Stars?

◆ MORE than half of them still are associated with football. Two—Lynn Waldorf at California and Wesley Fesler at Ohio State—rank among the nation's top college coaches.

Let's run down the line for quick sketches:

LYNN WALDORF, All-IKA coach, Syracuse. He has coached for 24 years, at Oklahoma City University, Kansas, Oklahoma A. & M., Kansas State, Northwestern and at California since 1947. His California teams have won 29 and lost three and have made two Rose Bowl appearances. Has two daughters: Mary Louise, 23, and Carolyn Janet, 18.

WES FESLER, end, head coach at Ohio State since 1947. His Buckeyes beat Waldorf's Bears in last January's Rose Bowl, 17-14. Wes, who also enjoys fishing and golf, has three children: Richard, 15; John, 12, and Linda Louise, 9. Fesler served as basketball coach at Harvard and football coach at Connecticut Wesleyan and Pitt before returning to Ohio State.

T. A. (BO) RUSSELL, tackle, Auburn. Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company executive in Birmingham. Has two daughters: Linda Ann, 7, and Patti Jean, 3. Bo officiates now in Southeastern Conference games.

VINCENT SARRATORE, guard, Chattanooga. After serving four years with the Marines in the South Pacific, he returned to the University of Chattanooga. He will receive his Physical Education degree in February, 1951, and expects to enter the coaching profession.

GOMER JONES, center, Ohio State. Now line coach at the University of Oklahoma, ranked among the country's top teams. He is married.

BOB SUFFRIDGE, guard, Tennessee. After his playing days, Bob coached for some time at North Carolina State. He and his family now reside in Knoxville, where he is an insurance representative.

JACK JOHNSON, tackle, Utah. For eight years he played with the Detroit Lions in professional football, 1932-40. He retired to his cattle ranch at Grantsville, Utah, in 1942, but returned to coaching for two years, 1945 and 1948, at Nebraska. Has one daughter, Nina, 13.

JOE WHITESIDES, end, Utah State. Has been in football since his graduation in 1936, except for Second World War service. Joe served as freshman coach and assistant coach and then became director of athletics in 1949. A few months ago he was called into active military duty with his local National Guard unit.

FRANK SINKWICH, back, Georgia. After a whirl at pro football, Frankie now is head coach at the University of Tampa, in Florida.

GLENN DOBBS, back, Tulsa. He won top honors as a professional player with the Los Angeles Dons and is now in radio, as sports director of Station KRMG in Tulsa. He has two sons, Glenn III, 5, and John Saxon, 2. Glenn likes to golf and owns a driving range.

DUANE PURVIS, back, Purdue. Professor of Physical Education at Purdue. Physical disability as a result of Army service forced him to give up coaching. He has one son, Michael Duane, 6. His fondest recollection in football is of his Purdue team beating Notre Dame, 19-0, in 1933.

GEORGE CAFEGO, back, Tennessee. George is training the present generation of athletes as assistant football coach and head baseball coach at the University of Wyoming.

Gamma-Lambda Wins All-Sports Trophy

◆ THE high point of the 1949-50 athletic year for Gamma-Lambda Chapter at Lehigh was the winning of the Interfraternity All-Sports Championship. In winning the trophy 28 other fraternities had to be beaten.

The Pi Kaps fielded a series of winning teams, whose outstanding records nailed down the coveted trophy. After winning the league cup in football, the Pi Kaps went on to place second in the interfraternity championship.

In softball and golf, however, the IKA teams swept through the entire field without a single loss, and thus won two interfraternity championships.

This year the Pi Kaps got off to another good start by decisively beating the Sigma Nu's in their first football contest of the year by 24-0.

Edwin Edinger, ΔP (Linfield), has recently been elected president of the Student Body at Linfield College. He is a member of Pi Kappa Delta, National Forensics Honorary Organization, and placed first in the Citizens' Oratorical Contest and the 1894 Oratorias Contest last year. He served as the first SMC of Delta-Rho chapter.

Fine Homecoming At Ole Miss

◆ GAMMA-IOTA has started this year off with a big bang! The good start this year is mostly due to the work the boys did in summer school. They painted the house inside and out, built a very attractive snack bar, laid the foundation for this year's rush, and got the alumni files in tip-top shape by sending an information blank to each alumnus so as to have the latest information.

Rush week was a perfect success. We placed second by pledging 29; we missed first place by one. We may have placed second in quantity, but surely placed first in quality. This year started Gamma-Iota's second generation. Jimmy Knight, whose father was a member of Gamma-Iota in 1929, was the first son of an alumnus of Gamma-Iota to be pledged. After the pledging ceremony the new pledges were entertained with a banquet at Grundy's.

Homecoming was the greatest ever for Gamma-Iota. The chapter served dinner to approximately 500 alumni and guests before the game with Boston College. After the game an open house was held, and was a huge success. The Homecoming decorations won second prize. The decoration was a huge ship representing the Boston Team Party showing Colonel Rebel throwing Boston College players over the side of the ship, instead of the tea in the original Boston Tea Party.

Delta Delta Delta is the sister sorority of Gamma-Iota on the Ole Miss campus. The relationship has proven to be very helpful and extremely enjoyable. The chapter entertained the Tri-Delts with a "Night Club" party on October 13. The house was completely changed into a night club, having a "jungle" effect. The party was livened somewhat by a local talent floor show that featured "Vaughn Monroe" Hovius, "Ernest Tubbs" Ramsey, "Arthur Godfrey" Profilet, "Morton Downey" Stingily, and our houseboy doing a shuffle step. Bill Perkins proved to be a very good master of ceremonies.

Beta-Gamma Inaugurates New Pledge Program

By EARL BORRADAILE

◆ AFTER serving as host to the National Leadership School, Delta-Gamma Chapter at Miami University got Rebels Convention Bound!!

Cincinnati thought the South had risen again when (l. to r.) George Pence, Marvin Oates, and Earl Watkins of Gamma-Iota (Mississippi) arrived at Convention complete with Dixie hats, ties, and canes. In case you're wondering, that's a Rebel flag and a bag full of Confederate money!

the fall activities started by initiating 20 men into the chapter.

Following closely the suggestions of the Leadership School, the chapter voted to inaugurate a new pledge program. With the cooperation of the actives the chapter hopes to inspire the new pledges with the aims and ideals of Pi Kappa Alpha.

The social season got an early start when the Pikes joined with Sigma Phi Epsilon and Zeta Beta Tau in sponsoring a street dance. The three fraternities are situated on what is often called "Little Fraternity Row." The idea of a street dance was started last year as an innovation on fall dances.

Getting the real fraternity spirit from the southern brothers who visited our campus this summer, the chapter decided to purchase a Confederate flag to hang in the chapter meeting room. Many of the members purchased small replicas of the flag to display at football games and other sports.

Delta-Gamma now has a new house-mother, Mrs. John Henry, mother of Dr. John Henry, Pi Kap alumnus. Mrs. Henry serves ably as hostess at our social events.

Alumni members John Spangler, '50, and Richard Williams, '50, have accepted positions on university staffs. Brother Spangler, editor of the school newspaper last year, joined Miami University's mathematics department. Brother Williams accepted a position at Harvard University and is also doing graduate work in Harvard's chemistry department.

During the first weeks of school, the chapter turned the house over to various sororities for their rush parties. The chapter furnished serenades for these groups as well as serenades for the freshman girls' dormitories.

The chapter recently accepted Brother Don Jameson's offer of a mascot, a cocker spaniel dog. Brother Ron Rumlper agreed to manage the dog's life and help him become assimilated to fraternity life.

From The Korean Front— IICA Escapes Red Massacre

By LARRY C. OSIUS

◆ QUICK thinking and a helping hand from Lady Luck enabled Captain John Brewer, IX, to escape from one of the first incidents of atrocity in the fighting north of the 38th parallel in the middle of October.

A story by Tom Lambert, of the Associated Press, related how Brewer and ten other Americans were captured during an ambush and held by the Korean Reds. Trapped with the other Americans, Brewer was stripped of his watch, pen, ring, wallet, including $100.00, and then taken to a house.

The Reds were being drawn into a trap and were keeping close watch on the fighting nearby. Finally, a North Korean captain told his men to get ready to move. Two Korean Reds guarding the eleven Americans were ordered to dispose of their prisoners.

They began firing into the Americans seated on the floor.

Brewer was quoted as saying, "Shots went over my shoulder and hit the wall six inches from my head. I pressed my head against the floor.

"When they were through firing, the guards slammed their rifle butts into our legs and backs apparently to see if we were dead. Then they went out. I lay there taking short breaths so my body wouldn't move, from 5 p. m. until 3 a. m."

Brewer then crawled around the floor and discovered that two others had been uninjured and that two more were wounded. The other six soldiers were dead. The three of them helped the wounded men out and back to the American side.

Brewer, born in Mena, Ark., attended Oklahoma A. & M. College for two years prior to his initiation into the Fraternity May 30, 1939. He was one of the charter members of Gamma-Chi Chapter.

In 1941 he married the former Miss Evelyn McKinnon of Stillwater. He served as a supply officer in Africa and Italy during World War II. Following his discharge he returned to A. & M. and was graduated in 1947, majoring in economics.

He re-enlisted in 1947 and was sent to the Pacific in May, 1950. Mrs. Brewer lives in Oklahoma City at present, where she is secretary to the director of selective service.

Alpha-Theta Loses Man In Action

By LARRY HADLEY

◆ LT. COL. WILFRED JACKSON was lost in action during the Korean War on July 27. Brother Jackson was the first IICA from Alpha-Theta to lose his life in service in the present conflict. He had been stationed in Japan since April of this year where he was playing a peaceful role in the occupation program. While he was commuting between Japan and Korea as a liaison officer attached to General MacArthur's staff, his plane plunged into the Pacific near Oshima Island. Soon after the crash a heavy fog settled and only one of the 25 passengers was rescued. Colonel Jackson was a member of this chapter when it was reactivated in 1925. Alpha-Theta and Pi Kappa Alpha lost a fine worker and brother when Brother Jackson gave up his life for his country.

Alpha-Theta inaugurated a new pre-initiation week last fall called "Steps Week." It was given a trial and was very successful. The week consisted of six steps, one each night. The first step was University night which enabled the pledges to get better acquainted with their school. Alumnus night followed, with a general get-together of the alumni and new men. The third step was Study night, followed by a Chapter Orientation night. The night before the final step which was initiation, a Pledge night was held. The pledges were guests of honor for a dinner-dance that evening.

A new house mother has joined our household to guide and help us through our forthcoming year. She is Mrs. Winifred Hicks from Toronto, Canada. Since 1943 she has been doing social work in California. Mrs. Hicks began her work at Whittier College where she stayed for six months before going to U. C. L. A. for a year. Following six months work on juvenile delinquency, she went to Pomona College in Claremont, Calif., to serve as assistant social director for four years. Alpha-Theta obtained her services in April of this year.

nity was founded. A man who disregards these same principles in business is riding on a ticket marked "Failure."

It seems to me that the parallels we have drawn point up the important experience which fraternity life can be in the career of a young man. The disciplines and the lessons learned in living and working, with and for others, are all experiences quite necessary to prepare one for the job of living in our business world. Furthermore, if any organization—social or business—over the years continues to grow and prosper, we must accept the fact that it is basically sound. The facts are that total fraternity membership has grown more rapidly than has total college enrollment. It is very pleasing in this connection to note that since my active days in the Fraternity, that Pi Kappa Alpha has more than doubled its number of chapters, and that its membership has increased more than eight times. This record of Pi Kappa Alpha is better than is the average of all fraternities, and this within itself justifies the conclusion that its progress to date has been most satisfactory and that its future can and will be greater than has been its past.

