CHAPLAIN'S CORNER

MORE THAN A CAMPUS AFFAIR— Many times in my life I have been called upon to counsel boys considering joining a fraternity and here is a question often asked—"I like the boys in A fraternity better but the national standing of B fraternity is better. Is it better to think in terms of fraternity during my period on the campus or in my post-graduate years, and the wider fellowship of the men of my fraternity throughout the rest of my life?" There is, of course, no pat answer to this difficult question. Those years on the campus are of course very important and a fraternity, especially on a big university campus, has the deep significance of being for boys a home away from home. These are the ones to whom he turns in times of difficulty and indecision. Of course this is important—it is very important. It is also important to think in terms of the other pledges with whom naturally he will be in college the longest span of years.

On the other hand, if one joins a national fraternity with more than, say one hundred chapters, he will inevitably be meeting his fraternity brothers all the remaining years of his life.

When I went to the first World War and was helping disembark the troops (I was not a Chaplain but a line officer) the first man that extended his hand to greet me when I got off the ship was a fraternity brother in Omega Chapter from the University of Kentucky. I was in Kappa Chapter across the city in Transylvania College. I met other fraternity brothers in France during the war and have, across these more than forty years, continued running into and enjoying the fellowship of my Pi Kappa Alpha brothers. It has been a particularly rich and satisfying fellowship here in Austin, Texas, the seat of the University of Texas, where there is a large local, alumni group.

I am now on a preaching mission to the United States Air Force bases of Spain. When I finish my month of preaching to the airmen, I shall then go behind the Iron Curtain and visit two or three countries before I return home. I am not a betting man but if I were, I would give odds of two to one that I will meet fraternity brothers both in the air corps and in the American embassies abroad. This is how wide our fellowship has become. It has rich and deep meaning for me.

So my advice to freshmen students who are being invited to fraternities is a double one. Both of these aspects of being a fraternity man are important and should be considered seriously and deliberately before a choice is made.

And my prayer from Spain for all the brothers of PiKA is that we keep alive in every way possible the deep and abiding friendships made on the campus, so that our fraternity relationships on the campus are not the whole thing but the beginning of deep and lasting friendships.

Keys Directs Mayo Clinic Library

Another member of Pi Kappa Alpha has reached the pinnacle of his profession. Thomas E. Keys, a member of Beta Iota Chapter and a graduate of the 1931 class of Beloit College in Beloit, Wisconsin, is currently serving as Librarian of the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minnesota. He has earned the honor and responsibility of this important post by virtue of an outstanding record in the field of medical library science.

In 1934 Brother Keys joined the Mayo Clinic Library after having received his Master's Degree from the graduate library school of the University of Chicago. He served as reference librarian from 1935 until 1942, at which time he received a commission and assignment as Assistant to the Librarian of the Army Medical Library. Colonel Harold Jones, the head Librarian of the Army Medical Library at that time, had become acquainted with the outstanding calibre of Brother Keys' work and expressed himself as most pleased to have his services.

In writing of this period W. B. McDaniel, II, has this to say:

"The association was an uncommonly fruitful and mutually happy one. After constructive work in Washington, Tom was made Officer-in-Charge of the Cleveland Branch of the Army Medical Library. There, says Col. Jones, 'He was always a jump ahead of most of us and the difficult job of inaugurating our own binding shop and restoring the rare book collection, lasting some five years, is a monument to his perseverance and hard work. I always felt safe with Tom Keys, for a more loyal soul never lived.' The association was doubtless further responsible, in some measure, for Tom's serving as editor of our Association BULLETIN (1943-45) and on the editorial board of Blakiston's New Gould Medical Dictionary, 1949 (contributor, 1956). As a member of the staff editing the original edition, 'Tom rendered outstanding service in that he was in constant touch with the nearly one hundred contributors and he could always keep the peace and soothe any injured feelings as well as correct any misunderstandings,' Col. Jones stated.

"Lt. Col. Keys (now the holder of an Army Commendation Ribbon conferred on him by the Surgeon General) returned to civilian life as Librarian of the Mayo Clinic in 1946. Since then he has served on the Board of Directors of this Association and as Chairman of its Committee on Gifts and Grants and as first chairman of its Committee on Awards. It is unlikely that any other professional member of the Association, past or present, is more widely known for contributions to the literature of medical librarianship, bibliography, and historiography. To recall specifically, from his catalogue of over 70 publications, 1938 to date, merely his three books Cardiac Classics (with F. A. Willius), The Development of Anesthesia, and The History of Surgical Anesthesia—is to remind ourselves in lively enough fashion of this aspect of our professional debt to our new President."

Thomas E. Keys is one of the few men not holding a medical degree who has been elected President of the Medical Library Association. He served in 1957-58 in this capacity. He continues to earn honors for his outstanding contribution in this field. President Eisenhower appointed him a member of the Board of Regions of the National Library of Medicine. He has been elected a Corresponding Member of the Section on Medical History of the Swedish Medical Association. He is currently serving as Assistant Professor of History of Medicine of the Mayo Foundation Graduate School, University of Minnesota. In November 1961, he addressed upon invitation the members of the Japan Medical Library Association at its meeting in Tokyo.

Brother Keys resides at 30 Skyline Drive, Rochester, Minnesota, with his wife and two children. They are members of the Episcopal church of Rochester, where he is active in civic as well as professional affairs.

Dr. Singletary Named Chancellor

Chancellor Singletary—scholar, administrator, educator. These are some of the sound attributes of the new Chancellor of the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina in Greensboro.

Brother Otis A. Singletary, Alpha Iota (Millsaps), was 39 years old this spring when he was selected for this important post in higher education. A native of Gulfport, Mississippi, he graduated from Millsaps College in 1947 with a Bachelor of Arts Degree. He earned both Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy degrees at Louisiana State University in 1949 and 1954 respectively.

His outstanding abilities earned him a Carnegie Academic Administrator grant. He traveled throughout the United States, studying and familiarizing himself with the varying college administrations.

A liberal arts scholar, Dr. Singletary's special field is history. His ability as a teacher is evidenced by the honors he received during his tenure at the University of Texas. In 1956 and 1957 he received the University

Harry C. Anderson, AΣ, President, Office Equipment Manufacturers Institute, New York.

Student's Association Teaching Excellence Award; and in 1958 the Scarborough Teaching Excellence Award. He plans to teach a course in history at the Woman's College so as not to forsake teaching completely despite his heavy administrative duties.

He has written extensively on military history and affairs. Among his published books are Negro Militia and Reconstruction and The Mexican War. In 1955 he received an award presented by the American Military Institute for the best book on American military history. Alfred Knopf, Incorporated, has him currently under contract to write "A History of American Military Affairs."

He is a member of many professional and academic organizations and is Associate Editor of the Southwestern Historical Quarterly. He served as director of the Superior Student Program at the University of Texas and as regional chairman for the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation. He is a veteran of both World War II and the Korean War and presently holds the rank of commander in the United States Naval Reserve.

Dr. and Mrs. Singletary have three children: a daughter Bonnie, a son Scot, and a second daughter Kendall.

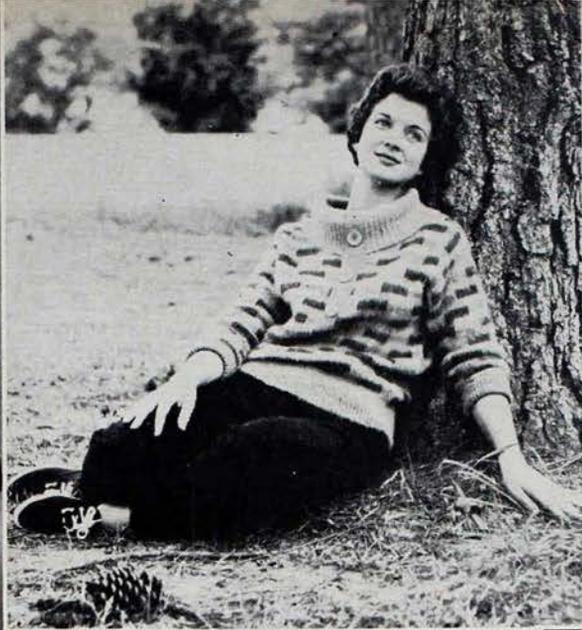

E. B. Allen Directs Tulane Alumni Office

Edison B. Allen, Tau (North Carolina), is coordinator of the Tulane University alumni fund. It has enjoyed spectacular success under his leadership during the past three years. In 1959, Tulane won first place among private institutions for "distinguished achievement in the development of alumni support" in the Alumni Giving Incentive Award Competition sponsored by the U. S. Steel Foundation and the American Alumni Council.

THE PIKE Calendar

Alpha-Gamma Chapter at Louisiana State University and a unique business firm, The Tennis Center, joined hands to create an unusually attractive calendar featuring campus beauties. This combination earned a feature article in the September issue of THE REGISTER, Baton Rouge's journal of society. The article was illustrated with each of the calendar month pictures of representatives of various sororities on campus. We are reproducing a condensation of the article for our readers.

Representing something like a year's effort on the part of the fraternity, the picturesque calendar is highlighted by Pi Kappa Alpha's "Dream Girl", Brian Simmons, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. McHugh Simmons. Other campus favorites and beauties represent the 12 months of the year. Once the fraternity had chosen representatives for the various months, they called on W. T. "Dub" Robinson, owner of The Tennis Center, located on the edge of the campus, for his assistance. They asked him to furnish from his fine colorful collection the fashion-right sporting togs for the parade of beauties representing the various months. Their enthusiasm caught fire and he plunged wholeheartedly into the project—and when "Dub" Robinson becomes enthusiastic, there is no enthusiasm like it!

