Memorial Certificates are being sent to the next-of-kin of our Pi Kappa Alpha pledges who were lost in World War II. The National Office will appreciate being notified of the names of any pledges who gave their lives in that war.

New Chapters

◆ DELTA-MU Chapter at Mississippi Southern College, Hattiesburg, Mississippi, was chartered December 10, 1950. Local fraternities at Wayne University, Detroit, Michigan; Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind.; and Drake University, Des Moines, Ia., received charters as Delta-Nu, Delta-Xi, and Delta-Omicron on February 4, 11, and 25, respectively. The June Shield and Diamond will report to you in words and pictures on these young chapters. The entire Pi Kappa Alpha membership extends the hand of fraternal greeting to the new brothers.

CINCINNATI SITE OF 1950 NATIONAL CONVENTION

◆ THE Netherland Plaza Hotel, Cincinnati, Ohio, will be headquarters for the 82nd Annual Convention, August 29-September 1, 1950. The Cincinnati alumni, the chapters at the University of Cincinnati, and at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, will serve as hosts. Advance planning indicates one of the best conventions ever held.

General Chairman Douglas Hoge and his committee are actively at work making preparations for your attendance. Mark your calendar now, and spend a delightful vacation at the National Convention.

The Leadership Training School for Chapter Officers will be held on the campus of Miami University at Oxford, Ohio. Dr. Walter A. Zaugg, a member of the faculty at Bowling Green University, Bowling Green, Ohio, will serve as director.

"Pi Kappa Alpha's growth and success undoubtedly came largely from the manner of men who laid well her foundations. They not only enunciated the great principles which have been the lifeblood of the fraternity, but set a splendid example for the thousands who have attempted to follow in their footsteps. They lived, they loved, they served, and they died Pi Kappa Alphas in the cherished sense of the mystic words."—Freeman H. Hart, National Historian, IIKA

ASSOCIATED PRESS CARRIES CORRECTION

◆ AN Associated Press dispatch out of Washington Thanksgiving week-end reported that "Alexander Goodman, a member of Pi Kappa Alpha," sponsored a resolution calling for the elimination of all membership restrictions by fraternities belonging to the National Interfraternity Conference. We regret that this dispatch was carried throughout the country containing this error.

At our request, Associated Press sent a follow-up dispatch calling attention to the fact that Mr. Alexander Goodman is executive secretary of Phi Alpha Fraternity which has its National Office at Baltimore, Maryland. The correction further stated that the resolution did not necessarily represent the policies of the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity. Unfortunately, many of the papers that carried the original dispatch did not carry the correction.

Pi Kappa Alpha Rose Bowl

By HARRY HEATH, Jr

Department of Journalism, Iowa State

♦ MORE than 100,000 pairs of eyes are on the field. The pennants are waving, the bands playing, the vendors selling their programs, the players limbering up. And there on the field below two PKAs meet, and exchange the grip.

The time: January 2, 1950.

The place: Rose Bowl.

The persons: Pi Kappa Alpha's "Coaches of the Year"—Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf, AX, the miracle man of California football, and Wesley Fesler, AP, who has brought the Ohio State University Buckeyes back to the top in the nation's toughest competition, the Big Ten Conference.

There have been great seasons in PKA football—years in which such names as Sinkwich, Dobbs, Cafego were household words from Maine to California. Those were seasons in which the spotlight was primarily upon the players. But never before had the fraternity been at such fever-pitch over the grand old sport of blocks and tackles. The unprecedented situation in the 1950 Rose Bowl, which brought PKA against PKA in the nation's No. 1 post-season grid clash, was a hot topic of conversation in the fraternity's bull sessions everywhere.

The outcome of that game, a 17-14 victory for Ohio State, is history now. But the events which led up to the Waldorf-Fesler meeting on Rose Bowl sod are even more thrilling than the field goal which brought Fesler's "Cinderella team" another last-minute victory.

It had been an uphill fight for Fesler and his team. When Wes returned to his alma mater as head coach in 1947, the exacting Ohio State fans had expected a transformation overnight. Fesler's first season was a rocky one. But in 1948 the Buckeyes became a factor in the Big Ten race. They were in the thick of the running for the title until the last two weeks of the season.

Despite this, Ohio State fans were impatient. The pressure was on . . . pressure which almost caused Fesler, now at the peak of his career, to resign even after his Rose Bowl victory this year. Fesler made it clear that he was asking only one thing of his players—that they give him their best in every game. If they did this, Wes said, he didn't care what folks said about the won and lost figures.

In 1949, it was clear that this philosophy, which has made Wes Fesler one of the best-liked coaches in football, was working. The pressure was on Fesler, but he refused to transfer it to his players. "Just do your best," he continued to philosophize.

The 19 seniors on the squad, who for three years had taken their bumps along with the coach (they were sophomores when he took the reins), refused to quit after a 27-0 shellacking at the hands of Minnesota, October 17. The Gophers promptly blew their Rose Bowl chances with two consecutive losses, while the Buckeyes finished the slate without further defeat.

Ohio State followed the Minnesota debacle with victories over Wisconsin, Northwestern, Pittsburgh, and Illinois, and a 7-7 tie with co-titlist Michigan. Michigan was ineligible for the Rose Bowl date by virtue of its 1949 Coast appearance. In the Pitt, Illini and Michigan games, the Buckeyes came from behind to avert defeat—one of the real tests of greatness. Against the great Wolverines, Fesler's men scored 11 of 14 first downs during their last-half rally which brought a tie, a share of the title, and a Rose Bowl trip.

What had Waldorf done to bring California and Ohio State together in the Rose Bowl for the first time since 1921, when the Buckeyes lost 28-0? Another terrific job of coaching.

Waldorf's Golden Bears had gone undefeated for the second consecutive season. In regular season play, the Bears had just finished a record of 29 victories against a single defeat for Pappy. That defeat, in 1947 to Southern Cal, cost Pappy the bid in his first season. In 1948, his 10-0 record put the Bears in the arena against Waldorf's old team, Northwestern, and in 1949, another 10-0 record brought the Bears back again.

This record, certainly the finest on the Pacific Coast and among the three best records of major college coaches in the nation, came after a disastrous pre-Waldorf season in which the Bears won 2, lost 7.

Even after the great comeback of the Bears in 1947, doubting fans were not converted. They had heard the myth that Waldorf was a great first-year coach, but that his teams soon wilted. The fine record of the 48-year-old son of a Methodist bishop—the late Ernest Lynn Waldorf of Chicago—certainly didn't show such a weakness. Pappy's teams at Oklahoma A. & M., Kansas State and Northwestern had been consistent winners in tough competition. At Northwestern the competition was especially rough, and Waldorf got the reputation of being the only Big Ten coach unafraid of Notre Dame.

There were still a few doubters after the 1948 season. Very few doubt the Waldorf formula today.

California Athletic Director Brutus Hamilton, who hired Pappy, stuck his head in the dressing room after Cal's 33-14 victory over Stanford—the game that assured another Rose Bowl bid—and commented:

"Another year like this and we can take Mr. Waldorf off probation." The fans had already taken him off probation.

Before the rotund former National Alumni Secretary had proved himself, the scribes had referred to California as "the graveyard of coaches." Waldorf, in accepting the job after 12 years at Northwestern, overlooked that side of the picture. He simply said: "California offers a challenge."

Pappy's ability to win friends has not lessened. Chicago Tribune Sports Editor Arch Ward once commented that Pappy "made more friends in his dozen years at Northwestern than any other Midwest coach of his time."

The Waldorf warmth has won some 200,000 California alumni, too.

Like Fesler, Waldorf has a way with youngsters. His squads like to play for him. Although they call him Mr. Waldorf, rather than Coach, his players appreciate his human qualities. In preparing for the Ohio State game, he established a "fat man's table" for some of his players who needed to trim some weight. Pappy ate his meals with them. He weighs around 280 pounds.

His human qualities—friendliness, sincerity, the ability to enjoy a belly laugh—have aided the California cause. In the competition for players on the highly-competitive Coast, Waldorf has more than held his own. He is considered one of the school's best public relations assets. While he is visiting various parts of the state, he wins innumerable friends for the university with his ability as a public speaker.

Fesler's sincerity has won him great respect, but he is more tense and high-strung than the easy-going, cigar-smoking Waldorf. He is more sensitive to outside pressure, and Mrs. Fesler has felt the strain of football's win-or-else pace. This factor may eventually drive him away from coaching, where once the character-building qualities of a man were more important than his won-and-lost record.

Fesler was an all-around athlete. In addition to his football honors, he was an all-conference basketball player, as well as a letterman in baseball. Later he played professional baseball in the St. Louis Cardinal system briefly.

After taking his bachelor's degree, Fesler attended summer school for six summers to earn the masters.

Still the holder of the record for the longest touchdown run in Ohio Stadium (99 yards against Northwestern in 1929), Fesler was a two-time All-American (1928, 1930). He played both end and fullback. He is an exception to the rule that star players never become outstanding coaches.

In 1933, he became head basketball coach at Harvard. He served also as assistant football coach. In 1942, he went to Connecticut Wesleyan University as head football and basketball coach.

Rose Parade, Circus of Flowers.

He joined the Office of Strategic Services in Washington in 1944, but returned to coaching in 1945 as head basketball and assistant football coach at Princeton. In 1946 he became head football coach at a major school for the first time—at Pittsburgh's cathedral of learning. The following year, his alma mater beckoned, and the rest of the story has been told.

That is, all of the rest has been told except how Wes called the winning play against California. He sent Dick Widdoes and Tom Watson into the game. That meant a place-kick. But the Buckeye players were shooting for a TD, and sent the two substitutes back to the bench. Fesler immediately shoed them into the game again. The players, seeing their coach was determined, did not argue.

They purposely took a five-yard penalty for delaying the game in order to give Jim Hague a better angle at the uprights. Widdoes held the ball on the 18-yard line. The kick was the difference between a 14-14 tie and 17-14 victory.

1949 ALL TKA FOOTBALL Team

Introducing — All IKA Football Team — 1949

By DILLON GRAHAM

Associated Press writer Dillon Graham has selected the All-IKA football team for 18 years.

◆ PERHAPS the best back and the leading lineman to represent Pi Kappa Alpha last fall cavorted on comparatively neighboring campus gridirons in eastern Tennessee.

So far as this observer could ascertain, no Pi Kap backfielder was more respected in his own area and nationally than Hal Littleford of the University of Tennessee. And tops among the forward wall stalwarts, selected on the Associated Press Little All-America, was Vincent Sarratore, University of Chattanooga guard.

These standouts were easy choices for the 1949 Pi Kappa Alpha All-America football team but the competition for the other spots was very tough.

Based on observations, chapter reports and sports page clippings, here is the fraternity's all-star eleven:

Ends: Keith Hughes, Utah State Agriculture College, and Clem Charlton, New Mexico University.

Tackles: John Kufel, Rensselaer Polytechnic, and Dick Bloom, Tulsa University.

Guards: E. B. Cox, University of Missouri, and Vincent Sarratore, University of Chattanooga.

Center: Mike Murray, Lehigh.

Backs: Hal Littleford, University of Tennessee; Andy Davis, George Washington University; Blake Watts, Presbyterian College; and Gene Mazzanti, University of Arkansas.

Littleford, as the only repeater from last year, is named captain of the honor team.

These Pi Kaps deserve their rating but there were others as good, or almost as good.

It seemed to me—and I have been selecting the fraternity's all-star team for close about two decades now—that (a) there were fewer real aces among the fraternity's representatives, based on national reputation, than usual, and (b) that considerably more than the usual number of chapters did not have players on the varsity teams.

This year, as was the case in 1948 and other seasons, at least one star performer had to be passed by because he was not attending a college with an active IKA chapter. He was Bruce Allen Ackerson, Army tackle at West Point, who was named on several All-Eastern teams. He was initiated at the University of New Mexico. Last year, Army's halfback, Bobby Stuart, formerly of Tulsa, could not be considered. He made the Associated Press All-America.

Honorary coaches for this 1949 all-star team must be Lynn Waldorf of the University of California and Wes Fesler of the Ohio State University.

Littleford is known as the "Bristol Blizzard." The 24-year-old, 165-pounder comes from Bristol, Tenn., and rates as a real triple-threat. He was the kingpin of a hard-to-figure Tennessee team that seemed unbeatable in walloping North Carolina and in checking the bid of its old-time rival, Kentucky, for a Southeastern Conference championship, and then appeared as an also-ran on a few Saturday afternoons.

Andy Davis was just as valuable to George Washington University in the national capital as Littleford was to Tennessee. He represented perhaps an even larger percentage of GW's offense. Last year Andy led the way as GW defeated its city rival, Georgetown University, for the first time. This year, shortly after Georgetown had been named to play in the Sun Bowl, Davis helped deflate the Hoyas by pacing GW to another win. Andy could do a little of everything and did it well enough to get considerable mention on All-Eastern teams.

Only a "break" in the way of an injury to a standout gave Gene Mazzanti a chance to show what he really could do. Shoved into the first team fullback slot, Mazzanti was a sensational offensive player. He almost won the Southwest Conference ground gaining honors, losing to Kyle Rote after the Southern Methodist ace had such a good day against Notre Dame. And Mazzanti played in three fewer games than Rote. Mazzanti made the all-opponent team of every club he played against and was named "King Porker" by his own teammates to rule over the football dance.

Down in South Carolina Blake "Kilo The Kid" Watts was quite the talked-about young ball lugger. The 175-pound junior was also known as the Bishopville Baron, a flash of lightning. Anthony Foy, Greenville, S. C., sports writer describes a split-T halfback this way: "He should be able to run like a deer, hit like a locomotive and see daylight through a gnat's eye." Watts, he says, fills the bill. Watts, Foy says, "Is just as endeared to the football-loving community of Clinton, S. C., as is Charlie Justice to Chapel Hill, N. C. And who knows but that young Kilo can't run like Charlie—he's sure to get votes from Clemson, Davidson, Erskine and Furman, attesting to the fact that he can at least run—like a deer." Kilo romped off on tears of 69 yards against Clemson, 70 against Davidson, 40 against Erskine and 72 against Furman.

Both flankers come from the Far West. Hughes was an all-conference end in the Sky Line Six. Charlton was among the better wingmen in his sector. He is also No. 1 among the 13-count 'em—Pi Kaps on the New Mexico U. squad, which gives Beta-Delta, without argument or competition, top laurels as the chapter with the most members on the varsity squad.

You've had the all-star team. Here's your all-star squad:

Ends: Frank Close, George Washington; Bill Chisolm, Virginia; Bill Spear, Bill Geter, Gene Polk and Marvin Metheny, all of New Mexico, and B. F. Lee, Millsaps.

Tackles: Bob and Tom Page, Vanderbilt; John Lookingbill and Gerald

NATIONAL CONVENTION

AUGUST 29 - SEPTEMBER 1, 1950

◆ AT MANY Founders' Day observances during March, one topic of conversation is the 82nd Anniversary Convention of Pi Kappa Alpha. The parting phrase of many of the alumni and actives alike has been, "We'll see you in Cincinnati!"

Cincinnati, Ohio, is known throughout the world for its cordiality to visitors. Soon, the Queen City will have an opportunity to enlarge the reputation that it has obtained—when it becomes the 1950 convention city of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

For the first time since it was chartered, Alpha-Xi at the University of Cincinnati—the original chapter north of the Mason-Dixon Line—has become host to the national assembly. Lead by alumni Herbert Koch, Earl Wagner, Dr. Robert Schell, and Douglas Hoge, the chapter's actives and alumni have organized themselves into hard-working groups. They have promised that the forthcoming meeting will be one of the "best yet," and are exerting every effort to make it so.

The center of downtown Cincinnati—Tyler Davidson Fountain, with Carew Tower in background. Shown behind the fountain is the Netherland Plaza Hotel, which will be the headquarters for the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity Convention.

The four-day convention will be held from August 29 through September 1 at the Hotel Netherland Plaza. This beautiful hostelry is located near the center of downtown Cincinnati at the hub of the Queen City's many activities.