Certainly whatever any man does, or whatever he plans on doing, he has every reason to anticipate and expect something in return for the effort, thought and attention given to the undertaking. Therefore, the rewards that a man receives for achievement and success, whether in business or in a fraternity, are of great importance and fall into two categories: (1) Tangible Rewards, such as being chosen to represent your chapter at this great convention, being elected to a College Honor Society, earning a letter in athletics, or financial remuneration in business, and (2) Intangible Rewards as represented by the inner and enduring satisfaction that one gets when he knows that he has done his work to the satisfaction of associates and to the high standard which he has set for himself. It is my belief that the intangible rewards are of greater importance. It is my conviction that the tangible rewards cannot be achieved without first having earned the intangible.

Harry Beck— Hero of Delta-Pi

By GEORGE McDONALD

♦ San Jose Evening News,
October 10, 1950:

"Many heroes have been produced in the many games played at Spartan Stadium. . . .

"However, one of the finest is a gent by the name of Harry Beck.

"It wasn't until the day prior to the contest that Bronzan felt certain he could utilize the services of the hard-running, 186-pound fullback from Los Angeles. Harry had suffered a knee injury and was listed as 'doubtful.'

"Even after Bronzan found that Beck was prepared to face Santa Clara, he didn't know how long his first string fullback would play. A good bump on the injured member would send Harry back to the bench.

"Despite severe pain—pain which he denied when his coaches twice asked him during the game if the knee bothered him—Beck turned in a great one-man performance.

"He carried the ball 26 times for 209 yards and a pair of TD's. His average was 8.04 per carry."

Brothers of Delta-Pi know the hero in this newspaper clipping as Harry Beck, their SMC. The house still hasn't gotten back out of the clouds over his performance against the Santa Clara Broncos on the night of October 7.

SMC Beck, a 26-year-old senior who transferred from U.S.C. and Gamma-Eta, led the San Jose State Spartans to the first victory in their history over their inter-city rivals. The two schools are four miles apart.

We of Delta-Pi watched Harry for two weeks before. After each game, his leg would stiffen. He would have trouble getting out of bed the next morning. Even watching television seemed too strenuous, for he would forget his leg and suddenly stand. We watched him limp from Sunday to game time the next week end.

Wearing a blond crew cut, a crooked grin, and a limp, Harry hobbles around the house to check on the various committees, the dog, and the television set.

He played football for Glendale J. C., for the Navy, and for one month for U.S.C. Cravath had him pegged for first-string defensive full during spring training, but for some reason let him go. While at U.S.C., Harry was initiated into Pi Kappa Alpha.

Harry affiliated with Delta-Pi chapter one month after its founding. Last spring, he became the second SMC of the chapter.

But back to the Santa Clara game. . . .

"Boom-Boom Beck" ripped 29 yards to the Santa Clara goal in the first quarter but fumbled when hit as he crossed the line. The Broncos recovered, and Beck was the goat—for just as long as the Broncos had the ball.

In the late stages of the third quarter, after San Jose State had dropped behind, 10-0, the Spartans finally got their ground attack functioning without any stoppages. They roared for two drives of 66 and 72 yards. Beck and Buddy Traina, a high-stepping scatback, picked up all the yardage through and around the Bronco line.

Delta-Pi's SMC scored the first touchdown on fourth down from the four-yard line. He put San Jose ahead by scoring again from the three.

But the best was to come. After Santa Clara kicked to the San Jose 42, Beck was suddenly in the Bronco secondary again. Rolling past three men, he picked up sufficient strength to pull away from the speedy defensive halves, and roared 58 yards to the goal. But an unnecessary clip nullified the score.

San Francisco Chronicle, Sunday, October 8:

"San Jose's varied ground attack, motored by Harry Beck, an injured fullback who had undoubtedly recovered, and a scooting halfback, Buddy Traina, rolled up horrendous amounts of yardage. . . .

"Beck thus hit the end zone four times but got credit for two, not bad for a man whose knee wouldn't bend only five days ago. San Jose alumni can bend elbows in his praise tonight. . . .

"After the game, Beck's knee was again stiffened. . . ."

Gamma-Omega Outstanding

By DON LOHMEYER

◆ THE men of Gamma-Omega returned to the University of Miami campus with great plans for 1950-51. No sooner had we settled down to the routine of school, when we were making preparations for a Minstrel Show in the all-campus "Carni-Gras." We plan to use much the same theme that won us first place in the Chi Omega Carnival last spring.

In mid-October we pledged 40 exceptionally fine men, after a wonderful rush season which included our annual "Shipwreck Party."

Improving our scholarship is one of our main objectives this semester. Last year we placed third among 24 fraternities in the greatest over-all scholarship improvement as compared to the previous year.

In May, lovely Nancy Mussett of Chi Omega was chosen as our Dream Girl at a dance held at the Coral Gables Country Club. Nancy kept the "house-rats" well fed during the summer months with her weekly cakes and cookies, but her top culinary achievement was the roasting of a huge turkey that one of the brothers won in a raffle.

Miami's success on the football field this fall was due greatly through the efforts of six Pi Kaps. Jack DelBello stood out as a quarterback, and Pledge Frank Smith in the first three games scored seven of Miami's nine touchdowns as a halfback. Frank accounted for two of three touchdowns in Miami's great victory over Purdue. Brothers Ray Arcangeletti and Jack Payne both were excellent linemen, and Pledge Ed Lutes was one of the Hurricanes' outstanding ends. Punting duties were handled beautifully by Brother Elmer Treemont.

Each year the chapter presents a scholarship to an outstanding high school student to enable him to attend the University of Miami. This was established to perpetuate the memory of four members of Gamma-Omega chapter who made the supreme sacrifice during World War II. The recipient this fall for the War Memorial Scholarship was Howard Schoen. Another philanthropic project is the Christmas party held for crippled children at the Miami Crippled Children's Hospital and given in honor of Bob Jensen, deceased chapter member.

Beta-Pi Plays Host To Alpha Chapter

◆ THE University of Pennsylvania opened its football season on September 30 against Virginia. Likewise, the same day, Beta-Pi Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha opened its social season by entertaining Brother Pikes from Virginia's Alpha Chapter at a post-game party. Responding to an invitation from Beta-Pi's SMC, Dave Dickerson, approximately twenty of the southern boys made the trip from Charlottesville with their football team.

A pleasant surprise to female guests was presented at Beta-Pi's first October party. The second floor lavatory was renovated into a glamorous lounge-style powder room. With Brothers Dave Dickerson, Jim Dahlhausen, Dick Ransweiler, Roger Schembs, Pete Franck, Ralph Richardson and Pete Fairbairn participating, this room was painted Burkshire Green, brightened with new fluorescent lighting, and scrubbed spotless. A large mirror was installed and this, plus ruffles and chintz, added to the room's beauty.

Under the direction of Athletic Director Bob Welsh, the Pikes of Pennsylvania took part in an interfraternity touch football game against Delta-Upsilon fraternity. Unfortunately, however, they finished on the short end of a 14-0 score.

The fall term officers have received word that June '50 graduates have been quite successful. Joe Scott is employed by Ford Motors; Art Cramer is working for Vicks Chemical Co.; and Bill Smith has remained in Philadelphia as a promotion man for radio station KYW. Frank Stull is attending Penn Law School; Harry Schaub is undertaking the same task at Yale; and Roy Vagelos is studying medicine at Columbia.

Beta-Pi is proud to have two men from other chapters, Carl Bruckner of Penn State and Lin Underwood from Birmingham-Southern, taking part in their activities while they attend Pennsylvania for graduate work.

Gamma-Delta Purchases New Chapter House

By DAVE EVANS

◆ GAMMA-DELTA's fall news contains a familiar note. Yes, we have a different house again. We must thrive on variety, because for some of us this is the fourth Pi Kap house at Arizona in four years. Ah, but this year we have elbow room! We can eat our meals without sitting in each other's laps. We can hold meetings sitting down. And more than two people can move about in the kitchen at one time.

In the procuring of our new home we received invaluable aid from our alumni. Special thanks are due Marty Baldwin and Roswell Roberts for their solicitation of alums, procurement of furnishings, and the many other problems they effectively handled. Without the help of the Mothers and Wives Club we would still be trying to get settled. They bought us some beautiful new rugs, leather furniture, lamps and tables, made drapes for living room, dining room, and chapter room, and even prepared our rush meals until we obtained a cook.

Some of the boys can't seem to get to sleep at night in this house. Could they be spending long hours at the windows gazing at the heavenly bodies? Sounds plausible, since two girls' dormitories are within fifty feet of the house.

In September we pledged ten new men and initiated six, thus leaving our pledge class at an even dozen. They held their semi-annual secret walkout recently to the woe of the actives. The pledges partied on the desert with their dates while the actives were wondering why the evening meal seemed to be missing. Lest they lose their heads over such success, however, the actives ran through, over, and around them in our challenge football game to win the prize.

Last spring the chapter initiated a friendship trophy with Zeta Beta Tau. The winner of our annual softball game retains the cup for the succeeding year. We were the initial victors but will have to play good ball to keep the cup away from our friends of ZBT this year.

The chapter is really getting brainy. Out of nineteen fraternities IKA finished third in scholarship last semester. IKA is represented in quite a few of the honor societies on campus.

Kay Starr Honored at Memphis Tea Pinned As Dream Girl By Delta-Zeta Chapter

By JOHN VESTAL

◆ KAY STARR was pinned "Honorary Dream Girl" of Delta-Zeta Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha Friday, September 29, at a tea given in her honor on the Memphis State campus. Kay, an ex-Memphian, and one of the top female vocalists in the nation, has just made a recording of the Pi Kappa Alpha version of "Honeymoon" which is being released through the National Office.

Miss Starr visited the National Offices of the Fraternity just prior to the tea which was held at Mynders Hall. Serving as hostesses were presidents of the Memphis State sororities, Miss Flora Rawls, dean of women, and Katherine O'Hearn Meredith, "Dream Girl" of the chapter for 1950. Alumnus Berl Olswanger, one of the Mid-South's top pianists, played during the tea. In attendance at the tea were National President Powell B. McHaney of St. Louis, Executive Secretary Lynn, Memphis State President Jack M. Smith, and Dean of Students Robinson, Field Secretary Abernethy, and Office Secretaries Louise Horn and Jean Bowe. Henry Zeran and John Vestal headed the Arrangements Committee. Refreshments were served by the ΠΚΑ Auxiliary with Mrs. T. R. Wilson, president, in charge.

Kay Starr has been selected as National PI KAPPA ALPHA HONEYMOON GIRL by chapters in recognition of her fine recording of the IIKA version of HONEYMOON.

IIKA Chapters throughout the land constitute the strongest Kay Starr fan clubs! She has been the guest of many of our chapters and always delights the boys with her charming and vivacious personality.

Capitol Records, Inc., of Hollywood has just released this record, and it is available through the National Office only. See page 46 for further information.

Alpha-Nu Entertains With Gypsy Dance

By STEVE STROM

◆ THE men of Alpha-Nu, returning to the University of Missouri for the fall semester, put down their bags and took a good look at the chapter house, which had remained idle during the summer months. Heat had cracked and chipped paint, dust had invaded every corner, and general repairs were in order. One look was enough. Three days and forty aching backs later, Pi Kappa Alpha greeted Rush Week in the best of order.

So began the new year for IKA. And a fine beginning it was! Rush Week was handled with some of the finest cooperation ever seen in the chapter. When preferential was completed, twenty-two new pledges graced the halls of AN. The chapter had obtained one of the largest pledge classes on campus and, without a doubt, the finest.

To start off the social year, Blind Date Week End proved to be a huge success. All the pledges were "fixed up" with the new sorority pledges, and everyone became well acquainted. Many of the "unattached" actives also took advantage of this special affair.

