Chaplain's Corner

September, 1954

Dear Pikes,

As you get back to the routine of campus life after the summer vacation, you will want the year to be one of fullness and satisfaction in every phase. Now that you are a man you will need a lot of faith and courage to get by the rugged places; but most of all in personal contacts and especially in your friendships, you will find it necessary to make allowances.

You will very likely expect great things of your friends; see to it that you do not expect the impossible. The demanding and exacting person is generally easy on himself. Undoubtedly, each of us irritates other people far more frequently than he is willing to admit.

If you desire to be kindly judged by your friends and intimates, see to it that you make generous allowance for them because of your own great need.

Your Chaplain,

Dr. U. S. "Preacher" Gordon.

This early Epsilon Chapter group picture in the handsome carved walnut frame was recently presented to the Memorial Foundation for display in the headquarters by descendants of Dr. Brown.

Historic Picture Presented Memorial Foundation

◆ Pi Kappa Alpha history is intertwined with that of "Laurel Glen," famous Virginia estate nearly two hundred years old. J. Marion Brown, E (Virginia Polytechnic Institute), was born on this lovely estate July 23, 1853 five miles north of Rural Retreat, Va. The brick house, built by his father, is still the focal point of the estate now owned by Governor Thomas Stanley of Virginia.

Brother Brown joined Epsilon Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha while attending VPI where he was considered an outstanding athlete and student leader. It was while in school that this picture frame from walnut grown at Laurel Glen was made by an old English woodcarver who was making furniture for the estate at that time. Note the detail of the carving.

After completing medical school in Baltimore, Dr. Brown moved to Freemont, Neb. where he became a prominent and popular physician. He served in the Nebraska state senate for one or two terms.

Years later while traveling from Freemont to Lincoln, Neb. the train in which he was riding was wrecked and rolled down an embankment. Sixty people were killed or badly injured. In his car some were trapped. Dr. Brown, though seriously injured, his head almost scalped, managed to extricate himself and after breaking the glass window got out and released several others. He was the only doctor on the train, and for hours he labored administering aid to the seriously injured and dying. When he finally collapsed from overwork, he was taken to a nearby drugstore and revived sufficiently to enable him to continue directing others. He directed and assisted the drug clerk in taking several stitches in his own scalp which had to be held up from over his eyes. The spine and back injuries received in this accident led to many months of suffering and eventual death at his old home place, Laurel Glen, on May 14, 1913.

Dr. Brown was a close personal friend of William Jennings Bryan.

A niece, Mrs. Daisy Howe Umberger, of Wytheville, Va., gave the picture to Mrs. James M. Graham with permission for it to be presented to Pi Kappa Alpha. Mrs. Umberger also furnished the information for this article.

Historical Material Solicited

◆ Have you sent your mementoes for the memorabilia room in the new Memorial Building? We can use old pictures, war souvenirs, furniture, and so on.

Could not some good brother or friend give us a Grandfather Clock for the new building?

We would like autographed copies of all books written by Pi Kappa Alphas for the Memorial Building library. If you are an author and haven't sent us an autographed copy of your book or books, please do so.

Please send anything you can furnish to Dr. Freeman H. Hart, National Historian, 577 University Boulevard, Memphis 12, Tennessee.

Rho Chapter Member Reminisces

By Floyd Poe, P

◆ There may be some old-timers who will remember when the Pi Kappa Alpha annual convention met in Nashville, Tenn. The time I am thinking about must have been about 1900. Up to that time we had been a strictly Southern fraternity and very proud of it. In fact, we made capital of the fact that we are Southern. But at that convention we decided to become a national organization. This was the beginning of a new birth in our fraternity.

I was a member of that convention from Rho Chapter at Cumberland University at Lebanon, Tenn. This chapter at one time was one of the strongest in the entire fraternity. It had more men on the athletic teams and won more scholarships than any other local fraternity. Even the Dean of the Theological Seminary was initiated into our chapter. After I graduated from the Seminary in 1904, some years after, Rho lost her charter (1908). Occasionally I meet a brother from old Rho, and we have a glad time recalling the "good old days."

We have a strong chapter here in SMU in Dallas. I visit them at least once a year. We also have a strong alumnus chapter.

With this historical mention as background, let me now say a word about what a fraternity can do for a raw student. I went up from a small community in East Tennessee to the old southern, aristocratic university. I was real country. I didn't have hayseed in my hair, but a formal dance with the girls dressed in formal attire made me feel terribly out of place. In my pre-college days I was head of my public school classes, but when I went to college I found fellows who were better prepared than I. This was good for me. It made me strive instead of strut. I knew nobody at all. I was lonesome. The second year the Pi Kappa Alpha boys—and we never mixed Greek and English in naming our fraternity—took me in. They cured my lonesomeness; they made me study hard; they revealed to me my own possibilities; they recognized my worth; they gave me genuine companionship; I became a fellow-student and a fraternity brother. Now strange as this may seem, I began to like all fellows. I was not a fraternity snob. I think, now, that the fact that I was a fortunate fraternity man caused me to be determined to be a brother to all men.

Sometimes boys ask me, when they start to college, "Should I join a fraternity, if asked?" I invariably advise them to do so. If a young fellow is worth anything the fraternity will bring it out, and if he isn't made of good stuff, the fraternity cannot supply the deficiency but it does not destroy him.

I cherish my fraternity membership and remember with gratitude its effect upon my college days.

P. S.—I frequently meet Dr. Hill of Tyler, Texas, another old-timer; and occasionally I see Dr. Frank Wear of Paris, Texas, another old-timer in Pi Kappa Alpha.

Philadelphia Alumni Have Full Year

By W. Craig Armington, Secretary

◆ Increased alumni participation in the activities of the Philadelphia Alumnus Chapter was noted by retiring President Henry G. Schaefer, Jr., at the final meeting of the 1953-54 season on June 8 at the Adelphia Hotel Grille, Philadelphia, Pa.

At the direction of the President, the following report is presented to the National Office of Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity.

The initial meeting of the group was held on September 15, 1953 in Philadelphia at which time Brother Schaefer announced the following officers for the coming year:

President, Henry G. Schaefer, Jr.
Vice-President, Harold W. Kalb
Secretary, W. Craig Armington
Treasurer, Jack M. Linton

As a result of a discussion on ways of improving alumni relations with the undergraduate chapter at the University of Pennsylvania, Beta-Pi, it was subsequently announced that the Alumnus Chapter would sponsor the First Annual Alumni Punch Party at the Beta-Pi house following the Pennsylvania-Penn State football game on October 3, 1954. The affair was well attended by the local alumni as well as the undergraduates of Penn and visiting Penn State.

In October, Beta-Pi SMC Jack Leu addressed the group on the subject of enlisting our support for the forthcoming rushing season at Penn. Several of the brothers formed a representative sector of the Alumnus Chapter and participated in the evening sessions. Following Leu's interesting talk on the rushing situation, Brother Jack Linton spoke on the subject of "Oil Progress Week." A lively discussion was terminated by mutual consent.

During the latter part of October, we learned that fellow-member Johnny Hippel had been elected to the office of National President. The Philadelphia chapter presented our Johnny with a beautiful floral display upon his return to the City of Brotherly Love.

Mention must be made of the fine attendance we had during the year. Alumni representing the following chapters were noted: Sigma, Alpha-Eta, Alpha-Pi, Alpha-Delta, Beta-Alpha, Beta-Eta, Beta-Pi, Beta-Kappa, Beta-Theta, Beta-Sigma and Gamma-Gamma.

An enthusiastic report at our November luncheon by Brother Bill Smith told of the formation of a New York City Alumnus Chapter with the help of former Beta-Pi SMC Paul Williams. Brother Craig Armington was appointed 1954 Founders' Day Banquet Chairman by Brother Schaefer.

Following the Christmas holiday season, Brother Armington announced that the Alumni Mailing List had been brought up-to-date prior to the distribution of publicity on Founders' Day plans. The splendid cooperation of all those who were asked to serve on various committees was also noted.

The February meeting disclosed the fact that plans for the Founders' Day Banquet were progressing as planned and that Brother Ed. Thorn, III, would be our guest speaker and that National President Hippel would also attend if possible.

Fortunate were the 100-odd brothers, alumni and undergraduates from the Philadelphia and Southern New Jersey area who attended the Founders' Day activities. The full report on the evening was submitted to National for publication in the Shield and Diamond. At the March luncheon, Brother Armington thanked all who assisted in making the banquet a memorable event.

At the May meeting, Brother Art Cramer reported on the fine turnout of alumni and their wives at Beta-Pi's Annual Dream Girl Dance, held on May 13 at nearby Aronomink Country Club. The undergraduates were most appreciative of our attendance at the dance. Brother Jim Hancock, formerly of Florida, displayed the result of his photographic experiments at the last meeting in April. They have been mounted in the alumni files for retention in permanent form.

President Schaefer also appointed Brother Warren Shattuck as our coordinator on plans to attend the National Convention at Memphis from September 2 to September 6, 1954.

The final meeting of the Chapter was well attended, including honored guest President Johnny Hippel. Johnny expressed his enthusiasm over the forthcoming Convention and asked that all who could attend get in touch with Brother Shattuck. Brother Al Zilligen presented the new slate of officers for the 1954-55 season:

President, Harold W. Kalb
Vice-President, W. Craig Armington
Treasurer, Jack M. Linton
Secretary (Pro Tem), Henry G. Schaefer, Jr.

Peerless Paris

by

George L. Hern

The Fraternity is Paris-conscious since its National Dream Girl will be presented with a trip to France via AIR FRANCE. These articles have been prepared at the request of the editor.

♦ All the wonderful things you have read, heard, and dreamed of Paris are true—and more. It is a tribute to France that art, taste, history, genius, culture, and fashion are embodied in one word, Paris. To this city of irrepressible vitality, every day luxurious Air France Constellations carry travelers, who wish to enjoy its splendor.

Air France—the world's largest airline—affords service in a manner of French elegance, which passengers find to be a delightful foretaste of Paris.

When you deplane at Orly airport, sated with delectable French cuisine, and charmed by fine Air France service, the "City of Light" unfolds her brilliance before you. What will it be—museum, meal, modiste, mood, monument, music, mysticism. In magic Paris it's all there, with a delicacy and strength you will never forget. There is an endless variety of divertissements in Paris.

Buildings of great beauty and dimension commemorate the skill and extravagance of early French royalty. Within the boundaries of the venerable Palais de Justice, St. Louis had built, the Sainte-Chapelle. This architectural jewel is a treat to students of the Gothic Style. In the same period the bishop Maurice de Sully undertook the building of Notre Dame. It took nearly a hundred years to complete. The cathedral's imperishable beauty has become a Paris trademark. The Sacre-Coeur, the Louvre, Les Invalides, and the Luxembourg Palace are a few of the other edifices which grace the Paris scene.

There are 30 parks and gardens in Paris and almost 200 sizable squares, including the Place de La Concorde, one of the largest in Europe. The combined acreage of the two extensive city parks, the Bois de Boulogne and the Bois de Vincennes, comprises more than a third of Paris itself. For the most part, this elegant landscaping, and the planning for the expensive Paris boulevards, can be credited to Baron Haussmann, during the reign of Napoleon III. Haussmann designed the wide boulevards coming together at spacious squares, for the sake of beauty, and to facilitate troop movements.

The boulevards des Italiens and the Madeleine are lined with many types of fine shops. Via the rue Royale they lead to the great centers of the luxury trade, the faubourg Saint-Honore and the Champs-Elysees. Here reside the select merchants who have contributed such fame to the Paris label. Synonymous with world fashion and the yearnings of every stylish woman are names like: Lanvin, Fath, Molyneux, Dior, Schiaparelli, Worth and Balenciago. It is an odd fact that the founder of French commercialized haute couture was a young Englishman by the name of Charles Frederick Worth, who came to Paris in 1858.

While acknowledging the deserved renown of Paris art and fashion, it must be remembered that Paris has also been a center of learning and teaching since the 13th century. In 1265, the Sorbonne was founded and very soon the University of Paris became popular to scholars from all parts of Europe. Located in the Latin Quarter, the Sorbonne remains a center of scientific, literary and artistic knowledge. Paris boasts too of the College of France, founded in 1530 by Francis I, and the French Institute, headquarters of the famous Learned Societies.

The Ile de la Cite housed the birthplace of Paris. On this small island in the river Seine, was built the humble village of Lutetia, 2,000 years ago. The name Paris is derived from the Parisii, the people who lived in the huts of Lutetia. After the conquest of Gaul by the Romans, Lutetia began to expand across the Seine, to its left bank. From these early beginnings, the "left bank" has grown in fame to become the celebrated sanctuary of aspiring artists from all parts of the world.

The heart of the left bank is the "Quartier Latin," named in memory of early days, when all the Paris colleges spoke only Latin. It is crossed by the wide boulevard Saint-Michel, familiarly called "Boul'Mich." Nearby is the Pantheon, a magnificent monument which serves as final resting place for such luminaries as Rousseau, Voltaire, Zola, and Victor Hugo.

There is much more to be seen and said of Paris. The most daring artists of the moment can be observed in the cafes of the boulevard Montparnasse, Le Dome, La Coupole, and La Rotonde. In Montmartre gay night clubs offer further divertissement. The original Moulin Rouge, which immortalized the French Cancan, was a failure until Toulouse-Lautrec created posters for it, and subsequently popularized the custom of displaying bright posters all about Paris.

Paris is breathtaking. Francis I, King of France, said of her: "She is not a city, but a world." A scintillating world of unforgettable impressions, brought within overnight span by swift, reliable Air France Constellations. Both the tourist and luxury service of Air France will add hours of enjoyment to a visit to Paris.

Alpha-Lambda Chapter (Georgetown University, Georgetown, Ky.) initiated 100 per cent of its pledges this year. This is a clear demonstration of good selection at the time of pledging and excellent follow-up through the pledge training period. Our hats are off to this chapter for this fine record.

Autumn In France

♦ The French are spreading the welcome mat for fall tourists, and life has resumed its normal course after summer vacation. French tourist officials and hotel managers report that there are plenty of accommodations of all kinds available. Many French hotels offer lower rates after September 15 some decreasing their prices as much as 25 per cent.

Brilliant Paris Season

Fairs and festivals in the provinces and the brilliance of Paris after-dark attractions make autumn a season of rich harvest for the excitement-loving tourist. Over 60 theatres and music halls in Paris will have attractions running this fall and winter.

Fall is the time when new concerts, art exhibits and ballets are introduced in Paris. The world-famous Paris Opera House will have a full program of operatic and ballet performances, again featuring the spectacular new production of the rarely played "Oberon" of Carl Maria von Weber which has been the talk of the music world ever since its premiere last season.

Paris, always the patron of the arts, offers a Picasso Exhibition at the Maison de la Pensee starting in August. October will bring the Autumn Salon of Painting to the Petit Palais, while the Orangerie museum will offer a retrospective exhibition of Odilon Redon in addition to the fine permanent collection of Impressionist painters. Exceptional additions of Van Gogh's were recently made to the already comprehensive collection.

Elsewhere in France

Elsewhere in France the products of the French soil and of the country's industry are celebrated in the fall. Vine harvest festivals are held in the many vineyard regions of the country, even in Paris, where the last remaining vineyard in the city, the little one up on Montmartre, will have its festival. The Montmartre grapes will be auctioned in October, depending on when they ripen. In the southern vineyard country an International Grape and Wine Fair will be held at Montpellier in October, and the famous wines of Burgundy will be exhibited at Beaune in November.