The next week fraternity members began to distribute the calendars to the large-sized group of advertisers who helped make the project possible. Some 500 calendars were available—free of charge—at The Tennis Center. Persons interested in receiving the first-of-its-kind calendar were asked to drop a note to The Tennis Center, 3315 Highland road. "We have a limited amount," Mr. Robinson said, "so the calendars will be held for the first 500 people who make their reservations by note or telephone.

Townpeople who watched the project come to completion were warmed by the intelligence and industry of the young men who initiated the idea of the "beauty" calendar on the LSU campus. The finished product is a credit to their ingenuity and imagination. The Pi Kappa Alpha members are, perhaps, representative of the leadership to be found in LSU greek circles. This fraternity—which includes strong local business and social leadership—was founded, nationally, on March 1, 1868 and the Alpha Gamma chapter here came into being in 1903.

The Tennis Center and the Robinson family are synonymous in the thoughts of a large part of the campus and of the city of Baton Rouge. Mr. Robinson holds a unique athletic record and is one of the strongest exponents of clean athletics in this area. He has watched his two sons—Tommy and Johnny—earn enviable sports honors.

The racqueting Robinsons constitute one of the most athletic and amazing families in Baton Rouge. They are devout Baptists and enthusiastic church workers. It was Mr. "Dub" Robinson, who first gained local prominence as an LSU boxing champion and a Bengal tennis player some 20-odd years ago and who has stayed in the Louisiana limelight for the past 13 years as coach of the Tiger net team.

It is natural for The Tennis Center to be a favorite with sports-minded people because sports is about the only subject discussed there—but sometimes the discussion gets really "warm". Actually "Dub" will tell you The Tennis Center started as a hobby some nine years ago and progressed from a little shop next to its present location to the present 4,000 square feet of the present location. First came sporting goods and from that the business just "drifted" into its present side-line of sporting and tennis apparel. The unique shop has sports costumes which come from some of the leading manufacturers in the nation and the selections are always "campus right" in every detail.

LSU Chapter Proud of Building

The L.S.U. chapter is now housed in a modern brick and stucco house with the name PiKA proudly emblazoned on the front in three-foot high Greek letters. The house was built in 1956 by a building committee headed by A. R. Johnson, Jr., an alumnus of the fraternity. It features landscaping done by students in landscape architecture who are members of the chapter. An addition of a library, recreation room and more bedrooms is currently being planned for completion in the near future.

Girls OF L.S.U.

The idea for a calendar of University beauties originated with Pi Kappa Alpha in 1956 at the University of Tennessee. It has since spread to other PiKA chapters. Mike deBerardinis of Shreveport, a member of the local chapter, picked up the idea at a district fraternity workshop at the University of Mississippi and promoted it at L.S.U. After the local chapter approved it, each sorority at L.S.U. was contacted and given the opportunity to submit the names of two of its members. From this list of names, the girls to be featured on each page were chosen. Mr. Cary Owen, with assistance from Erby Aucoin, a local professional photographer and alumnus of PiKA, did the photography.

The calendars were distributed gratis to L.S.U. students by fraternity members. The calendar was paid for by advertising of local merchants. Only those merchants dealing directly with L.S.U. students were given the opportunity to advertise in this unique fashion.

The main social functions of Pi Kappa Alpha at L.S.U. are its Roman Party and its Dream Girl Formal in the spring. The Roman party features the decoration of the house to simulate a Roman villa and is one of the most elaborate costume parties at L.S.U., the members spending many weeks preparing their togas and Roman armor. At the Dream Girl Formal, which is a part of L.S.U.'s festive spring formal season, the dream girl of the fraternity is presented.

Alpha Gamma chapter at L.S.U. was chartered in November of 1903, the third national social fraternity on the L.S.U. campus. Among Pi Kappa Alpha alumni in the Baton Rouge area are such well known people as A. R. Johnson, Jr., who recently retired as President of American Bank and Trust Co., Leslie McKenzie, prominent insurance man; Paul E. Haygood, owner of a local welding supply company; Charles Guy, local businessman; William B. Bates, part owner of Bates & Thigpen clothing store; Hunter Huckaby, business manager of the Baton Rouge General Hospital; George Vordenbaumen with Esso; J. T. Owen, former L.S.U. boxing coach; Holt Harrison, owner of Harrison Paint Company; and James R. Fuller, attorney with Porter, Taylor, Brooks and Fuller and L.S.U. legal aide.

ALPHA OMICRON DEDICATES CONTEMPORARY HOUSE ...

Alpha-Omicron's 1961 pledge class is the first to have its picture taken at "the new house."

Through the tireless and unending efforts of Alpha-Omicron Chapter in pursuit of a long anticipated goal, this chapter has a new house on Southwestern University's fraternity row in Georgetown, Texas. One of the most attractive chapter houses in the state, its contemporary design with an oriental flair is accentuated by the use of Austin stone, stained woods, and glass to achieve the distinction indicative of its architects, Lungren and Maurer. The impressive structure can be added to a long list of buildings of outstanding merit designed by this Austin firm.

The interior of the house is of functional design, with large open areas denoting graciousness and hospitality. The living room is contained in a wing projecting from the front of the house toward fraternity row and is enclosed on two sides by glass. A large fireplace of Austin stone separates the living area from the entrance hall, where a stairway in varying tones of stained wood winds to the second story level. To the right of the entrance hall is the large dining area with large windows overlooking the rolling terrain of central Texas. Immediately to the left of the dining room is the chapter room which also serves as a den for the chapter's use.

The housemother's suite, a powder room and a large kitchen and butler's pantry are also incorporated into the downstairs area.

The comfort and spaciousness are carried to the upper level where each room utilizes space with built-in desk, shelves, drawers, and storage space. Closets of fine capacity are also included in the living quarters allowing a maximum of space.

With such a fine beginning for the new school year Alpha-Omicron can continue to grow and prosper as it has for the past several years. The completion of the new house will give added strength to Alpha-Omicron in the years to come.

Alpha-Omicron Honors Wirsih and Dunn

BY JOE K. BAUSCHER

Joseph Wirsih—Friend and Brother Tributes and praises of love go to Joseph A. Wirsih for his help in making another dream come true. As a longtime enthusiastic member of Pi Kappa Alpha, Brother Wirsih has been actively engaged in numerous projects to bring about the realization of a progressive fraternity in an age of severe criticism toward the Greek system.

Particularly at the chapters throughout Texas and Oklahoma, striking proof can be seen of the handiwork of a master craftsman. New horizons are now the goals of these Pike chapters, dedicated to proving the worth of the fraternity system.

While serving as president of former District 10, Brother Wirsih extended a strong helping hand to Alpha Omicron Chapter at Southwestern University. Four years ago the chapter was just holding its own among the competitive fraternities on campus. With vigorous, active steps, Wirsih helped the chapter grow to a new status with larger horizons.

The recently completed chapter house is a longtime dream of Alpha Omicron. It was the interest aroused by Brother Wirsih which began to rally the alumni to support a program for better housing for the chapter. In doing so, Wirsih spent his own valuable time as well as his own funds to travel great distances to meet with alumni, particularly in Houston and Dallas.

Last Fall it was Wirsih's advice and persuasiveness that led Alpha-Omicron alumni to take the step to build a new house. Again it was Wirsih who led us to a good architect. It was brother Wirsih along with Brother Robert J. Dunn who led the way over and around numerous obstacles and to collect funds for the program and get construction underway.

Today there is an attractive building on Southwestern's campus to commemorate the work of Brother Wirsih and Brother Dunn. There were others who played important roles in this program, and their efforts should be acknowledged. They include Brothers Joe C. Scott, P. D. Christian, Hiram Jordan, David C. Powers, Grant Macfarlane, Dick Bills, Thatcher Atkin, Arthur Few, Jr., Guthrie Taylor, Oras Shaw, Merle T. Waggoner, and Thomas McIntyre.

To Brother Wirsih and others, Alpha Omicron extends a big "Thank You" for outstanding work.

TWO BETA THETA BROTHERS . . .

By DAVID RADDOCK, '63

While most of our brothers in the nation were at home during the last year's Christmas vacation taking their break from the tedium of academic life, Brother Dana Lawrence and I were spreading the name of Pi Kappa Alpha throughout the Soviet Union and London. The Cornell University Glee Club, of which we are members, was the first American college to make such a trip.

We landed in Moscow, after visiting Amsterdam, Copenhagen and Warsaw. Our group saw such attractions inside the iron curtain as the Kremlin, the mausoleum of Messrs. Lenin and Stalin, where both bodies lie life-like preserved in wax, the permanent exhibition of Industrial and Agricultural Achievements, and Lomonosov State University where we gave our first concert. We were overwhelmed by loud, rhythmic applause even before we began to sing. Throughout this recital and the others that followed in Moscow and Leningrad, we received similar ovations after every song.

I had a working knowledge of the Russian Language, and made many tours of my own. I was invited to the home of a nineteen-year-old girl whom I met in the Kremlin. Over a pleasant dish of borscht, we had a very interesting discussion about life. She was on vacation from her occupation—operating a crane! She, her aunt and virtually all the people whom Dana and I met sincerely expressed their desire for "Druzha"—friendship.

On another occasion I had a friendly argument with an eighty-five-year-old Muscovite over religion. Within three minutes, a crowd of fifty people had gathered around us, but the police prevented further discussion. The old man, who had claimed never to have attended church in his entire life, was reluctant to leave, for he listened intently to my arguments.

The Glee Club gave a total of seven formal and spontaneous concerts in the Soviet Union, one of which was during a wedding at the Leningrad Wedding Palace. The Russian people seemed to be friendly and hospitable, although grim and determined. Contrary to popular American opinion, hardly a soul expressed the desire to leave Russia or even unhappiness with the Communist Regime. A rare case indeed was the engineer who gave me a letter to deliver to Dag Hammerskjold requesting asylum in the U.S.A.