Alpha-Xi's chapter house, recently purchased by the Cincinnati alumni group, is but a 15-minute trolley ride from the convention headquarters. Located in an exclusive residential district, the home is a fine example of Old World craftsmanship. It is abundant in hand-carved woodwork. Much of its interior decoration and wall surfaces is the original of a type not possible to reproduce today. The house is, indeed, an architectural attraction.

There are many places in Cincinnati where convention delegates may spend extra-curricular time pleasantly. A variety of these attractions will be included in the host chapter's planned program. Among the scenic and interesting points where leisure time can be enjoyed are: the Cincinnati "Reds" baseball field; the Union Terminal; the Art Museum; Eden Park Flower Conservatory; Taft Museum; the Zoo; the Rockwood Pottery; Coney Island amusement park; Burnet Woods; and the campus of the University of Cincinnati. These places are listed in addition to the many theaters and usual attractions of the larger cities.

Crosley Field, the home of the Cincinnati National League baseball club, is not far from downtown Cincinnati. The "Reds," in the National League since 1887, have won the pennant three times and have been world's champions twice. They were the first team ever to pay their players, and were the first major leaguers to schedule night games.

Cincinnati Union Terminal, a co-operative effort of the railroads serving the city, has no equal in the nation for efficiency or beauty. The history and industries of the city are depicted in huge murals on the walls of the $41,000,000 railroad center. This has become one of the showplaces of Cincinnati—especially in the summer when the exterior plaza's landscaping is in full bloom.

The Art Museum, open free to the public, is an interesting place. The museum is large. However, its exhibits stress intimacy rather than the half-lights and barnlike atmosphere of most museums. In addition to its modern appearance, the Art Museum has several modern touches—such as alcoves where weary museum-goers can sit down and have a quiet cigarette. There is a large collection of old masters and modern paintings, an exhibit showing Indian and mound-builder culture, in addition to sculpture and other exhibits. Time spent at the Art Museum is enjoyable as well as beneficial.

Cincinnati maintains over 140 parks, the largest of which is Eden Park. The huge glass building there is the Eden Park Flower Conservatory, covering 22,000 square feet. It boasts a large collection of rare tropical plants. From a vantage point in the park one can see for miles up and down the Ohio river and across the river into Kentucky.

The Taft Museum on Pike Street was formerly the home of the famous William Howard Taft family. It was built more than 125 years ago. At present the building houses a noted collection of paintings and Chinese porcelain. It is furnished in the early American style.

At the modern Cincinnati Zoo, the animals are presented in habitats which are as natural as possible. Many of them are kept in barless "cages." This gives the visitor an opportunity to see and photograph even the lions romping on a sunny hillside which could have been imported from Africa.

For 30 years, one of the outstanding features on the Zoo grounds has been the Summer Opera which takes place in an open-air theater. The Metropolitan Opera stars, who have the major roles in the presentations, must occasionally compete with a few random grunts and roars from the nearby animal houses. These noises cause little harm to the impact of ground opera, however.

The Rockwood Pottery was founded in the 1880's. Since then, two rules have been unbroken. The pottery never produces two items alike, and never produces an imperfect item. Much of its finest work is done by hand. Rockwood's design artists have been recruited from all over the world. The half-hour tour through the plant is very worthwhile. All stages in ceramics production can be seen.

The Queen City's largest entertainment attraction is Coney Island, which is but a few miles from the city. Here are all the rides, funhouses, and concessions which make summer resorts so popular. Moonlight Gardens, a popular and beautiful dancing place, is located at Coney Island also. The huge swimming pool, with a capacity of 4,000,000 gallons, is one of the nation's largest.

Just across the street from the Alpha-Xi chapter house is Burnet Woods. Located there is a small trailside museum which has been widely copied by many cities. This museum has a collection of the animals and minerals of the Cincinnati area.

In addition to the business meetings, convention committees are arranging a big dance, parties, and tours of the city. The date bureau is collecting Cincinnati's most beautiful girls. When August and the hundreds of Pi Kappa Alphas arrive, the Queen City will be ready for a great convention.

We'll see you in Cincinnati!

REV. B. O. WOOD

LEADER OF MEN

◆ REV. B. O. WOOD, 60, Southwestern at Memphis, was accorded special honors in the city of his pastorate, San Angelo, Texas, on the occasion of his 25th year of service as pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. On October 4, 1947, Mayor Will R. Ede issued an official proclamation of B. O. Wood Week from October 7 through October 13. During that week Reverend Wood was honored by all San Angelo civic clubs.

During his years at college and seminary, Dr. Wood was a very active sportsman in baseball, football and basketball. When he completed his training, he went to Abbeville, Louisiana, where he met and married Miss Elizabeth Nettles. Reverend Wood says that's the smartest thing he has ever done.

From Abbeville Dr. Wood went to San Angelo, where he has been an active pastor ever since. In addition to his First Presbyterian Church pastorate, Dr. Wood has been moderator of the Synod of Texas. At present he is president of the Board of Trustees of Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary and vice president of the Board of Trustees of Schreiner Institute. In addition, Dr. Wood has served as president of the San Angelo Kiwanis Club and is on the board of the Community Chest Association.

The Rev. Mr. Wood—merely as a sideline, mind you—still plays tennis, and finds time for hunting and fishing. These things have afforded needed diversion from church tasks that saw the First Presbyterian Church of San Angelo turn in more than a half million dollars to congregational activities. The membership of First Presbyterian has grown, under Dr. Wood's guidance, from 240 to about 900 members.

Though Dr. Wood has been financially successful in the leadership of his church, it is in the spiritual realm that he got his greatest pleasure. At the end of a friendly visitation week, he received 48 members into the church at one time. Another high-pleasure experience was the trip that the minister and his wife made to the Holy Land in 1937, coming back through Europe. This was made possible through a gift by friends and the church. Dr. and Mrs. Wood made an effort to share their trip with others by speaking before churches, clubs and other organizations.

San Angelo is very proud of the Rev. Mr. Wood. He helped to create moral sentiment for the junior college there. He helped to put local charities on a professional basis. He organized a Boy Scout troop as soon as he arrived in San Angelo. He has served on the boards of the Tom Green County Tuberculosis Association, the Crippled Children's Society and the Community Service Association.

Mr. Wood received his bachelor of arts, master of arts and bachelor of divinity degrees from Southwestern Presbyterian University in 1914 and 1915. He received an honorary D.D. degree in 1926 from Howard Payne College.

His ambition was to make San Angelo a delightful, Christian community in which good people can live happily. Because of his outstanding contribution to it, he got one full week of praise and honor from San Angelans.

The Rev. and Mrs. Wood have three sons, Eugene E. Wood, pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Hillsboro, Texas; B. Oliver Wood, a petroleum engineer at Ottawa, Kansas; and John T., a junior executive with Sears in Honolulu, T. H.

The project that Dr. Wood is fostering right now is the erection of a very fine educational building next to the church. Construction is proceeding rapidly.

Dr. Wood's only comment about his many, many accomplishments for good, is "The Lord has been very gracious to me and I am truly grateful to Him."

FESLER BUILDS MEN — AND FOOTBALL PLAYERS

By KARL B. PAULY

◆ IN THE TOUGHEST football spot in the nation—the coaching job at Ohio State University—Wesley E. Fesler, Alpha-Rho, has confounded the experts. "There isn't a finer fellow in the world than 'Wes' Fesler and he's a great athlete himself," they were saying a year ago, "but he's not a football coach."

Now he's sitting on top of the heap. After a none-too-promising start, his 1949 team went on to tie Michigan in the final game of the season, win a co-championship of the Western Conference, win the Rose Bowl game from California (thus evening a 29-year-old score) and Fesler has been virtually drafted to remain as head football coach at his alma mater, under very attractive financial terms.

Fesler is far from being a stereotype coach. He's decidedly handsome and boyish at 41. He has the greatest poise as a public speaker and his words leave no doubts as to his deep convictions. This year he amazed everyone around a Columbus television station with the ease with which he presented a weekly program before the cameras and mikes, and his "public" grew by leaps and bounds as they listened and watched. He is brutally frank and optimistic in a field where men give evasive or transparently "clever" answers to blunt questions and moan about "lack of material" and the like.

Some of Fesler's critics—and he has had a wealth of them—object to his optimism and throw it back in his face when his teams lose. But this year, by winning so many games, he crossed them up. Some of the "sports" turned up their noses when Fesler announced that his players would always appear in public well-groomed, even to the wearing of neckties. This they do and they comport themselves as gentlemen. By now the folks around Columbus think it was a good idea. Fathers and mothers say Fesler is "just the type of coach they would like for their boys to play under."

But it hasn't been a bed of roses for the coach. He took the top spot in the football set-up at Ohio State in 1947 when its fortunes were at the lowest ebb in modern history. There had been four coaches at the university in seven years, the school was running short in material, some of the best Ohio high school prospects were going to Michigan and other traditional rivals—and in the final game of the season before he took the job, Ohio State had been trounced by its arch-foe, Michigan, 58 to 6. Fesler went at his job with an air of confidence and optimism, but his '47 team won only one Western Conference game. The calamity howlers closed in and not only Fesler, but his family as well, was taunted with his failures to win. The next year, Fesler's team won half its Big Nine games and he deserved better than he got from the critics. Even last fall, the skeptics made considerable noise and it was not finally drowned out until the closing minutes of the Rose Bowl game when Jimmy Hague kicked the winning field goal for Ohio State.

Then everything seemed to change. Prior to the Rose Bowl, Fesler had revealed, in one of his typically frank talks with a newspaper man, that he had offers to enter private business and that he was thinking of accepting one of them. The salary offered him was attractive and he and his family probably would be happier away from the pressure of college football, he said. After the game, folks began to say they couldn't blame Fesler but they wished he would stay. Some of them even began to criticize the University for not making sure that Fesler would remain. At the height of the discussion the board of trustees met, upped Fesler's salary from $13,500 to $15,000 a year and gave him the assurance of a full professorship in the department of physical education whenever he was ready to retire from the position of head coach. Fesler meanwhile had been thinking the matter over, knew that his heart was in coaching and that he wanted to stay at Ohio State if possible. He accepted the trustees' offer and everybody appears to be happy.

All of which is as it should be, for Wesley Fesler was one of the greatest and most beloved and respected of all the athletes in Ohio State history. He was a twice-selected All-America end during his football playing years, 1928, '29 and '30. He is one of only three nine-letter men in the university's history. He was an excellent student, a well-poised youngster of good habits—a "real American boy." The sports fans really loved him. Many a man with grey around his temples today will puff out his chest to say he saw Fesler make the longest scoring run ever made in Ohio Stadium, a 97-yard dash with a recovered fumble in the 1929 game with Northwestern. Some of them recall, too, a scoring run he made against Michigan at Ann Arbor that same year. As an infielder on the varsity baseball team, he won the Potter Run Makers' cup three years in succession, a record never equalled for that prize coveted by Ohio State baseball men. As a basketball guard he was an All-Western Conference selection. In 1930 he captained the football team.

I first remember "Wes" Fesler as a freshman around the IKA house at 1943 Waldeck Ave., Columbus. He was a good mixer and at the same time would have been classified as serious-minded. Nearly always when I dropped in on him in the evenings, I'd find him in pajamas and robe, poring over his text books. He started out in engineering, shifted to commerce and thus spent five years as an undergraduate because of his switch over. He made Beta Gamma Sigma, honorary commerce fraternity, and won other scholarship honors.

He used to sing around the house and his voice was good enough to set the Glee Club scouts on his trail but he couldn't squeeze rehearsals into his crowded schedule.

He had come to Ohio State in the fall of 1927 after having spent a year out of school following his graduation from Youngstown South in 1926. We had heard about the lad's coming. Ray Fesler, class of 1923, and Don Fesler, class of 1925, had preceded him in Alpha-Rho chapter. Ray was an outstanding activities man and captain of the baseball team in his senior year. Don was a star on the tennis team. We heard that this younger Fesler, Wesley, could give both his elders aces and spades. We didn't see how that could be—but there he was and he gave great promise.

In high school he had played center on the football team and he played at that position on the freshman squad at Ohio State. At the start of his sophomore year—his varsity playing debut—he was confronted by the fact that the team had a good 240-pound center. What was needed was a good end and with the encouragement of Coach John W. Wilce, "Wes" set out to be that end. The sports world is well-acquainted with the result. He was one of the best ends the country has ever seen. Even then he played part of his career as fullback.

Before he was graduated from Ohio State, Fesler married his college sweetheart, Mary Louise Schenk of Columbus. They have three children, Richard, 14; John, 12, and Linda, 8. After leaving college, Fesler played professional baseball for a short time with the St. Louis Cardinals. In 1933 he turned to college coaching as head basketball coach and assistant football coach at Harvard. There followed the head football and basketball and freshman baseball coaching jobs at Wesleyan University, a wartime spell with the Office of Strategic Services in Washington, the head basketball and assistant football and baseball coaching jobs at Princeton in 1945 and then the head football post at Pittsburgh in 1946. From there he came to Ohio State.

One night recently, Wesley Fesler was the honor guest at the annual banquet of the Columbus All-Sports Council, having been selected to receive its award as "Columbus' Man of the Year in Sports." Upon receiving the plaque, Fesler made one of his characteristically brief, sincere responses. He said:

"I'm by nature a gabby guy, but I must admit this has me stopped. This plaque is by far the clincher. It is No. 3 in my heart. By that I do not mean that it is in third place among my possessions, but rather that it is a realization of the third thing which all of us in athletics dream about and hope for."

Fesler enumerated the precious triumvirate as: Esteem of his coach, esteem of teammates and esteem of community.

Karl B. Pauly A Busy IKA

♦ KARL B. PAULY, author of this article, is an editor of the Ohio State Journal, Columbus, Ohio. He lectures in the School of Journalism at Ohio State University, and is a leading Columbus citizen. For 13 years he has been chairman of the Journal Quarterback Club, an organization of 700 downtown fans. The accompanying picture shows him presenting a movie camera to Wes Fesler, also an Alpha-Rho alumnus, in appreciation for Fesler's football talks to the club during the 1949 season.

Mr. Pauly is chairman of the New Chapter House Fund for Alpha-Rho Chapter, and has been spearheading the drive. The National Fraternity Award for the best chapter publication was donated by Alpha-Rho, and is named the Karl B. Pauly Trophy in his honor.

District President Hahnen Inspects Local

◆ IN contemplation of approval of the petition of the Delta Xi local fraternity at Drake University by the active chapters of the fraternity, and upon the local chapter's completion of qualifications previously set forth, District President Hahnen, and Field Secretary John Horton met with a number of alumni and a representative from Alpha-Phi and Gamma-Nu chapters, the weekend of October 21-23. The object of the meeting was to discuss and formulate plans for an outstanding Founders' Day and chartering ceremony tentatively scheduled for February 24-25, 1950, in Des Moines. Besides District President Hahnen and Field Secretary Horton, alumni Dr. Henry Harmon, president of Drake University; Herb Miller, Al Kahl, Leo Hoegh, Russ Lundy, Dr. Drews and Dr. Twenstrup participated and actives Roger Horn of Gamma-Nu and Bud Bevins of Alpha-Phi.

The theme for the event is to be centered around education, and it is the desire of the committee to attract outstanding leaders in the educational field. Further, the event will honor the Founders of Pi Kappa Alpha, officially acknowledge the new brothers, and serve as a stimulant to the alumni of Pi Kappa Alpha.

Abernathy Appointed Field Secretary

◆ DAVID ABERNATHY, a recent graduate of the University of Alabama (Gamma-Alpha), has entered upon his duties as field secretary. Dave was a pre-law student, and comes to his work with high commendation from his fellow students, members of the administration, and others.

Dave has three blood brothers who preceded him at Gamma-Alpha. He has had wide experience in fraternity work. While a member of Gamma-Alpha Chapter, he held the positions of SC, Rush Chairman, IMC, and SMC. He was active in campus organizations including YMCA, International Relations Club, Interreligious Council, and the Wesley Foundation, of which he was president.