Also in November in Burgundy one of the most colorful of all French festivals, "Les Trois Glorieuses," three days devoted to the glory of French wine, is celebrated at Nuits-St-Georges, Beaune, and Meursault. Preceding this salute to Burgundy's proudest product, the Dijon

The Latin Quarter in Paris—Capoulade Cafe, a student rendezvous today and yesteryear.

"Foire Gastronomique," or Gourmet's Fair, will honor fine food in November.

Autumn travelers in France will desire a farewell sojourn in the south, where the sun gives its "bon voyage" gift of tan and rest. A new flight of fancy and food is indicated by your French hosts, to commence auspiciously "Baltille" month. Biarritz and the Basque country are brought within easy reach of Paris by a new flight weekly between July 9 and October 10. From the clouds to the mountains to the sea by luxury flight that will advantageously increase your revelry in hot sands. The regal trip will take you to the rendezvous of the monarchies at nearby Saint Jean de Luz, where Spain and France were wed through Louis XIV and Maria-Teresa. Pine scent, silver spray, and exploration of the rocky coast whet the appetite for distinctive Basque cuisine. The enigmatic Basque culture and folklore lure one to exploration. Your invitation comes on the wings of Pegasus of Air France.

If you are a partisan of purple Mediterranean and rose rock of the Esterelle—a frame for fine swimming and glitteringly chic evenings, the French Riviera is the flight of an arrow from Paris via Air France. Nice, the hub of the Cote d'Azur, is close at hand by air, so that you spend your precious moments at Monte Carlo, absorbing the breathtaking littoral via Saracen Eze, boating at Cannes—or one of a thousand and one nights left to your imagination and time.

The choice is difficult between the South Atlantic of Biarritz and the Mediterranean of the Cote d'Azur, but either or both are close to the gateway of France, the City of Light, Paris through an airborne voyage to the heart's desire on Air France in France.

Air France — 35 Years of French Commercial Aviation

◆ The impetus given industry and mechanical engineering during World War I is reflected historically by the great strides made in a new concept of transportation—namely Flight. During hostilities, concentrated experimentation and industrial exploration in the field of aviation, served to prepare a novel experiment for presentation as a practical commodity. But despite the considerable progress achieved, there remained very tangible obstacles in the course of raising heroic exploits to the level of commercial exploitation. The progressive spirit of enterprising Frenchmen was undaunted, and a measure of the roar of the Twenties came from French skies.

The evaluation of the struggle to usher in the air age is deceptive and illusive at a time when aviation has overtaken the speed of sound. The names of great pilots, such as: Bleriot, Nungesser, Coli, and Mermoz made contributions to commercial aviation which are too easily overlooked although the history they have written warrants review. The same holds true of the great construction engineers Farman, Latecoere, Potez, and Breguet—the latter whose name is now carried high on the wings of the great two-deck aircraft which fittingly bears his name. In an industry devoted to the future, the past fades quickly.

What spirit shaped the World's Largest Airline Network encompassing all the continents with over 160,000 miles of airways? The 35 years of Air France service in air transportation embrace the first international commercial flight and the latest trans-Atlantic record-breaking flight. Between, are to be discovered the foundations of this achievement.

As early as December 1918 the Latecoere Airlines Company made a test flight Toulouse/Barcelona with the view of establishing a route to Africa, and ultimately to South America. The following year service was established to Rabat and Casablanca. Farman Lines Company flew Paris/London and Paris/Brussels later the same year, while the first shipping flight was made by the Air Shipping Company (Compagnie des Messageries Aeriennes), between Paris and Lille. Two months later the route was extended to Brussels.

The year 1920 saw the establishment of several new French companies, which linked Paris with England, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Hungary, Austria, Holland, and Turkey. Air transportation had become international in scope. Land had been conquered, but the mighty obstacle of the ocean remained. Ten years elapsed before the commercial airplane, LATE 28, of the

Burgundy—Grape harvesting between Nuits-St. Georges and Beaune.

General Airpostal Company spanned the South Atlantic. During this same period several smaller companies had been incorporated with AIR UNION, which was the predecessor to AIR FRANCE.

A new course of development was set for French commercial aviation on May 17, 1933 with the merger of "Air Orient," "Air Union," and the "General Aero-Transport Company" under the name of AIR FRANCE. Coordination and reorganization rapidly consolidated the new network comprising 24 lines linking principal European capitals, North Africa, and the Orient. Indicative of the spirit animating the new company was the inauguration the following year of a regular commercial route across the South Atlantic. This milestone in aviation marked the first trans-oceanic air service in the world. Land and ocean were encompassed, and in the span of the next five years AIR FRANCE passenger traffic doubled, while mail tonnage increased four-fold.

The intervening period between the World Wars saw French commercial aviation rise to third place in the international field of competition. After 1933, gains acquired during the pioneering years were consolidated, duplication was eliminated, and steps were taken to standardize and modernize the equipment. Today, the world-wide reputation of Air France for luxury service, precision equipment and scientific operational standards attests to the noteworthy success of a tremendous venture.

The stature and prestige of Air France has been maintained notwithstanding the sacrifices imposed by World War II. During the war Air France, as a commercial airline, was virtually obliterated. Man and equipment served the Allied cause, under the French Government in North Africa, carrying troops, hospital supplies and war material to the front. Immediately upon cessation of European hostilities in 1945, Air France leaders set about the task of revitalizing and reorganizing activities of the great French airline. Service on the European routes was reopened that year. Just one year later the North Atlantic route, encompassing operations between New York and Paris, was inaugurated under the supervision of Henri J. Lesieur, General Manager of the North, Central American and Caribbean Division.

Since the inception of this service Air France has become more than a medium of transportation, a mode of travel for the discriminating. Luxury service to Paris on powerful long-range Super-Constellations is the ultimate in elegant air travel. Gourmet cuisine prepared and served in inimitable French style enhances the fleeting hours aloft, en route to enchanting Paris. The Air France record of "Firsts" and "Exclusives" which has contributed significantly to the advance of international air transportation indicates the inventive foresight which has always marked Air France services.

Air France was the first to serve full course dinners with champagne and vintage wines, and the first to offer scheduled trans-Atlantic sleeper service in land-type planes. The first scheduled non-stop luxury flight to Paris was made by the Air France "Parisian Special." On the luxury service, Air France limits the number of passengers per flight in order to afford unequalled space and seating comfort.

All aspects of Air France service are in keeping with the tradition of the great French pioneers. Their influence over present day aviation is graphically illustrated by accepted terminology like fuselage, aileron, nacelle, and aeronautics, all of which are French derived words. The infinite courage and farseeing wisdom of men like Bleriot, Bossoutrot, and Mermoz set the cornerstone for international air transportation. From their selflessness and greatness has grown a service, dedicated to a greater world drawn closer together—the world's largest airline, AIR FRANCE.

Mother's Day Florida Highlight

By John Layton

◆ Nearly 350 guests attended the 38th Annual Mothers' Day Reception which was given Friday afternoon May 7 by Alpha-Eta Chapter at the chapter house on West University Avenue in Gainesville, Fla.

The reception and program in honor of mothers is one of the oldest social traditions on the campus and one of the fraternity's most cherished ones.

Receiving in the reception hall were Mrs. H. H. Johnson, housemother; George Bayless, president of the chapter; and Mrs. W. G. Boltin, president of the Mothers' Club.

George Albright, a senior in the College of Business Administration and a member of Florida Blue Key, was the principal speaker.

SMC Bayless and Mrs. Johnson welcomed the mothers and Mrs. E. E. Wiefenbach made the response for the mothers. Piano numbers were offered by Mrs. A. Lloyd Layton, and the Pi Kappa Alpha Ensemble rendered "Oh, Blessed Day of Motherhood." Dr. U. S. Gordon, National Chaplain of Pi Kappa Alpha and minister of the First Presbyterian Church, gave the invocation, and the Rev. J. R. Noffsinger, pastor of the First Baptist Church, gave the benediction. Bill Marr of Jacksonville was master of ceremonies.

A large and unusual arrangement of day lilies, snapdragons, and gladioli, flanked by tapers in brass candelabra decorated the mantel in the living room. Palms were used throughout the rooms.

In the dining room, the table was overlaid with a white embroidered linen cloth edged with lace. White snapdragons and Easter lilies in a silver bowl were placed at one end of the table, and a silver candelabrum, holding white lighted tapers, was at the other. Mrs. J. C. McCraw served punch from the silver punch bowl.

Refreshments were also served on the terrace, where the long table was overlaid with a pink cloth and centered with white hydrangeas and caladium leaves in a white container. Mrs. George A. Dell and Mrs. Wilson O. Boozer served punch from crystal bowls at the ends of the table.

Assisting in serving were Johnness Watts, XΩ, Lucy Newman, XΩ, Diane Dye, ΔΔΠ, Sally Taylor, ΔΔΠ, Joanne Andrews, KΔ, Nancy Dennis, KΔ, and Dorothy Sullivan, KΔ, and members of the Mothers' Club.

Utah Pi Kaps First On Campus

By Emanuel Floor

◆ Alpha-Tau in the last year has continued to play an all-important part in school activities at the University of Utah.

At the first of the year, Howard Jorgensen was chairman of the Hello Week activities with three other brothers helping to motivate the get-acquainted atmosphere. Later, in fall quarter, Homecoming took the spotlight, and Alpha-Tau took first place in House Decorations with a massive "ram roast."

The annual "Snow Carnival" got under way during the winter quarter. The three-day wintry celebration was planned by PiKap Bob Harmon, chairman of the event. Next came the massive activity of winter quarter, the Junior Prom. For a second year, an Alpha-Tau was chairman of the unique dance that is held in the State Capitol Building. Bob Amott served as chairman this year and used an Hawaiian theme.

Spring quarter the annual carnival atmosphere invaded the campus. New pledges shouldered the responsibility and built a booth featuring an out-of-space rocket and flying saucer shells. The pledges also baked a cake for competition.

After WRA Carnival, the brothers concentrated their efforts on the Combined Operations Prom, and the Military Ball. Brothers Howard Jorgensen and Ray Gardiner were co-chairmen of the prom which featured Jerry Gray's orchestra. Many other brothers were on the committee.

After the C.O.P., the tong spent nights singing, readying for competition in the annual Songfest. Amid strains of "Pals of the Garnet and Gold," Alpha-Tau took first place among all other social fraternities and second place in the men's division. Rich Lee conducted both the tong song and a special novelty. In addition to the two trophies garnered for singing, Alpha-Tau took a trophy for originality in the Lambda Chi Alpha push-cart relays.

T. J. Jones served as business manager of the school literary magazine and Gerry Ernstrom was manager of the yearbook. The tong was also represented on the daily newspaper with two reporters and a sports writer.

In addition to participating in school activities, Alpha-Tau has also been very active in sports. Several brothers played on the varsity football and basketball teams. Alden Lewis, Cal Drecksell, and Bob Simmons all played varsity ball under the Ute's new basketball mentor, Jack Gardner.

The top tennis men included many PiKaps. Don Tisdell and Ralph Stevens were two reasons the Utes took the Western Division.

But Alpha-Tau didn't stop with inter-collegiate athletics. Intramurals found the Pi Kaps of Alpha-Tau right on top. Taking first place in football and winning points in many other activities, Alpha-Tau was in the lead for the huge Intramural trophy. Even though they placed high in tennis, golf, and track, they lost the trophy by less than thirty points; however, the second place trophy was still added to the trophy case.

A big activity on the intramurals program is an annual contest between Alpha-Tau and the Utah Chapter of Sigma Nu. The game is a take-off on basketball with each fraternity featuring its poorest players. The tilt is appropriately entitled the "Guppy game" for all the players resemble fish out of water.

Every one of the players dons a special costume and each aims at the title of "most valuable player of the year." A Guppy queen is selected and a small trophy awarded.

Five PiKaps were elected to offices in elections at the University of Utah. Bill McConahay was elected president of the Junior Class and Don Tisdell was elected treasurer. George Pingree was elected president of the Sophomore Class and Manny Floor won the post of treasurer. Dave Allan was elected treasurer of the men's organization at the University.

Tapped for Owl and Key were Howard Jorgensen, SMC of Alpha-Tau last year, and Bob Hales and Jack Cross. These men won three of the eleven invitations.

Brothers Gerry Ernstrom, Cal Drecksell, Bob Rose, Bob Amott and Neal Savage were given invitations to Skull and Bones. Of the total of nine that were tapped, five were PiKaps.

In addition to the honoraries, Alpha-Tau men were awarded sweaters and medals in school activities.

In scholarship, Alpha-Tau was again top fraternity on campus.

Featuring some of the most unique parties on the University of Utah campus, Alpha-Tau has really had a top year on the social calendar.

Starting off with the annual Bowery party, one that the campus is still talking about, the spirit started to build. After fall rushing, the Hallowe'en party was on the docket. Featuring unusual decorations, this party was also a huge success.

The big rush party of fall quarter was the CASINO. The house was transformed into Club Vegas and gaming tables were set up throughout the house. Guests were given one thousand dollars (Pi Kap money) to spend and gamble. A few girls at the fabulous party were giving out refreshments to help cure losing streaks.

After the gaming, Bill Gnat, Utah's fabulous world-famous juggler, showed a bit of his mastery.

Other rush parties were well remembered, including one at which Alumnus Jack Curtice, University of Utah football coach, discussed Utah's first game of the year. Movies of the game were shown and a tremendous meal was served.

For the holidays, Alpha-Tau had a Smorgasbord dinner and dance with prospective rushees and their dates.

In addition to all of these parties, the brothers also had several exchanges with sororities.

The Winter Formal was held on the roof of the Hotel Utah in Salt Lake City. From atop the Utah, the whole city can be seen and the favors, food and dancing rounded off the evening.

On March 1, celebrating Founders' Day, Alpha-Tau had a "Down in Old Virginny" party, featuring dancing and entertainment from a pledge quartet. For refreshments there was ham and baked potatoes with cornbread and punch. Truly an "Old Virginny" party!

For our annual spring quarter party, the tong took dates up to Brighton, a resort outside of Salt Lake. Here dancing and entertainment again was spotlighted. Later in April, Alpha-Tau opened its doors to an open house for University of Utah administration for the Combined Military Operations Prom party. The house was filled with military brass, and the prom was a success. Brothers

Howard Jorgensen and Ray Gardiner were chairmen of the prom, and Leo Goates helped on the open house.

Each quarter, pledges give the active chapter a party. Spring quarter was by far one of the most fabulous parties ever. Under the leadership of Jim Allred the entire house was tossed beneath the sea with weird fish and nets throughout. The lighting was all specially arranged for effect, and spinning reflectors gave the under-the-sea atmosphere. The front porch was arranged for a TV area and a punch bowl was always filled.

In the dining room, the theme was a Bermuda Grotto. The food was prepared by mothers and featured food from France, Italy, Sweden, Greece, and America. The dining room was labeled the S. S. International. Waiters served the guests at individual tables. Souvenir menus were given to all couples. From the dining room dancing took the spotlight.

On May 1, Alpha-Tau took dates to Ogden for an exchange with Gamma-Epsilon, PiKappa chapter at Utah State. Meeting at the Rainbow Gardens, the tongs and their dates danced and had a tremendous chicken dinner.

The last big party of the season was the Spring Formal. The chapter spent the entire day at the Homestead, a resort outside of Salt Lake City. With riding, swimming and hiking in the afternoon, the brothers and their dates changed into formal wear and spent an evening of dancing. Girls were given orchids and two favors. Dream Girl of Pi Kappa Alpha for Alpha-Tau was presented by SMC Paul Viko. Carolyn Copening was presented the Dream Girl pin and a trophy.