While returning home, we stopped in London for one week as guest of Dr. Keith Faulkner, a former Cornell Music professor and now Director of the Royal College of Music. The club gave concerts for the students of the college, the incorporated society of Musicians, and at Westminster Abbey. I'm afraid my Russian-style fur hat offended several of the Londoners. Two elderly ladies gaped with amazement when I greeted them with a cheerful "Zdrastvuyti", and a passing truck driver in Picadilly Circus suggested rather vehemently that I remove my fur chapeau!

The Glee Club returned to Cornell with a vivid memory of many warm faces, cold evenings, and secret police.

THREE TIME PiKA ALL-AMERICAS

All time great—
Wes Fesler, AP

Through the years since the first Pi Kappa Alpha All-America football team was selected in 1927, only 11 players have been named to the fraternity's honor team three times, gaining recognition in each of their varsity seasons.

Four of these were selected on the 1928 team, and then chosen again in 1929 and 1930. They were Wesley Fesler, Ohio State end and perhaps the greatest player ever to represent Pi Kappa Alpha; George Stears, Purdue tackle; Cal Shawley, Penn State tackle; and Marvin Jones, Utah center.

Mike Mikulak, Oregon back, was named in 1931-32-33, while Mario Pacetti, Wisconsin guard, and Duane Purvis, Purdue back, were chosen in 1932-33-34.

Not until Jimmy Nelson, Alabama back, came along in 1939-40-41 was another gridder honored three straight years. Glenn Dobbs, Tulsa back, was chosen in 1940-41-42.

More than a decade was to pass before another pair joined the select group. Alex Hawkins, South Carolina back, and Ed Rutsch, George Washington tackle, were named in 1956-57-58. They were the last to win the fraternity's All-America rating for three successive years.

Of this group Fesler was the only nationally recognized All-America for three years. Dobbs was named to the Associated Press All-America in 1942.

And of this group only Fesler, Dobbs and Hawkins were picked for the All-Time Pi Kappa Alpha All-America team selected by this writer last year. Since he selected or participated in the selection of the annual fraternity teams for more than a quarter of a century, this writer had some grounds for choosing such a team.

On this team besides Fesler, Dobbs and Hawkins were Tom Scott of Virginia, a 1952 Associated Press All-America end; Jack Johnson of Utah and Bo Russell of Auburn at tackles; Bob Suffridge of Tennessee, an Associated Press All-America in 1940, and John Michels, also of Tennessee, at guards; Gomer Jones, Ohio State center; Carl Brumbaugh, Florida back, and Frankie Sinkwich, Georgia back who was an Associated Press All-America in 1941-42.

Incidentally, Sinkwich and Fesler are the only PiKA's to make the Associated Press All-America team more than once and 1942 was the only year in which two Pikes—Sinkwich and Dobbs—made the AP team.

Of these players on the fraternity's All-Time team, Brumbaugh was chosen on the 1928 team and Michels on the 1952 team. The others were selected twice—Johnson in 1930 and 1932, Suffridge in 1939-40, Jones in 1934-35, Russell in 1937-38, Scott in 1951-52; and Sinkwich in 1941-42.

LEO HOEGH

New National Treasurer

Leo A. Hoegh, 53, former Governor of Iowa, has been elected by the Supreme Council to complete the term of Hiram Jordan who resigned due to removal from his geographic region. Brother Hoegh served as National Alumni Secretary in 1940-41 prior to entering military service during World War II. He is an attorney and business executive.

A charter member of Gamma-Nu Chapter at the University of Iowa, Brother Hoegh held numerous major offices on campus and in the fraternity. He was SMC, earned his varsity letter in swimming, served as captain of the water polo team, is a member of Omicron Delta Kappa leadership fraternity and was selected as one of the eleven outstanding men at the University of Iowa during his senior year. He earned both a bachelor's degree and a doctor of jurisprudence at the University of Iowa.

While a practicing attorney at Chariton, Iowa he served three years in the House of Representatives. In 1942 he entered the Armed Forces and served as operations officer in the European Theater. He received a battlefield promotion to lieutenant colonel and earned the Bronze Star, Croix de Guerre and Legion of Honor decorations.

He served as Attorney General in the State of Iowa 1953-55 and as Governor 1955-57. From July, 1958 to January 20, 1961 he was Director, Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, reporting directly to President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Brother Hoegh is currently Executive Vice President of Wonder Building Corporation of America, manufacturers of fall-out shelters, with headquarters in Chicago. He is vice chairman of the board, Drug and Food Capital Corporation, Chicago; and director, Iowa Fund, Inc., Des Moines, Iowa. In 1958 he made the principal address to the Pi Kappa Alpha National Convention in Washington, D. C. and received the fraternity's Distinguished Achievement Award. His wife is the former Mary Louise Foster. They have two daughters, Kristin, 17, and Janice, 13. The family are members of the Methodist Church and are residents of Chicago, Illinois.

The May 14, 1961 CHICAGO SUNDAY TRIBUNE had a twelve inch article captioned "Son-in-law speaks well of 'Mother-in-law' ". Loyal Pi Kappa Alpha alumnus Quentin Brown (Northwestern) took a classified ad in the Tribune to extol the virtues of his mother-in-law. The news article was written to commend Brother Brown and to point out the virtue which motivated this tribute to his wife's mother.

The newspaper interviewed Brother Brown. He stated "It was the best way I could think of to let Mom know how much I think of her."

DEVELOPING A STRONG IFC

By Joseph D. Boyd
Dean of Men
Northwestern University

(Editor's Note: Presented by Dean Boyd at the annual joint meeting of College Fraternity Secretaries Association and Deans of Men, at the Yale Club, New York City.)

1. Individual chapters are no stronger than the system of which they are a part—the strength of a system is largely determined by the effectiveness of the IFC.

2. Effectiveness means proper autonomy—individual chapter, university, and national give up some of their autonomy to the IFC to make the co-operative operation effective. A strong IFC has objectives, responsibilities, and authority—the greater their sense of responsibility—the more freedom we give them. Colleges and universities must give them specific areas of responsibility.

3. Effectiveness comes when IFC members are the pace-setters, policy-makers, and public relations men of the fraternity system—many fraternity men just exist—the rest must lead—a strong IFC is self-critical of the system and does not wait for a crisis and then go on the defensive.

4. Effectiveness builds respect, not popularity. It also builds confidence and trust and those most necessary goals—More complete acceptance of fraternities by the campus and the community.

5. When strong and united—IFC's can deal collectively and present a common front to the university and the community—this is a much more effective approach.

6. Effective IFC's facilitate communication between member fraternities, administration, faculty and community.

7. As a must, strong IFC's make self-government a practice—not an ideal (they judge and seek out the violators of IFC and university rules).

8. Effective IFC's must have the best of leadership—its men, not by-laws or constitutions that make an IFC a respected and effective group.

9. The IFC is uniquely able to bring about "change from within." They can do much more than administrators or national officers to change what needs to be changed in our fraternities.

10. Yes, I feel the IFC that is strong and effective can best do the following:

- get chapters to replace old (heavily criticized) traditions with new ones;
- be a means to more quickly eliminate the "tomfoolery";
- organize workshops and retreats to improve chapter leadership;
- organize cooperative buying;
- make "rush" a fair and equitable competitive situation;
- set high standards of scholarship;
- be a strong voice and arm against any act that represents conduct unbecoming a fraternity.

In conclusion.

Secretaries: Be as concerned about the general conditions of the fraternity systems on the campus on which you are located as you are with the growth of your own chapters.

Fellow Deans: As a part of our indicating that we encourage and not just tolerate fraternities, we must give much of our time and thought to help develop and program our respective IFC's.

Gilmer President At Hampden-Sydney

The professor who gave Hampden-Sydney College one of the nation's finest physics departments, Dr. Thomas E. Gilmer, has been named president of the college.

Dr. Gilmer, a 1923 Hampden-Sydney graduate and member of Iota Chapter, has headed the physics department there since 1934 when he was promoted from the rank of associate professor. His department received national acclaim this year when a survey showed that the college ranked first in the country in the proportion of its physics majors who went on to doctorates in the field.

Eight years ago Dr. Gilmer was one of 32 persons chosen to do special work on isotopes at the Oak Ridge, Tennessee Institute of Nuclear Studies. He was credited with organizing an extensive radiological monitoring system in Virginia in 1954.

After graduation from Hampden-Sydney, Dr. Gilmer took both his master's and doctor's degrees in physics at the University of Virginia. He is the father of five children—two daughters and three sons, two of whom are studying to become physicists.

New Members in the National Office...

James Burnitt Bealle, Jr.

James Burnitt Bealle, Jr., Gamma Theta (Mississippi State), has been named Assistant to the Executive Director according to an announcement by the Supreme Council. He entered upon the duties of his office in September.

Brother Bealle earned the respect and admiration of his fellow students and citizens of Greenwood, Mississippi, which is his home town. He was pledged to Gamma Theta Chapter in the fall of 1954 and was initiated in January of 1955. He immediately became a "working member" and filled effectively the position of House Steward, Secretary and Vice President. Mother Claiborne, renowned House Mother, states that he was one of her fine officers and chapter leaders. After earning an excellent academic record and participating in campus journalism activities in addition to his fraternity work, he enrolled in the University of North Carolina graduate school. His work was in the field of English and History.

He has been described as "a man of great sincerity and loyalty who conscientiously and efficiently discharges his duties." Pi Kappa Alpha has meant much to him. His present position will give him an enlarged opportunity for service to it.

A member of the Methodist Church, he is married to the former Miss Lo Anne Burch of Graham, North Carolina.