◆ THE MAIN LINE TIMES of Ardmore, Pa., says of School Director John F. E. Hippel: "Mr. Hippel is a man to be admired. This reporter has covered an estimated 2,000 meetings of commissions, town councils and school boards in the course of his experience. Even from his brief observation of the new board member's participation in meetings, he ventures to predict that Mr. Hippel will prove to be one of the most valuable directors the Lower Merion (Pa.) School Board ever had."

FESLER BUILDS MEN

When Dr. J. W. Wilce presented him with a medal in 1928 as the most improved sophomore on the Ohio State squad, that was No. 1, Fesler related.

No. 2 came in 1930 when his teammates elected him their most valuable player, thereby entering his name in competition for the Chicago Tribune Big Ten award—which, Fesler added, "I was lucky enough to win."

"Tonight," he summed up, "I have No. 3 and the last of all I've been looking for. This represents the esteem of the home folks and I'm extremely grateful for it. My heart is very warm."

At long last, Wesley Fesler could feel that he had really come home to Columbus fandom.

New Bank President Of Dallas, Texas

◆ WELDON U. HOWELL, Beta-Zeta chapter, Southern Methodist University, became the new president of the Greenville Avenue State Bank, Dallas, Texas, at election of officers by the Board of Directors, Tuesday, January 10, following the annual stockholders meeting.

Howell, who until this meeting was executive vice-president, has served as organizing officer and operating executive since the bank started business in February, 1946.

A member of the banking profession since 1929, Howell held his first position as a part-time clerk in the credit department of the Mercantile National Bank in Dallas, being promoted various ranks to officer-in-charge of that department when he left to join the navy in 1942.

Howell joined the service as a lieutenant (j.g.) and was released three years later as a lieutenant commander. Since returning to civilian life, he has been associated with the bank on Greenville Avenue here.

A native of Marfa, Texas, the new bank president graduated from Southern Methodist University and the Graduate School of Banking at Rutgers University.

An active IKA alumnus, Howell has served as state alumni president, trustee of Shield and Diamond Endowment Fund, alumnus counselor to Beta-Zeta chapter, and is now vice president of the House Fund of the local chapter. He married the former Betty Temple, who was District 14 Dream Girl of IKA of 1938. They have three children.

Harper Represents Harvard University

◆ C. ARMITAGE HARPER, Alpha-Zeta at Arkansas, vice president of the Democrat Printing and Lithographing Company, Little Rock, was the official representative of Harvard University at the recent inauguration of Dr. Fred A. Walker as president of the College of the Ozarks, Clarksville, Ark.

K. D. Pulcifer Chairman Of Nominating Committee

◆ NATIONAL PRESIDENT KNIGHT announces the appointment of K. D. Pulcifer, Beta-Eta, 511 Shortridge Drive, Wynnewood, Pennsylvania, as chairman of the Nominating Committee. Mr. Pulcifer replaces Past President John L. Packer, deceased.

Chairman Pulcifer solicits suggestions for nominations for national officers from any member of the fraternity, either student or alumnus. The committee will make its report at the next National Convention, August 31, 1950.

The other two members of the committee are J. Grant Iverson, 627 Continental Bank Bldg., Salt Lake City, Utah, and Roy D. Hickman, Alabama Engraving Company, Birmingham, Alabama.

Heads American Psychological Ass'n

◆ DR. J. P. GUILFORD, Gamma-Beta, was elected president of the American Psychological Association at its convention in Denver last summer. Dr. Guilford graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1922, and received his Ph.D. from Cornell in 1927. At present he is a professor of psychology at the University of Southern California.

During the war, Dr. Guilford was in the Army Air Force. He developed classification tests for air crews, which were very valuable in screening those who were apt to fail from the program. He directed research units working on training problems and worked also on psychological problems for the School of Aviation Medicine.

Dr. Guilford's special field is psychometric. He is the author of "Psychometric Methods, Fundamental Statistics in Psychology and Education," and also numerous articles on psychometrics.

Dr. Guilford married Ruth Burke in 1927. The Guilfords have a daughter, Joan, now attending the University of Southern California.

Waldorf, dressed in practice togs, puts the boys through their paces.

Pappy Waldorf — Mr. Football Out West

By VIC FISCHER

◆ PiKaps of Alpha-Sigma chapter, students and alumni of the University of California are mighty proud of a large Lynn "Pappy" Waldorf, head football coach of the Golden Bears. Small wonder, for in his three years at Berkeley Pappy has guided the Blue and Gold to two Rose Bowl appearances and a record of 29 victories and one loss in regular season games. The only blemishes on this impressive record are a loss to U.S.C. in 1947 and two heartbreaking defeats in the '49 and '50 Rose Bowl tilts.

Brother Waldorf is the new president of the American Football Coaches Association and came in second to Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson in the "Coach of the Year" poll conducted by the New York World Telegram. He won the "Coach of the Year" award in 1936 while at Northwestern University and was third in '47 and runner-up in '48.

Coach Waldorf plotting strategy on the phone.

Waldorf wears his famous Garnet and Gold tie. After beating Cal in 1947, U.S.C. Asst. Coach Sam Barry told "Pappy" that it was a good-luck tie. Pappy promptly stole it, wore it at all games, and hasn't lost a regular season tilt since.

Pappy stepped into a mighty hot spot when he signed as head coach for the '47 season. The previous coach had been forced to resign by howling mad students and alumni after a disastrous season in which the team won only two of nine games. The Bears hadn't won a conference championship since 1938 and so many coaches had been hired and fired that the Saturday Evening Post referred to California as a "coaches' graveyard."

Brother Waldorf and his assistants molded the same personnel which had staggered through the dismal '46 season into a squad which blasted Santa Clara, St. Marys, Navy, Wisconsin, and five Pacific Coast Conference foes, losing only to the bowl-bound Trojans of U.S.C.

Yet this amazing coaching performance only served to put him in hot water again, for with numerous lettermen returning, the Bears were picked by pre-season prognosticators as the No. 1 team on the Coast. But Pappy came through again and the Blue and Gold grid machine ground out 10 straight victories to tie with Oregon for the conference championship. Cal had the superior season record, the two teams did not meet in '48, and was voted into the Rose Bowl. The Bears dropped a 20-14 thriller to the Northwestern Wildcats, some of whom had played for Pappy when he was at Evanston as head mentor. Cal fans thought that they "had been robbed" by some questionable calls by the officials but said "wait until next year." As they checked the Bear roster in the Rose Bowl program they realized that many of the players, including All-American Fullback Jackie Jensen, would be back for another season of competition.

However, by the time of the 1949 season opener with the powerful Santa Clara Broncos Cal's grid stock had dropped considerably. Jensen left school to play professional baseball with the Oakland Oaks. All-Coast Halfback Jack Swaner, leading scorer in 1948 Coast Conference play, appeared to be out for the season with a bad knee. First-stringers End John Cunningham and Halfback Billy Main were declared ineligible after conference officials unscrambled wartime eligibility rules. First-string center Doug Duncan left the university and Cunningham's running mate at end, Norm Pressley, injured a knee, which was to keep him out of the first six games of the season. These misfortunes, coupled with expected graduation losses, led Cal fans to hope for no better than an even split in the tough 10-game schedule ahead.

But Pappy's boys surprised local sports writers by handily beating the Broncos (who went on to drug Kentucky's Wildcats in the Orange Bowl) and led by Halfback Charlie "Scooter" Sarver the amazing Bears easily won their next four games. Then Waldorf had to face the USC Trojans, pre-season Rose Bowl nominees, without the services of sparkplug Sarver and several other first-stringers hurt in the Wisconsin game. It was then that Waldorf's true coaching skill surprised the so-called "smart money boys" as he brought up previously unheard of players from the Rambler squad as replacements and the Golden Bears upset favored USC. Now it was daring Bob Celeri at quarterback, and plunging Halfback Frank Brunk leading Waldorf's Wonders. Brunk ran back a kick-off 102 yards right down the middle of the field for a touchdown to beat the Trojans. Some called it luck, but the truth was the Bears used a pattern which IKA Waldorf had been drilling into them for a week. Sports writers had said early in the season that Cal didn't have a quarterback, but Pappy developed the unorthodox Celeri into a contender for the All-American nomination.

Throughout the remainder of the season injuries plagued Waldorf and his staff, but every game Pappy brought out new stars and Cal kept winning. Although the gambling Celeri was seriously hampered by an injured leg, the Bears convincingly silenced Oregon supporters (who steadfastly maintained that the Ducks should have gone to the Rose Bowl the year before), with a one-sided 41-14 victory.

Then came the Big Game and the Rose Bowl decider. Would it be California or Stanford? With Celeri still limping and the fact Stanford had its strongest team in years, the game looked like a toss-up. But the Blue and Gold, led by Jim Monachino and Jack Swamer who was playing his first game of the season after a knee injury, came on strong in the second half to steamroller the Indians 33 to 14.

The Bears were champions again due to the superlative coaching and inspirational leadership of Brother Waldorf and the never-say-die spirit of the players.

Ohio State, coached by PiKap Wes Fesler, edged Cal, 17 to 14, on a field goal in the last two minutes of play in the Rose Bowl. There were no complaints this time as the Bears failed to play their best game and Ohio State clearly deserved to win. However, in all fairness to Waldorf's lads, it should be mentioned that Swamer was unable to play because he hurt his knee in practice, and first-string linemen George Souza, Jim Cullom, Forrest Klein, and All-American Guard Rod Franz missed the second half because of injuries.

Pappy has a great sense of humor and is an entertaining after-dinner speaker. He has won many friends among sports writers, fans, and alumni during banquet seasons. Hefty Pappy puts on even more weight on the porterhouse circuit but says, "Oh well, I'll just wait 'til the season starts and worry it off."

While attending Syracuse University Brother Waldorf was SMC of Alpha-Chi chapter and student body president. He belonged to many of the school's honor societies, was given the Monks-head award as the outstanding junior, rowed on the crew, and played three years as a star tackle for the Orange. After graduating in 1925 he accepted the head coach job at Oklahoma City University the next year. From there he went to the University of Kansas as an assistant coach in 1928 and then to Oklahoma A. & M., where he guided the Aggies to four Missouri Valley Conference titles. Pappy resigned in 1934 to accept a job at Kansas State. He only stayed for one year but that was long enough for the Staters to win the Big Six title. He then moved to Northwestern and remained there until coming to Berkeley in 1947. His 1936 Wildcat eleven won the Big Ten title and was ranked fifth in the nation. Brother Waldorf's boys were ranked ninth nationally in 1941. The Rose Bowl squads of '48 and '49 placed fourth and third respectively.

His over-all coaching record is 132 games won, 65 lost, and 18 tied, against the toughest kind of competition.

Since his graduation in 1925, Brother Waldorf has kept as active in the fraternity as his busy schedule will allow. Coaching at a big-time football school is a full-time job, and being a great organizer and thorough coach, he puts in many hours with his team and assistants. During the office season Pappy stumps the state, speaking to alumni groups in every city and town, in search of new material, since the university frowns upon athletic scholarships, and he must attract prep stars with his own vibrant personality and his winning teams. Nevertheless, once a Pi Kap always a Pi Kap, and Pappy still finds time to visit the chapter house during important functions such as rushing, the Dream Girl contest and Founders' Day. Incidentally, he has spoken at IKA Founders' Day banquets for the past 25 years. He was National alumni secretary in 1946 while at Northwestern, but had to resign the position upon moving to California.

Brother Waldorf has two daughters, Mary Louise, 23, and Carolyn Janet, 18. His wife, Louise, says of the Waldorf move to California, "We are all very happy in Berkeley and Lynn enjoys his work at Cal very much."

One Bay Area newspaperman, commenting on Pappy's warm personality and ability to make friends, put it this way, "Pappy fits like an old shoe—he fits any place." Lynn "Pappy" Waldorf certainly fits the University of California and Pi Kappa Alpha.

His work has included a position as superintendent of schools, in Hampton, Virginia; Southern representative of Silver, Burdett & Co.; and, from advertising manager to president of D. C. Heath and Company, which position he now holds. Mr. Cowles was reluctant to tell us about himself, devoting his letter to praises of his blood and fraternity brother, Dr. Edward S. Cowles. Mr. Cowles is not only a distinguished alumnus of William and Mary, but is a member of the family which has sent more sons and daughters to William and Mary than any other. He is now chairman of the board of D. C. Heath Co.

◆ DR. JENKINS M. POPE, Edisto Island, S. C. When he finished the South Carolina Medical College as high man in 1892, Dr. Pope was rewarded with one of the four internships given at Roper Hospital. While there, a patient's husband gave Dr. Pope a position as ship's doctor on a fruit boat between the United States and the British Honduras. Dr. Pope took his medical examination at Columbia, S. Carolina, and won a prize of $25 in books for having the highest grades. After wards, Dr. Pope practiced medicine as a "country doctor" and operated a sea island cotton plantation, with cattle and hogs as side issues, until about 1920. The boll weevil put an end to the cotton raising, but Dr. Pope continued with his cattle, sheep and hogs. In addition to Dr. Pope's modest information about himself, his pastor, Mr. W. H. Goodman, tells us that Dr. Pope and Mrs. Pope have raised seven fine children who are now fine, capable heads of families. Mr. Goodman says they are "an unusual group of young men and women, gracious in manner and in their Southern hospitality, having taken on much of the integrity of the Dr. and Mrs. Pope."

◆ REV. WALTER VERRELL McADOO, Rho at Cumberland, has completed 50 years as an ordained minister, having been ordained, at the age of 23, in November, 1897.

A graduate of Cumberland University of Lebanon, Tennessee, Mr. McAdoo served as pastor of Cumberland Presbyterian churches in Nashville, Tennessee, and in Los Angeles, California. He also served as superintendent of Church Extension in the Synod of Tennessee for the Cumberland Church.

A leader and firm believer in the movement to reunite the Cumberland denomination with the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, Mr. McAdoo has served since the reunion in Presbyterian Churches in Newburg, Indiana; Athens, Alabama; and in Mt. Vernon, LeRoy, Carbondale, Harrisburg, and Litchfield—all in Illinois.

Because of his ability to reinvigorate churches, he was called some years ago by the Presbytery of Peoria, Illinois, as pastor of the Bethel Presbyterian Church there, and succeeded in doing well a difficult assignment.

Practically retired for a number of years, it would be more accurate to describe him as actively retired, for his rich and vigorous preaching ability is constantly sought by churches in need of pulpit supplies. He served First Church for a year as associate minister.

◆ LEMUEL B. STEPHENSON'S college activity was indicative of the busy success of his future. During college, he worked on the annual, played baseball, managed the ball team, was president of the Y.M.C.A., editor-in-chief of the magazine, took two medals in scholarship and graduated Magna Cum Laude.

After graduation, Mr. Stephenson started work as a bookkeeper in his home town of Kershaw, S. Carolina, for $50 a month. His second job was at Hartsville, S. Carolina, where he has resided ever since. His activities kept pace with his college career, and Mr. Stephenson became secretary-treasurer of a $300,000 mercantile corporation. In addition, he has been alderman, mayor pro tem, acting recorder and mayor of Hartsville. He is active in his church, where he is senior elder.

JUSTICE VERNON SPRATLEY
Gamma at William and Mary

◆ C. VERNON SPRATLEY, Justice, Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia. After graduating from William and Mary College in October, 1898, where he was a member of Gamma Chapter, Justice Spratley taught school for three years. Then he attended the University of Virginia where he received his Bachelor of Laws in 1906. In 1938, William and Mary College gave him an honorary LL.D. In 1948, that same college presented him with the Alumni Medallion. Professionally, Brother Spratley has been city attorney of Hampton and Phoebus, Virginia, and was judge of the Eleventh Judicial Circuit in Virginia from 1923 to 1936, at which time he was appointed as a justice to the Supreme Court of Appeals. He was also chairman of the Virginia State Commission to Study Prison Sentences, and was chairman of the commission to investigate and survey the seafood industry of Virginia. Justice Spratley's son, following his father's successful pattern, was graduated from the University of Virginia with a law degree in 1947, and is now a member of the legal staff of Williamsburg Restoration, at Williamsburg, Virginia. In addition to following Brother Spratley's example professionally, his son was also a member of both Iota and Alpha chapters of IKA.