Washington University Chooses Dream Girl

◆ Both actives and pledges of Beta-Lambda Chapter (Washington U., St. Louis) shivered again for the annual Thurtene spring carnival. Our "Kill the Ump" booth was a variation on our game of throwing water-filled balloons at two suffering victims. The boys all took turns at shivering and the crowd was generous enough so that at the end of two days we were on the profit side, which we thought was some compensation for our efforts.

The last and by far the best event on our spring social calendar was our Dream Girl dance at the Junior League Tea Room. The high spot of the evening was the selection of Miss Nancy Wright, ΔΔΔ, as the HKA Dream Girl of 1954. Miss Wright was given a bouquet of American Beauty roses, a jewelry box, and a HKA medallion. Retiring Dream Girl Sue Nichill, ΔΓ, was presented with a bouquet of yellow roses and other gifts. Other candidates were Joyce Gardner, ΔΓ; Caroline Wilson, ΓΦΒ; Betty Peterson, ΑΧΩ; and Grace Gregg.

One of the amusing highlights of the evening occurred when ten of the boys and Paul Connole, assistant dean of students, came in wearing Bermuda shorts with their tuxedos.

Under the supervision of Tom Arthur and Bill Donnell, eight Beta-Zeta (S.M.U.) neophytes put in some hard work renovating the St. Laurence Episcopal Church of Grapevine, Texas. They take a chow break from the hot work of applying ceiling panels. This substitution for hell week was an experiment in fraternity community relations that paid real dividends, especially to the participants.

Eddie H. Cubbon, AO (West Virginia), has recently joined the Florida State University Athletic Department as business manager.

Carnegie Competes In Spring Carnival

By Laverne H. Nord

◆ Although Beta-Sigma had great expectations for a successful Spring Carnival, it never anticipated that it would complete this important festive event in such a triumphant manner. This year's Spring Carnival program consisted of a sweepstakes race, a buggy design competition, a costume parade, and a plank jostling contest. The combined efforts of all the actives and pledges made it possible for Beta-Sigma to come out victoriously in these four events as it won three out of the six trophies which were offered.

On Friday morning, May 15, this year's Spring Carnival program commenced with the judging of the design and construction of the buggies that were entered in the sweepstakes race. Several months previous, Aubrey Amey and Don Barvoets designed and started building a new buggy for this judging. With some assistance from a few of the other Brothers, they were able to complete it in plenty of time for the competition. The streamlined buggy which they built is really a beauty; in fact, the judges thought that it was so beautiful that they awarded Beta-Sigma the trophy for the best designed buggy.

The preliminary heats of the Sweepstakes Race were held immediately following the design judging. Each year Tech's twelve fraternities and some independent groups enter a soap-box type racer in this race. The buggies are pushed around a course by a five-man relay team. Beta-Sigma's team consisted of Bill Boney, George Mikk, Bill Myers, Bill Collins and Henry Doney. Bill Yeakel was the driver. The three buggies which post the best qualifying time in the preliminaries are placed in the final heat which is run off the following morning. Beta-Sigma posted the third best time in the preliminary heats, but in the finals it put up a good fight and finished second and took the second-place trophy.

The newly instituted costume parade in this year's carnival proved to be a fine replacement for the float parade. The annual float parade was dropped this year on an experimental basis because school officials believed that it was becoming too expensive and time consuming for the fraternities. The costume parade consisted of six-man teams from each fraternity. These teams were dressed in a futuristic manner to blend with the general theme of this year's carnival which was "Futurism." Thanks to the expert planning of Bill Myers and Lloyd Burlingame, the six costumes were completely designed two weeks before the carnival began. Several all-night work sessions completed the major portion of their construction and they were finished the night before the parade when Beta-Sigma held a date-work party.

Five of the men on Beta-Sigma's team were dressed to depict the major departments here at Tech. The first brother was dressed as a bomb to represent the physics department, the second as a test tube to portray the chemistry department, the third as an easel to symbolize the painting and design department, the fourth as a big top hat lined with dollar bills to depict the industrial management department, and the last as a big spiral pad of paper to represent the secretaries from Margaret Morrison, the girls' college. These five brothers revolved around the sixth brother who supported a huge revolving planet with a sign on it reading "Carnegie Planet." The planet also had futuristic portrayals of the famous buildings on Tech's campus jutting out from all sides of it. Although far from speedy on its orbit, the Carnegie Planet managed to secure an undisputed first place in the costume parade. This gave Beta-Sigma a total of two first places and a second place and brought back three large trophies for its already crowded trophy case.

Saturday night the actives, pledges, and a large group of returning alumni celebrated in the greatest party of the year. This hectic, yet memorable, week end was climaxed by a picnic in North Park on Sunday. After returning from the picnic, we placed our carnival hats among our other souvenirs and prepared to return to the classrooms Monday.

Wilkinson Featured In Advertisement

◆ John Wilkinson, BO (Oklahoma), was recently featured in a full page advertisement used by Mercantile Trust Company of Saint Louis. Brother Wilkinson was made Vice President of this bank which has resources of over $600 million. He has been a loyal and energetic fraternity member since his undergraduate days and served as a Shield and Diamond Endowment Fund Trustee for several years, until 1952.

"Long before the Mayflower was even launched, John Wilkinson's forefathers lived in America. He's proud of the part-Indian ancestry that makes him a full-fledged member of the Cherokee tribe. But John also has a banking background. During his boyhood, his father was a country banker in the state of Oklahoma.

"Later on, when John was a student at the University of Oklahoma, his fraternity issued bonds to finance the building of a new house. John sold the bonds so successfully that his future was decided . . . he went into investment banking. He joined us here at Mercantile in 1930. During his years in the Bond Department and the Banks and Bankers Department, John has traveled every state in the Midwest, South and Southwest where Mercantile is represented."

Tormoen Appointed To Government Post

◆ Clarence O. Tormoen, BX (Minnesota), of Duluth, Minn., has been appointed an Assistant to the Secretary of the Treasury and designated as Personnel Security Officer of the Treasury Department. The oath was administered by Assistant Secretary H. Chapman Rose.

Brother Tormoen was born in Duluth in 1903. He graduated from the Law College of the University of Minnesota in 1926, and practiced as a trial lawyer in Duluth where he was active in civic affairs. He was District Director of the 1930 federal census in the Duluth area.

He served as National Counsel of Pi Kappa Alpha from 1931-36.

He entered military service in 1942 and served in the European Theater. As Assistant Theater Judge Advocate with the rank of lieutenant colonel he headed a group of officers which reviewed all records of trials by courts-martial involving capital offenses and officer dismissals, which cases required the personal action of the theater commander.

He became Judge Advocate of Taskforce "Nightlight," the American component of Allied Land Forces in Norway, in 1945, and while serving in Oslo during the occupation of that country, was assigned as the Army observer at the trial of Vidkun Qvisling. In 1946 he became Executive Officer of the Judge Advocate Division at the American headquarters in Frankfurt, Germany.

Between 1946 and 1950 Brother Tormoen was counsel and president of Backer Electric Company, of Rotherham, England, and a group of associated small manufacturing concerns in Scandinavia, and spent most of this period abroad. Recalled to active military duty in 1950, he served for two years as legal officer at Washington for the Army operation of railroads.

He was awarded the Legion of Merit, Bronze Star, Purple Heart, and St. Olav's Medal (Norwegian). He is a reserve Colonel, JAGC, and a member of the Bar of Minnesota and New York.

New York Alumni Aid In Rushing

◆ Contacts with and visits to various active chapters have emphasized the need for help from alumni in rushing activities, and the New York group is particularly anxious to be of assistance. A committee under the capable chairmanship of Bob Kroll has been developing plans, correlating activities, and contacting active chapters on this important function.

The New York alumni have continued to show enthusiastic response to their regular monthly luncheon meetings at the Williams Club, even during the summer months. In addition to the luncheons, various dinners, outings, etc., have been arranged by the committees in charge.

A large mailing list has been developed to advise alumni in the New York City area of these various activities. Any brothers visiting New York at any time, may get information by calling the Corresponding Secretary, as listed in the Alumnus Directory of the Shield and Diamond.

Merle Odgers Named President Of Bucknell University

By William M. Smith

◆ Dr. Merle Middleton Odgers, a charter member of Beta-Pi Chapter, University of Pennsylvania, has been named President of Bucknell University at Lewisburg, Pa. This was announced by Dr. Joseph W. Henderson, Chairman of the Bucknell Board of Trustees.

Brother Odgers, who has been president of Girard College in Philadelphia for the past 18 years, will take over his new post at Bucknell on December 1st.

He succeeds Dr. Horace Hildreth, named last year by President Eisenhower to be American Ambassador to Pakistan.

Brother Odgers is a graduate of Pennsylvania, class of 1922, and was instrumental in founding Beta-Pi Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha along with National President John Hippel and Alumnus Counselor Charles A. "Doc" Allen.

After receiving his Bachelor of Arts Degree from Pennsylvania, Brother Odgers continued in graduate studies at the university, majoring in Latin. He received his Master's degree in 1924, and was awarded a Doctorate in Philosophy in 1928.

He taught Latin in Pennsylvania for several years, and was Dean of Admissions at the University. He also served as Dean of the College of Liberal Arts for Women at Pennsylvania for three years. He is a native of Philadelphia and a graduate of Central High School.

One of the East's best known educators, Brother Odgers is recipient of honorary degrees from his alma mater as well as Temple and Ursinus. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, the English Speaking Union, L'Association of Guillaume Bude of Paris and the Necomen Society of England.

He is married to the former Frances Bunting of Philadelphia and they have two children, Eleanor, 19, and John, 15.

Riculfi Honored By Florida Hotels

◆ Robert M. Riculfi, AH (Florida), manager of the Hotel Salt Air and a recent past president of the Palm Beach Hotel Association, was elected vice president of the Florida State Hotel Association at its convention in Havana. The convention, held in Cuba April 27 through 29 at the Nacional Hotel, was attended by approximately 300 people.

Highlighting the convention was a reception for the hotel men held by President Fulgencio Batista of Cuba at his palace.

Brother Riculfi, a native of New Orleans, was reared in Jacksonville and studied law at the University of Florida and the University of Michigan. He was a practicing attorney in Washington, D. C. where he was a member of the bar of the U. S. Supreme Court and later practiced in Jacksonville. He became interested in hotel work after World War I, and ten years ago became affiliated with the Hotel Salt Air in Palm Beach, Fla.

Stetson Plays At Daytona

By Frank T. Murphy

◆ Personality plus, excellent cook, and wonderful housemother—those are the characteristics of Mrs. Faye Williams, new Delta-Upsilon Chapter housemother. Mrs. Williams, "Mom," will be preparing meals for the Brothers starting June 15, and continue throughout her stay in Florida, which confidentially we hope is for quite some time. Mom hails from Beta Chapter, Davidson College, in Davidson, N. C.

Dick Meredith, ΔΥ, was named the outstanding intramural athlete at Stetson.

The annual Fraternity week end was held during May 21 and 22. The festivities started with a beach party at Daytona Beach Friday afternoon and evening. Saturday morning we journeyed to nearby Alexander Springs for swimming and just plain fun. In the evening we enjoyed a dance with a "Bahama Islands" theme.

At present we are in the midst of building a recreation room in the garage. This room will house a pool table, ping pong table, and the television set which is to be put above the bar. Bamboo poles will separate the bar from the recreation room.

Northwestern Emphasizes Sports

By Roger Nosal

◆ In varsity football, Fred Nosal, a sophomore, gained a starting position as right guard. His play during this past season has merited for him the honor as a first string member of the All-I I K A Football team. Fred has since switched to end, and at the moment is the first string left end. Sophomore Jim Troglio is playing right along with Fred as the regular left halfback. Jim, a recent pledge, had waited a full year and a half before deciding that Pi Kappa Alpha was right for him after being continually rushed by twenty or more other fraternities in that time. Also included on the varsity football team are freshman pledges Karl Bitner, Frank Walker, and Al Hansen. Jack Butler, the house president last fall, was also a regular on the varsity basketball team and played in almost every game. On this same line of varsity sports, Ken Knierim has distinguished himself as a first team trackman this spring in Big Ten competition by running in the 880 and the mile relay.

Gamma-Rho has had one of its finest pledge classes in years. The fall brought us ten pledges, all of whom received acceptable grades at the first marking period, making them eligible for initiation. The class included Tom Steckler and Roger Nosal who played on Northwestern's freshman basketball team; Kent Krumm who has shown much talent on the freshman fencing team and expects to see Big Ten competition in the coming year, and Bud Reese, a journalism student, who has been proving his worth by filling the position of assistant sports editor on the staff of the Daily Northwestern and as sports editor of that same paper's Freshman Edition.

Final standings in intramurals showed Pi Kappa Alpha in sixth place among forty organizations on campus. Although the records show us as number six with a total of 716 points, we were only 22½ points out of third place. We became co-league champions in football with Bill Camstra elected to the all-school team; however, we lost in the semi-finals for school champions. Again in bowling, Gamma-Rho won their league, but also lost in school semi-finals. Wendell Horn, Bill Camstra, and Fred Nosal led the basketball team this year with some outstanding play. In track, we won the 880 relay in the best time shown. Dick Cowen, Fred Ewald, Wendell Horn, and Fred Nosal set the time at 140.0. Softball, encouraged by Tom Steckler's pitching, brought us to the semi-finals only to lose again in school play-offs.

Jim McMullen, an accounting major, has been initiated into two honoraries, Beta Alpha Psi, accounting fraternity, and Beta Gamma Sigma, commerce fraternity. John Dressel, journalism '55, who also is the night editor of the Daily Northwestern, has been indoctrinated into Sigma Delta Chi journalism honorary. Lastly, Bob Steere and Roger Nosal, both freshmen, have gained entrance to the national Latin and Greek honorary, Eta Sigma Phi.

Some of our happiest hours were spent at our annual parties. The year started with a stag pledge party at Northwestern's Ratskellar. Early in October we held our Purple Passion Party at the Belmont Hotel in the nearby Chicago loop. This was followed by a Hallowe'en party here at our house. In January, Miss Sue Lambur became the Pledge Dream Girl at the party held at the Belmont Yacht Club. Dream Girl of I I K A at Gamma-Rho for 1954 was Miss Lucy Wood. She was so voted at the Dream Girl Formal held in the Electric Room of Chicago's fabulous Civic Opera Building. Early in February, a barn dance was presented at the Mohawk Country Club. The spring formal brought Gamma-Rho to the well-known Tam O'Shanter Country Club to enjoy a fine supper and dancing after. To terminate its social year, Gamma-Rho presented its annual "House of Blue Lights" party promoted by a French motif. In order to round out the year, desert-exchanges with sororities, picnics, beach parties and hayrides filled out the time between annual parties. All arrangements were made through social chairmen Don Hoffman and Tom Hartney. Decorations were under the supervision of Jack Kirkby.

Under the direction of Bob Wagner and Cliff Hardie, Gamma-Rho captured third place in house decoration awards during Homecoming. The display was based on the popular radio program, "Dragnet."

Bob Wagner, Cliff Hardie, Chuck Hobbs, Bill Bell, Jon Dressel, and Fred Ewald got together to form a calypso combo called "The Jamaicans." After winning a few amateur prizes, the combo was given the chance to play at the famous Edgewater Beach Hotel in the Marine Room.