In the past, intramural touch football has not been exactly the pride and joy of Alpha-Nu. The teams simply couldn't win. This year, however, the team, under the spirited direction of one of the greatest strategists in Alpha-Nu history, trounced last year's division champion in its first game of the season. The other teams in the league promise to give little opposition in the drive for the football championship.

Vagabonds invaded the chapter house in the fall for the Gypsy Dance. What a fine party! A jazz combo furnished the music for the couples who had costumed themselves like those famous wanderers of the countryside. Huge earrings, bright scarves, and high-top boots flashed throughout the house. A "genuine" fortune-teller, imported from the far-away land of Slovgab, peered into her crystal ball, and thus into the futures of the guests, and foretold many great things for all. Everyone had a wonderful time, and closing hour came only too early.

The actives and alumni of Alpha-Nu are working together in an effort to bring the two groups closer in their relations. In the fall, a group of men attended an alumni meeting in Kansas City and reported on the recent activities of Alpha-Nu. At the meeting, the chapter was presented with a beautiful plaque to be awarded to the outstanding IKA of each year.

The alumni associations are helping the men of the chapter to prepare themselves for future jobs. They are presenting a "Caravan," in which successful alumni give discussions on the various professions and businesses in order to help the men understand the problems and opportunities of their positions-to-be. The program is proving very valuable to the men by aiding them to choose proper courses and curriculums.

The chapter again is near the top in campus politics and activities. Brother Lloyd Horton is president of Tiger Claws, campus pep organization. The art editor of the famed college humor magazine, Showme, is Herb Knapp. Publicity for the Student Government Association is controlled by Dana Sullivan. Pledge Walt Trueblood is the number one prospect to quarterback the varsity football team in years to come. The ranks of the various honorary organizations are filled with men in the chapter.

SEASONS GREETINGS

TO ALL OF OUR READERS

Editor's Note: As an expression of the true spirit of Christmas we are pleased to print these beautiful words from the final chapter of The Story of Christmas by Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, M (Presbyterian).

There is the sound of sleighbells on the lawn and the faint tapping of little hooves on the roof. There is the patter of tiny feet on the floor above, where expectant eyes peep eagerly toward the stockings on the mantel. The Yule-log crackles merrily. Come memories of shepherds feeding their flocks by night and the sound of angel choirs and of camels with muffled feet and tinkling bells hurrying Magi, star-led toward Bethlehem. With a soft, muted crash a snow-laden limb falls on the porch. In a distant tower, bells are chiming. Joyous carollers are singing, without. Welcoming candles glow, within. Christmas has come, bringing its blessed benisons, always, everywhere, to all.

Successful Rush Week Held at Beta-Kappa

By JIM JAQUES

◆ BETA-KAPPA Pikes just finished one of their best rush weeks in recent years, placing second among the sixteen fraternities on the campus with twenty-seven new pledges out of 275 freshmen.

Although the work of getting ready, meeting rushees, providing entertainment, and holding call chapter meetings was hard, the period from midnight, Saturday, September 30, 'til 4:00 p. m. the next afternoon when pledging began was the most trying time. These were the hours to be spent worrying, guessing, and reassuring each other over various rushees. In most of the rooms at the house as late as 6:00 a. m. could be found groups of brothers, who were still discussing our chances.

Four o'clock Sunday afternoon found all the actives, pledges, and rush girls standing on the front lawn. At 4:15 p. m. no rushee had yet made the long walk around Fraternity Row to the Pike house. A black cloud of despair was settling over Number 9.

Suddenly, the first member of our 1950 pledge class appeared around the bend. A roar came from the IKA lawn as the brothers poured into the street to meet him. The horns blew and the sirens wailed until, finally, the count reached twenty-seven.

The formal ceremony ended a rush week that was successful because of the spirit of cooperation, hard work, and well-laid plans of the brothers and old pledges. Actually the work began, not with the first function, but almost a week earlier.

On Sunday, September 30, most of the actives returned to the campus to prepare for the rushing. Various brothers were appointed by SMC Tom Stritch to different departments of work—and work they did! The next week was spent painting, decorating, working on the yard, arranging rush dates, getting rush girls, and doing all the other things necessary for rush week.

Finally, on Friday a stag smoker began the series of night functions, suppers, and dinners during which we were to get acquainted with the rushees. That night a spook party, planned by Brothers Tom Gibson and Fred Breck, drew a number of rushees to the house.

The rushees were required to enter the house through the darkened basement where they met a skeleton, a vampire, and a large wolf. When they entered the living room they were introduced to a rush girl and then brought to view the body of one of our brothers, which was elegantly laid out in a large casket. Later, we held a seance to the spirit of our departed brother. To hold the seance it was necessary for everyone to hold hands in a semi-circle, the ends of which were attached to a shocking-machine. Everyone was shocked by the proceedings.

This party was followed by a barn dance on Saturday and a barbecue on Sunday. The rest of the week was taken up by dinners and suppers. These functions were very important in that most of the bidding was carried on then.

On the next Friday night Station WIKA broadcast a radio party from the Fraternity house. The party was highlighted by a calendar-girl show and occasional commercials and soap operas. The Notre Dame-North Carolina football game on television provided entertainment for the Saturday smoker, and we ended our rushing with a semi-formal.

Jimmy Guess Nelson, FA (Alabama), tees off. Jimmy is a pro golfer now, and received recognition on the All-Time All-IKA Football Team.

One of the most important points about rush week was the fact that the Pikes didn't "hotbox" as did most of the other fraternities on the campus. We are proud of the fact that much of the success of rush week was due to the fellowship and friendliness that one can find at any Pike house.

Omicron Installs Television Set

◆ TV STRUCK the IIKAs at the University of Richmond early in the fall and quickly led to the purchase of a handsome Motorola television set for the Shield and Diamond Room. The Richmond IIKAs are among the first Greeks on campus to install video in their quarters. As this new media of entertainment has already produced marked effects on the American scene, according to sociologists, so it has on the Omicron scene. The first effect witnessed came in the rearrangement of the chapter room. When the set arrived, it was apparent to all that the reign of the cabinet model radio-phonograph, despite its newness and beauty, was at an end. Away from the center of attention it was moved against a side wall. And as the radio-phonograph console was moved out, in came the TV set to occupy the place of dominance beneath the Fraternity shield. Likewise, the advent of television immediately antiquated the traditional arrangement of couches, chairs, and tables. Away from the walls came the furniture to be maneuvered into a casual semi-circular arrangement suited for TV spectators.

Television has also had its effect on Omicron interests and jargon. Now not only do they involve just women, football, women, football, and women, but they also concern TV sports, programs on channel six, and TV women! Especially is the virtue of "Kukla, Fran, and Ollie" discussed and debated continuously.

But the greatest effect TV has had on Omicron is its remarkable aid in promoting the Fraternity room as a real congregating place for the brothers. Since the coming of television, the chapter room has been used and filled more than ever. No longer does it serve as just a meeting place. Thanks to the subtle drawing power of TV, it is now a room for lounging, informal get-togethers, and bull sessions which consequently lead to closer friendships and a stronger feeling of brotherhood.

Omicron efforts are now being directed toward December 9, the date of the annual All-State IIKA Ball. The ball is to be held in the Virginia Room of the Hotel John Marshall in downtown Richmond, and as in years past will be attended by brothers from all five Pi Kappa Alpha chapters in the Old Dominion. Chairman for the ball this year is Manning "Bubber" Woodward of Omicron.

The fall months on the U. of R. campus witnessed various IIKA smokers, parties, and dances attended by the brothers and rushees in preparation for the rushing season.

Alpha-Kappa Wins Scholastic Trophy

By SAMUEL J. SCHNEIDER

◆ ALPHA-KAPPA Chapter is again off to another successful year at the Missouri School of Mines and Metallurgy. The 1950 graduation, having reduced the number of actives considerably, enabled the pledging of nineteen new men. The chapter feels sure that these men will greatly enhance Pi Kappa Alpha's prestige and leadership on the campus.

Again for the second straight semester Alpha-Kappa has won the scholarship trophy. The trophy is presented bi-annually by the Interfraternity Council to the fraternity having the highest scholastic average. Under the leadership of Alpha-Kappa's officers, the chapter will strive to maintain this high scholastic rating.

An amazing feat was accomplished early this fall. Through the combined efforts of both actives and pledges, the chapter house was painted in its entirety in one day. After starting at 6 a. m., the painting continued throughout the day until the job was finished late that night. With the newly painted exterior the big house on Route 66 will continue to uphold its reputation as the most beautiful house on the campus.

Thus far, October has been the busiest month of the fall semester. The three big events of October—Parents' Day, Fall Pledge Dance, and Homecoming—have started our social season off on the right foot. Parents' Day proved to be a big success when, despite bad weather, an extremely large crowd turned out for the dinner held here at the chapter house. Just as successful and perhaps even more entertaining, were the annual Pledge Dance and Homecoming. The Pledge Dance was held October 13 and 14 with the highlights of the week end being a wiener roast on Friday night and an informal dance Saturday night. The Ousley Quintet from Jefferson City provided wonderful music for dancing. Homecoming, this year held October 28, was even better than all expectations. A large number of alumni returned, many of whom entertained the active chapter with their stories and anecdotes of the "good old days."

The Big Four

Albert La Pierre

By JEAN ALBI

◆ BUTCHERS . . . bakers . . . jaw-breaker makers! Doctors . . . lawyers . . . mortgage loan stakers!! During the past 36 years, upwards of 400 Beta-Beta (University of Washington) alumni seem to have entered more occupational fields than there are Pi Kappa Alpha chapters.

The fiftieth chapter, Seattle's Beta-Beta, boasts an average of one lawyer per year since its 1914 origin, and almost half as many advertising men. A less populated vocation among BB alumni is that of mortgage loan lending, but there are at least four Pi Kaps in Seattle who've been quite successful in the "high interest" field. In fact their four respective companies do an annual business of more than $50,000,000.

The mortgage quartet, Herndon McKay, Vernon Brice, Ward Kief and Al La Pierre, are all in their mid forties or fifties, all graduates of Beta-Beta and Washington. McKay is mortgage loan manager at Seattle's National Bank of Commerce, and will soon be teaching a class in mortgage loans at the American Institute of Banking in Seattle. He's a member of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers, has recently completed a three-year course in advanced banking at the University. Herndon has seven years of Boy Scout work to his credit, and is particularly active in cub scouting. He's at present a neighborhood Scout commissioner. McKay was born 47 years ago in Missoula, Mont.

In a reminiscent mood McKay recalls: "Vern Brice and I were in school at the same time. While Vernon was pulling an oar for one of the crews, I was acting as house manager trying to keep the boys satisfied with what they claimed was old tires and worn-out leather, not to mention putting some veal in with the creamed chicken to make it go further, and of course trying to make both ends meet in paying the house bills.

"Ward Kief was ahead of Vern and myself in his school work.* I remember one occasion when Ward was severely 'tubbed' which caused a minor flood when the 'tub' overflowed. This in turn caused me some expense to repair the living room ceiling."

Vernon Brice is vice president of White and Bollard, Inc., known as "The Mortgage Firm" in Seattle. Brice is 45 and hails from Portland. He entered the University of Washington and joined Beta-Beta in 1925. Vern earned an honor numeral in crew after rowing against the California frosh in 1926. Brice graduated in accounting and served as Beta-Beta's SMC. He has also served as president of the Seattle Mortgage Bankers Association.

Ward Kief, the third mortgage man, is vice president and general manager of Securities Mortgage Company. Ward has served six of his 53 years on Pi Kappa Alpha's Chapter House Loan Commission. He was initiated into Beta-Beta in 1916, and graduated in civil engineering from Washington in 1920. Kief engaged in engineering, construction and promotional sales engineering until 1931. He joined Securities Mortgage Company in 1932, rising to his present executive position in eight years.