REV. CHARLES H. LITTLE

DR. HENRY A. EDWARDS
X and Z at Wofford and Vanderbilt

◆ When a horse and buggy was the vehicle, Dr. Edwards had to keep three horses to use in relays in order to have fresh transportation to his patients throughout a widespread area around Latta, South Carolina. That fast horse and rubber-tired buggy were, in fact, one of the reasons Henry Edwards became Dr. Edwards. He had wanted both since he was a little boy. In April, 1899, when Dr. Edwards started practicing medicine, he reports that bleeding of patients was a common and reputable practice. Prices for medical service were a cause for complaints from patients: $1 for an office call; an obstetrical case was usually $10, sometimes only $5. These facts are a far cry from today's practitioner, and no one knows that better than Dr. Edwards, who is still actively engaged in practice after more than 50 years of continued service in Latta, South Carolina.

REV. CHARLES H. LITTLE
Beta at Davidson

◆ REV. CHARLES H. LITTLE, B, was graduated at Davidson College in 1896. Later, after attending Princeton for one year, he finished at the Louisville Presbyterian Seminary. For 33 years, Rev. Little was actively engaged as pastor of Sharon Presbyterian Church at Charlotte, N. Carolina. He is still busy, though retired, with church work. Mr. Little's magnetism and great appreciation for peoples of all kinds is radiated throughout his own letter and from the numerous articles that this magazine has received praising Brother Little. About himself, Rev. Little says, "I am like the group in Genesis, 5th Chapter, 'they lived, died leaving behind heirs to transmit the promise.'" The Reverend Mr. Little had two sons who were initiated into IKA. One of these, Lt. Comdr. Little, was lost in the fall of his plane in World War II.

JOHN HOYT STUCKEY, SR.
Nu at Wofford

◆ In 1896, Mr. Stuckey was initiated into Pi Kappa Alpha at Wofford College. Upon completion of his schooling, Mr. Stuckey returned to his home town and has been there ever since. Until recently, he was actively engaged in farming. This year Mr. and Mrs. Stuckey will celebrate their Golden Wedding anniversary. Mr. Stuckey is the oldest active steward of Bethlehem Methodist Church in Bishopville, S. C., having served there for 50 years.

DR. HOWARD J. SANKEY
Mu at Presbyterian

◆ Among his accomplishments, Dr. Sankey includes the delivery of quadruplets to Mr. and Mrs. Short of Nauvoo, Alabama, on January 14, 1940. Three of the children are still living. Dr. Sankey is a native Alabamian from Russell County. He received his medical degree from the Medical Department of the University of Alabama in 1901. He is a "life" member of the Alabama State Board of Censors, and former president of the Walker County Medical Society. At present Dr. Sankey is retired, living in Birmingham.

ALBERT M. CLARK
Sigma at Vanderbilt

◆ Born at Lawson, Missouri, on March 4, 1879. Educated in the Lawson public schools; Presbyterian College of Upper Missouri, formerly located in Lawson; and at Vanderbilt University.

Admitted to the bar in July, 1900; served as prosecuting attorney of Ray County from 1913 to 1916, inclusive; representative from Ray County, 1917 to 1920, inclusive; member of the Constitutional Convention, 1922-1923; state senator, 1931 to 1938. As state senator he served as majority floor leader and as president pro tem, and as acting governor for a total of 42 days.

He was married on January 28, 1906, to Miss Bessie Zimmerman of Lawson, Missouri. They have three daughters, Mrs. David E. Harrison of Jefferson City, Missouri, whose husband is superintendent of the State Highway Patrol; Mrs. Powell B. McHaney of St. Louis, Missouri, whose husband is general attorney for the General American Life Insurance Company, and a member of the Supreme Council of Pi Kappa Alpha; and Mrs. R. B. Galbreath, of Fort Worth, Texas, whose husband is an employee of the REA. While acting governor he selected his grandchildren as colonels on his staff.

He has been judge of the Supreme Court of Missouri since January 1, 1939.

Under the plan for rotation of the office of chief justice, he served in that capacity from March 16, 1945, to September 9, 1946.

SHERMAN GUY FORBES
Upsilon at Alabama Polytechnic

◆ The experiences of this Golden Member are so varied and interesting that a feature article is being prepared for a future issue. He spent four years on the construction of the Panama Canal, and served as an engineer in India for an additional thirty years. Watch for this feature.

DR. ROBERT H. LAFFERTY
Beta at Davidson

◆ DR. ROBERT H. LAFFERTY was one of only two initiates into Beta Chapter in 1895, the year after the chapter was revived at Davidson.

He received an A.B. degree from Davidson College in 1899 and an A.M. degree in 1906. He graduated from the North Carolina Medical College of Davidson and Charlotte in 1906.

From 1906 until 1915 he taught physiology and chemistry, also serving as registrar, in the North Carolina Medical College in Charlotte. When this institution was moved to Richmond he became associated with Dr. A. J. Crowell of Charlotte in the practice of urology and in 1918 he began devoting all of his time to the practice of radiology. In this speciality he is still engaged, being the senior radiologist in this part of the country.

In 1913 he married Miss Edith Fry and they have two sons, Robert H. Jr., and John O., both of whom were members of Beta Chapter and graduated from Davidson College. He has a brother, Park M., and a nephew, Martin L. (Teeny), who were members of Beta Chapter.

He was elected elder in the Second Presbyterian Church in 1910, and was for 32 years superintendent of the Sunday school, retiring from this office in 1944.

FRED C. SIENKNECHT

Rho at Cumberland

◆ Among the many interesting events of Dr. Wear's life was the night he had to sell a murderer, who was pressing a gun into the minister's ribs, on letting him go. When, sometime later, the man was apprehended, an officer asked him if the preacher was scared. He replied, "No, but I was scared to death. He is a mean-looking old devil."

Frank Wear was an outstanding student at Trinity University, at Tehuacana, Texas, where he prepared for the ministry. He also studied at the Theological Seminary at Cumberland University in Lebanon, Tenn., where he was initiated, along with others members of his family. Mr. Wear rendered outstanding service to his church, the Presbyterian, throughout his ministry. In 1937, after pastorates at Ensley, Alabama; Bronx Mission, New York City, and at the Central Presbyterian Church, in Denton, Texas, Dr. Wear accepted the presidency of Trinity University in Paris, Texas. He guided the school through many difficulties and accomplished a great deal for the institution. Now Dr. and Mrs. Wear are spending their retirement in the atmosphere they love, at Paris, Texas.

FRED C. SIENKNECHT
Zeta at Tennessee

◆ AN ATHLETE while attending the University of Tennessee, Mr. Sienknecht won the all-around athletic medal and won second prize in the target practice. He was a member of the football team and managed it during 1895. When Mr. Sienknecht received his degree of Bachelor of Science in Mining Engineering, he worked on railroad location in Texas and Kentucky, then on U. S. lock and dam construction on the Cumberland river. After that, he went into general merchandising for 44 years. He is now retired.

I. L. CHADWELL
Sigma at Vanderbilt

◆ I. L. CHADWELL, of whom we do not have a picture, tells us that he believes he has measured more cubic yards of dirt than any man in Tennessee. Mr. Chadwell has followed his engineering profession in Mt. Pleasant, Tennessee, since his graduation from Vanderbilt in 1907. His work has been mostly in the phosphate industry and includes every phase of that industry.

Mr. Chadwell was elected city engineer of Mt. Pleasant in 1912 and has served through all the different administrations ever since. Every sidewalk, every street, every water and sewer line in Mt. Pleasant was built under his supervision. Now that his work doesn't demand all his time, Mr. Chadwell's primary interest are his three grandchildren.

— Π Κ Α —

WILLIAM H. SIENKNECHT
Zeta at Tennessee

◆ From engineering to textiles has been the story of this Golden Member. Mr. Sienknecht graduated in civil engineering at the University of Tennessee. After graduation, he worked for a short time for the L&N Railroad, then went into the coal fields of east Tennessee. In addition to working up from an engineer for a coal mining company to director and vice president in charge of operations of all Blue Diamond Coal Company operations, Mr. Sienknecht also did some road contracting and mercantile business. In 1945 he resigned from Blue Diamond to devote his attention to his mercantile business. He has retail stores surrounding Oak Ridge, at Oliver Springs, Clinton, Loudon and Maryville, Tennessee.

He says his hobbies, from the age of six, have been hunting, fishing, swimming, dancing, Kentucky Derbies and football.

OLIN SAWYER
Xi at South Carolina

◆ DR. OLIN SAWYER is another of the fine physicians which Pi Kappa Alpha boasts. Dr. Sawyer was graduated at the Medical College of the State of South Carolina in 1901, when he started practice in Georgetown, South Carolina. After many years as physician and surgeon, he retired a few years ago. In addition to his medical services, Dr. Sawyer served three years on the Georgetown City Council as alderman, four years as mayor of the city during the first World War; chairman of the City Board of Health; 20 years in the state House of Representatives and eight years in the state Senate. In 1948 Dr. Sawyer declined to run for reelection. Dr. Sawyer was a member of many state Democratic conventions and the National Democratic Convention at Philadelphia in 1936. Professional positions included chief surgeon of the Atlantic Coast Lumber Corporation, local surgeon of the Seaboard Air Line Railroad Company, acting assistant surgeon of the United States Public Health Service, and U. S. quarantine officer at the port of Georgetown, S. Carolina. Dr. Sawyer has been a Mason for 50 years and an elder of the Presbyterian Church for 20 years.

J. W. WOODRUFF
Upsilon at Auburn

◆ MR. WOODRUFF says it's hard for him to believe it has been so long ago that he once "borrowed" the clapper from the chapel bell at Auburn. When he graduated in electrical and mechanical engineering in 1900, Mr. Woodruff served his apprenticeship with Atlanta Consolidated Railway and the Atlantic Steel Company. Then he built the Columbus Ice and Cold Storage plant which was one of the plants that started the Atlantic Ice and Coal Company. When 56 plants were acquired, Mr. Woodruff inspected the plants from "the boiler room through the office" as assistant to the president. The following years Mr. Woodruff accumulated diversified business interests. In addition to his wide business interests, Mr. Woodruff has given much time and attention to civic projects of all kinds. He says "the greatest satisfaction I have had in the way of accomplishment is seeing the Chattoohooche-Flint-Apalachicola Rivers Project materialize." One of the dams in this great system is named for Mr. Woodruff. It was this Pi Kappa Alpha's vision, leadership and financial support which made the development possible.

JAMES BERRY CARPENTER

◆ According to Brother Carpenter, when he was initiated into Mu Chapter, away back in 1896, goats were goats, and no foolin'. Born at Anderson, S. C., in 1879, Jim Carpenter graduated at Presbyterian College in 1900 and at Louisville Theological Seminary in 1904. Later he served for 20 years as a member of the board of the latter institution. He did graduate work at Princeton Seminary and at the Biblical Seminary of New York, after which he went to Richmond as a district superintendent of religious education. Of his 45 years in the ministry he spent a total of 35 years in Memphis and Mobile pastorates. He now serves at Holly Springs, Miss.

LEWIS S. POPE
Sigma at Vanderbilt

◆ LEWIS S. POPE was educated in the public schools of Tennessee, Emory and Henry College and Vanderbilt University, being a graduate in law from Vanderbilt. Early in his legal career, he was appointed assistant U. S. district attorney in East Tennessee. In 1917, he was appointed by Gov. Tom C. Rye as the head of the state's penal and charitable institutions; he was reappointed by Gov. A. H. Roberts, held over through the administration of Gov. Alf Taylor, and was again reappointed by Gov. Austin Peay in 1923 and served until November, 1927, at which time he resumed the practice of law in Nashville, Tennessee, and is still so engaged. He resides on one of his farms in Sumner County, and devotes some of his time to farming and raising livestock.

In addition to his legal profession and farming activities, he is also engaged in operating a coal mine and has a rather extensive lumber business located in East Tennessee.

LUTHER WESLEY MATHIAS
Nu at Wofford

◆ Luther Wesley Mathias was born near Irmo, South Carolina. He attended Wofford Fitting School and Wofford College in Spartanburg, S. C., where he was initiated into Nu Chapter in 1896. He writes, "I still have my beautiful Pi Kappa Alpha badge." Because of a long illness of typhoid fever, he was forced to withdraw from college in his sophomore year. Golden Member Mathias worked in his father's general store until 1901 at which time he received an appointment in the Railway Mail Service. Serving in this capacity for 36 years, he was transferred to the Greenville and Charleston Line where he remained until retirement in 1937.

CHARLES S. WILLIAMSON, JR.
Sigma at Vanderbilt

◆ Charles Samuel Williamson, Jr., was initiated into Sigma Chapter in 1898. He took his Master's there immediately after graduating in 1903. He also attended the University of Chicago for graduate work. His professional career was one of education. He was professor of chemistry and biology at Wofford College; instructor of chemistry at Michigan State College; bacteriologist for F. Stearns and Company, and a chemist in the phosphate mines at Columbia and Mt. Pleasant, Tennessee. He returned to the educational field at Alabama Polytechnic Institute, as associate professor of chemistry and metallurgy, and later to Tulane University as head of the School of Chemical Engineering, in which position he still holds emeritus. In addition to his teaching, Mr. Williamson acted as a consulting chemical engineer. At present Mr. Williamson edits the Sugar Journal of New Orleans. His extra-curricular activities consist of golf, the Masonic Lodge, and a member of the Louisiana Engineering Society, of which he was once president; a member of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers; a fellow for life in American Institute of Chemists and a member of the American Chemical Society.

WILLIAM ROBERT WALLACE
Mu at Presbyterian

◆ Dr. Wallace attended Presbyterian College where he was initiated into Mu Chapter. He received his medical training at the Medical College of Virginia, and later interned at Memorial Hospital, Richmond, Virginia. Since 1930, he has been a staff member at Pryor Hospital, Chester, South Carolina. In addition to his medical career, he has served as trustee of Presbyterian College, president of the Chester Rotary Club, and is the author of numerous treatises.

◆ AFTER finishing at Presbyterian College, Mr. Sims went into the wholesale grocery and real estate businesses. In 1923, he dropped the grocery business and substituted farming for it. He's still active in those, in addition to being a member of the Board of Directors of The Commercial Bank, and the Chester Building & Loan Association, and president of the Farmer's Mutual Fire Insurance Association, all in Chester, South Carolina. He is also an elder of the Purity Presbyterian Church in Chester. Mrs. Sims' hobby of collecting antiques is somewhat hampered by Mr. Sims. She accuses him of speeding by every house she finds which contains prize specimens of her hobby.

◆ The Blackshear Times says about Mr. Johnson: "For years to come, the Rev. Linton Johnson will be known and remembered at the man who 'went about doing good.' What person could ask for more?" Mr. Johnson got his education at Presbyterian College and at the Columbia Theological Seminary. He held three pastorates before World War I when he went overseas with the YMCA. After the war, Mr. Johnson went to the Blackshear Presbyterian Church where he has been pastor ever since. Rev. Johnson has actively practiced his religion throughout his life, with the result that his influence on the lives of those in his community has been great for good. Mr. Johnson says "Never worry, never be afraid, and never hold ill-will against your fellowman."

WILLIAM BRUMFIELD MILLER

A part of the material below has been taken from "Who's Who in American Clergy."

◆ WILLIAM BRUMFIELD MILLER, D.D., pastor First Presbyterian Church, Van Buren, Ark. Born September 3, 1874, at Farmington, Tenn. Educated Cumberland University, A.B., 1896; Lebanon Theological Seminary, 1897; College of the Ozarks, D.D., 1911. Ordained as a Presbyterian clergyman by Elk Presbytery; pastor of Presbyterian churches, Hillsboro, Texas, 1901-1904; Texarkana, Texas, Pine St., 1905-1908; called as pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Van Buren, Ark., in 1908, a position continuously occupied since that date. This Van Buren pastorate is said to be the longest installed pastorate, now in its 42nd year, in Presbyterian history in Arkansas.