— I I K A —

Following the banquet, the Dream Girl Formal was held at the hotel. During the intermission, Johnny Hippel presented Miss Carol Ellison, AΦ, as the 1954 Dream Girl. Carol is Brother Russ Kittle's fiancée. Attendants to the Dream Girl were Jeanne Ellis, AΦ, and Serepta Corbett.

Pi Kappa Alpha's debate team, composed of Bob Galvin and Fred Holroyd, won first place in the Interfraternity Debate Tournament. By winning this year's debate, Alpha-Theta retired the huge trophy that is offered by the Council of Fraternity Presidents, since Alpha-Theta has won the debate two previous times. Accompanying the large trophy was a plaque which adds interest to our trophy-room wall.

It has been a grand and glorious year for the men of Alpha-Theta Chapter. They are making great strides to further the bonds of brotherhood and are definitely becoming one of the leading fraternities on the West Virginia University campus.

'Bama Frolics On Roman Holiday

By Hobart Grooms

◆ Cries of "panem et circenses"—"bread and circuses"—rang through the I I K A house recently as members, pledges, rushees and their dates turned the clock back 2,000 years for the annual "Roman Holiday" party.

Tall, white columns were erected along the front porch with a multicolored gauze canopy lending a bright note to the air of feasting and merry-making. While moonlit water fountains gushed forth on the lawn, chariots rolled up to the front walk to deposit modern-day Cleopatras, Anthonys, Ciceros and Caesars. The evening meal, complete to the last stuffed pig, was taken in the customary reclining position. It may look pretty in the history books, but Gamma-Alpha brothers vow that it's much easier to eat sitting up.

Announcement of the recent selection of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities found Brothers Bill Morgan and Hobart Grooms among 'Bama honorees. Spring tappings caused some little excitement as Carl Bentzel, Sam Shannon and Bill Morgan were initiated into the nation's highest leadership honorary, Omicron Delta Kappa.

Hobart Grooms and Bill Morgan were among 11 senior men tapped by Jasons. 'Bama's oldest senior men's honor society. Morgan will serve as vice-president for the group during the coming year. Grooms was elected "veep" of Alabama Quadrangle, local Christian men's honor society.

Recent award ceremonies for outstanding cadets in the Air ROTC were climaxed in the announcement of Bill Morgan as "Most Outstanding Advanced Cadet." Melvin Bolling received a similar award for the senior advanced cadet.

Gamma-Alpha proved itself a judge of beauty as its candidate, Agnes Joan Eastburn, AXΩ, was named "Miss Executive Secretary" during Spring Commerce Day festivities. Agnes Joan was honored earlier in the year by being named Pledge Class Sweetheart at the annual Valentine Dance.

W. Virginia Celebrates Golden Anniversary

By Leonard Loudin

◆ On April 3, 1954, the West Virginia Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha celebrated the eighty-sixth anniversary of the founding of the national fraternity and also the Golden Anniversary of Alpha-Theta Chapter. We were honored to have as our main banquet speaker the National President, Johnny Hippel. The banquet was held at the Hotel Morgan Coral Room for one hundred guests. Honored guests included Wilson R. Caskey, who served as toastmaster, and two of Alpha-Theta's founders, Attorney Arthur Arnold and Dr. Bill Owens. Rev. Alan Parsons, the only other living founder, was unable to spend the week end with us.

After President Hippel's address, Brother "Red" Arnold presented Don McNinch, Ernie McClure, and Tom Mazzocco the Best Pledge Award, the Pledge Scholarship Award, and the Chapter Scholarship Award, respectively.

The Homecoming House Decorations Trophy was awarded Alpha-Theta Chapter for our first place entry of a replica of the Mountaineer Stadium with a moving flash card cheering section. Besides the R. M. Davis Traveling Trophy, the chapter gets to keep a permanent trophy which will remind us of the victory.

Alpha-Theta Chapter's winnings have not been confined to campus activities, but have gone into the scholastic field of endeavor. Along with the Debate and the House Decorations trophies came the most important of all—the District Five Scholarship Improvement Trophy. This trophy is presented to the chapter in District Five that increased their over-all average the most over the preceding year. This was due to the 2.515 average that won us first place scholastically on the WVU campus.

The I I K A ping pong team succeeded in winning second place in the Interfraternity Tournament. The team, composed of Leonard Loudin, Hugh Guthrie, and Cal Wilson, won their league championship and went on to eliminate Phi Kappa Psi in the semi-finals only to lose to Tau Kappa Epsilon in the finals.

Bradley Host To Midwest Dream Girl Dance

By Henry Schroeder, ΔΣ

◆ Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity at Bradley University was host to eight chapters at the annual Midwest Dream Girl Dance. The dinner formal was held at the Country Club of Peoria on May 1, 1954.

The formal was attended by fifteen couples from other midwest chapters of the fraternity. Several alumni from out-of-town were in attendance.

The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the Midwest Dream Girl, Miss Peggy Hurst, Delta-Sigma candidate. Miss Hurst is a member of Chi Omega sorority and is a resident of Peoria. The other candidates for the title were: Miss Sue Olmstead, University of Illinois; Miss Janna Rohrbach, Purdue University; Miss Lucy Wood, Northwestern University; and Miss Georgia Chamberlin, University of Wisconsin. Judges for the affair were members of the Governor's staff.

Music was provided by the Freddie Barnes Band. Chaperones included: Capt. and Mrs. James Elbert, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne McGaughey, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sandstrom. Honored guests present were E. J. Ritter and Roger Nebergall.

Co-chairmen of the dance were Raymond Walls and John Challinor. Publicity was handled by Henry Schroeder, Russel Hoffman and Henry Reiden. Roger Ahlforth and Tom Towne were in charge of the Dream Girl committee.

Definition Of "A Dream Girl"

By Frank Gerace

◆ A dream girl.

Just what does constitute a dream girl, especially the Dream Girl of ΠΚΑ? Is it beauty, intelligence, social ability?

I think upon closer examination of just what a dream girl consists of you will find that it is a mellow combination of the above plus many more too numerable to mention. Of course, these three are the most important, but it is the smaller things that make the Dream Girl of ΠΚΑ; and our dream girl has all of these and many more.

The Dream Girl of Beta-Eta this year is Miss Kay Bowman, XΩ. Kay is a freshman in Fine and Applied Arts majoring in painting. She is 5 ft. 6 in. tall, blue eyes, blonde hair, and has measurements 36-24-34 . . . uh? Kay is from Western Springs, Ill. and was recently selected as the Champaign-Urbana representative for the Miss Photo Flash National Contest.

Judges of the Dream Girl Contest were Larry Stewart, Station Manager of Radio Station WDWS; Jon Smid, Captain of the 1954 Fighting Illini; the Assistant Dean of Women; and the President of the Interfraternity Council.

Girls for the final contest this year represented the following houses: Delta Delta Delta, Alpha Omicron Pi, Kappa Delta, Gamma Phi Beta, and Kappa Alpha Theta. All of the finalists were the "most" to say the least. Judges had to ballot three times before a finalist was picked.

This year's winner received a dozen red roses, a loving cup, and a portable radio, all of which were presented by Miss Sue Olmstead, past Dream Girl.

The dance was held at the chapter house, and members really did a fine job on decorations. A white trellis led up the front steps. The inside of the house was decorated to resemble a garden with everything from a spring to green grass and growing plants on the floor.

The Chicago Cardinals announced May 22 the signing of their top draft choice, quarterback Lamar McHan of the University of Arkansas, a member of Alpha-Zeta Chapter. The National Football League Club scheduled a big press party to fete McHan and five other rookies. Coach Joe Stydahar thinks he may have "another Charley Trippi" in the versatile McHan. The Arkansas back handled the ball on 365 plays as a single-wing tailback in 1953 and was second in the nation in total offense with 1,516 yards and 12 touchdowns.

Ohio State Active On Campus

◆ Alpha-Rho was visited recently by Miss Martha Zimmerman, Ohio's candidate in the Miss America Contest last fall. She was also runner-up for the Miss Sesqui-Centennial Contest last summer. Miss Zimmerman appeared on our May Day float in the May Day competition.

Spring quarter was filled with extensive parties and rush smokers, and as a result we pledged seven men. The parties consisted of a Screw Driver Picnic, Purple Passion Party, a Monte Carlo Party put on by the pledge class, and the Dream Girl Formal. Miss Mary Lou Eye-stone of Alpha Phi Sorority was chosen as our Dream Girl. Misses Edith Bonnie and Phylis Easton rounded out the court.

Outstanding Pikes on OSU's campus are Roy West, serving his second year as Trustee of the Fraternity Managers Association; Bob Stein and Tom Folger, baseball team managers; Bob Ruppel, with two letters in La Crosse; and Al Kuchinka, with a letter for Rifle Team competition. Rollie Fischer and Bill Baker served as staff writers on the Ohio State Engineer, the campus engineering magazine.

Delta Chapter Erects First House On Campus

By GRADY SMITH

Darcey Tatum, Υ (Ala. Poly.), cleverly utilized natural fir and slave brick in the progressively designed chapter house at Birmingham-Southern.

◆ Delta Chapter is proud to have erected the first fraternity house on Fraternity Row, a recently developed section on Birmingham-Southern's campus.

The house, designed by Darcey Tatum, Υ , is of progressive design, only the first part now being complete. The portion now built consists largely of an immense octagonal living room, with a sandstone fireplace in the center, a kitchenette, and sleeping quarters for four.

A glassed-in patio, dormitory wing, kitchen, and dining room are planned additions. The portion which is now the patio will be converted into the kitchen.

The house is situated at the foot of a hill, away from the main section of the campus. Faculty Row is a continuation of the road on which the house is situated.

The outside is finished in slave made brick, which are nearly one hundred years old, and rough, natural fir. The living room, which is lighted mainly with indirect fixtures, is finished in natural specky cypress.

With the formation of the Delta House Corporation, the results of our plans and savings through several years were realized. Officers of the Corporation are: Joe Crump, President (Blue Cross-Blue Shield of Alabama); Bob Russell, Vice-President (Exchange Bank); and Linwood Underwood, Secretary-Treasurer (First National Bank). Board membership consists of the three officers and the current SMC and Th.C of the active chapter.

Brother Tatum, Auburn alumnus, has been given honorary membership into the Delta House Corporation, for he worked closely with the contractors until the last finishing touch was made. An open house was held June 4, alumni day at Birmingham-Southern. Our alumni and representatives from the three other chapters of Pi Kappa Alpha in Alabama were honored.

The octagonal living room has an attractive fireplace as its focal point.

The party season opened this past year with a Gay Nineties party and closed with the annual houseparty held this year at Double Oak Mountain State Park. Jim Young has been the spark for a full year of entertainment and social activities.

Once again, a Pike was chosen "Mr. Hilltopper." Dave Buttram was honored this year in the annual event sponsored by Alpha Omicron Pi sorority. He was chosen out of a group of fifteen of the most popular men on 'Southern's campus.

The Pikes, however, fell short in the all-campus interfraternity sing competition. Glen Youngblood and Grady Smith directed us into third place with "Meadowlands" and "The Rambler." The year before, Pike won first place under the direction of Chuck Dexter, now with State Farm in Illinois.

Kansas State Has Dixie Ball

By Jim Langford

◆ The social year at Alpha-Omega Chapter at Kansas State was climaxed on April 9 by the annual Dixie Ball. A banquet was held before the dance at the Skyline Club with practically all the members and their dates present. Delicious steaks and shrimp were served.

The dance hall, decorated in a fantasy theme, was designed by the architecture students in the house. There was a large number of couples attending as well as many of the housemothers from sororities and other fraternities. The decorations along with the fine music of Glen Horner and his orchestra from Salina provided a very enjoyable evening.

At intermission Miss Yvonna Higgonbotham was crowned "Dream Girl of ΠΚΑ," and was presented with a trophy and a bouquet of roses. Miss Higgonbotham is a sophomore in elementary education at Kansas State from Wellington, Kansas.

The reception line at the dance consisted of Mrs. William Bensing, house-mother; Colonel Milford Itz, head of the Air Science Department at Kansas State; Mrs. Itz; Jack Argabright, IMC, and his date, Mary Manley.

On May 9, 1954, Alpha-Omega Chapter celebrated Mothers' Day by being host to over 75 parents. Since there are only 42 boys in the chapter, this was a large percentage.

Corsages were given to all the mothers present. A large banquet was held at the house for the boys and their parents. After dinner the ladies were given a chance to tour the whole house to see how their boys live at college. They had a lot of fun because they had the right to peek into anything in the house. A rather special guest was Mrs. Murphy who was housemother three years ago. She was her usual enthusiastic self as she went around finding her old boys.

A business meeting of the Mothers' Club was held after the other business was finished. Mrs. Milford Itz was installed as the new president of the organization.

Wisconsin Goes Broadway

By Edward McTavish

◆ Beta-Xi Chapter at the University of Wisconsin and Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority participated this year in the production of Humorology, an all-campus benefit. The skit, a typical Broadway-style stage production, got into the semi-finals.

Donn Weiss wrote the original music and lyrics and served as the capable director of the show. Clint Collins did a fine job of writing the script. Joan Van Buskirk and Phil Stebbins played the lead roles as harried honeymooners. Collins used his experience as a Wisconsin Player to the best advantage in the laugh-getting role of a drunk.

The constant interruptions of a newly-wedded theatrical couple provided the comic backbone of the show. Well-wishers and hotel staff distracted the pair until, disguised as detectives, they finally chased everyone from their suite.

A new 17-inch television set was donated this semester by Mr. and Mrs. William Schumacher of Parma, Ohio. The set was installed by two talented technicians, Bob Iverson and Bill Williamson. It now stands in one room in the basement, the "TV Room."

Joe Fratianni — Outstanding PiKA At Rensselaer

By George Pearsall

◆ The year does not often come to the R.P.I. campus when one man is respected by the student body as a campus leader, considered by his department to be an outstanding engineering student, and revered by his fraternity for his loyalty and leadership in house affairs. This year has come, however, and the honor is due Joseph Fratianni, Civil Engineer, Class of '54.

Brother Fratianni hails from Amsterdam, N. Y., and since his arrival at R.P.I. has served his class and his fraternity well. From the day that Joe took his pledge pin he has worked to promote ΠΚΑ in the eyes of outsiders and in the hearts of its brothers. He has held the offices of SMC, IMC, and SC. This past semester, when a responsible brother was needed to set up Gamma-Tau's building committee, Joe was selected. He has always had the ability to get people to work and the desire to work with them. As a token of esteem Joe was presented with a trophy inscribed, "Joseph Fratianni, Outstanding ΠΚΑ, 1954."

Joe is rated by his department as an outstanding student and was elected to Chi Epsilon, scholastic honor society of civil engineers. On campus he is recognized as both a leader and worker. Joe worked on the news staff of the Rensselaer Polytechnic and in his junior year was elected Associate Editor. He was selected to work on the Saturnalia and Soiree dance committees and on the committee for Armed Forces Ball. He was a committee chairman during the Campus Chest drive and a counselor at Freshman Camp. For the last two years Joe has been elected to class office. On the Student Council he was a member of the finance committee, chairman of the committee on student-faculty relations, Grand Marshal Week parade chairman, and in his senior year was elected vice-chairman of the Council. The Army R.O.T.C. unit recognized Joe's qualities and elected him to Fourregere, the Army honor society, while the school named him to appear in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. The climax to his campus career came this spring when he was tapped into Phalanx, an honor given in "recognition of active and unselfish service rendered in school affairs."