George L. Lalanne of North Platte, Nebraska, has been named Administrative Assistant to serve the North and Mid-

YOU AND PI KAPPA ALPHA

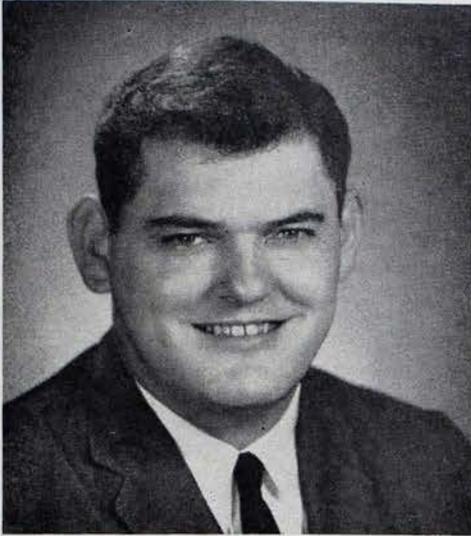

By JACK McMEEKIN,
Former Administrative Assistant

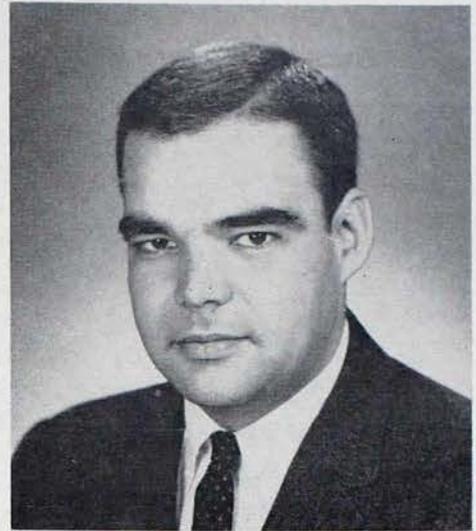

Only one year has elapsed since I brought to a close a most enjoyable association as a member of the official National Office staff. In thinking back I cannot find an experience that has brought more enjoyment as did my year and a half as an administrative assistant. The friends and acquaintances I have made will long be remembered and cherished by me.

Because of my rare privilege of seeing PiKA from a national view, I gained an insight that never before was mine. I would like to pass on to you what only can be known by seeing the whole.

Throughout the South, clear up to New Hampshire, and on out to the West are gathered together some of the finest people one could meet. Young men in college, dedicated to the principles of our founders, fill the halls of many a Pike western area. A member of Beta-Upsilon Chapter at the University of Colorado, he joined the staff in October.

Brother Lalanne is 25 years of age, 5' 11" and weighs 175. He served Beta Upsilon Chapter as Pledge President, Alumni Secretary, Assistant House Manager, Pledgemaster, and President. He was a member of the Interfraternity Council and of the Council of Greek students.

He is interested in skiing, golfing, fishing, hunting, and music. A member of the Methodist Church, he has been active in its youth organizations.

Brother Lalanne brings to his present position a wealth of undergraduate fraternity experience and a maturity of judgment which will enable him to be of great value in his conferences with chapter officers and members.

David E. Odom, Xi (South Carolina), 28, was named an Administrative Assistant in September and began serving the chapters in the Mid-south and Southwest.

After a four year tour of military duty, Brother Odom enrolled at the University of South Carolina and received his degree in Business Administration in 1960. He was active in campus and fraternity affairs, and served as a member of the Student Council. He was Chairman of Xi Chapter Intramural Activities and led the chapter to an outstanding record in sports. He is single and a member of the Methodist Church.

chapter, ably assisted by their alumni. Unfortunately, though, there are among us some very weak chapters, and still others heading in this direction.

Being a strong believer in the principle of self-dedication, I cannot help but think that here lies our problem. Unfortunately, too many of our members think that lip service is sufficient for success. At no point in the history of mankind has this theory been proven, and there is little indication that it ever will. I have heard some of our members say that fraternities are dying, and I have seen chapters pledge purely numbers to offset this death. There is no surer way to kill the fraternity movement than with this type of thinking and acting. If Pi Kappa Alpha, and her sister fraternities, are to live and prosper, we need to develop unceasing loyalty and devotion to the principles we hold. Lip service must be replaced by calculated action, and future members must be rigidly trained to carry on this fight. It is no longer sufficient to have "just members". We would be better to have but six men of honor and principle than sixty men with empty promises of dedication. Each day our actions must bring credit to our creed, and each hour our creed must strengthen our thinking. If we cannot do this as members of Pi Kappa Alpha, we have no place in our fraternity. The times do not allow for weak links in a world of varied pressures, and our way of life cannot survive without strong bonds of brotherhood.

President John F. Kennedy, in his inaugural speech, told the American people not to ask, "What can our government do for us, but rather, what can we do for our country". Using these fine words we could then say to our brothers, "What can you do for your fraternity? Are you willing to sit back and watch ninety-two years of glorious history die on the vine when it should be coming into full bloom?" Let us cast aside disloyalty and strive to make our fraternity the very best. We do not want the pages of our history to show us as cowards, unwilling to fight for the principles we have sworn to uphold. Speak out to our adversaries. Let it be known that we are men of strong character, proud to call each other Brother. Alumnus and student member, reaffirm your oath. Ahead lie unheard of horizons of success. They are Pi Kappa Alpha's for the doing. Can Pi Kappa Alpha count on you?

Dr. Earp and his lovely daughter, Betty, who is currently serving as Dream Girl of Gamma-Phi Chapter.

Dr. Earp— A Faculty Advisor In Finest Tradition

BY DAVID FORSYTHE

One of the most obvious reasons for the success of Gamma Phi at Wake Forest College is the role that Dr. C. B. Earp has played as faculty advisor to the chapter.

Gamma Phi owes more to Dr. Earp, Professor of Classical Languages and Literature, and alumnus of the class of '26, than can ever be repaid in monetary values.

Not only has Dr. Earp alone been responsible for much of Pi Kappa Alpha's progress, but a great deal of credit is due to his family. His lovely wife Gladys entertains all the Dean's List Pikas for supper once a semester and is the permanent Dream Girl. Their attractive daughter Betty, a senior this year at Wake, is the reigning student Dream Girl, and is pinned to one of the brothers.

Dr. Earp, who received his BA and PhD at Columbia University, taught at three northern schools before returning to his alma mater in 1940, when the school was still located at Wake Forest, North Carolina. Although not a fraternity man in his undergraduate days at Wake because fraternities were neither legal nor national until his freshman year and therefore were not very strong, Dr. Earp was approached by the brothers of Gamma Phi when World War II called the services of the previous advisor. After carefully considering the proposition and consulting several professors who were serving as advisors for other fraternities, he accepted the post in 1943 and has served continuously in this capacity for 18 years.

During these years Dr. Earp has been father and friend to nearly 1,000 brothers of Pi Kappa Alpha. Included among these are New York Yankee pitcher Tommy Byrne, Howard Phillips, president of the Alabama College and Luther Barnhart, attorney-general of North Carolina.

Among the many students who have brought problems to him, Dr. Earp recalls the Pika who had been dismissed from school because of low grades. Upon his reinstatement Dr. Earp called him into his office, looked him straight in the eye, and said, "Are you too dumb to pass or just too lazy?" The boy was so mad that he decided to spite Dr. Earp and make good grades, which, Dr. Earp humorously adds, he did. He is now a successful lawyer in North Carolina.

Again Dr. Earp recalls the time he bawled out the entire fraternity for a stunt they had pulled. One week later, wondering if he had said too much and wondering whether the boys would ever speak to him again, he went to the weekly meeting. To his complete surprise, the chapter presented him with a new suit of clothes for his interest and effort to do what was best for the brothers.

Typical of Dr. Earp's attitude toward Pi Kappa Alpha is the time the brothers asked him to sit for a portrait which now hangs in the foyer of the new chapter house on the new campus in Winston-Salem. His first question was, "Does any brother object to it?" His second was, "Can we afford it?"

On another occasion Dr. Earp was asked to serve as the District President but refused because it would mean he would have to devote less time to Gamma Phi, his first love.

Dr. Earp's theory on being a faculty advisor is simple and sound. He tries to know each new pledge as well as possible. The first thing after a boy pledges, Dr. Earp always reads the boy's file so he will know in what areas to expect problems. Then after getting to know the boy, Dr. Earp treats him like his own son. If effect, he adopts the whole chapter. In this way, when a problem arises, the brother or pledge will feel free to come to "Doc" and talk frankly with him.

For all his contributions, Dr. Earp states that he receives the most satisfaction when the members of Gamma Phi call him "brother" and treat him like one. He dislikes the formal barrier between students and faculty and relishes the term "brother C. B." By his own admission, he feels more at ease with students than with professors and it has been said of him that he enjoys the parties more than the brothers. He never gives advice, only helps the student see the problem more clearly.

Despite his tremendous service to the brothers of Gamma Phi, Dr. Earp stoutly maintains that the boys have made more of a contribution to him than he has to them.

Such is Gamma Phi's beloved Dr. Earp.

Delta-Gamma Earns Sports Trophy

The brothers of Delta Gamma chapter at Miami University have been working hard to retain the All-Sports trophy awarded by the Interfraternity Council each year. This is the second consecutive year that the Pikes have won this award.

Delta Gamma is also in possession of the Thomas P. Van Voorhis cup which is awarded for outstanding sportsmanship displayed in Intramural competition.

Pi Beta Phi sorority provided the opposition in the annual "Pi" bowl football game, a popular fall social calendar event.

October 16 proved to be a big day for Delta Gamma chapter as thirteen men were initiated into the bonds. There are twelve other men working to become "Brothers" in our fall pledge class.

Auburn Stresses Scholarship

In the sports arena Upsilon Chapter was well represented with a successful volleyball team and a phenomenal softball team which lost only one game the entire season. This softball nine won the intramural league championship while posting this outstanding record.