Moderator of Synod of Arkansas two terms, 1925 and 1926; stated clerk of Arkansas Synod, 1914-1923; stated clerk Fort Smith Presbytery, 1923-1950; member of Board of Trustees of College of the Ozarks, and president of that board for many years; Arkansas representative in the staff of the Board of National Mission, 1930-1947; chairman Crawford County Chapter, American Red Cross, 1917-1930; chairman of Four-Minute Men for Crawford County during World War I; member Van Buren Rotary Club since 1920 and past president; Scottish Rite Mason, 32nd degree, and KCCH; Knight Templar.

Then "Of course, in these 50 years of ministry, I have had many interesting experiences, some of them funny, some of them sad, some of them good, some of them bad, but all in all it has been a great life, and I feel now, that if it were to go over, I would choose the ministry as the way of service to God and my fellowmen."

◆ BEFORE settling down to 39 years as an employee of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, Mr. Jennings tried his pitching arm at baseball and his figuring head at train auditing. Baseball was his logical field after college, because, in school, he pitched a game against Cincinnati University, allowing no hits, no runs and not a ball out of the infield. When the Three-I League deflated his ego, and his pitching arm was stricken, Mr. Jennings gave up the sport. He and Mrs. Jennings, during their lives together, have traveled extensively in the United States, Canada, Mexico and Cuba.

◆ Dr. Justice has been practicing medicine in Marion, North Carolina, for 42 years, having started in 1907.

A son of the late Judge Michael Hoke Justice and Maggie Smith Justice, he is a native of Rutherford County.

He attended the Rutherford Military Institute and spent two years at Wake Forest, but left college to enlist as a member of Company B, Second North Carolina Regiment, of the Spanish-American War, of which he became a corporal. In 1899 he became a student of medicine at the University of North Carolina and then spent a year at Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia, Pa., after which he entered Grady Hospital in Atlanta, Georgia. His M.D. degree was received at the College of Physicians and Surgeons in Atlanta in 1907. He established the first hospital in Marion, which he conducted for two years. He belongs to the McDowell County Medical Society, of which he served as president for three terms, to the Tenth District Medical Society, the North Carolina Medical Society and the American Medical Association. His fraternal connections are with the Masonic Order, Pi Kappa Alpha and the Phi Chi. His religious affiliation is the Presbyterian Church. His recreational interest centers in bird hunting and his fine dogs.

Chapter Eternal

◆ JOHN L. PACKER began to rest from his labors Friday morning, December 2, 1949, at his home, 203 Edgeworth Lane, Edgeworth Boro, Sewickley, Pennsylvania.

"Tiny" was born at Braddock, Pennsylvania, on September 23, 1898. He was initiated into Beta-Alpha Chapter, Pennsylvania State, October 21, 1917. From that date forward, he has been a ΠΚΑ stalwart. He served faithfully and well in chapter offices, the district presidency, 10 years as national counsel, and as an outstanding national president from 1946-48.

He was a prominent attorney in Pittsburgh for many years and had several business interests. He was a member of the Sewickley Presbyterian Church.

Our hearts go out in sympathy to his lovely Pi Kappa Alpha family—his wife, Sally, and his children, Sarah Lee and "Butch" (John L. Packer, Jr.).

Lovable Tiny, you were a true embodiment of Pi Kappa Alpha. We will always miss you. And, yet, we shall always have you with us—because your spirit will ever pervade Pi Kappa Alpha. 'Tis such as you who make it great.

T. ELLISON SIMPSON
Mu at Presbyterian

◆ Dr. Simpson was educated in the Thornwell orphanage high school Presbyterian College, and Columbia Theological Seminary. He was an instructor at Presbyterian College and superintendent of Thornwell orphanage schools. Prior to Darlington, S. C., Dr. Simpson held pastorates in Hendersonville, N. C., and Society Hill, S. C. Dr. Simpson served in the American Red Cross during World War I. He has also served on the Board of Trustees of Presbyterian College, and as chairman of Thornwell's board. In addition to Pi Kappa Alpha, Dr. Simpson is a Mason, chairman of the Darlington public library, and director of Camp Sky-Hy for Girls.

National President Knight says, "Past President Tiny Packer had everything it takes to make him an ideal member of Pi Kappa Alpha. He was sincere, kind, and friendly in his personal relationships. His interest in serving our Fraternity with his unusual talents was unbounded. Those of us who knew him best shall be ever grateful for the privilege of having been in the bonds with him and should thank those who pledged and initiated him for making this possible."

◆ ROBERT A. HANNON, M, at Presbyterian College, died on November 12, 1947. The South Carolina Law Quarterly paid him tribute by saying: . . . "He had lived a life of real service. Now that he is gone, we should not mourn him. Rather should we rejoice that such a man lived, for in truth, his having lived has made the world a better place for us who survive."

◆ ALBERT V. RUSSELL, M, Presbyterian College, died suddenly on November 30, 1949. He was visiting a prospective member of the 2nd Presbyterian Church of Charlotte, N. C., when he was stricken. For 24 years Mr. Russell was secretary of men's work of the 2nd Presbyterian Church of Charlotte. He was initiated in 1895.

IIKA and SAE officers sign peace pact.

TREATY FOR ALPHA-ETA

By VERNON LOWELL

◆ A COLD WAR that lasted for more than 10 years came to a formal close on October 21, 1949—the war between Pi Kappa Alpha and Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternities on the University of Florida.

The treaty ending hostilities was formally signed during Florida's Homecoming weekend by president of SAE Leonard A. Brand and president of Pi Kappa Alpha, Paul Everett, Gainesville. Witnesses were dean of men at the university, R. C. Beaty; president of the Interfraternity Council, Bernard Shiell, AH, Ft. Lauderdale; and IMC Vernon Lowell, AH, Pensacola.

SAE's Leo the Lion on their front lawn was the bone of contention during the war that kept Pike and SAE nerves frayed for more than a decade. The latest foray and counter-attack precipitated the peace bids by both groups.

In the past Leo has been the target of blasts and all sorts of pyrotechnics, but the latest was the topper of them all. Leo has even been buried on a desolate stretch of marshland outside Gainesville, Paines Prairie, by the Pikes—unknown to the men of the Lion.

The SAEs were unable to find a clue as to poor Leo's whereabouts until they finally called in Dr. U. S. (Preacher) Gordon, national chaplain of Pi Kappa Alpha. He investigated and restored Leo to the SAEs.

This prompted the SAEs to put a cement base under Leo to prevent history, and the Florida Pikes, from staging a repeat performance. That action saved Leo from being kidnapped, but he continued to suffer all manner of other abuses until the finale.

About the middle of October, a group of Pike pledges returned from a Mission Trip with several old automobile tires to be disposed of. The brothers stipulated that they be disposed of in a useful fashion. With one accord, the pledges fixed their eyes on Leo.

With coordinated attack, three waves of pledges swooped down on Leo across the grassy plains of SAE. The first assault force draped four tires around Leo's neck and body. The second wave followed with incendiary material and the final force cemented the position by setting the materials on fire.

Leo was smothered in a holocaust of sticky, smelly flame. He cracked somewhat under the strain and the next morning he resembled something akin to a confused collection of charcoal.

Then followed a period of ominous silence as the SAEs planned a counter-blow and the Pikes nervously awaited it to fall. The whole area had an air of tenseness.

An unidentified strategist in the SAE camp dreamed up a master blow that the Pikes could not foresee.

The following week the Alpha-Eta-ites were besieged by frequent "calls of nature." Fearing a virus attack or faulty food, the Pike kitchen and all utensils were scoured thoroughly. But to no avail.

University biologists and chemists were consulted, but they found nothing. The Pikes were doubly worried because the Delta Delta Delta sorority had been dinner guests one night during the eventful week. However, they reported nothing out of the ordinary.

Then the Alpha-Eta dining room manager, L. A. Brinkley, Lake City, remembered!

A group of SAEs had borrowed a pan of flour from the Pike kitchen. For some unknown reason, they returned it a few minutes later, and this pan of flour

Old Dominion IKA Ball

By AL PITTMAN

◆ RICHMOND, VIRGINIA, the normally calm capital of the Confederacy, nearly burst its Southern seams on the night of December 3 in the vicinity of Hotel John Marshall.

The reason was apparent. IKAs from the four corners of the Old Dominion had gathered in the hotel's Virginia Room to help their brothers in Omicron at the University of Richmond present their traditional All-State PiKA Ball. From the Blue Ridge came Washington and Lee's Pi chapter; from the University of Virginia at Charlottesville—the Cavaliers of Alpha; from the Piedmont—the boys of Iota at Hampden-Sydney College; and from Tidewater's historical College of William and Mary—the Gammas. "On to Richmond!" was the cry of these four armies of IKAs as they converged on the River James. But unlike the armies of General Grant 85 years before, these were welcomed by the citizens of the Tobacco Capital.

That night, beneath the chandeliers of the Virginia Room, approximately one thousand IKAs, their guests, and many alumni were gathered for the formal ball. Dominating the ballroom was a huge replica of IKA's Shield and Diamond suspended from the ceiling. Constructed with streamers of garnet and gold crepe paper and bordered with large white balloons representing the pearls of the shield, the giant fraternity pin extended nearly the entire width of the dance floor. To the north of the pin a large cellophane canopy filled with balloons suspended above the dancers. Later in the evening, the strings securing the canopy were cut, and several hundred balloons floated down to the waiting arms of the enthusiastic crowd. A silver "Welcome to the IKA Ball" sign hung over the orchestra and stage while streamers of IKA's Garnet and Gold completed the decorative theme of the ballroom.

Highlighting the ball was the selection of lovely Betty Francis of Hollins College as the Old Dominion's Dream Girl of IKA. The sponsor of the Hampden-Sydney IKAs, Miss Francis, was the unanimous choice of Judges John S. Battle, Jr., Guy Borkey and Charles Behn. The new Dream Girl was escorted to the stage of the ballroom by William Trinkle, SMC of the jubilant Iota chapter. She was presented with a sweetheart pin and a bouquet of American Beauty roses. Other entrants in the contest were Miss Virginia Parthenis, College of William and Mary, and Miss Judy Long, Washington and Lee University.

Among the guests at the ball was a large group of fraternity and non-fraternity men from the University of Richmond with their dates. Because of the great popularity of the IKA ball with the students at the University of Richmond, which has increased with the years, the demand for complimentary bids far exceeded the supply. The attitude of UR students toward this affair is reflected in the statement made by one non-IKA Greek before the ball—"There's no ball like the IKA ball!" IKAs at the University of Richmond are proud of their ball and its popularity. Consequently, each year they strive to make it the best dance in Spiderland. The general consensus is that they're doing it.

Two Beta-Pi Men Now Phi Beta Kappa's

◆ UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA.—New chapter officers elected, house improvements, a large pledge class, a secret marriage announced—these are the headline items of the Beta-Pi Chapter at Penn.

The first meeting in January saw the election of new house officers for the spring term. Joe Scott moved up from the IMC position to SMC, succeeding Art Cramer. Bob Puderbaugh took over Scotty's vacated post. Don Schreiber was appointed secretary, taking the place of Gordo Renninger, and breaking all precedence, Alumnus Craig Armington was elected treasurer succeeding Leroy Hoch. The new regime was installed January 10 and will reign until several weeks before graduation.

One of the surprises awaiting the brothers following Christmas vacation was the announcement that Brother Dick Sheridan had been married since early in September. The bride is the former Livvie Scheufele, who had been wearing Dick's pin for two years. This is the fourth consecutive year that some member of the chapter has been married secretly during the school year.

All 47 brothers in the chapters became uncles simultaneously twice during late December. Saturday morning, December 17, came the word that Jack and Dottie Donovan had become the parents of a baby girl. Little Miss Donovan was named Jessica Ellen. The following Saturday, Ken Harding received a Christmas present one day early when he also became the father of a little girl. Ken says the new arrival's name is Nancy Elaine. With the arrival of the two future "Dream Girls" there has been some talk about converting one of the rooms in the chapter house into a nursery for Saturday night parties. Pledge Joe Bednar and his charming wife "Eddie" have been threatening to bring their 15-month-old son, Gary, to the parties and recruiting a stag brother as a baby sitter. The Donovans and the Hardings are in complete agreement, too!

Harry Schaub and Roy Vagelos were elected to Phi Beta Kappa. Roy, incidentally, was accepted by five medical schools and after graduation in June, will enroll at the Columbia University Medical School.

Bob McKersie was named to Sigma Tau and Tau Beta Pi, and more recently received a bid to Eta Kappa Nu, all engineering societies.

Alpha-Kappa Leaders

Alpha-Kappa's members and pledges, fall semester, 1949-50.

Skip Biles, Art Cramer and Bill Smith invaded Miami, Florida, over the Christmas holidays. En route to Miami, the boys paused for a day in Jacksonville where they were entertained by Larry and Susie Hirsig on their boat, and the same evening attended the Southern Dream Girl Dance held at the Florida Yacht Club. At the University of Miami, they set up a Beta-Pi annex as they were royally entertained and housed by the brothers of the Gamma-Omega chapter. The boys attended the Orange Bowl game, the various tracks, and even managed to return with slight sunburns from several days out on the beach. Hippo Biles was very put out, however, to travel 1,200 miles and then have to stand in the pouring rain for nearly two hours watching the Orange Bowl parade New Year's night!

February graduation took three brothers from the rolls of the active chapter when Larry Hirsig, George Trimmer and Skip Biles received their diplomas.

House improvements completed:

The pool table was repaired and covered, walls in the second and third floor hallways were painted, and a living room couch was re-covered, all prior to rushing. In addition, new dining room chairs and tables were secured

IKA's Lead the Campus at Missouri Mines

By ROBERT WOLF

◆ ALPHA-KAPPA Chapter at the Missouri School of Mines and Metallurgy has just completed one of its most successful years in 44 years of existence. Members and pledges of the chapter distinguished themselves in campus politics, in scholarship, in intramural and varsity athletics, in social endeavor, and in general campus leadership and service.

The 1949-50 school year began with retiring SMC Dave Grimm in one of the top student government positions as president of the Junior Class. Ed Kyburz took the reins from Bill Bach as the new editor-in-chief of the Rollamo, the school yearbook which the chapter virtually publishes. In addition to the editor-in-chief, Bill Horst is the associate editor, Dick Bauer is the literary editor, and Jack McNichols is the new secretary of the yearbook staff. IKA thereby made history, for this is the first time since the publication of the yearbook was begun that members of the same fraternity have held the editorship for two consecutive years.

Jack Eason was selected as one of the school cheerleaders. Ed Kyburz was elected to the Board of Trustees of Student Publications on the campus.

Bill Bach is president of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers for the 1949-50 school year.

In the Society of American Military Engineers IKA's Irvin Propst is the new president and Don Montgomery is vice president.

Outstanding intramural athlete of 1948-49 Stan Dolecki was selected for the all-intramural football team. Alpha-Kappa finished second in intramural rifle marksmanship and are at present in first place in basketball. Mike Hunt tied for high individual score in intramural rifle marksmanship.

In varsity competition Pledge Hollis Matteson was one of the outstanding linemen on the freshman football team, and Joe Powell was a member of the varsity basketball team. Brothers Dolecki and Schuchardt were initiated into the "M" Club, on the basis of the letters they received for varsity track last spring. Brother Powell is also a member of the "M" Club.

Other achievements include Ronald Hoffmann's receiving his Outstanding Freshman Award based on scholarship, activities, and character. This is the second consecutive year IKA's have received this award.

In the Blue Key honorary fraternity,

IKA has more members than any other two combined fraternities on the campus. Brothers Bauer, Horst, Kyburz and Schuchardt were initiated this fall to join the ranks with Brothers Bach, Grimm and Wolf. IKA Bill Bach was elected president, moving up from the office of secretary-treasurer, and Dave Grimm was elected vice president.