Arkansas State Man Student Body Prexy

By Gene Foreman

◆ For the third year in succession, the student body president of Arkansas State College is a member of Pi Kappa Alpha. Lewis O'Neal of Trumann, Ark. was elected to the post this spring to succeed Brothers Pat Simpkins ('53-'54) and David Morris ('52-'53).

Five other Delta-Theta members and pledges were chosen to the Student Senate. They were John McMullan and Jake King, senior representatives; Gene Foreman, junior representative; Paden Neeley, junior class president; and Bill Merritt, sophomore representative.

Pi Kappa Alpha at Arkansas State is pointing for another big year in 1954-55, after turning in many notable accomplishments last year. Delta-Theta won the ΠΚΑ scholarship cup for leading all chapters in smaller colleges, the AOH Greek Song Fest cup, and the Greek Letter Scholarship Cup awarded by the College to the fraternity with the highest grade average.

Chief social functions of the chapter this year will be the Christmas dance on December 17 and the eighth annual Dream Girl Formal on March 12.

Stokeley Fulton — Future Coach

◆ Nowadays it seems that any time there's a big job to be done at Hampden-Sydney College they immediately call upon Stokeley Fulton, Iota's new SMC. Not only has he been a leading figure in the classroom and on the athletic field during the past three years, but his wonderful leadership qualities and fine personality have slated him for even greater things next session.

Stokeley, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Fulton of Danville, Va., will be shouldering the duties of student body president in addition to being co-captain of the football team and president of his fraternity. Any one of these offices carries with it a great deal of work, but a combination of the three could literally wear the average man out. However, everyone is confident that he will come through with flying colors as he always has; he's a born leader.

Stokeley was graduated from George Washington High School, Danville, in 1950, and entered Hampden-Sydney in the fall of 1951. While in high school he compiled quite an enviable athletic record and is considered one of the best all-around athletes ever produced by the city. That he was outstanding can be seen from the record book, which would read something like this: lettered in football, basketball and baseball; All-Western District in football three times; All-State twice; All-Southern selection once; All-American guard once; Most Valuable Baseball Player GWHS in 1948; Most Valuable Football Player GWHS 1949; and Most Outstanding Athlete in Danville 1948 and 1949. It is quite interesting to note that he was named to All-State football selections in 1948, a year in which Danville won but two games while losing eight.

The jump to college, which is usually tough in athletics as well as studies, certainly did anything but slow him up. During his first year his work as a student and campus leader were so outstanding that he was named recipient of the Freshman Trophy. The award is made annually to the first-year man doing the most outstanding work, with all phases of college work being considered.

In 1952 Stokeley showed his real leadership qualities when he was named as alternate co-captain. He served as co-captain again last year and helped the Tigers to their first Mason-Dixon football championship. That he is a real field general can be seen in the fact that he has been chosen by his teammates to co-captain them again next season. On the gridiron he is recognized as one of the finest guards in the conference, and is as equally potent at backing up the line on defense. He also handles the punting chores for the Bengals. A 56-yard punt by Fulton last year in the third quarter against Randolph-Macon started Hampden-Sydney on a 20-12 victory after having trailed by twelve points at half-time.

Although a great athlete in his own right, Stokeley is most valuable to his teammates as a leader. Their respect for him and his decisions is really wonderful. As one of the league officials recently put it, "It appears to me from having seen him operate for several seasons that he is the hub around which the team rotates and is certainly the sparkplug of both offense and defense."

Stokeley will definitely be a candidate for Little All-American honors this fall. In addition to being named to an honorable mention berth on that selection last season, he has been named to the All-Little Seven team on three occasions, once as honorary captain.

Despite the fact that he has been one of the busiest men on the campus Stokeley has maintained a high standing in the classroom. A candidate for a Bachelor of Arts Degree next June, he has a three-year average of 85. In addition to his own studies he helps a number of his classmates with their math. Last year, because of his outstanding work, he was named to Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary leadership fraternity.

During summer vacation SMC Fulton keeps quite busy by working in a sporting goods store in his home town, and playing baseball for one of the county teams. He's just as much at home on the diamond as he is on the gridiron. As co-captain of the baseball team last spring he did a fine job as catcher for the Tigers.

Probably no one knows Stokeley better than Jim Hickey, athletic director and head football coach at the Presbyterian school. Of Fulton, Hickey has had this to say: "This boy deserves all the credit and recognition possible as a football player and as a fine wholesome young man in every respect. Football-wise he is exceptional without a doubt. He is of fair size and has good speed plus a keen competitive spirit. These are the qualities most coaches put first in a football player. He has them all, and the important part is that he uses them all to the utmost every minute he is on the field, whether in practice or in a game. He has the intelligence and football know-how to have been our defensive signal-caller for three straight years. There seems to be little else a coach could say of a boy playing the game."

After graduation, Brother Fulton hopes to make a career of coaching, which would be only natural. His wonderful personality, fine sense of sportsmanship, and real love for boys should make him a fine coach.

Excerpt From District No. 1 Convention Minutes, April 24, 1954

◆ George Pearsall, IT (Rensselaer), quoted District President Van Law in mentioning five points on which chapters get bad publicity:

- (1) Hazing
 - a. Help Week can be substituted for Hell Week.
- (2) Failure to pay bills
 - a. It is also economically bad, since this will make credit harder to obtain.
- (3) Poor scholarship hurts publicity on campus
- (4) Drinking habits of the individual or the fraternity
- (5) Failure to act like gentlemen
 - a. 'This is the fraternities' responsibility as well as the individuals'.
 - b. The opinions of the girls on campus is also important.

Tennessee Wins Many Trophies

By Tim Sullivan

◆ As the spring quarter draws to a close, members of Zeta can proudly look back on an eventful year that witnessed the addition of many new trophies to the mantel. After winning the Homecoming trophy in October, the Zeta boys caught fire and couldn't be stopped.

For the first time in five years, Zeta was selected as one of the four fraternities to compete in the U-T All Sing. The event was given more significance for IKA when Bob Horton, a '34 alumnus and founder of All Sing, was honored at the event. Now a Memphis insurance executive, Brother Horton received a tremendous ovation when he stepped on the stage to present the winning trophies.

Zeta topped the year's activity when they were selected as one of the four fraternities to compete in Carnicus, which was the last of the major events of the school year at Tennessee. With their production entitled "Tarzan and the Jungle Princess" the members of Zeta took second honors and were acclaimed as having a top grade production.

Tom Wade spurred one of Zeta's most successful rush seasons in September by pledging 44; then the largest initiation in the history of Zeta in January with 21.

Brothers Mike Wehby and Gary Davis came through with flying colors taking the horseshoe trophy in the intramurals picture, and the Zeta softball team advanced to the finals.

James Paulus was elected engineering college representative and Frank Grace to the Publications Council. Grace was also elected President of the Journalism Club, editor of the 1954 Torch, and program chairman of carnicus and Brother McSween was elected Fraternity Relations Board President.

Art Beamish was elected president of the Society for Advancement of Management and Buster Pellitieri was named chairman of the Carnicus stage committee and a 1954 cheerleader.

The fraternity painted the Cerebral Palsy Clinic, worked at the Tennessee School for the Deaf, and cleaned ten homes in the Knoxville area where the occupants were unable to work themselves. Actives and pledges embarked on a telephone campaign which netted them a total of two thousand people contacted in regard to Knoxville Clean-Up Week.

Easter was made more pleasant for the children at the Tennessee School for the May 8 brought forth the Dream Girl Formal and a new Dream Girl, Miss Shirley Hendren, a member of Chi Omega sorority from Dyersburg, Tenn. At the dinner preceding the dance Brother Jim Gray, past SMC, was given the award for being the best active in 1954.

Bill Monin from Kentucky was chosen "ugliest man on campus." The winner was chosen on the basis of the amount of money his fraternity secured for the "March of Dimes" drive. Zeta surpassed all others by a wide margin.

New Mexico Participates In Help Week

By Bruford Doyle

◆ On February 9, 1954, fifteen pledges were initiated into Beta-Delta Chapter at New Mexico. These pledges had compiled a favorable record in campus activities. In the annual University of New Mexico Homecoming parade their float won second place in a group of 13 fraternities. In December, the pledges treated the actives to the annual Hi-Jinx. The theme of this year's dance was an Arabian one. Prizes were awarded the best dressed couples.

During Help Week the pledges contributed a day's work toward helping build the new Albuquerque Boys' Club. Other community projects that Beta-Delta has undertaken during the last school year were the annual Heart and Red Cross fund drives.

At the annual Founders' Day dinner, Judge Deacon Aldridge delivered the principal address. New initiates Richard Sei and Larry DeBlasie received awards for outstanding service as pledges.

In track the three Brooks brothers, Bob, Don, and Jim, carried the colors of UNM. Bob runs the 880 along with Brother Jim who is the top UNM performer in the mile run. Don's specialty is the 440-yard run. Bob Campbell and John Ramsay are also varsity track men.

San Diego Pikes On Top

By J. Richard Brown

◆ Actives of Delta-Kappa Chapter at San Diego State College through aggressive leadership and whole-hearted cooperation have been successful in maintaining Pi Kappa Alpha's prominent position among fraternities. Besides engaging in various social and educational activities on campus they have shown great interest in civic projects, thereby creating public interest and pride in the college and the fraternity.

Pi Kappa Alpha outstripped all other fraternities by winning the grand sweepstakes award for its float in the Homecoming Parade. This was the third time in four years that the fraternity was so honored. The float also took first in the city sponsored Mother Goose Parade. San Diego State's sailing team, made up entirely of Pikes, took first place at the UCLA Spring Invitational; and in interfraternity sports Pi Kappa Alpha swept the field in track.

During Easter the chapter distributed candy-filled Easter baskets to the unfortunate children in the local orphanages. The chapter has also actively supported the Community Chest and Red Feather drives.

Climaxing Delta-Kappa's very successful year was the selection of Miss Phyllis Fleming as Dream Girl for 1954 at the annual Dream Girl Dance held at the La Jolla Country Club.

E. Burns Brooks, Ψ (North Georgia), has been elected president of W. R. Hoyt Company, insurance and real estate firm in Atlanta, Ga.

HERBERT R. LASLETT

Dr. Herbert R. Laslett, BN (Oregon State), professor of educational psychology at Oregon State College and Alumnus Counselor of Beta-Nu Chapter, died recently following an illness of several months.

Brother Laslett came to Oregon State from Whitman College where he taught from 1926-28. A graduate of the University of Kansas, he was awarded a doctor of philosophy degree at Stanford University in 1926.

He was born in 1891 at Carthage, Mo. He served a year and a half with the 89th infantry division during World War I, and in World War II was attached for two years to a provost marshal section in the European theater of operations.

A member of the Episcopal church, Dr. Laslett was a 32nd degree Mason and was active in Corvallis civic affairs. He was a loyal member of the fraternity, having served Beta-Nu Chapter as Alumnus Counselor for many years.

HARRY MILLS CRAWFORD

Dr. Harry Mills Crawford, BZ (Southern Methodist), died May 30, 1954, at the age of 52. A native of Arlington, Texas, Dr. Crawford was graduated from SMU and Baylor University College of Dentistry. For over twenty years, he practiced dentistry in Dallas and served as an instructor and research director at Baylor University.

For several years he was associated with the famed Viennese scientist, Dr. Bernhard Gottlieb. Together, they developed the revolutionary method of tooth preservation through impregnation.

Dr. Crawford was a member of Psi Omega, Omicron Kappa Upsilon, the American College of Dentists, and various other professional societies. He served on the diaconate of the Preston Hollow Presbyterian Church, of which he was a charter member. A contribution to the American Cancer Society has been made as a memorial to Dr. Crawford by members of the Dallas Pi Kappa Alpha Alumni. He is survived by his wife, mother, and one brother, all of Dallas, Texas.

Captain Gregorius Has Arlington Burial

♦ Air Force Captain John Huntington Gregorius, 28, of Natrona Heights, Tarentum, Pa., was killed July 14, 1953 while serving as a test pilot. The crash occurred near Phoenix, Ariz. after engine failure.

Captain Gregorius was a member of Beta-Sigma Chapter at Carnegie Tech. His older brother, Tom, is also a Beta-Sigma man. According to M. F. L. Stewart, Jr., a pledge brother at Carnegie Tech, "John was an easy-going, likeable, wonderful boy and man. He was one of the very few whose sole interest in life was flying." His parents are Mr. and Mrs. T. K. Gregorius, 925 Freeport Road, Tarentum, Pa.

Brother Gregorius had a phenomenal record in the Air Force. After spending one semester at Carnegie Tech, he entered the Air Force in 1943. After separation from service in World War II, he entered the University of California at Los Angeles and was a senior when he was recalled to active duty in 1948. He was assigned to Korea combat duty in 1950 and served there two years. Grounded after 190 missions in a single tour of combat duty—140 more than required of a pilot to be eligible for rotation—he requested to be restored to flight duty. Approval of his request was granted, and he was assigned to test flight duty at Muroc base in California. He was serving as one of the top test pilots when mechanical failure of a plane being tested led to his death. He had earned the Silver Star with six clusters to the Air Medal, a Distinguished Flying Cross with three clusters, the Bronze Star and a Navy decoration in addition to his senior wings.

Brother Gregorius was buried with highest military honors in Arlington National Cemetery, Washington, D. C. at the Air Force's request. The family received a personal letter from Air Force Chief of Staff General Twining.

As we approach the dedication of our Pi Kappa Alpha Memorial Building and the Gold Star Hall, we have a deep sense of humility and pride commingled as our thoughts dwell upon the lives and deeds of these brothers in Pi Kappa Alpha who have given their all for our country. The rays from the Gold Star of Captain Gregorius encompass the Shield and Diamond of Pi Kappa Alpha and add an enriching luster to it by virtue of his deeds and those of his fellow Gold Star members.

Alumnus Counselor Killed In Plane Crash

♦ Claude Driever, Alumnus Counselor for Gamma-Chi Chapter (Oklahoma A. & M.), was fatally injured June 17, 1954 when his crop-spraying plane clipped telephone and REA power lines a few miles northeast of Stillwater, Okla.

Driever, operator of the Stillwater Typewriter Company, suffered multiple fractures and head injuries, his physician reported. Both his legs reportedly were broken.

Airport Manager Hoyt Walkup said Driever was flying low in east and west passes across an alfalfa field on the Al Darlow farm, approximately 5½ miles north and two miles east, when the plane's landing gear caught a phone line on the west side of a road and then hit the REA line.

The plane was demolished but did not burn and a tank of toxaphene poison with which Driever was spraying did not burst.

Driever, a combat flier in World War II, took off from Municipal airport about 7:20 a. m. in the spray plane owned by the L. S. Terril spraying service. He apparently was able to pull the plane up after striking the wires, but the plane stalled and crashed about 100 feet from the road.

Brother Driever did an effective and faithful job as Alumnus Counselor and as treasurer of the Gamma-Chi House Corporation. The new chapter house was begun just a few days prior to his death.

Lynn Riggs Joins Chapter Eternal

◆ The curtain fell recently on the long, fruitful career of Lynn Riggs, BO (Oklahoma), one of Pi Kappa Alpha's most outstanding playwrights.

Brother Riggs pledged Pi Kappa Alpha while doing post-graduate work at Oklahoma University in 1920, and although he had a heavy school program he worked faithfully for his fraternity. Like his friend Will Rogers, he was a native of Claremore, Okla., of Cherokee Indian ancestry, and a full time Oklahoma "Ambassador without portfolio."

Long weakened by stomach ailment, he died at New York City's Memorial Hospital three weeks after being hospitalized with cancer.