Scholarship swung upward to heights unattained in any quarter during the last few years. As of mid-quarter nearly half the active chapter held close to "B" averages, and all indications point to a record high in the scholastic field.

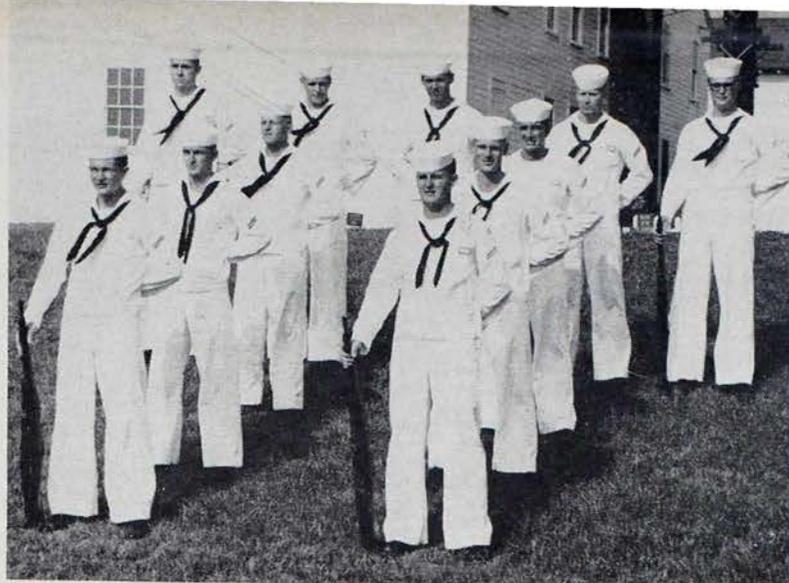

Moving day is rapidly approaching. This long awaited day when Upsilon moves into its new lodge has at last turned from a dream into a reality. According to all reports, this lodge of Upsilon will be the largest PiKA house and the second largest fraternity house in the nation. Designed in Old English style, this massive structure will house sixty brothers and pledges in its spacious thirty dormitory units. This expansion marks another step forward for Upsilon in its drive to reach a position of unexcelled excellence in the realm of fraternal life.

The high point of all summer activity was rush weekend. The festive weekend this summer was directed quite capably by Bill Smith and proved to be one of the most successful in Upsilon's history. Included in the weekend were parties in Opelika, at the Plainsman Club in Auburn, and at the Pike lodge. Over sixty high school boys from five southern states were in attendance.

The award is made annually on the basis of civic and community contributions of the individuals as well as their scientific and technical achievements. Awardees are selected by an Award Jury from names of Chicago area scientists and engineers submitted by the 50 member societies of the Chicago Technical Societies Council.

Brother Young was a nominee both of the Chicago Chapter, American Institute of Chemists, which he served as Chairman, and of the Chicago Section, American Chemical Society, which he served as a member of the Education Committee and as a popular member of the Speaker Bureau.

Mr. Young is one of the leading inventors in the petroleum industry. Many of his 180 United States patents and 450 foreign patents are the basis for important commercial processes and products. One of these is a synthetic lubricant for turbo-jet aircraft engines and the Army's Explorer rockets. He is a consultant for the U. S. Chemical Warfare Services and the U. S. Air Force and the Chicago Art Institute.

A talented violinist, he plays his Stradivarius in the Chicago Heights Symphony Orchestra, at Glee Club Concerts, and as part of the talk he has given (under A.C.S. auspices) some thirty times before civic, school, and university groups on the subject, "Stradivarius: Musician and Chemist"

Mr. Young was born in Oblong, Illinois, and then moved with his parents to Kexington, Kentucky, where he obtained his B.S. and M.S. degrees in industrial chemistry at the University of Kentucky. He now resides at 18508 Clyde Avenue in Homewood, Illinois, with Mrs. Young and daughter, Susan.

IRAC Resolution

At a recent meeting of the Interfraternity Research Advisory Council, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Resolved that I.R.A.C. recommends that educational goals and academic achievement should be recognized as the primary objectives of active chapter members and should be emphasized by all fraternity and sorority groups; that an earnest study and re-evaluation of participation in many time-wasting and effort-demanding extra-curricular activities and of the presentation and overproduction of too many Greek-letter activities and events should be made; and that to this end, local IFCs and local Panhellenics should be urged to study and resolve this problem on their respective college campuses in conjunction with interested college officials."

Gov. Meadows of West Virginia Dies

BY FREEMAN H. HART

The last few weeks have brought the shocking news that another of Pi Kappa Alpha's distinguished brothers has entered the Chapter Eternal in the person of Clarence W. Meadows, who as Governor of West Virginia, guided her through some of the trying days of the second World War and its aftermath.

Clarence Meadows was born in Beckley, West Virginia, in February of 1904. He was educated at Georgia Military Academy, Washington and Lee, and University of Alabama. His own state University honored him with an LL.D. After completing his law work at Alabama, he was admitted to the bar in both Alabama and West Virginia and soon thereafter to the various graduations of courts, County and on up to the Supreme Court of the United States.

Again like the old Romans he ran the course of honors from local government participation to the highest position in his state. He served a term in the state legislature and then as prosecuting attorney for his county. He was next elected attorney general of his state and then re-elected but before he served his term he was appointed a judge of the state court system. He was re-elected but again before he served out his term his integrity and worth were recognized by the people of West Virginia when they elevated him to the highest honor they could bestow and looked to him for leadership in the trying war years of the forties. After his term as Governor, he entered the challenging field of public relations counseling with notable success.

Governor Meadows's activities included service in the National Guard, trusteeships of several colleges and universities, community and state charitable services, and membership in numerous clubs, both active and honorary. He married Nancy Ryals Massie in 1935 and four charming daughters graced this union.

Clarence Meadows was always a loyal Pi Kappa Alpha after his pledging and initiation into Pi chapter at Washington and Lee. He was ever the gracious host to Pi Kappa Alphas who visited him at his various political offices on up to the executive offices and mansion of the State of West Virginia. He attended at least one national convention, that at Cincinnati, and quietly participated in its activities. The writer had one particularly cherished association with him when he was a fellow guest of honor at a dinner in Charleston, West Virginia, during his term as Governor. The host for the occasion, one of the largest gatherings of Pi Kappa Alphas in that area, was Charles K. Payne, Epsilon (Va. Poly. Institute), who like Dr. George Summey, was an active Pi Kappa Alpha for nearly four score years, along with being a pioneer glass manufacturer in the United States. Governor Meadows introduced the writer as the speaker for the occasion.

Governor Meadows in his service and loyalty nobly exemplified the true worth of the garnet and old gold. He was a Pi Kappa Alpha in all of the cherished meaning of the words, and at the name, and the idea.

What Is A Fraternity?

Reprinted by permission of the College Fraternity Secretaries Association

There are many definitions . . . a fraternity is an organization that has as its purpose the creation of friendships among boys which will continue as men . . . its purpose should be, through the interchange of ideas, proper use of information provided, plus an abundance of inspiration from many sources, TO PRODUCE A BETTER MAN. Is a fraternity a means or an end? Properly considered, it is a means, but its end is not achieved when a man graduates . . . it should have provided the impetus to carry him through life. No fraternity should forget its partners in making better men: the family, the church and the school.

*William W.
Staton*

STATON Named Democratic Committeeman

William W. Staton, Gamma-Phi (Wake Forest), has been named North Carolina Democratic National Committeeman by Governor Terry Sanford. A forty-four year old crew cut lawyer, he is conceded to know no less than 5,000 of his fellow campaigners, office holders, and hopefuls. His political creed is based on the belief that a people-to-people contact is the basic step out of which political victory is accomplished.

He has been a guiding hand in four intensive state-wide campaigns including that which elected Senator Broughton in 1948. In 1954 he was an area campaign manager for W. Kerr Scott in his successful bid for the U. S. Senate and in 1959 he was the key man in the organization and direction of the successful campaign for governor by Terry Sanford.

A former trustee of Wake Forest College, he states that essential ingredients of successful politics is a will to win, an interest in good government, ideas and idealism. "You can be a liberal or a conservative, but you must believe in basic honesty in government."

Drake Increases Membership

Delta-Omicron chapter at Drake University has the second largest pledge class on campus this fall. This year Drake had 130 men pledge nine national fraternities. Of this number, Pi Kappa Alpha pledged 21.

Much of this success was due to aid of James Callahan, resident counsellor, sent to Delta-Omicron this fall as a transfer from Alpha-Rho chapter, Ohio State University.

The pledge class members come from all sections of the U. S. Included are: John David Anderson, Brea, California; Stephen Noah Finkle, Glencoe, Illinois; John Charles Hartung, Bettendorf, Iowa; Roger Wood Karp, Fort Dodge, Iowa; Peter Allen Kooi, Lansing, Illinois; Thomas Vincent Reith, Oran, Iowa; Lee A. Schwartz, Springfield, Illinois; Kenneth Roy Silver, Altoona, Iowa; Ronald Frank Tanler, St. Louis, Missouri; Jack Allen Wright, Waterloo, Iowa; Walter T. Neighbour, Chariton, Iowa; Robert Severn Cadmen, Olympia Fields, Illinois; James C. Johnson, Mason City, Iowa; Henry N. Patten, Claremont, New Hampshire; Terry E. Fraccaro, Matteson, Illinois; Michael K. Oelrich, Sioux Center, Iowa; Frederick Halter, Long Island, New York; Charles A. Hempfling, Chicago, Illinois; Louis A. Gatta, Chicago, Illinois; and Walter M. Thiel; Chicago, Illinois.