Kief has been active in financing residential subdivisions in Seattle and Tacoma. One of his most recent enterprises is the suburban island Shorewood Apartments on Lake Washington. Ward says he "plays an occasional game of golf purely for the fresh air and friendly associations."

The fourth member of Beta-Beta's mortgage quartet is Al La Pierre, vice president of Carroll, Hedlund & Associates. As president of Budget Homes, Inc., La Pierre has become well known for building the nationally famous $4,999 Dura-Home. Al's Mountlake Terrace project in Seattle's north end has been seen and read about in Life, Time, and Architectural Forum. There are over 300 homes occupied in Mountlake, and La Pierre plans to build another 1,200 two- three- and four-bedroom homes at the Dura-Home site. Al started in the mortgage business in Spokane during the 30's.

Significantly, like Herndon McKay, La Pierre also worked at Ward Kief's Securities Mortgage Company during one stage of his career. Beta-Beta's "birds of a feather" do stick together, yet seem to do well on their own, too.

*Unclear as to whether or not Kief was actually smarter than the others, or just older.

Ceiling prices were unheard of in those days, though the overhead was not high. House Manager McKay was even known to have rent his hair on occasion.

Gamma-Phi Leads At Wake Forest

By C. W. GOLDING

◆ GAMMA-PHI's Wake Forest College lads here in the "Old North State" struck forth again this fall in keeping IKA as the Baptist school's A-No. 1 fraternity. Back in the leaf-turning days of October the campus was set agog as twenty-six men pledged the little white II as theirs, amid Gamma-Phi's winning intramural football games, losing draftees, welcoming a IKA to the law school faculty, cheerleading, clowning, and in general covering the campus like its traditional magnolias.

Climaxing the best rushing season in history and a superb smoker on the last day of rushing, six sophomores and twenty freshmen took the long walk past Fraternity Row only to stop at the south end of Simmons Dorm and be welcomed by a multitude of proud IKAs. The "low goats" seemed to be the pick of the campus rushees, as home towns range from Philadelphia, Pa., to Miami, Fla.

Uncle Sam attacked the Gamma-Phi men early last October as Bob Rawls, Wiley Warren, Ralph Brown, and the Wake campus tradition, "Doc" Murphrey, all were drafted, but deferred. The venerable "Doc," clown of the outfit and most popular brother, also received special notice in the student magazine as the fall's "campus Character," of which only four are picked yearly.

IKA added its third member to the Wake faculty as Samuel Behrends, Jr. began teaching contracts and taxation in the Deacon law school. Sam, former Phi Beta Kappa, ODK, and president of Student Body, has as one of his studious lawyers, his old roommate, IKA Col. Bob Leatherwood!

With Bill Eaker, secretary of Student Body, Jennings Agner, SMC, Senior Student Council Representative, and Bill Golding, Jr., Student Legislature representative, helping run the school's student administration; with Lee Cain managing the Deacs' annual for '51 and Golding the student magazine, Pledge Gene Boyce cheerleading, Cain and Golding heading the Business Frats as president and vice president respectively; Wiley Warren, ODK, editing the sports page of the student newspaper, Vern Wall heading the Literary Society and ministerial fraternity president; C. D. Clark ruling campus politics; and Murphrey clowning; it is small wonder that Gamma-Phi's men and chapter are the pick of the ceds and entire campus!

Pigott Entertains At L. S. U.

◆ THE Pike grads from the "Ole War Skule" returned to their Alma Mater, L.S.U., for Homecoming this fall. During the week end there were many gay festivities and celebrations taking place throughout the entire campus. There was never a dull moment for anyone.

To start the ball rolling, the L.S.U. Homecoming Dance took place Friday night in the gym-armory. Here the Pikes and their dates danced to the melodious music of Stan Kenton's orchestra. Kenton was brought to the campus especially for the occasion.

Classes were dismissed Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in order that the various Homecoming celebrations could begin early. At the Pike house, one block outside the south gate, things were being prepared for the day. The house was decorated inside, and Homecoming decorations were being placed in front. After feverish last minute preparations the project was finished just a few minutes before the deadline. We then sat back, admired our efforts of art, and waited for the crowd that we knew would come. And did it come! That afternoon hundreds of alumni, their families and friends converged on the house. After serving the older brothers some of our famous "Pike Punch," the party got well under way.

Entertainment was furnished by several of the accomplished singers and piano players of the chapter. Our star attraction was Brother Glen Pigott, noted pianist and composer, who has just recently returned to the L.S.U. campus to finish the work necessary for his degree in music. For the past two years Glen has been pianist and accompanist for Dick Contino's orchestra. He sang several of his creations which literally brought down the house. Glen also took part in the L.S.U. Homecoming held in the gym-armory. He was chairman in charge of the musical score for the entire affair. To the delight of the old grads, he sang several of his own compositions while accompanying himself on the piano. An article on Brother Pigott appeared recently in the December, 1949, issue of The Shield and Diamond.

All afternoon there was a continuous pour of alumni and friends in and out of our humble home on Highland Road. As the Homecoming football game was so important, the party adjourned temporarily so that everyone could go to the game in a body in order to form a Pike cheering section. However, the outcome of the game dampened the spirits of the Homecoming crowd, L.S.U. losing to Georgia Tech, 13 to 0. Even though the game was lost, the celebration at the house continued. As one who has attended several Homecomings in the past, I can state that without a doubt this was the best reunion held in many a year.

Delta Stays On Top On Hilltop Campus

By CHRIS HAUER, JR.

♦ It's getting to be a habit. Yes, the tabulation of events of the lately ended spring and summer quarters and the newly inaugurated fall quarter shows that Pi Kappa Alpha is still, by far, the top fraternity on the Hilltop campus of Birmingham-Southern College.

A whirlwind closed rush season this fall found IKA with a new pledge class of twenty-three men—the cream of the crop, and twice as many as any other fraternity on the campus.

But we Pikes weren't content to be just the biggest. We had to be best, too. Our round of rush parties seemed to convince the freshmen. We got the rush season off to a good start with a buffet supper at Calico Corner. Our special guests of the evening were four pretty Howard Greer fashion models, Misses Jerry Cameron, Gini Adams, Joanne Robert and Jackie Lee, who were in Birmingham appearing in "Symphony in Fashion." We were proud to present as guest artists on the program Brothers Chris Crawford and Al DeFoor, Gamma-Alpha's inimitable gifts to western culture.

Celluloid collars and bustles were the order of the evening at Delta's traditional Gay Nineties Party. The "1890 Revue" featured such outstanding talent as Carlos, the great magician, and Miss Frieda Roser, former Miss Alabama.

Brother Earl Norwood donned the chef's cap and apron to preside over the preparations for our final rush party of the season, a spaghetti supper at Roebuck Country Club. Brothers Andrew

H. Knight and Dan Nunnelley, outgoing National President and District President, respectively, delivered the featured addresses.

Pi Kappa Alpha's annual Garnet and Gold Ball, traditionally the curtain-raiser of the Southern social season, held this year on October 21, ran true to form in setting a high mark for any aspiring competitor to attempt to top. Pronounced a tremendous success by all, the dance was led by Miss Marilyn Miller, Pi Beta Phi, and Delta SMC Joe Crump. The decorations, which included a full canopy over the Southern Gymnasium, followed a Halloween theme with a Cinderella coach at the central object in the leadout set. Members of the Pi Kappa Alpha Mothers' Club served refreshments and acted as chaperones. A breakfast at the Mountain Brook Lodge followed the dance.

Banner Year For Beta-Beta

By DEAN KALLANDER

♦ BETA-BETA is looking forward to a banner year under the leadership of new officers. In the driver's seat this year is SMC Ken McKibben. Ken held the position of IMC last year and was active in campus affairs.

Beta-Beta's new house has been in the planning stage for a long time but now with the plans and specifications completed except for a few minor changes, it is almost a reality.

Competition was keen during rush week between the thirty-nine fraternities on the University of Washington campus because of the large graduating class from Greek Row, but under the able direction of Ted Golding, Beta-Beta pledged twenty excellent men. The new men are already interested in campus activities. Don Kelly, Bud Smithson and Larry Hayden are already turning out for crew, the sport that has made Washington known throughout the country and the world.

Alpha Boasts Head Cheerleader

By PAUL MEADERS, JR.

♦ ALPHA is proud to announce that Brother Bob Mills is the head cheerleader for the University of Virginia this year. His outstanding ability during the past three years led to this achievement.

With the opening of fall sports the chapter has a fine year ahead. With a fast starting backfield and a rugged line captained by Brother Mouth Coker it looks as if we will win the fraternity league.

We are very proud of the new improvements here at the house. Through the careful planning of SMC Frank Allen and Th.C. Harry Etheridge we were able to secure enough capital to refurnish all of the rooms for the brothers. Also, we are proud of our new console radio phonograph.

The social season is at its peak here at Alpha. We have already had one giant party after the first football game which almost all of the University students attended. A gala party is planned for the Homecoming-Openings Dance Week End. At both of these parties music has been furnished by a very fine combo.

Who's Who At Mu

RAVIS B. STEVENSON, JR.

DAVID NEVILLE, JR.

HARRY S. DENT

WALTER GOOCH

◆ MU CHAPTER is leading the way at Presbyterian College in South Carolina in a big way this year. The Men of Mu are setting a sharp pace for their college mates at Presbyterian in student activities, scholarship, and on the athletic field.

In student activities IIKAs hold most of the key campus positions. Among the top posts held are the Student Christian Association presidency—David Neville, Jr.; PaC-SaC editor, student body vice president, and chairman of the honor system—Harry S. Dent; International Relations Club president—Travis B. Stevenson, Jr.; Block "P" Club and senior class president—Walter Gooch; junior class president—Robert "Bo" Atkinson; and publication business managers—Laddie Brearley and Johnnie Thurman.

Five of the Mu brothers are members of Blue Key National Honorary Leadership Fraternity. The chapter at Presbyterian has ten members, the IIKAs comprising half the membership.

Then—as if this were not enough—four of the eight seniors chosen to represent the college in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities are IIKAs.

Results of late class officer elections show the IIKAs to be on top once again. This time the Men of Mu garnered all four positions in the senior class, all but secretary in the junior class, and all but president and secretary in the sophomore class. With pledging delayed until second semester, the IIKAs didn't get a shot at frosh class honors.

In scholarship the chapter has the leading man on the campus in scholastic standing. Travis B. Stevenson, Jr. Stevenson is destined to be class valedictorian, thus far ahead of the field with only one mark below an all-A average for four years.

Athletics, however, is where the IIKAs of Mu really shine. Here they boast both co-captains of the 1950 football team—Fullback Walter Gooch and Guard H. C. "Speedy" Starnes. Besides this, there are 19 IIKAs on the varsity squad. In other varsity sports the Mu Men set just as sharp a pace.

At present the Presbyterian IIKAs are leading the intramural football race with a clean slate by lop-sided scores.

So with brotherhood and fellowship at its peak at Presbyterian College, members of Mu Chapter continue to lengthen their long strides of leadership on the campus in all fields of endeavor.

Gamma-Psi Fetes Sorority Pledges

◆ GAMMA-PSI kicked off its new year with real enthusiasm. In keeping with its old social spirit, two parties were given. The annual party for the sorority pledges was held in the Student Center. This party is given every year by Gamma-Psi honoring the girls who have just pledged the six sororities on the campus. The first thing the girls do when they come to the party is to sign a guest book with their name and address, their preference as to men, and what activities they enjoy most. This address book is to be kept by the actives and pledges of Gamma-Psi as reference for getting dates. The first part of the party was confined to introductions and getting acquainted. After this, refreshments were served and entertainment was provided by the members of the Fraternity.