Brother Riggs was born August 31, 1899, on a farm near Claremore, the son of a cattleman. As a youth he drove a grocery wagon between the classwork that led to his graduation from Oklahoma Military Academy in 1917. After several years of working in various parts of the country, he entered the University of Oklahoma in 1920, where he became an active worker for Pi Kappa Alpha. By 1922 he was teaching freshman English and writing poetry good enough to make Jean C. Nathan's Smart Set magazine. Riggs' busy writing career included study in France on a Guggenheim Fellowship, a World War II stint, writing training films as a signal corps sergeant, and frequent periods in Hollywood writing movie scenarios. These included "The Garden of Allah" and "The Plainsmen." Like Will Rogers, Riggs spent his maturing years working in the big production and artistic centers—New York, Hollywood and Santa Fe, but he never got over his nostalgic love for the hills and plains of Oklahoma. He received praise of many critics for many of his works, but of course "Green Grow the Lilacs," from which the play "Oklahoma!" was written, is the most renowned.

Brother Riggs is survived by a brother, Edgar, and a sister, Mrs. Mattie Cundiff, both of Oklahoma City.

Pittsburgh Holds Many Posts

◆ Gamma-Sigma Chapter at the University of Pittsburgh continued to hold key positions in student government this year. Three of our men were elected as class presidents and also received positions in Men's Council. They are Ed Christner, president of the junior Bus. Ad. class; Bill Dempsey, president of his class in Education; and Don MacDonald, a sophomore president in Engineering.

Four men of Gamma-Sigma were also tapped to honoraries at Pitt's tap day. Jim Fisher was tapped for Phi Beta Kappa, and Joe Berger, former SMC, honored as an outstanding senior, was tapped for Omicron Delta Kappa. Ed Christner and Gerry McCauley were two of thirteen sophomores tapped to Druids, honorary fraternity for outstanding sophomore men.

Pi Kappa Alpha continued its dominance over the other fraternities at Pitt by taking more trophies than any other Greek group. The three awards came through Gamma-Sigma's fine showings in the sweepstakes, the show facade, and the float parade.

Probably the most interesting award was the second place trophy in the float parade. While the other Pitt fraternities and sororities were busily stuffing the usual napkin garbed floats, the ΠΚΑ's headed for the neighboring countryside with picnic lunches and Kappas, coming back with truckloads of wild flowers and firs which were used to decorate the body of the float. To top off this colorful array, the float depicting a scene of the "Reign of Terror" re-enacted an execution at the guillotine which was typical of the French Revolution.

Don Minihan brought many honors to our chapter as the star pole vaulter for Pitt's team. Considered as one of the best pole vaulters in the college's history, "Minno" placed first or tied for first in all of this year's track meets with one exception. Against Ohio State this season "Minno" vaulted an exceptional 13 feet 8½ inches to set a new Pitt record that was previously held by Jim Pickert in 1929, Pitt's Olympic vaulter in that year.

In national competition "Minno" competed with the best in the country and copped a second place in the Penn relays and also a third in the well known IC-4A indoor track meet earlier in the season, as he vaulted well over the 13-foot mark.

Voted the most valuable track man in high school and selected as last year's Outstanding Athlete in Gamma-Sigma, "Minno" has not only excelled in the line of sports. He was elected as SMC last year and his wife, the former Marilyn Brey, president of Kappa Kappa Gamma, is currently reigning as our Dream Girl.

Earle C. Clements

Earle C. Clements — Senator From Kentucky

By Dillon Graham

♦ Chief strategist behind the Democratic party's attempt to gain control of the United States Senate this fall will be a Pi Kappa Alpha—Senator Earle C. Clements of Kentucky.

Clements is chairman of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee. During the past session of Congress, the Republicans had only the slightest edge in any roll call along party lines. This fall more Republicans than Democrats are seeking to retain their Senate seats. And most of the Democrats facing the polls are in the normally solid South. So the Democrats, feeling they have a good chance of picking up enough seats in hotly contested areas to win Senate control, are going all out.

Senator Clements also has been frequently mentioned as a possible successor to Stephen M. Mitchell as Chairman of the National Democratic Committee. If he should be named, he would continue to serve in the Senate.

Clements has been rated high in the party councils ever since he came to the Senate in November, 1950. Democratic bigwigs quickly recognized Clements' ability as a leader and made use of his political sagacity.

He has been Minority Whip for several years, a step behind the Minority leader. Clements also is a member of the Senate Minority Policy Committee. He serves on the Agriculture and the Interior Committees.

Senator Clements has had more than 30 years of continuous public service at the local, state and national levels.

His public career began in 1922, when he was elected sheriff of Union County, Kentucky. He served four years and then filled two four-year terms as county clerk. In 1934 he was elected county judge.

In 1942, he moved to a broader stage. He was elected to the state Senate. Two years later, he was named Democratic floor leader.

Then he came to Washington, as Representative from the second Congressional district, in January 1945. Clements was re-elected to a second term but he resigned to become Governor of Kentucky in December, 1947.

In November 1950, he resigned the Governorship to become one of Kentucky's U. S. Senators. His term expires in January, 1957.

Clements is 60. He grew up on his father's farm near Morganfield, Kentucky. After high school, he entered the University of Kentucky's College of Agriculture.

World War I, however, cut short his college career. He entered service as a private in the infantry and was mustered out a captain.

Sports and farming are his chief interests outside of politics. He owns a Kentucky farm, where he raises purebred cattle.

He played football at the University of Kentucky and was named on the All-Southern team as center in 1916.

Senator Clements is a member of the Christian Church. He belongs to the Elks, I.O.O.F., Shrine, Lions Club and Farm Bureau.

He married the former Sara M. Blue in 1927. They have one daughter, Elizabeth Hughes Clements.

As Governor, Clements elevated the post of lieutenant governor to the dignity of a full-time, amply paid position. Previously, the lieutenant governor drew only his per diem as presiding officer of the Senate. He was required, therefore, to make his living at private pursuits.

Clements' special session of the legislature in 1949 laid down the rule that school districts must raise all the revenue they can at home before sharing fully in equalization help from the state.

He also had state laws amended to allow Negro physicians and nurses to attend graduate classes in white public hospitals. And he had his legislature in 1950 permit governing boards of public and private colleges to admit Negroes to courses not given at Kentucky's Negro institution, Kentucky State College.

Fla. Southern First In Scholarship

By David Howell

♦ Delta-Delta of Pi Kappa Alpha received top fraternity scholarship honors for the 1953 fall semester at Florida Southern College.

The new position as tops in campus scholarship came as a step upward from the second place standing for the '53 spring semester. The current average is 1.536, or a C-plus average for 57 members and pledges.

Among the brothers were four "A" averages and twelve "B's," adding to a total of sixteen Delta-Delta Pikes on the Dean's scholarship list.

Those who were rated among the intelligensia with the "A's" were Harry Caldwell, David Richards, Frank Saur, and Charlie Selph.

The award came on the heels of the ninth annual Pike Follies, a show presented each year for the entire campus by the Pikes of Delta-Delta.

This year's production, written by Pikes, was directed by Brother Arch Newsome. A cast of 50 members and friends of Pi Kappa Alpha presented what was termed by many as "the best Follies since they were first begun."

Featuring the flappers and blazers of the roaring '20's, the 1954 version offered two hours of dancing, singing, novelty acts, and dialogue. Leading the cast were Charlie Selph, Delta-Delta's singing star, and Barbara Bittner, IKA's 1953-54 Dream Girl.

The Florida Southern chapter is also justifiably proud of its 1952-53 Dream Girl, Shirley Cantwell. Shirley was elected to reign over FSC Founders' Week activities as "Miss Southern of 1954." She is the third member of the Cantwell family to "go Pike" at Florida Southern. Her two brothers, Gene (a chapter founder), and Bob, are now Delta-Delta alumni.

The Fort Worth Alumnus Chapter was recently reorganized with eighteen men in attendance at the first meeting. Officers elected for the coming year are: Richard H. Moore, Jr., BM (Texas), President; Earnest E. Sanders, BM (Texas), Vice President; Forrest W. Clough, BZ (SMU), Secretary-Treasurer. Eight different chapters were represented among the eighteen members present. There are sixty-five alumni in the Fort Worth area. The Alumnus Chapter will meet on the second Tuesday of each month. Richard H. Moore, Jr., Burk Burnett Building, Fort Worth, Texas, the president, is an attorney.

Johnson Named To Woodlawn Post

◆ The National Trust for Historic Preservation, through the Woodlawn Plantation Advisory Committee, has announced the appointment of Meredith Johnson, A (Virginia), as Administrative Assistant at Woodlawn.

Brother Johnson is a native of Indiana. He graduated from the University of Virginia and taught at St. Christopher's School in Richmond following his graduation. He served as an officer during World War II in both the Pacific and Atlantic. Immediately after the war, he returned to Washington as an historian with the War Assets Administration. In 1947 he helped found the Chequire House, a record, book and print shop in the historic building at 202 King Street in Richmond.

Woodlawn Plantation, the home of Nelly Custis Lewis, the granddaughter of Martha Washington and foster daughter of George Washington, who married the General's nephew, Major Lawrence Lewis, was built on land presented to the couple by the General. Originally part of Mt. Vernon, the site of the house was chosen by Washington.

Restoration of the grounds and gardens of Woodlawn was selected as a major project of the Garden Clubs of Virginia, to be financed from the funds raised during the 1954 Garden Week.

Dr. William Thornton, first architect of the United States Capitol, was selected as architect for Woodlawn by General Washington. The house, built of red brick burned on the place, consisted of a central unit flanked by pavilions connected by low structures called "hyphens," in the typical classic taste of late Georgian design. The river facade is particularly notable for its handsome portico with columns, marble floor, and double stairway leading into the garden. Within, high-ceilinged, airy rooms are enhanced by fine imported mantelpieces of carved marble. The generous windows command broad views of luxuriant box gardens, rolling meadows, and the distant Potomac River.

When the Marquis de Lafayette was guest of a grateful country in 1824-25, he came to Woodlawn to pay his respects to Miss Nelly, whom he had known as a child. At that time John Robert Murray, an amateur artist and lithographer, drew a charming sketch of Lawrence Lewis and their distinguished guest on the lawn, with a fine view of the mansion in the background. This is on display in the mansion.

Since the opening of Woodlawn on

A riverfront view of the Woodlawn Plantation showing boxwood and north wing used as office and library.

May 9, 1952, furnishing of the mansion has progressed steadily. Many of the original furnishings of Woodlawn are back in the mansion including Nelly Custis's bed, a set of Duncan Phyle chairs, many pieces of her needlework, and her embroidery frame.

Woodlawn Plantation is located on U. S. Highway No. 1 just three miles from Mount Vernon. It is open daily from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Georgia Has Help Week

By Sidney B. Shepherd

◆ Fall rushed in for one of the most outstanding years in Alpha-Mu's history. It began by the pledging of 38 boys—the largest number of any fraternity on the Georgia campus. A new form of initiation was put into effect—that of substituting "Help Week" for "Hell Week." This change gained much recognition for IKA from both the administration and the Athens community. The Neophytes painted the Lyndon House which is a recreational center for underprivileged children. They also cleaned several offices of the University faculty. Also in the way of community service, Alpha-Mu Chapter gave a fine Christmas party for a local orphanage.

However, the year was not all work and no play by any means. Pi Kappa Alpha sponsored several of the best parties on the Georgia campus. Our annual Dream Girl Ball was climaxed with the election of Miss Harriet Allen, KΔ, as the 1954 Dream Girl.

In the way of sports, Alpha-Mu placed second in the race for the Governor's trophy, losing only to Phi Delta Theta by 15 points. We also placed second in the annual Alpha Chi Omega Olympics. Tom Choyce, our new SMC, was crowned Mr. Apollo which is quite an honor to receive on the Georgia campus. Glenn Bridges, Mike Downes, and Don Lobertina carried the name of IKA on the varsity track team. On the varsity football team, Bruce Wimberly, Tony Cushinbury, John Bell, Jim Brown, Bill Burt and Don Lobertina glorified the name of IKA this year. Sharp eyes should be kept on John Bell and Don Lobertina next fall for they are proving to be two of Georgia's finest backfield men.

Southwestern-at-Memphis' 1954 Commencement marked the 50th anniversary of the graduation of a prominent Memphis realtor—Edward W. Walthal, Θ. The student body numbered 86 when Brother Walthal graduated, but he was the only representative of the golden reunion class of 1904.

Hippel Speaks At Cornell Founders' Day

◆ It didn't take food and drink in front of National President Johnny Hippel to bring out his warm smile—it's something that is a part of him which we at Beta-Theta always like to share. The occasion was our Founders' Day celebration which was held late this year in order to have John Hippel with us.

Brother Bernat Rosner was chosen as the outstanding senior of the year. The award is given to the senior who best exemplifies the ideals of Pi Kappa Alpha and the scholastic and extra-curricular expectations of the University. Bernie is entering the Army this summer and on completion of his two years will go to Harvard Law School. The freshman award was given to pledge Clayton Dudley. He is president of his pledge class, and is working with student council on the Hill.

Georgia Rivoli was selected as our Dream Girl at our annual dance in the Clinton Hotel in Ithaca. She is 20 years old and is presently working as a secretary to the production manager of CBS-TV in New York.

Spring Week End brought Beta-Theta the trophy for the most original boat in the annual week-end crew races. Our boat was a big fort floating on oil drums, with a flag and ΠΚΑ printed on its side. Each boat was to be named after a theme of a book; ours was named "Fort Ti." The fort took many hours to build and much credit must go to Al Martin, Lenny Kallerges, and Bob Rassie who were directly responsible for the building and navigation of the ship. The trophy was presented at the University formal that evening to Brother Kallerges. This is the second straight year Beta-Theta has come up with a prize winning entry.

With the probability of deferred rushing taking place in 1956 at Cornell, there is an added emphasis on fall rushing. It is our aim to pledge 25 good men. The rushing committee will be carefully checking alumni recommendations and encouraging the brothers to exert themselves this summer in contacting prospective Cornell men.

Thanks to our alumni our house will receive $500 worth of new furnishings over the summer. Several new desks and dressers will be added to our study rooms. This has been a recent drive to get new and more adequate furnishings. Some of the other things have been a new living room rug and new chairs for our green room. In the kitchen our steward, Bob Taylor, has secured a new 42 cubic foot food locker. At the close of the term our accounts were well in the black, and we look to the beginning of another successful year in September, with 52 men returning.

Arkansas Places High In Spring Intramurals

By R. J. Phillips

◆ Several of our intramural teams placed high in spring sports this year. The softball team enjoyed a good season and gained a berth in the play-offs. They were defeated in the first round in a hard-fought contest by the score of 1 to 0. In ping pong, the doubles team took second place with some fine clutch playing. George Keuchenmeister took first place in the tennis singles and teamed with Hal Smith to win the doubles championship. The bowling team was defeated in the finals in a hard-fought match and certainly made a fine showing in the year-round sport.

We have just initiated 19 new men, and all of them show great interest and ability. John Terrell of Magnolia, Ark. was named Honor Pledge for the year.

During the second semester, Jack Gardner did a fine job while serving as President of the Interfraternity Council.

Miss Joyce Reed of Fort Smith, Ark. was named Alpha-Zeta Dream Girl at the annual Dream Girl Formal in February. At intermission, Joyce was named as winner from eight candidates. Joyce is also Miss Arkansas for 1953. She is engaged to Brother Jack Newsum of Fort Smith, Ark.