Pledges Lou Gatta and Walter Thiel are varsity members of the Drake football team, while pledging Hempfling is a varsity basketball letterman. Phil Renkes was elected to the Inter-fraternity Judicial Court; Walter Lane, Homecoming Trophies chairman; Paul Ramsaier, Constitution Revision Board; and Jim Callahan, Greek Week King Candidate.

Mrs. Clark Iowa Housemother

Gamma Nu is beginning this school year with a new housemother, Mrs. Gladys Clark. Mother Clark is formerly of Waverly, Iowa. The University atmosphere is not new to her, since she had two daughters graduate from Iowa and one is an undergraduate now. The transition from private life to housemother for 49 men could be difficult, but Mother Clark has successfully spanned the gap.

We have 36 fine new pledges. Due to an extensive summer rush program spearheaded by Dick Ross, our rush chairman, eight men were pledged, placing the Pikes third out of 21 fraternities on campus. Twenty-eight men were pledged during formal rush week; this number was highest on campus. This brings the house to capacity plus; however, new internal improvements have made living quite comfortable.

Two PiKA transfers are adding their strength to the chapter this year. Jim Wilson has come to us from ΔΦ at Iowa State, and Bill Crosby from AI at Millsaps College. Jim is our new scholarship chairman, and Bill is our Resident Counselor.

At present we are building a Homecoming float with the Delta Zeta sorority. With the theme of "Let's go 'bowl'ing," we hope to top last year's accomplishment of first prize in originality.

In addition to the traditional Winter Formal, French Party, and Dream Girl Formal, an Hawaiian Luau has been included on the social calendar.

Strong Pike intramural teams are participating in all sports. Our touch football team remains undefeated. PiKA volley ball and bowling teams are in the semi-finals of interfraternity competition.

Xi Chapter Sponsors Alumni Association

The Fall Rush Season has just come to a close at the University of South Carolina, and Pi Kappa Alpha pledged the top sixteen men out for Rush.

Xi Chapter at the University of South Carolina is very proud of the sixteen fine gentlemen we have accepted into the fold. The majority of the new Pledges are upper-classmen who have already shown their leadership potential in various facets of campus life. For this reason, this Pledge Class could prove to be the best group that has entered the Fraternity since its founding on the Carolina campus in 1891.

An Alumni Association in Columbia, S.C. has been formed at Xi Chapter, and after having held several meetings, the alumni are now taking an active part in the Fraternity's activities. Xi's Alumnus Counselor, Parker Evatt, is serving as President of the Association and Glenn Gainey as Secretary-Treasurer.

The Association is small at present, and members cordially extend an invitation to any alumnus of Pi Kappa Alpha to join the Association. If only just to say hello, the fellows would like to see you.

During the Spring semester of last year each pledge participated in a seventeen-week training program. Each man was observed in his effort to learn what Pi Kappa Alpha offers a young college man. Many weeks were devoted to a study of the responsibilities of a fraternity member. Xi Chapter is justly proud of the fourteen men who were initiated into the bonds of brotherhood at the Shandon Presbyterian Church October first.

We are anxious to see them step in with great zeal and accept the duties and responsibilities which lie ahead.

The PiKA's of Xi Chapter are once again well-represented on the South Carolina Gamecock football team. Running the first unit is Jim Costen, a senior who has two varsity season's experience. He previously has been plagued with injuries and hard luck, but this year he has drawn praise from coaches, teammates, and opposition. Jim was injured mid-way of last season, after being a pre-season All-State selection, but he has bounced back this year to show why many believe he throws harder and with more accuracy than anyone in the conference.

The man who has been called "pound for pound, the best football player in the nation", is 140 pound Tommy Pilcher. He has amazed fans with his great courage and quarterbacking ability. Tommy also does the punting for the team and is averaging about forty yards per kick.

We would not imply that our Fraternity caters to athletes, because our members have varied interests that are representative of every type of college man, but we deem it quite unusual that our newest Pledge, Dave Sowell, makes each 1961 varsity quarterback a member of Pi Kappa Alpha. Dave also serves as co-captain of the team. Dave, a service veteran, has plunged back after a serious leg injury to show why he is always considered a threat on land or in the air.

Billy Gambrell, an All-American candidate, holds the right-halfback position. Coach Marvin Bass says Billy has that little wrinkle which all great runners possess. He has electrified fans with his uncanny ability to escape tacklers.

Other PIKA's on the varsity squad are: halfback Sammy Anderson; center Clark Waring; and guard Richard Kohn.

Ohio University Earns Awards

The brothers of Gamma Omicron chapter at Ohio University, Athens, Ohio, have enjoyed a very successful year of activities and accomplishments.

Gamma Omicron has won the Pauly Award for best chapter publication for the second consecutive year and we now have the Scholarship Award for highest average of all chapters.

Other national awards include fourth in alumni relations (Knight-Hickman), sixth in community service (President's Service Award), and fourth in general chapter proficiency (Robert A. Smythe).

On September 17, 18, and 19 Gamma Omicron held a retreat at Camp Otyokwa, located in the Hocking Hills State Park, about forty miles from Athens. The purpose of the retreat was to make plans for the year.

Following the opening ritual, individual committee meetings were held and plans made for each office. On Sunday evening we drove to Logan, about 15 miles from the camp, and enjoyed a supper at Brother Ed Hockman's home.

We also enjoyed football, hiking, and swimming before the post-initiate training for new actives and closing ceremonies.

For Homecoming, 1961, twenty alumni members of Gamma Omicron were guests for the weekend, including Clarence P. Bryan, one of the founders of our chapter. Brother Bryan's son, Bill, is a present member of the Gamma Omicron chapter.

the house and cleaned up the yard. Also we have completed our yard by having 9,000 cubic yards of dirt hauled in. The yard has been fertilized, seeded, and shrubbery planted. We plan to develop a picnic area. At the present time we have the largest plot of fraternity property at Ohio University.

In May, 1961, thirteen pledges were initiated into Pi Kappa Alpha at Gamma Omicron. This fall during the September rush, we pledged ten, the largest pledge class for fall rush in Gamma Omicron's history. There are now fifty Pi Kappa Alpha members and pledges at Ohio University, compared with thirteen four years ago.

Alabama Plans New House

The big news from Gamma Alpha this year is plans for our new house. Our alumni have gotten together and in a few short months have raised over one-fourth of their allotted goal. We are at present negotiating loans from both the National Office and the University of Alabama. We expect to begin construction within a year.

Rush Week this year yielded twenty-three fine men. They have the spirit to lead Gamma Alpha in the future. Under the pledge program of Milton Nabors and the scholarship program of Dave Chestnutt, we hope to initiate a large percentage of them. Brother Chestnutt's program includes responsibilities for members too.

The sports outlook this year is good. The football team shows great promise under the leadership of Reese Hunt.

Under the watchful eye of the ThC Steve Brown, we are retiring our present debt so as to be ready to finance our new house. We have made fine progress over the past year.

Colorado Says Y'all Come

Beta-Upsilon Chapter, University of Colorado, enjoyed its annual rompin', stompin' pledge formal, best known on the campus as The Barn Dance. This "swinger" is held every fall and is reputed to be the best social event of the year on the Colorado campus. The entire student body is invited to attend and the size of the crowd is always indicative of the popularity of the dance.

To kick things off, the active chapter challenges the pledge class to a beard shaving contest which is sponsored and publicized by Remington Rand. The contest is held during the dance and whoever shaves his growth off the quickest is awarded an electric shaver by the company. The beards are used for publicity on campus for the coming "stomp".

The Barn Dance Queen Contest is sponsored by the pledges. Each of C.U.'s sixteen sororities is asked to nominate one of their pledges as a candidate in this sweat shirt, levi, and straw hat beauty contest. Then our pledges elect their queen who is presented with a trophy during the dance.

To authenticate this quaint event, all of the brothers and pledges purchase a cider jug, Snuffy Smith style, which is filled with "mountain dew" and other vile concoctions known to moonshiners. These jugs are decorated with various humorous paintings, descriptions, and lyrics.

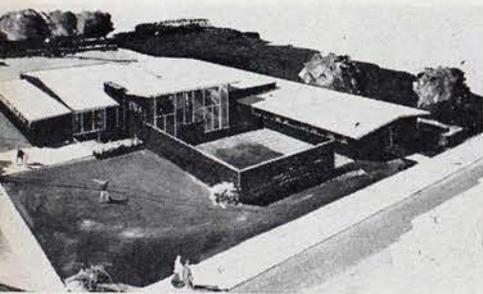

Guests are transported by truck to Charlie's Barn, setting for the dance. Everyone enters through the hay loft and slides down a chute to the floor below, where a hillbilly band whoops it up in true western style.

This "You-All Come" affair was a big success as clearly seen in the beauty of the queen, and the victory of the actives over the pledges in the "chin extension" shaving contest. Twenty-seven barn dances have preceded this 1961 pledge class and the twenty-eighth provided these pledges with memories they will never forget.

Gamma-Delta's new $168,000 home at the University of Arizona.

Arizona Occupies New House

Last year the University of Arizona was selected by the National Interfraternity Council as having the number one interfraternity council in the nation. Gamma-Delta Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha is pleased that it is the fastest growing fraternity on campus of the thirty national fraternities.

Two years ago the PiKA's had a seven-man house and eleven members. Last year we moved up to a twenty-three man house with forty five members. After formal rush this fall Gamma-Delta has a membership of fifty five men in a new $168,000, forty-two man house.

Not only has the growth of the past two years been important but also the achievements during that time. Gamma-Delta started the two year period of growth with the all-University first place in pledge, active, and house scholarship. Last semester thirty-three actives achieved a 2.3 grade average. For the past two years the pledge classes have won the U of A IFPC "Help Week" trophy, for civic service, and plan to win it this year and thereby enable them to retire the trophy.