The annual fall hayride and wiener roast was given on a very beautiful Friday night, and everyone had a wonderful time singing and eating. Open house is also being held every Saturday night and is being enjoyed very much by all actives and pledges.

Gamma-Psi has a very good representation on the campus in all activities. We have the presidency of the Student Body and vice presidency of the Student Union. We have members in Delta Sigma Pi, honorary business fraternity; Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary leadership fraternity; Demeter Club, agricultural club; and Alpha Pi Epsilon, honorary biology fraternity.

The pledges have shown a great deal of leadership this year also. Pledge William Cook was elected varsity cheerleader, and Pledge Ray Holland was appointed editor-in-chief of the Louisiana Tech Tech Talk.

George Belin is vice president and Harry Chappell is treasurer of the Louisiana Student Federation, an organization of all college students in Louisiana colleges.

Kansas City Purchases Achievement Plaques

By TOM J. SCAHILL

◆ THE Kansas City Alumni Group started off an active year in September by helping with a rush function (Train Date) with the Beta-Gamma active chapter. A fine banquet and floor show was held at the Brookside Hotel, Kansas City. Speaker for the occasion was C. Kelsey Mathews, BΓ.

Regular monthly meetings started in October and with these began two very important activities in connection with the active chapters in the Kansas City area.

First, three outstanding achievement plaques have been purchased by the K. C. Alumni and will be presented each year to the most outstanding ΠΚΑ at the Kansas, Kansas State and Missouri chapters. The award will be based on leadership, scholarship and service. The names of the three outstanding ΠΚΑs will be announced at the annual Founder's Day Ball in March.

In the awarding of these plaques each year, it is hoped that better alumni-active relations will be established.

Second, a Caravan committee composed of outstanding ΠΚΑ civic and professional leaders are ready to visit the active chapters to give professional advice to the actives and pledges regarding training for jobs and any other guidance and help they can provide. Dr. S. S. Titus, AN, is in charge of this work and has lined up some of our ΠΚΑ leaders in this area to help out in this important project.

Alumni Chapter Active In Birmingham

By FRED FREEMAN

◆ AMONG members of the Birmingham Alumni to attend the recent National Convention in Cincinnati were: Past President Hank Knight and Mrs. Knight; Past President Roy Hickman and Mrs. Hickman; Dr. John Fincher, National Educational Adviser; Dan Nunnelley, District President; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Freeman; Jimmie Brown, Walter Cox and Bob McRee. Everyone making the trip expressed themselves as enjoying it thoroughly and looking forward to the next one!

The Birmingham Alumni Chapter has been holding its regular luncheon meeting the fourth Friday in each month at the Molton Hotel, 12:15 to 1:15 p. m. Notices of the meeting are mailed out to approximately 150 brothers a few days before each meeting, with return, self-addressed post card attached, to enable the secretary to make the proper number of reservations.

There are many more Pikes in the Birmingham area who should be contacted, but lack of names and addresses restricts our mailing list. We try to make each meeting interesting, and take this means of offering a most cordial invitation to any of the actives or alumni who may be in our city on the luncheon days to drop by and spend a sociable hour with us.

Bank Executive Assumes New Duties

◆ WELDON U. HOWELL, BZ (Southern Methodist Univ.) was named president of the Highland Park State Bank, Dallas, Texas, at a meeting of the board of directors of the fashionable community bank.

Howell, former president of the Greenville Avenue State Bank of Dallas, assumed his duties as head of the $10,000,000 Highland Park financial house August 1.

He had served as organizing officer of the Greenville Avenue bank since it started business February 15, 1946, being its executive vice president until January of this year when he was made its president. Under his direction the bank grew in resources from $500,000 four years ago to $5,356,809, according to figures of the June 30 call statement.

Born and reared in Marfa, Texas, Howell graduated from S.M.U. and the Graduate School of Banking, Rutgers University. Since his graduation from S.M.U., he has served actively in ΠΚΑ, being state alumni president, Trustee of Shield and Diamond Endowment Fund, alumnus counselor to Beta-Zeta chapter, and is now vice president of the chapter's House Fund.

John U. Field, K, donor, congratulates Charles Campbell, Ω, whose name will be entered on the plaque as the outstanding pledge of 1950.

Dr. Addison W. Simpson, M (Presbyterian), prominent Washington (Ga.) physician, received the Gold P alumni award of the year at Presbyterian College. This award is given annually to the alumnus who has made outstanding progress and achievement in his chosen profession.

Dr. G. Burroughs Mider, BΘ (Cornell), is a professor of cancer research at the University of Rochester.

District Convention Held at Delta-Beta

◆ DELTA-BETA Chapter invited all other Ohio chapters of Pi Kappa Alpha to its campus for the annual District Three convention, and proceeded to be poor hosts as they walked off with the top honor, the Outstanding Chapter Award for 1950.

Convention proceedings were started with a welcome speech by Dr. Frank J. Prout, fraternity-minded president of Bowling Green. Business got under way in the Gate Theatre building as committees began work immediately.

Open panel discussions were held on all-state rushing, pledge training, alumni relations, District President systems, chapter scholarship, and finance.

Evening festivities included a banquet and dance for brothers and dates. The banquet speakers represented an inspiring array of Pi Kappa Alpha influentials. Brother Earl Wagner of Cincinnati, National Convention handy-man, was the featured speaker.

Other speakers included Field Secretary John Horton, District President Ralph Yeager, and Dr. Walter A. Zaugg of Bowling Green. Donald Dickson, chairman of the convention, served as toastmaster.

The closed dance was a particular success, featuring a spring theme, complete with all the trimmings including popular Bee Gee co-eds.

Delta-Beta, playing host for the first time to a District convention, sincerely hopes that every brother attending went back to their chapters with new spirit and vigor. Ohio is strong in Pi Kappa Alpha circles, and we hope to keep it that way, through good District conventions.

In addition to winning a plaque for its chapter year, Delta-Beta is awarding a district scholarship cup to the chapter with the highest point average in the district for the past convention year.

To sum it all up: Delta-Beta enjoyed having you, come back again!

Iota's New House Receives Finishing Touches

◆ THE second year in the new home holds a great deal to look forward to and presents a great challenge to us all. We not only hope to hold the pace set last year, but to surpass it. As is to be expected with a new house, there is considerable work available for every willing hand. Now that our house is complete on the inside, we have set forth to make the grounds more attractive. With very little backing a bulldozer was hired and every brother donned his working attire and furnished all the necessary labor. The result being the removal of several unattractive trees, the front lawn terraced, and winter grass planted. A few of the more ambitious brothers felt that with Homecoming only a week away there should be a walk or two; in a matter of two days there was a stone walk around the house leading to the driveway. This work, however, is only a start for the work that will be done this year. Work is also being done by every brother to raise the scholastic average of our chapter on the hill.

We don't know whether it was the desire to be first or the wonderful summer, but four of the brothers came back to school this fall with beautiful wives. They were G. T. Brooks, "Gene" Riley, "Boots" Foreman and Dick Little. Some happy news reached us about two of the older brothers, Gordon Van Ness and Gus Fuller, who are now fathers. We received some very sad news a few weeks ago, that we're sure will be felt by all older brothers. Lt. Cecil Barnett died of wounds received from combat in Korea.

Alpha-Xi Visits Omega In Football Season

By CHUCK HEISER

◆ FIGHT team fight! Representing the University of Cincinnati, Alpha-Xi Chapter cheered their Bearcats on against the Kentucky Wildcats at Lexington, Ky., October 14. The game was chosen as the annual migration day for the student body and, as usual, the Pikes chartered a bus and went en mass to witness the game.

After the game, actives, pledges and dates went to a party given by Omega Chapter of the University of Kentucky. This event is hoped to be a tradition before long, as a wonderful time is always had by all.

As rush period drew to a close, the University of Cincinnati found Alpha-Xi Chapter well equipped with nearly thirty excellent pledges. For more than three weeks, rushees were wined and dined and many parties kept studies a big question. Now, by the looks of some of the pledges, ΠΚΑ should be well up in all intramural sports again this year.

Holding a record they are trying to beat, that of ranking second in the University for all year participation in various campus functions, the Pikes are shooting for scholastic honors also. Some of the many campus activities and honoraries represented are: President of Business Administration Tribunal, Business Manager and Managing Editor of the campus newspaper, executive board of the Y.M.C.A., Sophos, staff members of the yearbook and Mummers Guild.

Delta-Epsilon Leads In Pledging

◆ DELTA-EPSILON again led in pledging at the University of Chattanooga. For the second time in three years the Pikes captured the pledge honors with what we consider choice men. Three weeks of hard rushing paid off with 24 men which nearly doubled the chapter.

Summer highlights were of course the trip to the Pike Convention in Cincinnati. Brothers Johnson, Gilbert and Sompayrac attended the Convention and brought back many helpful hints for the year plus a great deal of good will from other chapters.

After the recent Tennessee-Chattanooga football game Zeta Chapter entertained with a swell party for us in Knoxville. Fraternalism was high, and all enjoyed the brotherly spirit.

Intramurals will get under way soon, and the Pike teams promise to again be among the top. The undefeated basketball and volleyball teams of last year are mostly intact again, and added strength from the pledge group promises us much in the way of intramural competition.

On the campus Pi Kappa Alpha is very strong, perhaps more than in recent years. Roddy Broome and Bob Womack are president and vice president of the junior class. Jim McSween is junior class representative on the Honor Council and Student Council. Howard Sompayrac is president of the Student Body, president of the senior class, and the only Pike on the basketball team. John Hawkins, John Lovelady and George Henson are pledges from the freshman football team.

Kirk Bryan

A Eulogy by Dr. France V. Scholes, Academic Vice President of the University of New Mexico

◆ THREE years ago at the annual commencement exercises of the University of New Mexico it was my privilege to present Professor Kirk Bryan of Harvard University, a friend of many years, for the honorary degree of Doctor of Science. In conferring upon him this degree, the university honored itself by recognizing the scientific achievement of a distinguished graduate and native New Mexican. Today in sorrow I make this brief review of his career, suddenly brought to an end in the western mountains where he had spent so many years of fruitful work.

Geologists all over the world knew Kirk Bryan as a noted physiographer or geomorphologist, a specialist in the study of land forms, but the amazing versatility of his interests was what made his career such a striking one. He was generally recognized as the leading American student of the geologic processes of arid regions, but these studies led him into many other fields, such as ground water and hydrology, irrigation problems, selection of sites for dams and reservoirs, silting of reservoirs, channel erosion, wind work, and glaciation.

His writing was equally extensive in scope and covered an almost incredible range of interests, including, to mention only a few, such subjects as glaciology, prehistoric quarries, manufacture of artifacts, hot and cold springs, mountain pediments, cuestas and bajadas, periglacial phenomena, wind-polished rocks, soils, military geography, and international cooperation in geomorphology and in other sciences. His writing was as prolific as it was varied in content. Beginning in 1909, the year of his graduation from the University of New Mexico, Professor Bryan wrote more than a hundred papers, totalling well over two thousand printed pages and illustrated by hundreds of sketches, maps and photographs. These articles, reports, and bulletins were published in thirty-eight different journals or series.

Although much of his work was done in New Mexico, especially in the Rio Grande Valley, Professor Bryan published reports on areas in Texas, Arizona, Utah and Colorado, and from coast to coast, the Sacramento Valley of California, the Columbia Plateau of Washington, Arkansas, Minnesota, and on New England, the Carolinas, Bermuda, and Mexico.

Characteristic of his life and work was an abiding interest in the people, past and present, of the widespread areas of his geologic investigations. He was ready always to place his scientific knowledge at the service of his country and his country's neighbors. As geological consultant for the United States Government he had an important part in the selection of sites for Grand Coulee Dam in Washington, and Boulder Dam on the Colorado River. In New Mexico, he performed outstanding service as physiographer for the Rio Grande Conservancy District, and in Old Mexico, he was adviser on important irrigation projects. It was this same interest in the people who have dwelt upon the earth and whose lives have been conditioned by its changing scene that inspired his studies of early man and prehistoric agriculture in the Southwest and his report on the desert watering places of the Papago country.