Music for the Formal was provided by Tony Pastor and his orchestra. A reception was held at the chapter house prior to the dance. Members and their dates as well as guests and their dates were received by our housemother, Mrs. Walter Sorrels, SMC C. T. Gibbs, and Social Chairman Jack Gardner.

Other social activities during the semester included an outing at Grand Lake, Oklahoma on May 1. The entire chapter and their dates were transported to the lake by two chartered buses. When they arrived, everyone boarded the riverboat "Cherokee Queen." The rain in the late afternoon did not dampen the spirits of the members and their dates as everyone thoroughly enjoyed the excursion.

As the 1st event on the social calendar for the year, the chapter entertained 25 of our mothers on May 16.

Miss Joyce Reed, 1954 Dream Girl of Alpha-Zeta Chapter, University of Arkansas.

Iowa Institutes New Rushing Plan

◆ Gamma-Nu Chapter at the University of Iowa is planning to put into effect a new rushing procedure to augment our summer rush program. Dee Fitzgerald was elected to a rushing office, the duties of which will include the contacting of rushees throughout Iowa and part of Illinois. As compensation for the fulfillment of his obligations, he will receive credit on his next year's board bill plus a payment on mileage covered with an additional bonus based on the number of rushees pledged. This, of course, will be in addition to our regular summer rushing program consisting of at least two parties with as many of the brothers attending as possible. Great successes attributed by other chapters to the new program have heightened expectations for a very successful pledge class next fall.

The disclosure that charming Miss Ann Andrews had been elected Dream Girl highlighted the evening of Gamma-Nu's annual Spring Formal. Ann, a Pi Phi, is a junior at the university. Everyone enjoyed themselves during the evening, and the party was universally considered a great success.

The entire chapter hit the books hard during the second semester in hopes of retaining the high scholastic rating we achieved during the course of the first semester. Gamma-Nu made the highest "jump" in scholastic rating of all fraternities on campus. Not all the time was spent studying, however, for we did quite well in intramural sports with our basketball squad coming in second and our softball team emerging as champions.

Ohio U. Moves To New House

◆ On February 1st, a big step was taken in Gamma-Omicron's history. That was the date we moved into our new chapter house located at 8 Church St. In moving to this new location we are only one block from campus and a stone's throw from sorority row.

The new home is a white frame structure with a large amount of surrounding land. The home contains two living rooms, a card room, and sleeping facilities for twenty men. We also have a parking lot for eight cars. The living rooms are now sporting new drapes which were purchased with funds donated by several alumni. These are also a big help in getting the home in tip-top shape.

We are also in the process of finishing our basement with knotty pine paneling. We will then have a kitchen and dining hall in the basement.

The chapter is very grateful to the alumni who are helping us get the house in good shape and also to the men whose efforts have made our moving possible. Especial thanks go to Larry Bollinger, Chet Miller, and Erle Bridgewater.

Washington Names 1954 Dream Girl

By Jim Amidon

◆ During the last weeks of April and the first week in May, Beta-Beta entertained twenty-one contestants for the annual Dream Girl Contest. With the field narrowed to six, the task to select a Dream Girl was not easy. After being escorted to stage shows and dinners, our new Dream Girl won the acclaim of our chapter. She is Miss Delores Ehlin of Tacoma, Wash., a freshman affiliated with Alpha Gamma Delta sorority.

On May 21 the house served a buffet luncheon for the parents and friends of the chapter in coordination with the Parent's Week End program at the University of Washington.

Ever since the beginning of Spring Quarter the Brothers have been working hard on the lawn. With the new grass now adding its beauty to the new house, the Pi Kaps at the University of Washington can justly show it off as the best looking house on campus.

Western Reserve Alumni Active

By Walter H. Jahn

◆ On March 2, 1954, Executive Secretary Robert D. Lynn visited Beta-Epsilon Chapter on his way to Detroit, Mich. Brother Lynn spoke to the chapter about rushing and alumni relations. His informal discussions with members of the active chapter were very enlightening.

In the latter part of March, Field Secretary Johnny Horton stopped at Beta-Epsilon for a three-day visit. In his talk to the chapter Brother Horton talked about the 86th National Convention and urged a large delegation from Beta-Epsilon to attend.

Both of these men typify to the highest degree the true spirit of brotherhood and friendliness found in members of Pi Kappa Alpha.

The Greater Cleveland Alumni Association sponsored the annual Founders' Day Banquet on March 13, 1954. Steak dinners were served to alumni, actives, and pledges at Owen's Plantation. The guest speaker for the occasion was C. D. Russell, Financial Vice-President of Western Reserve University. Brother Donald A. Paine, a charter member of Beta-Epsilon, spoke to the group on the progress of the Cleveland IKA House Association.

At the Fifth District Convention in Cincinnati on April 23-25, Beta-Epsilon was represented by over fifty per cent of the active chapter. Convention delegate was Gerald Fuerst and alternate was Walter H. Jahn. Also present at the convention were Brothers John F. Thompson and Stanley Wegren, Alumni Counselor for Beta-Epsilon.

On Sunday evening, June 6, 1954, a buffet dinner was held at the home of Donald A. Paine for members of the Chapter House Corporation. Rules and regulations governing the association were formulated, and interim officers and members of the Board of Trustees were elected. The officers are Donald A. Paine, BE, president; Joe Tomms, BE, vice president; Max Gustin, BE, treasurer; and Art Cook, BT, secretary.

San Antonio Plans Social Calendar

By Bill Adams, BM

◆ Texas' vigorous alumnus chapter, San Antonio, is planning a series of social meetings in addition to its regular first-Wednesday meeting in Mammy's Downtown Cafeteria.

William (Bill) Adams II, BM '43, has been elected president of the organization to succeed Seth W. Temple. Thomas G. Saunders, founder of the chapter and a past-president, was re-elected secretary, aided by William P. Glass. Other chapter members will be delegated to assist in this work.

William Adams, II

The social gatherings are planned for quarterly periods with at least one planned to assist in summer rush plans of local actives. One of the first socials will be at Brooks Air Force Base where a brother, Colonel George Keene, is the commander.

The San Antonio chapter maintains close relations with Beta-Mu's active and progressing chapter at the University of Texas in Austin, and a large body from San Antonio attended the Founders' Day event in Austin early in March, enjoying Executive Secretary Lynn's report from National.

The roster of the San Antonio group numbers approximately 60 with additions and deletions periodically. A special effort is continued to contact Pikes serving at military installations in San Antonio. These men are urged to contact Adams at the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce G-8181 or Saunders at T-7469.

Trinity Has Large Pledge Class

◆ As the first act sets the pattern for the remainder of the play, so the first complete year of this, the Epsilon-Alpha of ΠΚΑ, has set the stage for the future of ΠΚΑ at Trinity College. And judging by this first year, we believe that the future will be bright indeed.

Epsilon-Alpha captured the largest pledge class on campus last Wednesday—21 men. We also received honorable mention for our "gismo" for the homecoming football game week end. Scholarastically, ΠΚΑ had an average of 78.4 per cent for the first semester. This was the second best average among the nine fraternities on campus. It is expected that our house average will be even better when the final grades for the last semester are tabulated.

Roger Harmon was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. Robert Dillon was elected to Phi Gamma Mu, National Social Science Fraternity. Peter McCabe, Jerid Reid, and Russel Johnston were elected to Sigma Pi Sigma, National Physics Fraternity.

On the social side of life, the chapter has been very active. In April, we held our first annual "Dream Girl Ball." Miss Doris Mount, escorted by Richard Wainman, was chosen Dream Girl. ΠΚΑ was well represented at the Interfraternity ball. The biggest week end of the semester was the Senior Ball week end. The dance was Friday night; Saturday afternoon we had a beach party followed by a house party that night.

Next September Epsilon-Alpha will have a house of about 30 men to present to the rushees. All brothers will be working on the house during the week before school begins, and we are sure that we will once again be able to pledge a large number of men.

Does Being a "Pi Kap" End With Graduation?

By Pat O'Brien

◆ Hardly has the neophyte time to shake the dust of travel from his boots than he is whisked off on the whirlwind of rushing so typical of the freshmen year at college. . . . Then he turns his weary feet in to the walk leading to the Pi Kap house.

"Strange," he thinks, "I don't feel tired any more! What is it about this house?"

He enters and is greeted in the same friendly manner that all Pi Kaps have known so well. The men gathered there to greet him soon make him feel at home. He sits and chats, and soon forgets entirely that tired feeling he had, for here is a home! Yes, the man lingers on and on through his days of pledging, the productive years of being an active. Almost before he realizes it, he finds himself again facing that same friendly front door he has known for those wonderful years of college life. But this time there is something different about it . . . this time he is looking out from the door into the years of his life which stretch before him. Rarely again will he be greeted as he has been in the past.

He shrugs his shoulders, picks up his bags, and as the door closes behind him, sighs, "Well, I was a Pi Kap while I was in school, but I guess that's as far as it goes . . ."

"Hey, wait a minute, son," a voice calls.

"What? Are you speaking to me?"

"Yes, to you. What do you mean . . . 'that's as far as it goes'? Don't you know or weren't you ever taught in your pledge training about alumnus chapters?"

"Well . . . I guess so."

"Sure you were, son. There are sixty-four such chapters throughout the states, and very possibly you're going to move to a city where there is one located. Say, where are you moving?"

"I've got a job in Dayton, Ohio."

"That's fine! The newest alumnus chapter was chartered there on April 12th, this year, and I'm sure they would be happy to have you join with them. They have an excellent group of men comprised of graduates of some sixteen chapters."

"Tell me, sir, what do they do?"

"They're still in the planning stage, son, but since their chapter is not acting as the owner of the local chapter house as many do, they are planning a three point program of: (1) social unity, (2) assistance to the undergraduate chapters in Ohio, and (3) perpetuation of the National Fraternity."

"Social unity, eh! Something like the social life we had back at the house?"

"Well, something, but not quite so often as most of the men are married and their families must come first. They are striving to have a calendar which will enable the group to meet almost monthly. They plan to have alumni picnics, Founders' Day banquets, family parties during the Christmas holidays, dinners, maybe sneak in a 'Shield and Diamond Ball' or 'Dream Girl Formal,' as well as other get-togethers. One thing you might be interested in is their hope for a big affair, possibly a dinner-dance, shortly after the National Convention when the Chapter will be formally instituted and officers installed. They plan to invite the nearby undergraduate chapters to attend."

"Their social activities seem okay, but what about this doing something for undergraduate chapters?"

"One thing they plan to do is sponsor rush parties for the undergraduate chapters in the area so that the men will have a chance to look over those freshmen who are going to their schools to see if they possess the qualifications deemed so necessary to be a member of Pi Kappa Alpha. Also there will be other things which the chapters themselves may request."

"But what about perpetuation of the National Fraternity?"

"That is best answered by saying that they stand ever ready to assist the Fraternity in any way that they may and at any time. They might be instrumental in aiding other alumnus chapters to form, or even help place another 'active' chapter on some college campus."

"You've sold me! I'm going to look up the chapter just as soon as I get to Dayton, 'cause I just realized that once a Pi Kap, always a Pi Kap!"

The Dayton Alumnus Chapter wishes all alumni felt the way the recent graduate in our story does. It would be a wonderful thing to see the National Office issue another sixty-four charters to alumnus chapters throughout the country, as we all feel that the alumni are still a part of the organization.

Now that the Chapter has been chartered, the time has come to give the credit that is due to the men who brought it about. Seven men met in the beginning to form an organization committee, and they are: Gene De Vol, Bill Frees, Dick Shively, Cliff Meyers, George Bollinger, Tom Campbell, and Hugh Klepinger. Believe me, if it had not been for the fine cooperation shown by these men, all this would not have been possible.

Forming an alumnus chapter brings a great deal of pleasure, as well as being beneficial, and so the newest alumnus chapter enjoins not only the alumni living within its jurisdiction, but everywhere to join together in those chapters which are established; and in those areas where there is no chapter to contact the National Office for the information concerning chartering of a chapter.

Cincinnati Host To District Convention

◆ Immediately upon returning to the fraternity house from spring vacation, the men of Alpha-Xi adopted the roles of hosts to some eighty brothers representing the nine chapters attending the 1954 Pi Kappa Alpha District Five Convention in Cincinnati. Under the direction of District President Bill Nester, plans for the convention had been laid some time in advance, and everything went along according to schedule. The conclave opened Friday evening with a stag party. On Saturday there was a luncheon, work shop, banquet, and a formal. Sunday breakfast brought the convention to a close.

A highlight of the formal was the selection of Miss Marilyn Sawyer of Bowling Green as District Dream Girl.

Guests of honor at the convention were National Executive Secretary Robert Lynn, past National Secretary John U. Field, past National President Ralph Yeager, and past National Alumni Secretary Earl Wagner.

Awards were presented to several of the chapters of District Five. Delta-Beta (Bowling Green) received a trophy for the outstanding scholarship in the district. Alpha-Theta (West Virginia) received the scholarship improvement award, with Delta-Gamma (Miami, Ohio), Delta-Nu (Wayne), and Alpha-Xi also receiving recognition in this category.

With Convention Chairman Bob Wright leading the way, the Alpha-Xi's did their best to make the visiting brothers' week-end stay a memorable one. There is little doubt about the success of the convention.

Wofford Has Good Rush Season

By Neil C. Bonds

◆ The year 1953-54 was an eventful and prosperous year for Nu Chapter. Since her reactivation on the Wofford campus in 1951, she has grown steadily until she is one of the strongest fraternities at Wofford College.

Wofford College celebrated its Centennial year this school year and the fraternities did much toward making this activity successful. Several parades were given, and Nu was well represented in each one.

For the first time, Nu Chapter enjoyed a more extensive social program. Many parties, stag and drag, were enjoyed and even more are on the agenda for next year.

Early in February, Nu conducted what she considers the best rush program in history. She pledged 22 men and five have already been initiated. On April 30 and May 1, the IJKAs staged their annual Dream Girl Ball. The brothers, pledges, and their dates enjoyed sizzling steaks at the Village Supper Club. On Saturday night, Miss Marilyn Bishop of Startex, S. C. and fiancée of Brother Mickey Fisher was chosen as the Dream Girl of 1954. Also present were the chapter's two previous Dream Girls, Mrs. Alycia Bonds Moye, Nu's first Dream Girl, and Miss Pruden Rogers, last year's Dream Girl.

Oklahoma Enjoys Boulevard Ball

◆ Beta-Omicron Chapter opened the 1953-54 social season at O. U. with the Boulevard Ball, a street dance held on the Boulevard in front of the chapter house and jointly sponsored by IJK A and two other Boulevard fraternities. We began the year with 27 pledges who eventually became one of the best-organized pledge classes on the campus under the able leadership of Charles Butler the first semester and Harry Anderson the second semester. By February 26, eleven men were initiated, James McCoy taking scholarship honors and Tal Neill awarded the best pledge key and perpetual diamond pin donated by John Hager, alumnus.

When December 11 rolled around, fifty men were making preparations for the annual Dream Girl formal which was a dinner-dance held in the Lockett Hotel ballroom. Miss Nancy Sisler, KKT, was selected from a group of fifteen candidates to be Beta-Omicron's Dream Girl for 1954.

The Mothers' Club gave their annual Christmas party for the house on December 17, highlighting the events with a bazaar to raise funds for their club expenditures. Two months later, February 21, the mothers entertained the house with their annual spaghetti dinner, and everyone agreed that the dinner was the best ever.