Doug Dunipace was chosen as the most outstanding senior graduating from the University of Arizona last year, and was voted into Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. He received a Phi Beta Kappa key, and was chosen a member of the senior scholastic honorary. During his undergraduate days, Doug participated in many student body activities.

Jon Kyl, Gamma Delta's outstanding initiate 1961, is a member of the Sophomore Men's Honorary, and active in the IFC. Brother Kyl as a member of the U of A Debate Squad is considered one of the nation's top debaters.

The undisputed leaders of the campus religious organizations, Bob Hassered is presently the IFC Chaplain, and has held the office of president of the Student Religion Council for the past two years. A pre-formal "warmup" party was held at Eddie Peabody's house. He is the world's most renowned banjo player. Brother Peabody gained the distinction of being Gamma-Delta's oldest initiate last year. His son, Eddie Peabody, Jr., participated in his initiation.

The new chapter officers are Gordon Blount SMC, Albert Liddicoat IMC, Bill Suhonen THC, and Steve Crawford SC. Helping Gamma Delta is our wonderful new house mother, Mrs. Elkins. Originally from Wales, "Mom" is putting her experience as a guest ranch manager to invaluable use for Gamma Delta.

To anyone lucky enough to be in the "Old Pueblo" (Tucson, Arizona) we extend a cordial invitation to visit us at 1525 E. Drachman.

Northwestern Holds Informal Parties

Gamma Rho chapter at Northwestern began the school year by pledging twenty boys from Colorado to Pennsylvania. Two members of the pledge class are sophomores, one of whom transferred from Oberlin College. Special credit should be given to our Rush Chairman, Ed Kapustka.

Northwestern Pikes have enjoyed a series of Fall informals. Several house parties and exchanges and a Hawaiian Luau at the Hotel Knickerbocker in Chicago's Loop have kept brothers busy during the first weeks of the school year. The chapter's well-known Purple Passion Party and the annual Splash Party at the Sheraton-Chicago Hotel will round out the formal social schedule.

Idaho State First In Pledging

After only one semester of activation, Epsilon Rho at Idaho State College has grown from the smallest fraternity on campus to the second largest. The Pikes made a clean sweep over other fraternities in fall rush by pledging twenty-three of the best men on campus. Highlighting the rush program was a "Monte Carlo" night held in Pocatello's best supper club. Plans are now being made for a fall rush program which will begin in November. The goal is 25 pledges.

Climbing Red Hill was the first project of our new pledge class. Red Hill is ISC's traditional geological feature which harbors the "I" for Idaho State. Above the "I" the letters ΠKA were formed from white lime. These letters may be seen from anywhere in the city.

In campus politics this fall, Tom McLaughlin, our SMC, was elected Senior class vice president.

"Roaring 20's" was the theme of the Pikes first big social event of the year. The entire hall in which the party was held was transformed into "Louie's Speakeasy"—complete with periodic raids.

Colorado State Wins Sweepstakes Trophy

Dean William F. O'Zee, dean of men at Colorado State University, was initiated into the bonds on May 26, 1961 at a special ceremony that was attended by the following alumni; M. S. McClaran, Glenn Sheppard, and Walter (Dutch) Osterhoudt who is president of District twenty five.

Dean O'Zee was born in Fort Worth, Texas. He has attended the following colleges; Northwestern State, Texas Wesleyan, Oklahoma A. and M. and the University of Texas. Before coming to C.S.U. he was a part of the staff of the Division of Housing and Food Services at the University of Texas. He is now studying at Colorado State College for a doctor's degree in psychology. He is a member of Phi Delta Kappa, educational honorary fraternity.

Last spring Epsilon Theta won the coveted sweepstakes trophy during college days. The trophy had previously been won for three consecutive years by the American Veterinary Medical Association and the Greeks on campus were happy to see it back in the hands of fellow Greeks. The theme for the parade was "Records of the West," and the theme for our float was "The Treaty." The float consisted of two gigantic figures, a cavalryman and an Indian, who were sitting on the prairie and discussing a treaty. The heads, arms, mouths, eyes, and eyebrows on the figures all moved and the figures frequently changed expression. We also received a first place trophy in the contest which had twenty-four entries.

During spring quarter we pledged thirteen fine men, and thus far this fall quarter we have pledged nine more. Spring quarter's pledge class was outstanding scholastically and earned a 2.85 average out of a possible 4.00. This was good enough to win the I.F.C. Pledge Scholastic Trophy. The top pledge scholastically was James Cline who attained a 4.00 in electrical engineering.

Lovely Marilyn Mooney, KKT, date of S.M.C. Sal Villano was chosen as our Dream Girl at our annual dance last spring.

Our goals for the future are to pledge at least fifteen good men per quarter, remain high in scholarship and to successfully defend our Class B football championship.

Texas Men Give Popular Serenades

Beta-Mu began what promises to be one of its most successful years on the University of Texas campus by pledging twenty-six men at the end of formal rush week. Through the hard work of Ronnie Rosen, summer rush captain, and Buddy Rogers, newly elected rush captain, Beta-Mu has succeeded in securing a well-balanced group of men.

An altogether new and different singing group has been formed by the chapter this fall. It consists of sixteen members and pledges whose singing is accented by a banjo, two guitars, and a snare drum. Under the smooth direction of Joe Latting, the group has sung at sorority and boarding houses near the campus. The program is always very informal and usually consists of songs such as "Cottonfields," "Down By The Riverside," and "Wimoweh." Reports are that groups have greatly enjoyed this new innovation in fraternity serenades.

Buddy Boudloche and Don Porter were elected to the Cowboys, honorary service organization for outstanding campus leaders.

The new pledges of Beta-Mu began their varied community projects on October 25, by giving a party for members of the State Home for Retarded Children. This is one of a great many ways in which Pi Kappa Beta-Mu Chapter proudly introduces its 1961 fall pledge class of twenty-three men, University of Texas.

Alpha at the University of Texas continues to serve the community and in doing so instills in its members a sense of charity and understanding for community problems.

Cincinnati Has Dream Girl Day

Alpha Xi started the school year with a tremendously successful rush program which netted fifty-three pledges, highest total of any fraternity on the U. C. campus.

During the first week of rush, we held our annual Dream Girl Banquet at one of Cincinnati's most exclusive restaurants, The Colony. A short welcome was given to the rushmen and guests by Carl W. Rich, a prominent Cincinnati judge and civic leader. The highlight of the evening was the presentation of our current Dream Girl, Miss Toni Sillman, past Dream Girls, and the current National Dream Girl, Miss Mary Kappas.

On the 23rd of September, our Dream Girl met with Cincinnati mayor, Walton Bachrach, and received a proclamation declaring it "Official PiKA Dream Girl Day" in Cincinnati. After her meeting with Mayor Bachrach, Toni was taken to some of the fashionable shops to pick out a new wardrobe, a gift of the chapter.

Comedian Bob Hope christens the 1928 Dodge fire engine of Gamma-Epsilon Chapter, Utah State University.

Utah State Buys Fire Engine

Gamma Epsilon is ready for a great year on the Utah State Campus. We are very pleased to add our fire engine to the growing list of chapters who have already acquired one. It is a 1928 model Dodge and despite its age, runs like a new car. We have been able to use it as a very effective means of rushing and campaigning. The sparkling red paint job can be attributed to the pledge class of last year whose members devoted their time and talents to Gamma Epsilon's pride and joy. The chapter was highly honored last spring when Bob Hope visited the campus and christened the engine with a bottle of champagne.

Another new edition to the house is the lettering ΠΚΑ which appears on the front of the house and is lighted at night. The pledge class of 1960-61 donated this to the house. We regard it as a much needed identifying symbol of the fraternity on this campus.

The house will soon be decorated with new drapes which are being presented by the Mother's Club. The chapter sincerely appreciates the support of the mothers.

The chapter is fortunate in placing many men in important positions on campus this year—Tim Healy, student body president; Ken Anderton, Senior class president, and Jed Pitcher, business senator. Mike Sweet is the intramural manager for the Inter Fraternity Council on campus and Jed Pitcher is publicity manager. Sterling and Keith Larsen are our delegates to I.F.C.

The officers for the chapter this year are Dee Lambert S.M.C., Sterling Larsen I.M.C., Jerry Biddulph, S. C. Lynn Cook, Historian, Roger Peterson, M.S. Gary Moss, M.C. and Jed Pitcher, Thc.

Rush has been going strong since the beginning of school and is now in its last week. The brothers have planned and enjoyed various types of parties including informal dances, a western party, a hayride; an athletic night in the gym as well as special luncheons and dinners for the rushees. A very successful final rush banquet was held and the chapter was very fortunate in having John Browning, former field secretary, as our guest speaker. Heber Whiting, our alumnus counselor, also gave an outstanding speech at the banquet. Other guests of honor included our lovely dream girl, Miss Judy Larsen, housemother Ione Webb, District President Theron Parmlee and several dignitaries from the University.

SMU Wins In Tennis

Still feeling the successes of last year, Beta-Zeta Pikes at Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Texas, began building the new school year in rip-roarin' fashion with the hopes that greater strides may be taken this year.

Finishing second in League A fraternity tennis play, PiKA toppled Kappa Alpha, Sigma Chi, Sigma Alpha Mu, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and Lambda Chi Alpha. All five victories were 3-0. Only Beta Theta Pi, the league champion, was able to defeat our chapter.

Leading the tennis team to their victories were Dick Bywaters, John Clark, Don Ligon, George Taylor, Joe LaFoy, Richard Pool, Ian McDonald, and Gerard Rickey. In this sport 58 points were scored by PiKA toward the interfraternity all-sports trophy.