The warm human qualities of Kirk Bryan, his unlimited capacity for friendship, explain his eminent success as a teacher and the loyalty of his students and colleagues. His teaching career began in 1914 at Yale, where he received his doctorate. From 1926 to the present year he served with distinction on the faculty of Harvard College. In addition to the many hundreds of undergraduates who sat under him at Harvard, were the scores of graduate students who came from colleges all over the country to specialize in physiography during the quarter of a century he taught there.

Beginning in 1931 he brought many groups of both undergraduate and graduate students to New Mexico for summer field schools to be inducted into the joys and hardships of geological study. "Here was developed," to use Professor Bryan's own words, "the interest in the problems of the Southwest, in the geologic story of its hills and plateaus, its canyons and its badlands, which has kept the enterprise going," and which set into motion a continuing "campaign of research carried on largely by the individual enterprise, but directed toward a common attack on the general geologic and geomorphic problems of central New Mexico."

By 1940, in a span of less than ten years, Professor Bryan and his students had a total of twenty-three different projects under way in the Southwest, chiefly in New Mexico. Most of these have been completed and the results published. Some of these students who obtained their Ph.D. degree under him are now employed by the United States Geological Survey; others have become teachers, some at small colleges and many at large universities. A dozen of them have already achieved the distinction of being elected to the Geological Society of America, of which Professor Bryan was an honored member.

As he once wrote in the Harvard Alumni Bulletin:

"Clear bright air, banked fluffs of white clouds, sun-bathed plains and mountains draw into the Southwest a yearly pilgrimage. As varied in background, as unlike in purpose as that better-recorded group who went to Canterbury, this modern cavalcade includes a few who claim no other motive than the search for and interpretation of the facts that lie concealed within and below the spectacular mountain plains and plateaus. Like the tourists and the artists, the geologists who set forth each year from Harvard may revel in the sage-scented air, but their real quest is the geologic truth that lies hidden beneath the roots of cactus, sage, and pinon, on sun-drenched hillside and in grim-walled canyon. They arrive by train, by bus, and by worn jalopy, alert, intent to ferret out the secrets of the earth.

"One may inquire why so many of these men turn up year after year? What is important about the Harvard geologic campaign that is in the Southwest? . . . Adventure, the love of nature, are motives that young geologists either deny or ignore."

What Professor Bryan could not, in modesty, add is that it was his own enthusiasm that drew them back year after year. He was one of those rare teachers who could instill enthusiasm for a subject in his students. His students loved him and respected him as a teacher, as a geologist, and as a friend. What more could any man desire?

James R. Taylor, president of Indiana University House Corporation of Pi Kappa Alpha, represented his Fraternity and was a guest of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity at an interfraternity luncheon at the Edgewater Beach Hotel on September 5, 1950. The luncheon was a feature of Lambda Chi Alpha's 22nd Biennial Convention, and was held in honor of the member fraternities of the National Interfraternity Conference. Nineteen fraternities were represented by past and present national officers, alumni officers, executive secretaries, and delegated representatives. More than 300 guests and members of Lambda Chi Alpha were in attendance at the luncheon.

Dream Girl Chosen By Gamma-Xi

By HERB KINDER

◆ WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE has seen more of Gamma-Xi Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha this last year than in the Fraternity's twenty-two years on the campus. In almost every phase of campus life we have taken some honor.

In the fall semester the "Roaring Twenties," "Glee-Haw," and "Hobo Hop" were dances that had made us the envy of every house on campus. In the spring "Song Title Serenade" and another "Glee-Haw" were also well received. "Winter Retreat" was the pledges' theme for their annual dance—a fiesta South of the Border.

All sororities looked forward to the Dream Girl Contest in May. Of the twenty-five candidates participating, five were chosen as finalists. Before choosing their finalists a tea, an after-dinner dance and a picnic brought all contestants to the chapter house. The finalists were entertained with a formal tea and candlelight dinner the week before the formal dance.

Miss Phyliss Tanner, Delta Gamma, has been selected Dream Girl of 1950 by Gamma-Xi Chapter.

Under Brother Stuart McEllheney's direction the Washington Hotel ballroom was decorated to depict an "Undersea Fantasy." Surrealistic fish, driftwood and indirect lighting brought compliments from all the guests. As the "Dream Girl Song" was being played by the orchestra, Miss Phyliss Tanner, Delta Gamma, stepped through the huge replica of the Fraternity's badge. She received a sweetheart pin, a dozen red roses and our new Dream Girl Cup.

Brother Bud Boytz brought honor to the house in sports. He was a member of the W.S.C. baseball team that placed second in the N.C.A.A. baseball tournament at Omaha, Neb. As left fielder he was indispensable in the Cougar lineup.

Brother John Chambers should be called "Veep of the Year." He was elected IMC of the chapter, vice president of I.F.C. and junior class vice president.

Brothers Jack Nettleship, Rex Walker, Roy Wyatt and Herb Kinder represented us in dramatics. Brother Kinder was elected president of the National Collegiate Players, senior drama organization. He also received honors in radio, junior I.F.C., and campus committees.

During Mother's week end a Mother's Club was founded. Mrs. Dale Ragon was selected president. We also presented our housemother, Mrs. T. W. Macartney, with a mother-sweetheart pin. Through her helpful advice we were able to keep our year's prestige on campus.

Movie Star Crowns Gamma-Eta Dream Girl

By DICK GILBERT

◆ BIGGEST social event of the year for Gamma-Eta was the annual Dream Girl Ball, held at the beautiful Beverly-Wilshire Hotel in Beverly Hills. Each sorority and women's dormitory at Southern California is allowed two nominees, who are entertained by the chapter at a series of parties and dinners. After each event the chapter meets and votes on the contestants, half the field being eliminated after each function until only five remain. The lucky five are escorted by members of the chapter to the formal ball where the final judging takes place. The choice of a Dream Girl is made by a panel of Hollywood motion picture executives.

Chosen Dream Girl of Pi Kappa Alpha for 1950 was petite brunette Jeanette Melbourne of Delta Gamma sorority. Her attendants were Sue Earle, Pi Beta Phi; Janet Brett, Delta Delta Delta; Lyla Tilston, Delta Gamma; and Lois Owenby, Pi Beta Phi. In addition to the traditional Dream Girl trophy, Miss Melbourne received a television school scholarship, a silver service, and gifts from Saks Fifth Avenue.

On hand to present the trophy was lovely Rhonda Fleming of Paramount Studios, this year's honorary Dream Girl. Last year's honorary Dream Girl was M-G-M star Elizabeth Taylor.

The Dream Girl contest and formal ball have become a tradition at Gamma-Eta, and together always rank as one of the top social events of the year at the University of Southern California.

Homecoming Celebrated At Iowa State

◆ ALPHA-PHI of Iowa State College was host to 95 alums and their wives at their Homecoming of 1950. This represented about one-fourth of the total enrollment since the chapter was chartered. A block of tickets was reserved for the Homecoming game between Iowa State and Kansas University.

Immediately following the game, the alumni had a barbecue in the back lot of the chapter house.

The Skyliners provided music for the annual barn dance. Paul Norton, Jr., was chairman of the entertainment and music committees, and Mike Foley was in charge of the barn dance decorations. Chaperons for the dance were Mrs. Clara Frank, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Veline, and Professor and Mrs. R. Benecke. Under the able direction of Tom Robinson, our Homecoming decoration received honorable mention among fraternity decorations.

The dance was followed on Sunday by a bountiful meal of fried chicken and trimmings on which the actives, pledges, 58 alums, and guests did full justice.

Alpha-Phi pledged 12 men during rush week this fall, filling the house with 46 men. We also have four men living outside.

Beta-Gamma Honors Housemother with Tea

By DICK HARPER

◆ THE draft has hit Beta-Gamma Chapter just as it has every other chapter this year. With only 33 actives and five pledges returning this fall, and a far below quota number of rushees, Beta-Gamma met with stiff competition during rush week. But as usual Pi Kappa Alpha came out on top with 15 good pledges.

After a rugged clean-up week at the "old castle" we were swept into rush week and varied fall activities. We started this year with a new housemother, Mrs. Frank W. Baird. She has certainly done more than her share of hard work at the house this fall. Mother Baird was introduced to the campus at a formal tea, which was held at the first of October.

The chapter has entertained after each home football game this fall with "burger nights." These consist of informal buffet suppers and an evening of dancing. Our big fall party, The Twelfth Street Brawl, is yet to come, but the entire chapter is eagerly anticipating it.

The intramural football team started out this year with a one-point loss to Phi Delta Theta, but they rallied back to swamp the Sigma Nu's by 13-0. With a big start this season, Beta-Gamma will again go through the year with a fine record.

Alpha-Eta Tradition

◆ AS THAT name sang over the heads of the delegates to the Pi Kappa Alpha National Convention, all heads began to turn toward the aged Negro as he slowly walked up to the platform. In his short address he thanked the assembly for being so kind to him during his stay in Cincinnati, and in his humble manner told them of this first trip out of Florida and his long association with Alpha-Eta. To many of the delegates Albert was just another interesting speaker, but to those from Alpha-Eta he meant much more.

Albert, or Hymie as he is sometimes called, is part of the chapter at Florida. He is practically a tradition here. To many of the brothers and alumni of Alpha-Eta, Albert was always here and will always be here; but we really saw the first of him in 1919 when we hired a 15-year-old Negro houseboy. Albert in his thirty-one years with us has meant something different to every generation of Pikes here at the house.

To those of 1924 he was the plasterer, painter, carpenter and yardman who helped build our present home. He grew potatoes in the back yard, for the hard-pressed boys of '29. To those of 1936 he was the man of the year for putting out the fire that could have destroyed the house one week end while the brothers were gone. Every homecoming Albert can be heard calling the Alumni by their full names, for he has retained over fifteen hundred names of the brothers he has served. Yes, up there on the platform that grey-headed man is more than a speaker, he is and will always be to those who know him as a part of Alpha-Eta.

Many times Albert has been asked the question that since he has been here so long just why hasn't he been initiated; to which he always replies, "Shucks, I've already got two black balls."

Beta-Eta Has Dance With Modern Theme

By WILLIAM RUSCH

◆ LED by the newly elected chapter officers, Beta-Eta has plunged into the semester's activities with the purpose of bettering last year's fine showing.

After the initiation of six men pledged during the spring semester, the chapter's energies were directed toward formal rush week. As a result of thorough ground work laid during the summer by John Palandech, rush chairman, and excellent rushing during the week, the Pikes pledged eight promising men. These in addition to the four pledged informally last spring and the three pledged informally this fall, make up the present pledge class.

The pledge class under the direction of Brother Jerry McGirk presented "Abstract Mood," the first dance of the semester. The theme was very successfully carried out through the use of modern sculpture illuminated by colored lights.

Other fall social activities include occasional record dances, a hay rake party, six dessert exchanges with various sororities, and the annual football game with Zeta Tau Alpha sorority.

Fall athletic activities are well under way with entries in touch football, handball, tennis, and water polo. The annual pledge-active football game was held October 15. The evenly matched teams went scoreless until the last two minutes when the actives passed for a touchdown, and on the subsequent kickoff caught the pledges' ball carrier in the end zone for a safety and final score of 8-0.

Activities have not been neglected. Pledges and younger members are being urged to join. Two older brothers have become campus activity leaders. They are Bill Livingston, the new Interfraternity Council treasurer, and Bob Wold, appointed to a sophomore editorship on the university yearbook.