In Theta Tau, professional engineering fraternity, IKA has more members than any other fraternity on the campus. Congratulations to Brothers Gould and Powell, who were recently initiated to join the ranks with Brothers Collins, Grimm, Castelli and Schuchardt. Bill Collins was recently elected president for the spring semester, moving up from the office of treasurer during the fall, and Bob Schuchardt was elected to the office of corresponding secretary.

In the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, SMC Bob Wolf retires as secretary, and Ray Ruenheck retires as treasurer. At the election of spring officers, Jim Timlin was elected vice president.

Mike Hunt was selected as the outstanding military graduate of the ROTC, based on his ROTC and college record.

This year's intramural basketball team is leading the pack. Our Piker quintet has built up quite a reputation. Winning games by lopsided scores, and with the enthusiastic backing of the chapter, they are looking for bigger and better teams to conquer.

Socially, Alpha-Kappa also leads the campus with our Winter Formal, which is the only strictly formal dance on the campus during the school year. The annual fall Pledge Dance was held in honor of the fall pledge class, and at both of these dances, the chapter house found as many guests present as members, which is proof-positive of their success. This year Alpha-Kappa is adding a fourth dance to our social calendar, to be given in February in honor of the spring pledge class.

During the past few months, the chapter house has undergone many improvements which help to enhance the beauty as well as the usefulness of the house. About 15 members of the chapter returned to Rolla the week before school opened in September and gave the entire first floor a "face lifting." An asphalt tile floor was installed in the reception hall, dining room, and library. In the library, a new celotex ceiling was put in. The hardwood living room floor was completely refinished. It was decided that the drab first floor walls needed a dressing up. A few hours of labor, and sweat and tears later, the living room emerged a light gray, the dining room light green, and the library peach.

Through the efforts and resources of the chapter's Mothers' Club, two new pieces of furniture were obtained for the living room, and the entire first floor was furnished with venetian blinds. As always, we can certainly boast of the best looking house in town.

ALPHA-ETA TREATY

was dumped in the flour barrel. Putting two and two together, this flour was analyzed and found to contain an ample supply of a very potent laxative.

After the flour had been disposed of, the Pikes submitted a bill of damages to the SAE treasurer, including damages to morale, clothing, and fixtures.

This brought forth emissaries from both sides of the street in an effort to bring the cold war—suddenly blown hot—to a close.

Therefore, all is now quiet. The treaty is on file. However, a special committee of Alpha-Eta reports that the University of Florida Political Science Department says that few treaties have been binding.

The "story behind the story" will be the subject of many fraternity house and dormitory bull sessions for years to come.

For the present, Leo is safe from Pike attack and the Florida Pikes are once more able to carry their old-time self assurance.

Shield & Diamond Endowment Fund Continues Fine Work

◆ THE Shield and Diamond Endowment Fund was established by action of the 1926 Convention. Under the plan then adopted each then active member and subsequent initiate has received a life subscription to the magazine upon payment of $10 to the fund. In addition, those members previously initiated were accorded the same privilege upon making a similar payment. At the close of 1949 26,501 members had paid in $265,010.

The fund continues to grow as new subscriptions are received each year. At December 31, 1949, the fund held total principal assets at a cost of $268,939.29, with a market value of $294,793.29. These assets consisted of approximately 60 per cent bonds and cash, with about 40 per cent of the total market value in preferred and common stock.

All of the funds paid in are credited to principal of the trust and invested. The income earned on those investments is applied to the cost of publication of the magazine. The present rate of income return is slightly better than $3\frac{1}{2}\%$ per annum. The income now being received is sufficient to cover about 60% of the cost of publication.

The Shield and Diamond Endowment Fund is administered by a board of three trustees nominated by the Supreme Council and elected at each convention. The present trustees are former National Treasurer L. Brooks Ragen, a stock broker, of Portland, Oregon; Herbert F. Koch, a former bank president, of Cincinnati, Ohio; and National Treasurer David C. Powers, a trust officer, of New York City, who acts as chairman of the board. Taken together, these trustees have served in that capacity for total terms aggregating more than 30 years.

A copy of the quarterly report on the fund at December 31, 1949, may be obtained by those interested in more detailed information as to the nature and type of investments, upon request to the National Office.

Those alumni members who are not subscribers to the magazine are cordially invited to avail themselves of the privilege of obtaining a life subscription upon payment of $10, which should be forwarded to the National Office. Please be sure to give your name and address clearly so that our circulation records will be correct.

Beta-Alfa Leads At Penn State

◆ IN ATTEMPTING to show Penn State what an active fraternity, driven by fraternal and school spirit, can do, the men of Beta-Alfa have gotten off to a roaring start by placing the name of Pi Kappa Alpha on the rosters of activities in nearly every field.

Aiding the widely respected Penn State soccer team to another undefeated season were three IIKAs, Richard Hannah, veteran booter and member of the 1948 All-American soccer team, and pledges Emig and Little. Emig has been active on the team throughout the season, and Little, the team's second highest scorer for two years, has been named as possible material for this year's All-American squad. All three travelled with the team to St. Louis for the first soccer bowl game on New Year's Day.

Six men, Brothers Shultz, McDougall, Mathias, Bruckner, Fleming, and Pledge Dietz, are outstanding on the varsity debate team. Both Shultz and McDougall participated in the University of Vermont Debate Tournament at Burlington, Vermont, and the Old Dominion Debate Tournament in Richmond, Virginia, with Penn State winning second place and tying for first place respectively. In Richmond, Shultz was picked second best speaker from a field of 28 while McDougall followed in third place.

Robert Louis, first semester SMC, has been named captain of the Penn State lacrosse team with Hannah as a teammate.

Darrel Rishel is a present manager of the Penn State Symphony Orchestra and plays first trombone in that group. In addition, he is the leader of a popular campus dance band.

Continuing in its capacity of cementing and adding zest to chapter-alumni relations is the recently inaugurated BA Degree, monthly chapter publication. Recognition by the judges of the chapter publications contest and an increasing volume of favorable response by alumni substantiate Beta-Alfa's feeling that the BA Degree can be and is an important function.

Campus politics feel the influence of IKA activity. Brother Fleming is currently clique chairman of the State Party which scored a crushing surprise victory in the fall's sophomore and freshmen class elections. He is also president of Belles Lettres, campus literary organization.

Thomas Karolcik is co-circulation manager of the Daily Collegian and Jack Boddington is on Collegian's editorial junior board. On the staff of La Vie, college yearbook, are McDougall, senior board, and Pledge Dietz. Arnold Aikens and Pledge German hold positions on the staff of Froth, campus humor magazine.

In view of such participation in activities, it is not difficult to understand why nine men from Beta-Alfa were chosen for Who's in the News at Penn State, an annual publication in which only 350 of the total student enrollment of over 10,000 are selected.

Representing the chapter on the students councils of their respective schools are: McDougall, Education Council; Donald Tobias, Home Economics Council; Pledge Perry Rothenberger, Mineral Industries Council; and Fleming, Pledge Dietz, Liberal Arts Council.

The chapter's social agenda has been highly successful featuring a costume ball, Christmas banquet to which the alumni were invited, Christmas party for underprivileged children, and an interfraternity dinner.

Seeing daily the shining new trophies won last year by the chapter in intramural basketball, handball, and bridge, IIKAs at Pennsylvania State College are reminded that they, in addition to maintaining a scholastic average which is now substantially above the national men's average, must continue to show their spirit by going all-out in extra-curricular and allied activities.

College GI Era Ending

(From The Milwaukee Journal)

The "GI era" of American colleges and universities is passing. And the passing is a cause of regret.

One-third of the students on American campuses are still veterans. But only about 10 per cent of the entering students this fall were ex-service men. In another two years, it is expected, only a handful of veteran students will remain.

The exodus has brought with it a slight drop in total college enrollment which will relieve some institutions that have been seriously overcrowded. But the loss of the veterans will be felt keenly, nevertheless.

The veterans, many of them married, have been older and more mature than the usual run of college students. Experience, observation and responsibility have made them more serious. They have made better than average grades.

This has had, educators agree, a most beneficial effect on faculties and student bodies generally. The 2,000,000 veterans who have attended college under the G.I. Bill have not only received much from their educational opportunity, they have contributed much to higher education in America as well.

The educators seem to be fully justified in their belief that the investment of billions in veteran education through the G.I. Bill has been beneficial to veterans, to the institutions and to the Nation, even beyond original expectations. And some educators, like Father O'Donnell, president of Marquette University, are wondering if some important lessons may be found in the happy results of this experiment.

The "G.I. era" has pointed out the importance of "proper motivation" of students, he says, and the desirability of removing economic barriers to higher education for those who could profit from it. It may also have indicated the great desirability of attracting a considerable number of more mature students to the campuses, those who have had some taste of the world's problems and responsibilities.

TWO BETA-PI MEN ELECTED through the cooperation of Alumnus Paul Spade. Dottie Donovan measured and installed very attractive curtains for the dining room.

Dean of Men Woodruff presents Kansas University Fraternity Scholarship Improvement Trophy to SMC Lindberg. Beta-Gamma advanced from 19th to 7th among 24 fraternities.

The game room, completed last spring, has been the site of many successful and enjoyable parties during the semester. The highlight of the fall social season was the annual Christmas party which over 200 persons attended. Many of the brothers and their dates took time out and wrote little notes to Brother Rolf Ware. These were enclosed in an attractive album with pictures of the party and sent to Brother Ware, who is a patient in the Glen Ridge Sanitarium in Schnectady, New York.

In addition to their Christmas festivities in the week prior to Christmas, Brothers Art Cramer, Joe Scott, Dick Johnson, Gil Cella, Frank Stull, Terry Proch, Al Allen, Paul Howard and Harry Schaub took a number of little orphan children downtown to see the toy displays and Santa Claus in the local stores. Sue Frantz, Dick Johnson's fiancée, was along to lend a hand with the little girls in the groups.

Pat Clendenning, traveling field secretary from National made his final trip to Beta-Pi Chapter in December, and among other things, reminded us where Millsaps College was located.

Paul Howard, a recent refugee from Uncle Sam's Army, has returned to the university and the chapter. Paul is a member of the University Air Force ROTC, and caused more than a mild sensation recently when he appeared for lunch at the chapter house in the new blue Air Force uniform. Several pledges mistook him for a lost Greyhound bus driver!

Twenty-eight men were pledged by the chapter late in November and began their pledge training under the supervision of pledgemaster Dave Dickerson.

Dick Johnson slipped an engagement ring on the finger of Sue Frantz the week prior to Christmas vacation.

After a carefree time in gay Paree Alumnus Nick Giarritta arrived in Rome to attend medical school, but found classes had already convened and now we receive word that Nick is wandering about Europe while trying to get accepted at the University of Zurich in Switzerland.

Congratulations are in order for Alumnus Craig Armington, who passed some very difficult law exams on interstate commerce. Craig is still working his way up with the Atlantic Refining Company, in their transportation department.

Word has filtered down to Philadelphia that Charley Gillis has accepted a position with Lever Brothers Soap Company.

Art Cramer's last official act as president was testing the fire ropes early one morning. We are happy to report there was no serious damage to the ropes.

Chapter Eternal

DR. CHARLES W. WELCH

◆ DR. CHARLES W. WELCH, 68, Southwestern at Memphis, one of Louisville, Kentucky's, best known and best-loved ministers, died on November 13, 1949, in Louisville.

Pastor emeritus of Fourth Avenue Presbyterian Church, Dr. Welch suffered a stroke September 2, at Wequetonsing, Mich., where he and Mrs. Welch were visiting.

For 29 years Dr. Welch was pastor of Fourth Avenue Presbyterian Church, Louisville, Ky., retiring January 1, 1946. In 1938 he headed 2,000,000 Presbyterians as moderator of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. In the minds and hearts of Louisvillians, Dr. Welch was limited to no denomination. He was simply a man of God, infinitely human and kind, and a friend to all men of all creeds. Dr. Welch was an accomplished speaker, gently witty, whimsical and dramatic. Several years ago he was one of the speakers chosen to oppose the late Clarence Darrow, agnostic in a religious discussion at Memorial Auditorium in Louisville. From 1922 until 1948 Dr. Welch conducted his radio program over WHAS.

In 1936 Dr. Welch was honored by the University of Kentucky as "the most useful citizen in the commonwealth." Dr. Welch's theme, practiced and preached, was that "If each of us were kinder to the stranger we meet, and to each other, the world would be a friendlier place to live." After working as a bobbin boy in a woolen mill and later as a brakeman for the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, Dr. Welch was ordained in 1902, after he finished his studies at McCormick Theological Seminary, (now Presbyterian Theological Seminary), in Chicago. He earned his doctor of theology degree in 1922 at Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Ky.

Dr. Welch, during his seminary studies and later, contributed articles to the Chicago Tribune and to the New York Herald Tribune.

Honorary degrees of Dr. Welch include: Doctor of Law from Centre College, Danville, Ky., and the University of Kentucky; Doctor of Divinity from Cumberland University, Lebanon, Tenn.; and Doctor of Literature from Ogden College, Bowling Green, Ky.

Some of Dr. Welch's activities have included: Member of the Library Board and the War Labor Board; trustee of

GEORGE A. LOESCHER

◆ GEORGE A. LOESCHER, 61, at Beloit, principal of the Stephen F. Austin Senior High School in Houston, Texas, since it opened in 1936, and a member of the administrative faculty of the Houston public schools for more than 26 years, died on Friday, October 7, in the Houston Veterans Administration Hospital.

Brother Loeschler was a man whose burning passion in life was teaching school. Although he was afflicted with both diabetes and cancer of the spinal cord, he continued to teach and work with his youngsters as long as it was physically possible.

Just prior to Loeschler's death, Col. Jo Ed Winfree, Sr. took notes from Brother Loeschler about the sort of memorial service he wanted. The 23rd Psalm was read, the Scottish Brigade saluted the man they loved, the ROTC and the band marched in the slow parade, the choir sang the school song which Principal Loeschler had written, there were a few hymns, a prayer and the playing of taps with an echoing trumpet. Simple, effective, touching and above all, fitting—just what Mr. Loeschler wanted. His fine work in our education system is of permanent value and Pi Kappa Alpha is proud to have been a part of his life.

LEON KAUFMAN FRANKEL

◆ LEON KAUFMAN FRANKEL, 62, of Lexington, Kentucky, died on November 27, 1949, at Holmes Hospital in Cincinnati.

Brother Frankel was senior partner in the architect and engineering firm of Frankel and Curtis, since its formation in 1919. Previously for 13 years, he was professor of design in the University of Kentucky College of Engineering.

With other architects, he participated in design and construction during World War II of Darnell General Hospital, Danville, Ky., Camp Breckenridge, and the Air Support Command Base at Sturgis, Ky.

Brother Frankel was active in religious work and prominent in UK alumni affairs. He was a member of the school's alumni association executive committee for 32 years and served several years as chairman.

Mr. Frankel was originally from Louisville, Kentucky. He received his bachelor's degree from the UK College of Engineering in 1900 and his master's degree in 1902. During 1902 to 1904, Mr. Frankel served as instructor at UK and as a professor in the Michigan College of Mines. He was Southern manager for the B. F. Sturtevant Company from 1904 to 1906. In 1906 Mr. Frankel returned to the University as professor of design, which position he held until 1919.

During the first World War, Mr. Frankel had charge of the vocational section of the Students Army Training Corps at UK. In World War II he was chairman of the Army and Navy Service Committee which worked in conjunction with the Lexington, Ky., chapter of the USO. His son, James, is a member of his architectural firm, is also an alumnus of Omega chapter.

Delta-Epsilon Leads At Chattanooga

♦ DELTA-EPSILON at Chattanooga recently elected worthy and industrious new officers for the coming year. Bill Oliphant is SMC, and Bob Zimbelman is IMC. Both have been active members of the chapter since it was introduced on the campus in 1947. Sophomore Steve Harvey is ThC. Jim McSween is SC.