On February 19, the brothers came forth in dazzling splendor, attired in tuxedos, for the most swank social affair of Beta-Omicron's 1953-54 season, the Black and White Formal. Starting off with a cocktail party at the Norman Country Club, the brothers and their dates moved to the Union Ballroom where they danced to the music of the Ramblers.

Saturday, March 6, Alumnus Joe Benton presented the scholarship award to Brother McCoy, who justly earned it with a 3.56 or "A" average in the engineering school. Then SMC Isbell awarded Brother Neill the best pledge key and the Perpetual Diamond Pin for his outstanding contributions to the fraternity during his pledgeship.

One of the last social events of the year came on April 3 when the chapter put on the 34th annual Apache dance which was held in the chapter house. The Apache is founded on a French motif with berets and bell bottom trousers and echoes of "Viva l' Amour" resounded through "little Pigalle."

Miss Jean Griffith

High Point Names Dream Girl

By Dick Hensdale

◆ Delta-Omega Chapter can boast a most successful Dream Girl Ball. This event took place April 10 at the beautiful Roof Garden of the Robert E. Lee Hotel in Winston-Salem, N. C. The banquet started the evening's activities with musical entertainment during the meal. Then at 9:00 p. m., the 12-piece orchestra began the night of dancing. At intermission, four judges chose our 1954 Dream Girl from the beautiful candidates present. The lucky girl was Miss Jean Griffith from Leaksville, N. C. She was crowned by our SMC, Howard Coleman.

Afterwards, it was announced that our Dream Girl for 1975 would be Miss Lou Ann Hipps, 8 month old daughter of Brother Bill Hipps and last year's Dream Girl, Mrs. Betty Hipps.

Our year was rounded out by a party on Highrock Lake near Salisbury, N. C. This was given as a farewell party to the brothers from the pledges. All the brothers enjoyed the party, and the pledges were fine hosts.

Mississippi State Plans Summer Rush

◆ With rush week beginning the same day as classes this fall, Gamma-Theta at Mississippi State College plans to conduct a concentrated drive to reach prospective rushees prior to the opening of school.

Already rush parties have been scheduled for three cities in Mississippi—Jackson, Laurel, and Meridian—with the alumni of those areas bearing the brunt of the load for making necessary arrangements. It is expected that at least three more parties will be scheduled for other cities and towns during the summer months.

Gamma-Theta closed its spring social calendar with a Dogpatch Stomp at the chapter house. This was the fourth in a series of costume parties given by the chapter during the school year. The other three parties were a Waterfront Dive party, a Valentine dance, and a Western party. John D. McKinney, social chairman and IMC, handled the decorations.

The highlight of the spring semester was the Mothers' Day banquet May 9. Including the families of pledges and members and other guests present, there were approximately 120 people at the banquet. Prof. Lawrence was master of ceremonies and Ellis Wright of Jackson was the principal speaker. Mrs. L. E. Claiborne, housemother, arranged the entire program. The chapter named among its distinguished guests Earl Watkins, Chapter Service Secretary; his mother; and Robert D. Lynn, Executive Secretary; and the members of the chapter house corporation.

Bob McKee and Calvin T. "Sonny" Hull are serving the Student Association

Miss Georgia Rivoli, Dream Girl of Beta-Theta Chapter (Cornell).

Alpha-Xi Dream Girl Jackie Russ, AXΩ, is accompanied on Dream Girl Day tour by Mrs. Matthews, housemother, Carl Rich, and several brothers.

as president and treasurer, respectively.

Forthcoming plans for the chapter include the addition of a dining room-kitchen unit on the south end of the house. It is anticipated that this addition will be completed prior to the beginning of school in September.

Wittenberg Chooses Nancy Stavers

By Robert Bowman

◆ Gamma-Zeta at Wittenberg held its annual Dream Girl Formal on May 14, climaxing one of the most successful semesters in our history. The high point of the evening was the presentation of the Dream Girl trophy to Miss Nancy Stavers, XΩ. Miss Barbara Bagger, ΔΔΠ, and Miss Lida Neal, XΩ, were attendants. The following afternoon a picnic was held for actives, alumni and rushees.

ΠΚΑ's annual Founders' Day was celebrated on May 17 with Herbert Koch of Cincinnati as the principal speaker. We were particularly pleased with the large turnout of alumni who all agreed that it was good to be back.

Gamma-Zeta again proved to be on top both athletically and scholastically this year. Charles Rhyme was the best half miler in the Ohio Conference by winning the 880 in the Conference Meet, being only .6 of a second off the conference record. We had several men on both Varsity football and basketball teams and have co-captains of the track team for the past two years. In the annual Honor's Day Convocation held in the Wittenberg Field House Gamma-Zeta walked off with second place scholastic honors, proving again that brains and brawn can go together.

Gamma-Eta Chapter at the University of Southern California jumped from 25th among 32 fraternities to eighth in scholarship rank with an average several notches above the All-Fraternity average.

Cincinnati Fetes Dream Girl

◆ As the climax of the 1954 Spring Formal, Alpha-Xi proudly unveiled its Dream Girl for the coming year. Selected from a bevy of ten campus beauties and presented while the orchestra played "The Dream of Pi K A" was Miss Jackie Russ, AXΩ.

Jackie, reigning as queen of the remainder of the Pikes' annual week-end party, found that the fun was just beginning. The following Tuesday was designated as ΠΚΑ Dream Girl Day, and all Cincinnati was made aware of the fact. Two convertibles were donated for the occasion by Howard Hively, a local automobile dealer. The chariots, commandeered by the brothers and housemother, Mrs. Matthews, called for Miss Russ at her sorority house in the morning and swept her away for a day on the town.

Jackie's first stop was Mabley-Carew's department store where she was presented with the dress of her choice. Then at Richter's jewelry shop she was the recipient of a sparkling necklace. Carlson's photography studios had the honor of taking Miss Russ' first Dream Girl portraits. The Colony was the scene of a luncheon date with former Mayor Carl Rich. After being guest of honor for dinner at the fraternity house, she was escorted once again to the Colony, this time to be interviewed by Gil Shepard on his evening radio program.

Needless to say, Jackie was a tired girl at the end of the busy day, but she had gotten a good introduction to the honor and activity accompanying the title of Dream Girl of Pi Kappa Alpha.

Cuba's highest decoration given foreigners was awarded recently to the Rt. Reverend A. Hugo Blankingship, O (Richmond), Richmond-born bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Cuba. The award was presented by President Fulgencio Batista in a ceremony at the Presidential Palace.

Doris Crowe Reigns At Washington State

◆ The Dream Girl festivities of Gamma-Xi Chapter at Washington State College started on March 20. The first function was a fireside with all of 26 candidates attending. We held nine functions which gave all the boys an opportunity to meet the girls. After the last function we selected five finalists: LuAnn Prickett, Doris Crowe, Gail Haskil, Georgia Sutton and LaDonna Wick.

A tea was held in the chapter house Sunday afternoon, April 23, in honor of the finalists.

The climax of the affair was the "Dream Girl Dance." It was held in a local ballroom which was gaily decorated to the theme of "Carousel." SMC Brian O'Leary crowned Miss Doris Crowe 1954 Dream Girl.

Doris is a sophomore from Sunnyside, Wash. and lives at Regents Hill Dormitory. She is active on campus, her main interest being her position of majorette with the college band.

The functions were a great success, largely due to the efforts of Brothers Matt Brislaw (general chairman), Don Neuberger (tea chairman), and Earl Norwood (dance decorations).

California On The Move

By Don Range

◆ Since receiving its charter in 1912, Alpha-Sigma has been fortunate to occupy one of the best locations on the University of California campus. The chapter house is in the heart of fraternity row on a corner lot around which the activities of the Greeks revolve. Proximity to the University campus has been another advantage. The one drawback to our location is the fact that we are only able to house 27 men in the chapter house. In the past it has been necessary to obtain one or more annexes to handle the overflow. This problem was recently emphasized with the prediction by University authorities that the enrollment may double by 1960.

When this day arrives Alpha-Sigma will be prepared, as we have just purchased a large lot and house which adjoins our present chapter house. Alpha-Sigma alumni will remember the day our new addition was known as "Mrs. Turner's Boarding House." Our expansion to this property promises to place Alpha-Sigma in an excellent position to accommodate the expected increase in enrollment.

The new house can be easily converted to accommodate 21 men, and by adding a few partitions that number can be increased to 25. Thus Alpha-Sigma will double the housing capacity and still retain the excellent location we have occupied for so many years.

Present plans call for remodeling the new house and painting and redecorating our present chapter house. As for the future, the first step has been taken by obtaining the land upon which a completely new house covering the entire lot can be built after the removal of both old houses. This expansion will prove to be one of the most important pages in the history of the chapter.

Many activities and events have been keeping the Pi Kaps tops on campus this year. The annual Dream Girl Formal was held at the St. Francis Yacht Club in San Francisco. Miss Joan Howard, KKT, was crowned Alpha-Sigma Dream Girl. Her attendants were Sharon McGill, ΣK, and Kay McMahon, ΔΔΔ. The girls were selected at the end of a week-long contest highlighted by two television shows, a phone vote, an open house, and press appearances.

Alpha-Sigma held its Founders' Day Banquet jointly with Delta-Pi Chapter at San Jose State College. David C. Powers, Russell Hoghe, and faculty advisor Garff Wilson spoke. Toastmaster for the event was Brother Lynn "Pappy" Waldorf, coach of the California football team. The successful affair was planned by Brothers Mike Raffetto and Dick Ralph of Alpha-Sigma and Chuck Mancine of Delta-Pi.

Most of the brothers were active on campus and in university societies. Dick Miles was president of the Ball and Chain Society, of which Brothers Raffetto and Barges are members. Miles was also active in the Big "C" society and the Order of the Golden Bear. Brother Ware was on Freshman Class Council and the Associated Students U. C. elections committee. Brother Mevi was on the Blue and Gold (yearbook) staff and a member of the Pre-dent Society. Brother Lima was a member of the "Capstan's" staff and a member of the Quarterdeck Society. Lowell Shifley was a member of the Varsity Rowing Club and on the Air ROTC Rifle Team. Brother Kosovac was a member of the Associated Institute of Architects. Bill Haney, Marty Bouton, and Merritt Herring are members of Theta Tau, an honorary geology fraternity. John Mason is a member of Sophomore Council, Spring Talent Show, Store Board, and Administrative Assistant for the President of the Associated Students U. C. Pete Newmeyer is on Freshman Council and a member of the Ski Club. Frank Thompson is on Soph Class Council. Brother Bryson Kratz was a delegate to the Model Senate and a member of the U. S. Young Republicans. Brother Firby is another member of Theta Tau. Jack Saroyan is a member of the Pre-dent Society.

Penn State Boasts Many Leaders

By Norman C. Miller, Jr.

◆ The IIKAs at Penn State were once more outstanding in the field of campus activities during the past year.

Captaining the Nittany Lion golf team was Brother Rod Eaken, acknowledged to be one of the best college golfers in the East. He led a team that wrapped up a season's record of seven wins and only one loss. Rod, who was hampered by a shoulder injury all season, compiled a season's record of five wins and three losses during the year.

Eaken's prowess as golfer is best extolled by Penn State Coach Bob Rutherford who has lauded him as one of the finest linksmen ever to step on the Lion's course. Rod's three-year record well bears out these words. In this period he has attained an overall record of 16 victories against only seven defeats. He has also reached the semi-finals of the Eastern Intercollegiate Golf Association individual's tournament and the finals of the EIGA meet. Last year Rod gained another great honor when he copped the Centre County Open tournament from a field that included many professionals.

In addition to his activities on the links Eaken is a captain in the Army ROTC program and a member of Druids, an honor society for outstanding athletes.

Walt Back, who served as senior class vice-president, was another of Beta-Alfa's outstanding men. Walt also served as chairman of the senior ball and was a member of Parmi Nous, senior men's activities honorary.

Jack Fink served as clique chairman of the State Party, one of the two student political parties on campus. He was ably assisted by Jim Tate who was vice-chairman of the clique, Chuck Raup, John Kraft, and Pledge Jack McMeekin who also held positions in the party. For his outstanding work Fink was tapped by Skull and Bones, outstanding senior men's honor society.

Rod Stegall held down the post of promotion director of the Froth, campus humor magazine. Rod is also a member of Androcles, outstanding junior men's honor society, as are Brother Fink and Brother Rog Dietz.

The football manager last year was Jim Scott. For this achievement and others Jim was made a member of Blue Key, an honor society for outstanding junior men.

John McNeill has been named as the photography editor of the LaVie, Penn State's yearbook.

Frank Locotos was named to membership in Druids for his outstanding play at the midfield position for the lacrosse team. Jim Tate has been named as one of the first managers of the golf team for this year.

Mike Miller was tapped by Androcles for his work on the Daily Collegian, the student newspaper. Mike has also been elected as secretary-treasurer of the group. As such he serves as a member of honor society council.

The men in the house were not so busy with outside activities that they could not take time out to enjoy one of the finest programs of social events the chapter has known. Outstanding on the social list was the annual Dream Girl dance.

Rod Eaken,
Penn State's outstanding golfer.

As usual the chapter made a big week end out of the affair. Friday evening the festivities were started with a "South Sea Island" party. The lounge was completely filled with sand for the party and a giant backdrop depicting a South Sea Island scene was placed against the wall to complete the decorations. Entertainment was provided by a combo. Saturday we went to the Nittany Lion Inn for a dinner dance. After a delicious roast beef dinner and some singing we danced to the music of the Bluenotes. The highlight of the evening came when Brother Rog Dietz's date, Joan Platt, was chosen Beta-Alfa's Dream Girl of 1954. The chapter presented her with a gold loving cup and a dozen white lilies of the valley.

The District 2 convention held at the chapter house April 24 was also quite successful. In addition to over 30 brothers from other chapters in attendance were National President Johnny Hippel, District President Hugh Dalziel, and Field Secretary John Hein. Carl Gabler, FE, was named the outstanding delegate and Jim Scott, BA, was chosen second most outstanding.

Of interest to Beta-Alfa's many visitors will be the redecorations that have been effected at the house during the last year. Our Building Corporation has provided us with a beautiful new grey rug for the lounge replacing the maroon one which had become rather worn. The pledges followed this redecoration mode and painted the lounge, trophy room, and card room as their project.

Memphis State Members Honored

By Arthur Richmond Gill

◆ Pi Kappa Alphas recently received many honors at Memphis State College.

Three of our members were elected to the MSC 1954 "Hall of Fame," an honor given to seniors prominent in various college activities. Johnny Burns, past SMC of Delta-Zeta Chapter, Bill Freeman, also a past SMC of Delta-Zeta, and Charles Mueller, historian, chapter correspondent, and editor of The Tiger Rag, campus newspaper, were those receiving this distinction. Membership in the "Hall of Fame" is one of the highest honors which a senior at MSC can achieve.

A similar honor was received by Delta-Zeta's new SMC, Jack Loveless, recently selected as new president of Delta Kappa, MSC honorary leadership fraternity for men, which chooses its members from the junior and senior classes. Membership is determined by a student's qualities in leadership, character, and achievements in campus activities. Since Delta Kappa limits its membership to only one per cent of the student body, it is an honor which few may claim.

Delta-Zeta's Dream Girls have likewise received many distinctions at MSC. Louise "Ruchie" Webber, this year's Dream Girl, and Barbara Jean Burnette, former Dream Girl, were recently honored by being elected as officers of Tassel, senior women's honor society. Barbara was elected new president, and Ruchie, treasurer.