Beta-Lambda Sells House

By WEAKS G. SMITH

◆ BETA-LAMBDA Chapter is operating without a house this semester for the first time in many years. In August the local alumni and the chapter agreed that the quarters at 6146 Pershing Avenue were inadequate for the future growth of the chapter, and the place was sold shortly thereafter. It is hoped that soon the chapter may move into larger and better quarters in order that activities may be resumed.

Rush Week at the beginning of the fall semester was fairly successful with the pledging of a few good men. Actives and pledges are getting together on and off campus as often as possible without a house.

Russ M. Ott, SMC, and the other chapter officers are proving their capabilities despite many handicaps. Local alumni under the leadership of Jim Brown, District President, and John G. Hornecker, President of the House Corporation, are doing a splendid job in an effort to secure a new house for the chapter.

General Ott Retires From Active Duty

By LOUIS ENGELKE

◆ BRIG. GEN. ISAAC W. OTT, Ω (Kentucky), a Pi Kappa Alpha member who introduced production line technique to Army Air Forces maintenance in the early days of World War II, now resides in retirement at 115 Lagos Lane, Alamo Heights, a suburb of San Antonio.

General Ott was chief of maintenance at Kelly Field, San Antonio, in 1941, when he introduced production line methods in servicing aircraft to the Air Corps. Through methods he introduced, thousands of planes could be serviced in the time it formerly took to service hundreds.

When the Kelly project proved such a success, he was sent to Oklahoma City, where he installed a similar system at Tinker Field as a model depot.

Soon the system was adopted at air bases all over the United States. Then in 1943, General Ott established the system at the huge Burtonwood Air Base in England, and the plan was adopted in the United Kingdom.

In England, although he was only 40 years old at the time, General Ott, as a brigadier general, was named chief of maintenance for the U. S. Strategic Air Forces in Europe. He served in that post in England and in France until the end of the war.

After the war, he became chief of the maintenance division at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio.

Following an accident at his home in Dayton in which he suffered re-injury to his back, previously injured in a 1936 plane crash, he was retired with a physical disability with the rank of brigadier general on August 31, 1946. He was 43 at the time.

After his retirement, General Ott moved to San Antonio, where more than 50 other retired Army and Air Force generals live. For several years, the general was affiliated with Slick Airways, the largest commercial air freight line in the world, which makes its headquarters in San Antonio. He resigned from the Slick organization and is now engaged in the real estate business with the Houston M. Scarborough firm, 3008 Broadway.

General Ott was born in Osaka, Miss., on April 6 (Army Day), 1903. He was graduated from the University of Kentucky with a bachelor of arts degree in 1926. At the university he pledged Pi Kappa Alpha and was an outstanding football player.

He entered the Air Corps Primary School as an air cadet in 1927 at Brooks Field, San Antonio, graduating in 1928.

BRIG. GEN. ISAAC W. OTT

He completed the Advanced Observation School at Kelly Field the same year, graduated from the Air Technical and Maintenance Course, Chanute Field, Ill., in 1931, and the Air Tactical School, Maxwell Field, Montgomery, Ala., in 1939.

During the war, he was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal, the Bronze Star Medal, Legion of Merit, French Legion of Honor and the French Croix de Guerre.

Mrs. Ott is the former Sara Claire Lurton of Montgomery, Ala. The Otts have two daughters, Suzanne, 16, and Lurton, 11, both students at St. Mary's Hall, San Antonio.

Ten Men Honored at Beta-Sigma

By JAMES E. WALKER

◆ BETA-SIGMA's campus activities reached a peak for the year at honoraries call day in the spring. Omicron Delta Kappa, senior men's honorary, called a total of eight men, four of which were IKA's—Eugene Sapper, William Dorn, Capel McCutcheon and Donald Culler. Delta-Skull, junior men's honorary, called twelve men, four being IKA's—Robert Lynch, Donald Leatherberry, W. W. Apple and S. Mitchell. Scimitars, sophomore men's honorary, called thirteen men, two of which were IKA's—Paul Shively and James Walker.

From a student body of approximately 4,000, thirty-three men were called, and ten were IKA's. This is one of the largest percentages of honorary positions ever held by one fraternity on the campus.

The chapter's first annual Dream Girl of IKA formal at the South Hills Country Club was the highlight of the year's social activities. James F. Trautman, SMC, presented a trophy to our Dream Girl, Linda Cowan, Kappa Alpha Theta. The formal was acclaimed a success by all members and their guests.

In intramural sports Beta-Sigma ended the year by capturing the all-school championship in table-tennis and second place award in the school sweepstakes.

The present year promises to be even better for the chapter. We are off to a good start by pledging twenty men during a successful rush season.

ROBERT H. LAFFERTY

◆ DR. ROBERT H. LAFFERTY, B (Davidson College), prominent radiologist and one of the pioneer workers with X-rays and radium in the South, died on July 31, 1950, in Charlotte, N. C. He was a member of the consultant staffs of the Presbyterian, Mercy and Charlotte Memorial Hospitals in Charlotte, and of the Marion Sims Memorial Hospital in Lancaster, S. C.

Brother Lafferty was educated at Davidson College and received the degree of Doctor of Medicine from the North Carolina Medical College. He did graduate work at the University of Chicago. For several years, he taught at Davidson College and at the North Carolina Medical College. He entered private practice in 1915, specializing in urology and radiology, and from that time devoted his entire time to the practice of radiology, being especially interested in the treatment of cancer.

Dr. Lafferty was a member of the North Carolina Medical Society, Southern Medical Society, American Roentgen Ray Society, Radiological Society, and was a charter member of the American College of Radiology. Devoted to religious work, he also was superintendent of the Sunday School branch of Covenant Presbyterian Church for 30 years.

JOHN WILLIAMS HUDSON

◆ JOHN WILLIAMS HUDSON, Z (Tennessee), practicing attorney and prominent citizen of Knoxville, Tenn., died in September, 1950. Brother Hudson had been associated with Real Estate Title Insurance Company for twenty years. He was a trustee and long-time member of Second Presbyterian Church. He belonged to the local, state and national bar associations, to the Sons of the American Revolution, and was a Mason.

After graduation from the University of Tennessee Brother Hudson received degrees from Harvard University in 1901 and the University of Tennessee Law College in 1903. Two years ago he was honored by Pi Kappa Alpha as a Golden Member.

JAMES F. DUESLER

◆ JAMES F. DUESLER, ΔΔ (Georgia Tech), superintendent of the Louisville Gas & Electric Company, died August 1, 1950, in Louisville, Ky. Brother Duesler began his engineering studies at Georgia Tech before serving as a first lieutenant in World War I. After the war, he attended the University of Toulouse, France. He returned to this country and held several jobs in eastern Kentucky until he joined the gas company in 1922. He was director of the Family Service Organization and the Engineers and Architects Club of Louisville.

WESLEY E. CARTER

◆ WESLEY E. CARTER, Ω (Kentucky), director of public relations with Mergenthaler Linotype Company and editor of The Linotype News, died June 17, 1950, in Manhasset, Long Island, N. Y. He was 41 years old.

Brother Carter was born and reared in Kentucky, and was a journalism graduate of the University of Kentucky, where he was awarded a trophy for the outstanding journalism student for his four-year period there. He also attended Columbia University in New York.

Mr. Carter, a designer of newspaper formats and former newspaper owner and editor, was fully acquainted with the various problems of newspaper publishing. He was employed as a reporter, feature writer and editor, on weeklies, dailies and wire services. He had spent a number of years during the recent war as a special agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and had engaged in publicity and public relations work in Washington, Baltimore and New York. He had advised publishers and redesigned the format of weekly and daily papers in many different states in this country, in Canada, Mexico and overseas.

HENRY W. McLAUGHLIN

◆ THE Rev. Henry W. McLaughlin, I (Hampden-Sydney), former director of Sunday school extension and of the rural church department of the Southern Presbyterian Church, died on August 27, 1950, at his home in Richmond, Va., at the age of 81. For more than a half century his name had been identified with the establishment of new Sunday schools and the extension of the church in rural areas.

Dr. McLaughlin was educated in a one-room schoolhouse, at Hampden-Sydney College, where he finished second in his class, and at the Louisville Seminary. He was not just a country pastor academically interested in rural affairs. He was a student of agriculture, of livestock, of rural living in all its aspects. A practical farmer himself, he had won more than 1,000 prizes and championships, and had produced one international grand champion.

During his pastorates, he helped improve the livestock of his neighbors and congregation members. He helped in the establishment of cooperative selling agencies, and was a leader in the good roads movement. In his own denomination he established a country church department which has won wide acceptance and acclaim. His career dedicated to others, helped in the building of a better-balanced rural civilization, and in the development of a deeper and richer religious faith. Brother McLaughlin was honored in the September issue of The Shield and Diamond as a member of Who's Who in America.

JOSEPH OAKLEY BROWN

◆ JOSEPH O. BROWN, AT (New York Univ.), president of the engineering and construction concern of Todd & Brown, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, died in October, 1950. Brother Brown directed construction and engineering of the restoration of Williamsburg, Va., and was also a consultant engineer in the construction of Rockefeller Center. During the war he designed and built the $65,000,000 Kingsburg Ordnance Plant at La Porte, Ind., and after completion, operated the plant which produced $500,000,000 worth of ammunition for the armed forces.

Brother Brown graduated from New York University in 1909. From 1918 to 1920 he was acting chief engineer and vice president of Todd, Robertson & Todd Engineering Company which designed, built and operated many large buildings in New York City including the Cunard Building, Guaranty Trust Company, Ritz Tower, and Barclay Hotel. In 1920 he organized Todd & Brown. He was a member of the American Society of Engineers, Rockefeller Center Luncheon Club, and Siwanoy Country Club.

Alpha-Iota Leads In Scholarship

By BILL HOLLAND

◆ GREAT things have come to pass at the Pike House at 424 Marshall Street since we last met. Alpha-Iota climbs higher up the high sweet path of prominence.

During the summer months, under the capable leadership of SMC Bill Clayton, Alpha-Iota completely renovated the house; painted the entire outside, repapered the upstairs and downstairs, refinished the woodwork and floors, enlarged our kitchen, and installed a water cooler. Brothers Garner M. Lester and Dick Stockett, prominent alumni, gave much in the way of time and advice in the complicated process of remodeling.

Scholarship results for the two previous semesters were announced, and Alpha-Iota continued supreme in this field by capturing first place both times. Brother Cooper Clements helped our average considerably by earning a straight A average.

We here at Alpha-Iota are promenading about with a justifiable air of pride after the completion of Rush Week. Thirty-four fine men took the Pi Kappa trail on September 15, to fittingly climax a summer of hard work and cooperation by the active chapter.

An open house for the parents of the pledges was held at the Pike House on September 28. This little get-together helped the parents become acquainted with the men their sons would be associated with for the next four years of school.

Rubdowns, post-mortems on plays, and liniment shout to the world that Alpha-Iota is again in the thick of the Speedball race. The first half found the Pikes in third place, but we still have the second half to go, and watch our smoke!

Pi Kappa Alpha at Millsaps as usual has a large representation in all extracurricular activities on the campus.

Lyn Szafaryn, T (North Carolina), a professional football player, received honorable mention as an All-Time All-IKA tackle.

Gamma-Zeta Advances Rapidly

◆ GAMMA-ZETA's rapid advancement on the Wittenberg College campus in the last year exemplifies what initiative and the bonds of brotherhood can accomplish. After spending much time and effort on the decoration of our recently acquired home, we started the 1949-50 season with a highly successful rush program, resulting in the pledging of 17 new men. We then went forward to capture second place in intramural sports, finishing third in bowling and track, second in football, basketball, volleyball and softball, and first in tennis.