The year has been an active one socially for the chapter and has included a halloween party, gala New Year's party, hellzapoppin party, and numerous Saturday dances at the house.

The university football team included four Pikes, "Butch" Tapper, who was alternate captain; Vince Sarratorre, guard who made first team Little All-American. (Tapper made honorable mention). Jack Spears, tackle, and Marvin Vaughn, end. Roddy Broome and Gordon Jones were football managers. Six Pike pledges were on the freshman team, which was undefeated.

Jack Spears and Howard Sompayrac play on the university basketball team, and Gordon Jones is manager. Sompayrac is this year's captain.

During Homecoming all fraternal and non-fraternal organizations on the campus decorated their houses and the Pikes came in a close second on theirs.

Ray Henderson is vice president of the freshman class this year and Bob Womack is vice president of the Sophs. Howard Sompayrac is president of the Junior Class.

Schrader Captains Miami Hurricane

◆ CLIVE SHRADER, an outstanding halfback at the University of Miami for the past three seasons and member of Gamma-Omega chapter, has been elected by his teammates to captain them through the coming season.

After the finish of last season's grid games, Clive was second in ground yards gained by the various members of the team. IKA Jack Del Bello, a first-string quarterback, was in first place, thus making the two Gamma-Omegans the leading ground gainers of the football team.

The spirited play of the Miami Hurricanes thrilled the fans that gathered in the Orange Bowl each week-end to see their home team play such top grid teams as Georgia, Vanderbilt, Villanova, Chattanooga, Kentucky, Cincinnati, Florida, Detroit, Maryland and Rollins. Shrader was the man to watch in every one of these games.

In the Cincinnati game, Clive was the unquestioned star by his setting up of three touchdowns. He first brought the crowd to their feet by a beautiful 75-yard run of sheer speed. Clive was responsible for another touchdown when he threw a towering 59-yard pass, and ended the evening with a 56-yard lob for the final score. Two other IKA's scored in this game for Del Bello made the first touchdown of the evening on a quarterback sneak and then passed to his fraternity brother, Don Cobb, to set up a 21-to-0 score.

Pi Kappa Alpha seems to have a corner on the top football players at the University of Miami. In addition to Shrader and De Bello mentioned above, other Gamma-Omegans on the team were Joe Krull, a halfback, who showed great offensive drive; Don Cobb, previously mentioned, who was a versatile fullback, particularly good on defense; Art Davies, a rugged center who was named by his opponents as the top lineman of his team and pledge Tom Flynn, a great guard who rated honorable mention on the Little All-American team.

Last season's undefeated freshman team listed several IKA's on its roster who will be the big names on the varsity team next year. These grid stars are centers, Tom Gibson and Jack Payne; halfback, Elmer Tremont and Ray Arcangeletti, a pledge who was Scholastically, the chapter was third named by many experts to be the best guard on either the freshman or varsity elevens.

ZTA's Defeated By Beta-Eta

◆ IN THE SECOND of a series of annual football games between the men of Beta-Eta and the girls of Zeta Tau Alpha, the Pi Kaps succeeded in gaining a victory and took possession of the coveted trophy, an ancient whiskey jug.

The game itself is a modified form of regular football. Eleven sturdy Beta-Etas gallantly stood off the fierce on-rushes of 22 vicious ZTA tacklers. But the passing and ground play of our spirited team, despite the fact that they had to hop on one foot, proved to be too much for the vicious tigers of Zeta Tau Alpha. They vainly, but never ceasing to fight, went down in defeat 21-to-6.

Captain of the 1949 Miami Hurricanes is Clive Shrader, outstanding half back for the last three seasons.

on the campus and hopes to improve considerably this year.

The Pike intramural basketball team is leading the campus with victories over all other teams. Paced by Tapper, Broome, Saylor, Gonia, and Caldwell, and pledges Barger, Heil, and Archer, they have defeated all in their path.

Wednesday night meals at the house are becoming very popular and bringing new spirit to an already high spirited group of Pikes.

Our new house is open year-round and the welcome mat remains out constantly for brother Pikes all over the country. Chattanooga is proud of its ability to accommodate visiting brothers and extends an invitation to all of them anytime they come our way.

Yeager Elected New Treasurer of Interfraternity Conf.

◆ C. R. YEAGER, Omega, '33 (Kentucky), one of the Pi Kappa Alpha delegates to NIC was elected treasurer for 1949-50. Members of the Supreme Council and other National officers also represented the fraternity at the National Interfraternity Conference, Hotel Mayflower, Washington, D. C., November 24-26. Seven Pi Kappa Alpha undergraduates were delegates to the Undergraduate Interfraternity Conference. There were more than 700 registered for the conferences.

One of the most widely publicized of the actions of the conference was the resolution concerning restrictive membership clauses which was adopted by vote of 36 to 3 with 19 of the 58 member fraternities not voting. A part of the introductory statement and the resolution were as follows:

The conference recognizes that it has no authority with respect to the membership provision of member fraternities and that selection of their members is entirely the responsibility and the privilege of the individual fraternities.

However, since this question is one which has interested a number of college officials, likewise a number of fraternity men, both undergraduate and alumni, it is the conclusion of this committee that the subject should be covered by an appropriate resolution at this conference.

Resolved: That it is the sense of this conference that:

1. It recognizes that many member fraternities have had and now have no restrictive provisions.

2. It recognizes that the question is of concern to many interested parties.

3. It calls these facts to the attention of all member fraternities, appreciating that membership is an individual fraternity responsibility.

4. It recommends that member fraternities that do have selective membership provisions consider this question in the light of prevailing conditions and take such steps as they may elect to eliminate such selectivity provisions.

Eight other resolutions were adopted calling for the scholastic improvement, measures to combat subversive activities on college campuses, and programs for participation in constructive activities on campuses and in local communities.

The conference was opened with an informal smoker Thursday evening. Friday morning Justice Clark of the United States Supreme Court addressed the conference on juvenile delinquency and the part fraternity men can have in a positive program for its eradication. The Interfraternity Council at the University of California already has initiated a constructive program along these lines in cooperation with Berkeley, California, authorities, contributing both money and "big brothers."

"Making democracy work is the best answer to the Communist challenge," said Attorney General McGrath as he spoke on subversive activities in this country and particularly on college campuses. He listed several rules and specific suggestions for fighting Communism. "The loyalty of the college student should be expressed not in a formal oath but in a day-to-day life on the campus."

Friday afternoon was devoted to panel discussions on publicity, scholarship, fraternity costs of living, chapter house discussions, and Greek Weeks.

On Saturday morning the Committee on Fraternity Expansion reported that as of September 1, 1949, the 58 NIC fraternities have a total of 2,807 undergraduate chapters and 116 colonies, an increase of 132 new chapters and 33 re-activated chapters since November 1, 1948. The report of Conference Secretary Henry O. Middendorf, Phi Delta Theta, gave a total membership of 1,226,710, as of July 1, 1949, but the figures for six fraternities were as of July 1, 1948.

Patrick J. Hurley was toastmaster at the banquet Friday evening at which George M. Morris, past president of the American Bar Association, addressed the conference on "The Fraternities are Affirmative Agents in the College Educational Process." Prominent guests included Fred M. Vinson, chief justice of the Supreme Court; Harold R. Burton and Sherman Minton, associate justices of the Supreme Court; Louis A. Johnson, and Charles F. Brannan, secretaries of defense and agriculture, respectively. Greetings were read from Harry S. Truman, President of the United States.

The following officers were elected for the year 1949-50: Chairman, Wm. J. Barnes, Theta-Xi, Stevens Institute, '24, New York City; vice chairman, A. Ray Warnock, Beta Theta Pi, Illinois, '05, State College, Pa.; secretary, Charles M. Pledger, Jr., Theta Delta Chi, George Washington University, '26, Washington, D. C.; treasurer, Clarence E. Yeager, Pi Kappa Alpha, Kentucky, '33, Attleboro, Mass.; educational adviser, Dean Joseph A. Park, Alpha Tau Omega, Ohio State, '20, Columbus, Ohio; educational adviser emeritus, Dean-Emeritus Joseph A. Bursley, Michigan, '99, Ann Arbor, Mich.

Charlotte Founders' Day March 3rd

◆ THE Charlotte Alumni Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha cordially invites all IIKAs in the Piedmont area of the Carolinas to their Founders' Day banquet, March 3, at the Hotel Charlotte, Charlotte, North Carolina. National Vice President L. A. McCall, Jr. will be the principal speaker of the evening. Entertainment will be furnished by Beta Chapter at Davidson. Representatives from each chapter in North and South Carolina will report on their chapter's activities.

Powell McHaney Promoted Executive V-P

◆ THE election of Powell B. McHaney, an alumnus of Alpha-Nu at the University of Missouri, as executive vice president and general counsel of General American Life Insurance Company, St. Louis, Mo., at a meeting of its Board of Directors January 24, was announced by Walter W. Head, president.

McHaney, formerly vice president and general counsel, has been an officer of the company since June, 1942, and has been a member of its Board of Directors and Executive Committee since July, 1936.

Well known in life insurance circles, he has been active in the American Life Convention legal section, which he now serves as secretary, and the Association of Life Insurance Counsel as a member of its Executive Committee.

Born at White Oak, Missouri, June 30, 1905, McHaney obtained his Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Missouri and Bachelor of Laws degree from Harvard University. After five years of general practice with the law firm of Igoe, Carroll, Higgs & Keefe in St. Louis, he was appointed assistant attorney general of the State of Missouri on January 2, 1933, and seven months thereafter was appointed chief counsel to the Missouri Insurance Department in which capacity he served until July, 1936. He returned to the private practice of law in St. Louis in July, 1936, and associated with Frank P. Aschemeyer under the firm name of McHaney & Aschemeyer. The latter was recently appointed commissioner of the Supreme Court of Missouri.

Powell McHaney and two brothers, Hal and Flake are alumni of Alpha-Nu chapter. All have been active in Pi Kappa Alpha affairs. He was elected to the Supreme Council March, 1947, to succeed Coach Lynn O. Waldorf, and was re-elected national alumni secretary at the 1948 National Convention in recognition of his fine work for the fraternity. He was a delegate to the National Interfraternity Conference in 1949.

McHaney's civic activities include service as chairman of the Municipal Auditorium USO Service Men's Center Committee, member and secretary of the St. Louis USO Council, member and secretary of the Citizens' Committee for Postwar Improvements and Employment in the City of St. Louis, and as an elder of Second Presbyterian Church.

Supreme Council Meets In Washington, D. C.

Policy on Hell Week and Drinking Re-emphasized

◆ ALL MEMBERS of the Supreme Council except National Secretary Julius J. Fink of San Diego, Calif., were present for a meeting in Washington, D. C., Thanksgiving week-end.

Many items of regular business were handled.

The council discussed the adverse publicity received by fraternities recently because of the improper actions of some few fraternity men regarding hell week and drinking. National President Knight was instructed to write a letter to each undergraduate and alumni chapter and to the administrations of each university where we have chapters calling attention to the policy and laws of Pi Kappa Alpha concerning these matters.

Our fraternity has taken the lead in efforts to eliminate hell week completely from the fraternity system. Our own students have long ago made it illegal for our chapters and members.

The decorum of 90 per cent of our members may go unnoticed but the misconduct of 10 per cent, particularly when drinking, is spread over the nation's newspapers and magazines. Where drinking is forbidden by university authorities, Pi Kappa Alpha likewise forbidding requested to ETAOINSHRDLU bids it. The Supreme Council is re-emphasizing to administration officials that we will cooperate to the fullest in seeing that regulations are properly observed. It further emphasizes to student chapters that alumni are also responsible for complying with local regulations when visiting any chapter.

District President's Father Governor of Virginia

◆ JOHN S. BATTLE, a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, has assumed office as governor of Virginia. It was originally announced that he was a member of Pi Kappa Alpha.

Governor Battle is the father of District President John S. Battle, Jr.

We congratulate Alpha Tau Omega on this recognition of one of its outstanding members.

Don Reynolds

Alpha-Nu Newsman Makes News

◆ DONALD W. REYNOLDS was initiated into Alpha-Nu of Pi Kappa Alpha at the University of Missouri in 1925. He was graduated from the School of Journalism in 1927. During his scholastic career he was the business manager of the Savitar, and in his senior year was the president of the Journalism School.

On leaving the University, Reynolds was associated with the Fentress-Marsh newspapers in Texas for several years and in 1935 purchased the Quincy Evening News in Quincy, Massachusetts. He sold this newspaper two years later and returned to Texas where he purchased the Wichita Falls, Texas, Post. On the sale of the Post he purchased the newspapers in Fort Smith, Arkansas, in 1940, together with the Okmulgee Daily Times, Okmulgee, Oklahoma, the same year.

In 1942 Reynolds entered the Army and was made officer-in-charge of "Yank" Magazine, first in the Southwest Pacific theater and later in the European theater. While in the Army he was associated with Maj. Walter Hussman in the publication of Yank, first in London, and later in Paris. Hussman is also a member of Alpha-Nu.

The overall Yank operation was under charge of Col. Franklin S. Forsberg, a IKA from Utah.

While in the Army Reynolds was awarded the Legion of Merit, the Bronze Star and the Purple Heart. He was honorably discharged as a major in 1945.

Shortly after returning to civilian life Reynolds purchased the two daily newspapers in Bartlesville, Oklahoma. He also became interested in the radio business and constructed radio station

KFSA in Fort Smith, Arkansas; station WIKK in Erie, Pennsylvania, and is currently building station KBRS in Springdale, Arkansas. He also purchased radio station KHBG in Okmulgee, Oklahoma, and an interest in radio station KAKE in Wichita, Kansas.

Recently Reynolds acquired the Review Journal in Las Vegas, Nevada, making a total of six newspapers in four cities and five A. M. radio stations and one F. M. station.

In addition to his newspaper and radio offices he maintains an office in Dallas, Texas.

Donald W. Reynolds, Jr., is a junior at Shattuck Military Academy in Faribault, Minnesota, and plans to enter the University of Missouri in 1952 where he is also expected to study journalism. Reynolds, Sr., is 42 years of age.

Council Members Install

◆ NATIONAL TREASURER POWERS presided over the installation of Delta-Mu Chapter and Delta-Nu. National Vice President McCall directed the installation of Delta-Xi Chapter. National Alumni Secretary McHaney represented the Supreme Council at the chartering of Delta-Omicron Chapter.

John H. Staley, Jr., Alpha-Phi and Alpha-Sigma, climbs steadily to the top of the architectural landscaping ladder. Brother Staley and his associates are prize-winning exhibitors in the California Spring Garden Show in Oakland. "Osmundson, Staley & Gibson, Landscape Architects," are being recognized by many leading architects as tops in their field. Congratulations, Prominent Pike!

Beta-Epsilon's Rush Program Pays Off

◆ BETA-EPSILON CHAPTER at Western Reserve University in Cleveland completed one of its most successful rush seasons under the leadership of Charles Creager, SMC, and Stan Wegren, Rush Chairman. By mid-October 20 new men had pledged themselves to the Garnet and Gold. This was the result of a planned rush program extending over the summer involving correspondence and many personal contacts climaxed by the activities of rush week.

Wegren was appointed pledge master, and carried the boys through a thorough pledge training program in preparation for initiation, and he has just been elected SMC for the spring semester.

A fine program is being achieved through the cooperative efforts of the members of the chapter and the Cleveland Alumni Advisory Board composed of George Finnie, Roy Engstrom, Kent Meyers, Don Paine, and Wm. Welty.

Alpha Wins Basketball Cup

◆ ALPHA CHAPTER looks back over a very successful fall semester. Forty-one brothers returned. The first thing to give the brothers inspiration was the new cup we won for the second straight year in Class A fraternity basketball.

The University of Virginia had a great football season with seven IKA's on the varsity team. They were Bill Sinclair, Barney Gill, George Davis, Bob Miller, Jimmy Lesane, Bill Chisholm and Don Bazemore. Bob Miller was named on the second All-State football team.