We contributed heavily to the varsity football team, with seven men on the first two teams, and Gamma-Zeta was proud to have the elected Most Valuable Player as one of our brothers. Three brothers made the basketball team, and the same number played on Wittenberg's unbeaten baseball team. We can also claim the high point man on the track team.

Our activities, however, did not stop with sports. We won the Homecoming Cup which is the fall highlight, and placed high in both Varsity Night (a series of fraternity skits) and the Interfraternity Sing. We also made our contribution to campus leadership by capturing freshman class president, sophomore treasurer, Boost W vip., Varsity W vip., and regional president of the International Relations Clubs. We also hold the political chairmanship of the G.W.L. political party, and have a brother who graduated cum laude.

Gamma-Zeta is looking forward to an even more prosperous season in 1950-51, with the emphasis placed on the improvement of courtesy and etiquette, along with an extensive program of scholastic betterment.

Delta-Sigma Off To Fine Start

By LARRY FRANKS

◆ DELTA-SIGMA jumped into Rush Week with a series of Open Houses during the day and early evening, and on the third and fourth nights a pair of Smokers were held with refreshments and songs galore.

After pausing a moment, work was started on the house decoration, float, and skit for the biggest Homecoming Bradley University has ever had. This is being written to the accompaniment of hammering, sawing, and the rest of the chaotic noise that is heard from dawn until long after sunset. The cups will not have been passed out by the time this goes to press, but it looks like a successful Homecoming for Delta-Sigma.

Wayne H. Mathis, John Mathis, and Robert W. Weise, all of Beta-Eta, have taken an active part in smoothing out any and all difficulties resulting from the change in status from a local to a Pi Kappa Alpha chapter.

Social Chairman Bruce Druckenmiller is planning an active social program which will feature a Hallowe'en party with an Old West theme. A formal dance just before Christmas vacation is also being planned.

NEW DISTRICT PRESIDENTS

head of the Biology Department at Arkansas State. He heads many college committees and holds membership in a number of honor and professional associations. Dr. Nedrow is a member of the Presbyterian Church, and a director of the local Kiwanis Club.

Brother Nedrow has done an outstanding job for Delta-Theta Chapter since its chartering. He and Mrs. Nedrow contributed greatly to the success of the 1950 Leadership School and Convention as registrars.

Leon Tucker

An alumnus of Alpha-Zeta Chapter and the University of Arkansas, Brother Tucker now has farming interests in Hughes, Ark., and is a partner in Tucker-Few Pontiac Company in Forrest City, Ark. He attended Missouri Military Academy and the University of Arkansas where he was president of his pledge class in 1941.

Leon married Lillian Lybrand, a member of the Delta Delta Delta Sorority at the University of Arkansas. They have a three-year-old daughter, Meredith.

Brother Tucker will have charge of District 14b comprised of Southeast Arkansas and Mississippi.

Charles L. Freeman

The Supreme Council is pleased to secure the services of Charles Freeman as District President of 10b which now includes the states of Wisconsin and Illinois. Charles is a member of Beta-Lambda Chapter at Washington University, and has been an enthusiastic IKA leader since his initiation. He served as president of District 10 (Missouri) in 1940-41 and as Field Secretary from 1941 through 1943. He made over 200 chapter visitations in over 80 colleges during that time. We are pleased to have him again serving as a National Officer.

Charles was one of the most outstanding campus leaders Washington University has had. Upon leaving the Fraternity he was Illinois State representative of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. His outstanding work led to his appointment as executive secretary of the Board of Trustees, Rockford Memorial Hospital, Rockford, Ill. In March, 1949, he became administrative assistant of the Hospital Service Division, Blue Cross Plan for Hospital Care.

His wife is the former Jean Giddings of Rockford. They have a son, King Wells, born March 20, 1949.

Pi Wins Intramural Baseball Trophy

◆ SEVENTEEN new men here at Washington and Lee University are wearing the pledge emblem of IKA as Pi chapter begins its 58th year. After a week of rushing, a pledge banquet was held for the new members and our distinguished brothers in the faculty. These new men are the finest on Washington and Lee's campus, and we know that in future years not only Pi chapter, but all IKA chapters will be proud of them.

Of great importance to our chapter even though it comes under the parliamentary heading of "Old Business," was our winning of the Intramural Baseball Trophy last June. This victory marks the seventh such triumph in seven years in the field of baseball. A very commendable record, we believe, and we only hope that we can continue our record.

In last June's graduation many of our campus leaders left the university; nevertheless, we have many men this year who are holding high positions in college organizations. Our SMC, Doug Smith, has been elected to the Executive Committee of the student body. Bill Shiers is head of the university radio program, and Frank Love is one of the new Freshman Dormitory Counselors. Boyd Leyburn has been elected to the Interfraternity Council while Jack Kay was appointed to the Freshman Assimilation Committee.

In athletics we find Boyd Leyburn, Dick Kremer and Bill Pleasants on the crew team, while John Northrop, Bob Hall and Fred Harmon are out pounding the cinders. On the swimming team we have Bill Reid, an excellent free styler. To top it off, Bill Cabell has proved himself a mainstay of the freshman football team.

All the brothers here at Pi chapter extend a cordial invitation to all IKAs to visit us at any time. Our door is always open in the finest fraternity spirit.

Chapter Eternal

ROBERT H. WRIGHT

◆ AN OUTSTANDING Fraternity and Memphis civic leader joined the Chapter Eternal when Robert H. Wright of Wright Realty Company, Memphis, Tenn., died of a stroke on October 5. A native Mississippian, he attended Millsaps College, Jackson, Miss., where he became a member of Alpha-Iota Chapter. For several years, he served as a District Representative of General Motors Chevrolet Division. In 1930 he moved to Memphis and entered the real estate business.

After coming to Memphis, he was active in the alumnus chapter and became its president. He was a leader in the movement to bring the National Office to Memphis and to establish the Memorial Building at Southwestern. He served quite capably as District President for several years and later as a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha Memorial Foundation trustees.

Bob and his gracious wife, Mrs. Frankie Williams Wright, for years have been gracious hosts to Pi Kappa Alphas in the Mid-South. We are proud to count him as one of our own.

DAVID FRANCIS HUNTER

◆ DAVID FRANCIS HUNTER, B (Davidson), one of Mecklenburg County's (North Carolina) oldest citizens, died on September 4, 1950, in Charlotte. He had retired several years ago from his position with the engineering department of the city government of Charlotte.

Brother Hunter was born in Kinston, N. C. He attended Davidson College where he was one of the five students who revived Beta Chapter. He spent a year as a graduate student at Princeton. For several years he taught in the county schools, and later he and his brother, Baxter H. Hunter, established a general merchandise company at Derita, N. C.

He and his family moved to Roanoke, Va., in 1911 where he was district manager of the Continental Casualty Company. Upon his return to Charlotte he became associated with the city government. He was recently honored by Pi Kappa Alpha as a member of the Golden Chapter, and also by a similar honor at Davidson College.

JOHN A. JENKINS

◆ JOHN A. JENKINS, ΓΣ (Pittsburgh), West Point graduate of Jeanette, Pa., was killed on July 7, 1950, when attempting to crash-land his plane in a Nevada desert.

Brother Jenkins attended the University of Pittsburgh for three years where he was a member of Gamma-Sigma Chapter. In the armed services as a private during part of World War II he attended the University of Alabama as an aviation student. While studying at Lafayette College in Alabama he was given an appointment to the United States Military Academy. Lt. Jenkins was stationed at the Air Base in Las Vegas, Nev., at the time of his death.

Tony Tees Off

By WHITEFOORD SMITH

◆ THE DUKE UNIVERSITY golf team, whose win-loss record since 1933 is the best of any collegiate athletic outfit in the South, is seeking its 12th Southern Conference championship in 13 years and in no small way is depending upon IKA's Tony Reed to help regain the coveted trophy that has come to Durham with monotonous regularity.

Since and even before the days when Skip Alexander first gained national prominence as a collegiate golfer at Duke, the Blue Devils have sent outstanding par-busters into the professional and amateur ranks.

One of the brightest of the new crop is Reed, a Durham boy primarily responsible for last year's conference title. Tony joined the Blue Devils two years ago after he led IKA to the intramural championship while winning the individual championship for himself.

That Tony was the best of the intramural lot probably cost Alpha-Alpha a repeat title last year and in 1948. Although he is a star back for the IKA football entry and a high scorer for the intramural basketball squad, his golf talents no longer belong to the fraternity.

Last season, Tony was given most of the credit for bringing the conference title to Duke. The Blue Devils had not enjoyed one of their best seasons in regular match play. But the squad had started slowly and never reached its peak performance until the final match of the campaign when it thoroughly trounced arch-rival North Carolina. The team included two members who had turned in brilliant records in 1948. The improvement which the Blue Devils might experience was to come from one of the three newcomers, a group which included Reed. And when the season was concluded successfully, Coach Dumpy Hagler was the first to admit that Reed was the big difference. He was the main reason Hagler called the squad "the most improved team" he ever coached.

When Tony began to hit his stride in mid-season, he was consistently shooting par and sub-par golf, although playing at the number five spot for Duke. His average round placed him among the low scorers in the Southern Conference, a circuit where golf holds its own with any in the nation.

His record for the year in dual matches was six wins, two losses and one halved match in nine played. In the Southern Intercollegiate tournament at Athens, Ga., he was the third low qualifier for the Blue Devils who copped second place in the team race.

TONY REED, AA

In the Southern Conference tournament, Tony had the fourth lowest medal score in a field of close to 100 golfers. It was a surprising development which the "Stop Duke" forces hadn't counted on. It was the chief reason the Dukes weren't stopped.

Reed seems to play his best golf under adverse weather conditions. Give the boys a steady downpour with soggy greens, and the scores begin to soar—all but Reed's. That's when he is almost certain to come up with par or better and with medal honors for the match.

If they ever pick an All-IKA golf team, then Duke University and Alpha-Alpha have a candidate who they contend will lead the field—Tony Reed.

JAMES T. OWEN, AF,
is coach of the Louisiana State University boxing team.

Homecoming Celebrated At Gamma-Omicron

By JAMES BENTE

◆ WITH the opening of the school year the house of Gamma-Omicron became the center of a whirlwind of activity. Six trees were planted along the front porch to improve the appearance of the house. No sooner was this done, however, than one entire section of the front lawn had to be dug up and a new sanitary sewer installed.

With the front yard now looking like an open pit mine, the House Manager, William Schnepf, has started plans for a complete job of landscaping. He has put Walter Carruthers and Richard D. Williams in charge of constructing a retaining wall between the front walk and yard, due to their experience as construction workers during the summer. The active chapter will install the wall and the pledge class will have the task of depositing fill dirt to create a gentle slope instead of the steep grade now apparent.

The study rooms on the second floor of the chapter house have also undergone redecoration. Three rooms have been painted a cardinal red with gray ceilings, another room has been painted a forest green with a gray ceiling, and a fifth room has been painted blue with a gray ceiling.

This scene of bustling activity would not have been complete without the quiet though urgent requests of Rush Captain Harry Feirbaugh for names of prospective pledges. The smokers and parties he arranged were enjoyed by all the chapter and rewarded Gamma-Omicron with a rather sizable pledge class for the current semester.

The Homecoming celebration this year put the icing on the cake of activity. Richard Lytle was in charge of the Homecoming plans for Gamma-Omicron. October 28 was the big day. It started off with the annual float parade. Gamma-Omicron entered a float built to represent a huge drum. This was followed by a luncheon at the house for our alumni visitors, after which everyone attended the football game with Miami. The game was followed with a buffet supper at the house, a dance given by Ohio University's Varsity organization, and a special meeting attended by the alumni and active members of Gamma-Omicron.

Mrs. Elsa Young, housemother at Gamma-Upsilon (Tulsa), attended the Annual Housemothers' Training School at Purdue University this last summer.