Alpha had Rush Week in October and pledged 15 good men. This was an excellent showing because here at the University no man is pledged until his second year. IKA has done well in the intramural sports. We made a good showing in football; in boxing,

"Punchy" Marshall won the 155-pound division, and both A and B volley ball teams were in the play-offs with the B team, captained by Brother Halsey, winning the championship in the B league.

In the many societies about the "grounds" IKA is well represented. Bob Parrott was elected president of "Skull and Keys," with Ben Cart, Tommy Lyles and Jimmy Lesane becoming members of this political group. Jerry Jeutter and Bill Davis were made members of Lambda Pi, our other political organization which represent the fraternities at Virginia. In our dance societies, Bob Parrott and Slim Richardson were made members of PK and Bill Sinclair made German Club. The illustrious society of TILKA made Bill Sinclair one of its members.

The chapter enjoyed the visit of Pat Clendinning and look forward to seeing him again. Alpha extends its thanks and appreciation to the brothers of Tau chapter for the hospitality received while in Chapel Hill.

Gamma-Epsilon's Three Prominent Pikes At Utah State

Eugene Hansen

◆ GAINING prominence, locally and nationally, Eugene Hansen, member of Gamma-Epsilon chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha at Utah State Agricultural College, Logan, Utah, last summer won honors by representing 11 Western states on a tour to Europe.

Selected by the National Future Farmers of America on the exchange trip to Great Britain, Eugene was furnished a trip for observation of foreign countries, all expenses paid.

He spent six weeks in Britain touring all parts and living with various farm families observing their customs, methods of farming and living habits. About a week was spent in London and from there he was flown to Paris for a week-end on the British European Airways. He traveled about 15,000 miles over the course of the trip.

This year at USAC Eugene is president of the student body, and last year he vacated the three-year councilman post to run for president.

He served as president of the Gamma-Epsilon chapter for one term, and during his freshman year was president of the greenling class.

Gene's major is agricultural marketing and he is minoring in political science. At the present time, besides taking care of his school responsibilities, he is working part time on his farm in East Garland.

Ralph Roylance, member of Gamma-Epsilon chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha at Utah State Agricultural College, Logan, Utah, has received national recognition throughout sports circles. Ralph, a diminutive track and football star, has been identified with athletic excellence ever since his junior high school days. And during the spring and summer of 1949 he became one of America's great track-and-field stars with his performance in the javelin event.

Last spring Ralph, who weighs only 165 pounds, set a Western Conference record by tossing the javelin 219.6 feet, one of the greatest throws recorded in the nation.

He was invited to the National Collegiate Athletic Association meet held in the Coliseum in Los Angeles, Calif. Colleges and universities from all over the country were represented by their outstanding stars, and Ralph represented Utah State. He tucked third place into his collection of victories at the meet.

Later in Fresno, Cali., in a junior and senior division meet, he won first place in the nation in the javelin event. His longest heave was 224 feet.

From that basis he was nominated to the All-American track-and-field team by coaches from the various U. S. colleges.

Ralph is a senior this year and will be back this spring with hopes of shattering his own records.

Director of athletics and basketball coach at USAC. That's the title of Joe Whitesides, Logan, Utah, a graduate of USAC and a IKA alumnus.

Last year Coach Joe moved into top athletic man at the college when the post was vacated. During the present season he tutored a top contender for the Skyline six championship.

Ralph Roylance

Joe Whitesides

He graduated from USAC in 1936. During his college career he gained all-conference recognition for his brilliant playing on the football team. His basketball glory was limited to high school excellence because of his part time job in college.

Beta-Delta Homecoming "Professional" Decorations

The finished product: The 30-foot structure is completed with tail swinging, hand pulling, and milk streaming out into the bucket.

◆ BETA-DELTA at the University of New Mexico has turned into a chapter of professional artists and engineers. This peculiar situation has arisen because of the controversy between the Homecoming judges, who decide what organization has the best house decoration during Homecoming, and members of Beta-Delta. Here are the facts.

The controversy has come forth three times in the last three years. The judges have declared all three years that Beta-Delta's house decorations were indeed excellent, almost too good. They, the judges claimed that the decorations were too professional and that hired artists and engineers must have done the actual drawing and planning because mere college boys were not capable of such a monstrous task. The controversy has not only included most of the university but the city residents of Albuquerque as well. Many have asked and are still asking, "Do the Pikes really build those or do they hire people to do it." No one seems to conceive the simple truth that Beta-Delta does do it and rather easily at that, or anyway it isn't as hard as many would believe by viewing the construction.

The first year the judges said it was clever and very well done but appeared too professional. Although they awarded the highly sought after cup to another organization they also gave Beta-Delta a special honorable mention plaque.

The following year our house decoration was by far, according to many lifelong residents of the city and the university, not only the best on campus but the best ever seen at New Mexico University since its founding. Again the esteemed judges yelled "too professional," but this time due to popular praise throughout the campus and even write-ups in the local papers, they reluctantly awarded us first prize.

This year the house decoration was even better than the two previous years. Everyone admired the workmanship, the artistry and the construction with amazed awe but this time the judges stood firm. "Too professional" rang through the air and the cries of "they must have hired someone to do this." Therefore the prize went to someone else.

The SMC, fearing something like this would happen, asked Brother Rowland Faust, an amateur photographer, if he would record the steps on film, of the entire process leading up to the finished product. This he did throughout the long, tedious hours of planning and constructing.

So during Homecoming open house for our alums, the pictures were displayed for all to see, under the heading, "Here's HOW WE Did It." Our "professionals," the average untalented individual members were congratulated by all with due respect and admiration.

Afterwards in a holiday mood we nicknamed ourselves the "Professionals of Beta-Delta," with our motto being "Homecoming decorations a specialty, professional work done in a jiffy, the impossible will take a little longer." We are looking forward to next year when we can again try to have a decoration that they will say is "too professional."

Beta-Theta Leads In Intramurals

By DAVID H. WILLIAMS

◆ CORNELL UNIVERSITY—In its quest for the much coveted Cornell University Intramural All-Sports Trophy, Beta-Theta got off to a flying start, outlasting 55 fraternities and 33 independent teams to nail down the intramural football championship. Edged out in the playoffs last year, the boys were not to be denied this time.

The new term was barely under way when the first practice session was held, and many hours had been put in when the first game rolled around. The team clicked immediately and swept through its league like a red scourge, emerging at the end of the regular season undefeated, untied and unscored upon. The next and more formidable obstacle was yet to come in the form of a 16-team playoff involving all fraternity and independent league winners.

The boys in the garnet jerseys saw one record go by the boards as a scrappy Chi Psi team became the proud possessors of the first and only touchdown of the season against IKA in a rugged semi-final game. However, Pi Kappa Alpha rallied to win and continued on through the championship game, which was number 10 in the all-victorious skein.

In the only intercollegiate fray engaged in by the team, Beta-Theta, playing host to Alpha-Chi chapter, provided a preview of the varsity game in the afternoon by outclassing the boys from Syracuse to the tune of 30-6, to retain possession of the "Little Brown Keg."

Credit for the successful season must go primarily to the team as a unit, for its fine spirit and coordination made victory possible. A few of these especially deserving mention, however, are signal caller and sparkplug Bill O'Connor; passer Jim Morgan; speedster John Hornyak; blocking back Tex Marshall, and defensive stalwarts John Patton, Bill Webb, and Ernie Sofis.

At the end of a concentrated three-week rushing season at the beginning of the fall term, Beta-Theta pledged 14 fine men.

Officers for the spring term are: Charles J. Foret, Jr., New Orleans, La., SMC; Robert Leonard Berquist, Ruthersford, N. J., IMC; Leonard J. Biracree, Rochester, N. Y., ThC; and Joseph M. Lombardo, Drexel Hill, Pa., SC.

Formal Highlights Beta-Eta Social Season

◆ THE sweet, danceable music of Walt Loftis, an intermission program of cakes, good old-fashioned eggnog, and the piney woods decoration of the chapter house were right in the Yuletide spirit as the men of Beta-Eta presented their first annual Christmas formal in the new house on December 17. The suspenseful three weeks between Thanksgiving vacation and Christmas, and the genial holiday atmosphere combined to lend a feeling of mirth and good cheer to a most enjoyable affair. The dance committee, under the direction of John Herder, and consisting of Dick Miller, Don Anderson, Jerry McGirk, Don Litwin and Kent Morgan worked long, hard hours to make the big holiday week-end a terrific success.

The dance was followed by a sweetheart dinner Sunday at which the actives and pledges entertained their guests with a feast of turkey and all the trimmings.

We were honored to have as chaplains Lt. Col. and Mrs. M. H. Shedd, and Mr. and Mrs. James. Colonel Shedd, Beta-Phi '31, heads the air force unit of the university ROTC. Both Mr. and Mrs. James are on the liberal arts staff.

"Pa" Kennedy Heads Newspaper Group

◆ FRED KENNEDY is "first in the hearts" of weekly newspaper publishers in the State of Washington. His universal nickname "Pa"—tells you more about him. For 35 years he has been a father confessor for editors and publishers of Washington and other states. As a long-time member of the School of Journalism faculty, University of Washington, he trained many of them. His services, however, do not stop with graduation day. For, as manager of W.N.P.A. he has persuaded, badgered, threatened and counseled these publishers endlessly. The results have been better weekly newspapers, better editors, better publishers and better businesses, generally, in the many communities served by weekly newspapers in the State of Washington. That is why so many owe him so much. That is why weekly newspapers throughout the state joined hands in an unusual tribute to Fred W. Kennedy—a fine teacher, a good friend and a great citizen who has devoted his life to make living in Washington State richer and more satisfying for all.

Gamma-Sigma Opens New House

By EDWARD EWING

◆ GAMMA-SIGMA has acquired a new chapter house at 225 North Craig Street in Pittsburgh. The new house consists of 13 rooms and accommodates 26 men.

Since the house was acquired in March of 1949 it has been completely redecorated inside. By steam-cleaning the brick, and trimming in white, the outside has taken on a sharp appearance that has brought many compliments from friends, neighbors and passers-by.

On Nov. 9, Dean of Men T. W. Biddle officially opened the house with the traditional ribbon-cutting ceremonies. Pittsburgh's station WDTV was on hand to televise the affair, the first fraternity event ever to go on video at Pitt.

Gamma-Sigma is at the top of the Interfraternity All-Point Trophy race at Pitt this year. The football team started the ball rolling by capturing the interfraternity football championship.

The sing team (picture shown) with its excellent rendition of "Finlandia" and "IIKA Girl" met the undivided approval of the judges and walked off with first place in the annual I. F. Sing Competition.

With the bowling playoffs coming up soon, IIKA is a heavy favorite to win the championship in a walk-away. Many individual and team records have been broken by the powerful Gamma-Sigma contingent which sports a team average in the neighborhood of 145 and a record of 21-0.

A Christmas party was held in December for orphans and under-privileged children with ice cream, cake, and gifts abounding. Santa Claus was on hand to make the party a complete success.

SMC Morton has been on campus for only a year and a half and is already outstanding in student activities. His fine leadership ability destines him to rise to the top in his remaining years at Pitt, both in Gamma-Sigma and school activities.

Gamma-Sigma held its winter formal on January 6 at the Edgewood Country Club. Highlight of the affair was the presentation and crowning of our petite and charming Dream Girl, Elizabeth Schmied. Beth, as her friends call her, is pinned to our retiring social chairman, Chester Burford. Favors for the dance were kewpie dolls attired in garnet evening gowns with IIKA engraved in gold lettering near the bottom of the gown. The dolls made a big hit with all the girls, many of whom commented on their uniqueness and originality.

Brother Walter Hensel is looking forward to many a sleepless night in the future. No, the reason isn't cramming for finals or working on term papers. Walt is the proud father of an eight-pound baby girl, Barbara Jean. Both mother and baby are doing fine. Students in the Tuck Shop thought the IIKAs had struck oil when they observed all the boys puffing on 2 for 25c cigars. We're hoping that Walt's next will be a boy so that we can pledge him in a few years.

Szymanski, Cliff Fair, Bill Deterline, George Hitchens, and Bob Mild.

Alpha-Tau Homecoming Float.

Utah Pi Kaps Lead the Way

◆ ALPHA-TAU CHAPTER received first place honors for its quartet and float in the recent University of Utah Homecoming program. The house decorations were widely acclaimed, and it was suggested that the "We Wuz Robbed" trophy be presented to the chapter when it failed to win this event also. The float was of such size that it was necessary to remove overhanging wires to permit its passage. A story of this was carried to the nation by an AP release. A picture of the prize-winning quartet was carried in Pay-Day, the national publication of the J. C. Penny Company.

"The Bowery, The Bowery" . . . that is what they sing in Salt Lake City when fall quarter at the University of Utah rolls around. For fall quarter brings the gala Bowery Party of Alpha-Tau Chapter to Pi Kap-land, and that spells fun for IIKAs and their gals.

Alpha-Tau's Bowery is well known among the western chapters of Pi Kappa Alpha, and every year guests attend from many of the surrounding states. This year, even Washington State was represented.

A touch of old New York was added to the Forest Dale Country Club for the night of the big event. Every phase of Bowery life was portrayed in the novel costumes of the guests. Competition among the sororities for Bowery costume honors was demonstrated by the Alpha Chi Omegas and their can-can dresses, all prepared to dance. Singing waiters, salty tars, and Gay Ninety bathing beauties all rubbed elbows around the punch bowl.

ALPHA-NU Now Forty Years Old

◆ ALPHA-NU Chapter, beginning its 40th year on Missouri's campus, believes that this will be one of the most profitable years in the history of the chapter.

Outstanding in campus activities are Charles Rosenfeldt and James Stokman, editor and business manager of the yearbook, Savitar; Ted Majoros, member of Campus Publications Board and Q. E. B. H., an organization honoring outstanding senior men; Lloyd Horton, president of Tiger Claws; Larry Di Donato, chairman of the Dance Committee of the Student Government Association, and James Stover, drum major of the University of Missouri band.

In sports, Brother Ellis Cox was given honorable mention in the 1949 United Press All-American ratings, and was mentioned on numerous Big Seven teams. Cox played first-string offensive right guard against Maryland in the 1950 Gator Bowl game. Pledges Tinsley, Trueblood, and Schenk were outstanding on Missouri's freshman football team. Brothers Self, Holsman, and Pledge Cole represent Alpha-Nu on the track team as three-lettermen. In intramurals, IIKA won the handball single and double all-school championship, and now ranks fourth among the 29 fraternities in intramural standing. The chapter's champion bowling team is now leading two commercial bowling leagues in preparation for another banner bowling season.

The Pi Kappa Alpha quartet, composed of Brothers Goodman, Workman, Graves, and Ashley, and accompanied by Pledge Hillborn, has attracted considerable attention by singing for numerous functions, including the impressive coronation of the homecoming queen.

The theme of the homecoming decorations, based on the Greek myth, Ajax and the Dragon's Teeth, were quite unusual. IIKA's float won honorable mention. More than 300 guests visited the house during homecoming.

Alpha-Nu has made great progress in redecorating and improving the dignified chapter house at 920 Providence Road by planning and beginning a beautiful pine-panelled rathskeller and rec room.

Continuing its trend of unusual functions, Alpha-Nu decided to depart from the usual winter formal, and hold a dance with a "May in December" theme on December 3. Spring murals decorated the chapter house. Actives and pledges caused a sensation on campus by wearing white dinner jackets. Gene Moore and his orchestra from Kansas City, long a favorite at Alpha-Nu, played to a packed house the entire evening, climaxing a highly successful fall season.

In numerous specific cases the roll of Pi Kappa Alpha chapter's alumni may be taken and it will usually be found that of those who have been out of college 10 years, or more, at least half, and perhaps a greater percentage, can be listed as successful even above the average.—The History of Pi Kappa Alpha—Revised 1949 by Freeman H. Hart.