Though they gained no trophy, the Pike football team tallied up several striking wins. Pledges and actives playing for the fraternity team included John Coil, Tim Smith, Richard Pannell, Buman Ginsberg, Joe LaFoy, Ian McDonald, George Taylor, Bob Trammell, Kenneth Whitehorn, Richard Pool, Terry Dahlman, Jim Johnson, and David Bratten. The Pike team scored 51 points toward the all-sports award on the gridiron.

In addition to sports victories, two brothers received scholarships for the fall semester. The Gooch Journalism Award, a half-tuition scholarship, was awarded to Bill Hunter. Ron Wilkinson was presented a scholastic grant from the university.

Terry Dahlman was chosen one of the "13 friendliest boys on campus" at the September Say-Hey Day activities.

Bill Hunter, president of the Dallas undergraduate chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism fraternity, was elected the university delegate to the 52nd annual journalism convention in Miami Beach in October.

closed rush. With the addition of seven new brothers, the chapter brought the total number of men initiated into Beta-Zeta up to 615.

An unusual situation occurred when Pi Kappa Alpha at SMU pledged Jim Johnson and Kenneth Whitehorn. In the process of getting acquainted with their pledge class, the two discovered, through inquiry of their backgrounds, that the Johnson and Whitehorn families had been good friends in the 1940's, when both of their fathers were stationed in Japan. In the final analysis, it was discovered that the two BZ pledges had attended kindergarten together, but had neither seen nor heard of the other since their families moved back to the States.

Ohio State Tops All Men's Average

Rush Week 1961 at Ohio State again proved successful as the men of Alpha Rho pledged twenty-six new men. Adding to this our returning pledge class of fifteen, gives us a total of forty-one pledges, one of the largest groups on campus. Eleven of these men hope to become actives during Fall initiation.

Chapter officers elected include: Jerry Palmer, S.M.C.; Dave Heigle, I.M.C.; Andy Andrews, Th.C., and John Barlow, S.C.

Brother Palmer is also a member of Interfraternity Court and Brother Barlow is a student senator. Other Pi Kappa Alpha's in campus activities include John Creamer, Executive Secretary of the Interfraternity System, and Ben Jones, student senator.

At our quarterly scholarship achievement banquet, brothers Bob White and Cornell Hopkins were honored for outstanding pledge achievement last year. Active grades for the past year were good as we averaged 2.54, well above the all men's average.

Bankus Elected At William and Mary

Gamma chapter is now halfway through its football season, both intramural and varsity, represented in the latter by sophomore halfback Dick Kern. The results of the intramural football scores should bring PiKa into third or fourth place in overall point standings. Gamma emerged in sixth place in the intramural swimming meet with junior Tom Vice and senior Buzz Kersman turning in top performances.

Homecoming provided another chance for PiKa to show its ability as our float received honors for placing third. Its construction was guided mainly by pledge Bill Pippin and Col. Marcus Gewinner with the rest of the brotherhood in moral support.

PiKa has two representatives on the President's Aid at William and Mary this year in the personages of Paul Bankus and John Black. Both of these brothers are seniors and have had distinguished records of school leadership in the past. John Black was president of last year's junior class. Even though John was not able to run for re-election this year the senior class retained its PiKa leadership by electing Paul Bankus its president. Paul is also chairman of the Student Government Dance Committee and John has been appointed to direct the Campus Student Center.

Miami, Florida Seeks Fire Engine

Number one on campus—that is the rating fall rushers gave Gamma-Omega as more rushers accepted Pike bids than any other fraternity at The University of Miami. At the close of rush the total was sixty-four pledges. On October 1, seven pledges from last spring were initiated as brothers.

We are working towards winning both the 'A' and 'B' League Intramural Trophies. In football both teams are undefeated and in tennis Gamma-Omega is well up in the standings. We held the first party of the season and since have had numerous pool-side parties and mixers.

In Homecoming this fall both the actives and pledges worked together to build a float and decorations in front of the house, with both winning awards! We then combined efforts with Alpha Chi Omega Sorority and helped them build an award winning float in the Sorority Class.

The past school year was climaxed with the selection of Miss Diana Ewing, Delta Delta Delta, as our Dream Girl. The Dream Girl Weekend was held at Key West, which is the southernmost part of the continental United States. In Intramurals Gamma-Omega placed second in total points and just missed retiring the cup. Louis A. Carricarte was elected SBC for the fall semester.

In trying to uphold a countrywide Pike tradition, we have been searching fervently but unsuccessfully, for a fire truck. We will appreciate any letters concerning the whereabouts of one that we might be able to purchase.

Emory Pikes Win In Wrestling

During the past year the Emory Pikes have made tremendous improvements. Some notable interfraternal accomplishments last year included: second place in football, second place in volley ball and first place in heavyweight wrestling. Also the House was improved by addition of a new tile floor in the hall and a new roof.

Though small, Beta Kappa chapter has never lost its interest, and thanks to much hard work and a good rush week the chapter has doubled its size since last year. With the new boys and the great spirit of the chapter the Pikes should go far on the Emory campus this year.

Wittenberg Occupies Remodeled Home

Gamma-Zeta Chapter at Wittenberg University moved into its new house at 1027 N. Fountain Avenue in September.

A former doctor's office, some remodeling and redecorating were necessary. The bathroom, an archway, and a stairway were put in by contractors. All the other remodeling and redecorating work was completed by the brothers of Gamma-Zeta. Rooms were cleaned and painted, walls papered, rugs put down, and curtains made.

Special thanks for the realization of our new house must be extended to Pastor Edward H. Orinson, secretary of the House Corporation. At the dedication of the new house on October 14, 1961 Brother Orinson received a plaque honoring him for his endeavors. Approximately twenty-five alumni and their wives were present for the dedication of the house and the luncheon.

The chapter basketball team placed second in the District 5 tournament held on the Ohio State campus in February.

The annual Dream Girl Formal was held in April with Miss Suzette Latimore named as Dream Girl.

In the homecoming display contest we placed third out of the eight fraternities on campus. The game was played against Marietta College. The theme of the display was "Witt Players Presents, String Up the Mari-on-ettas."

Chapter membership is now at a total of thirty active members. The pledge class received the pledge scholarship trophy for being the outstanding pledge class in overall scholarship. Ron Gilbert, Miamisburg, Ohio, received a three hundred dollar scholarship from the National Office for being the outstanding pledge. The chapter historical sketch compiled by Brothers Gerald Switzer and Paul Daehling received second place nationally for its excellence.

Our season actually began one week before school when all the Brothers showed up at the house to redecorate. After the preliminary work was completed, the social season began at full tilt. Our chapter is unique on Carnegie's campus in that our dance room is completely repainted and redecorated with murals to match the theme of each party. Our first party of the year was a "Camelot" party, with room painted as a courtyard, and the guests dressed in medieval costumes. Preparations are now underway for Homecoming and a Fortieth Anniversary Banquet.

Ambulance Transports Cornell Brothers

Beta Theta chapter at Cornell University is pleased to announce the acquisition of an ambulance. The 1949 Cadillac ambulance was purchased in Rumson, New Jersey, and was transformed into our official touring car by painting our coat of arms on its huge side doors and our name on its rear door.

The ambulance is an eye catcher on campus and in the city of Ithaca. Many heads turn when it drives by, especially when the ooga horn is sounded. As it is a regularly registered vehicle, it also provides transportation for the brothers and their dates from nearby schools. The popularity of the ambulance has proven to be an asset to the house and it has increased the fame of Pi Kappa Alpha at Cornell.

PiKA—All The Way! Beta-Sigma's "Public Relations Wagon."

Washington U. Has Full House

Help!

We desperately need beds, desks, as well as more room, and Dan Arnold, House Manager, is sleeping on the couch. At least this was the situation at Beta Beta at the end of September when we pledged seventeen new men into the chapter. The new pledges, the largest and best pledge class in many years at Beta Beta, has nearly doubled the size of the chapter and put a strain on our limited facilities here at Washington. But the situation is not one of despair. Instead, we feel like someone who has just received a million dollars, and we are determined to do our best with it. With our new pledge class the future of PiKA at the University of Washington looks bright, and with this boost in our spirits each man at Beta Beta is working hard to make this one of the best chapters in the country.

Credit for Beta Beta's rewarding rush effort this year must be given to several men who did an outstanding job and to a couple of new devices that were employed to help the rush program. First of all, when visiting rushees this last summer the rusher was armed with a specially prepared book containing information about PiKA and ma-

Mrs. Waechter Carnegie Housemother

Beta Sigma Chapter at Carnegie Institute of Technology in Pittsburgh began the fall semester with its first Housemother in its forty years of existence. She is Mrs. Stanley Waechter from Parkersburg, West Virginia. She was previously a housemother at Ohio University.

We are also pleased to announce the acquisition of a fire-engine. Through the combined efforts of Brothers Barry Shane and Al Walmer, the Chapter was able to purchase a 1927 American-LaFrance pumper from the New Kensington Fire Department. In perfect running condition, the twenty-six foot engine is stored, rent free, in the garage of a local soft-drink manufacturer. The engine is to be used for public relations at football games and community events. One such event being planned is to escort city orphans to the circus. We have already taken part in a few local celebrations thereby building terial to help the entering freshman become oriented into an entirely new school and course of studies. Secondly, several letters and personal notes were sent to each rushee in order to keep the name, Pi Kappa Alpha, foremost in his mind.

The men most responsible for sparking the entire program were Gary Ausman, rush chairman and Vice President in charge of rush of the Interfraternity Council; SMC Alan Ross, and Resident Counselor Tom "Fisch" Fischer. Of course, everyone else worked enthusiastically on the rush program.

Preceding rush week Beta Beta held its annual work week. Every man worked hard to put the house in order for the coming year. During this time we repeated the previous year's stunt of placing on the outside of the house a sign reading "Freshmen Women's Information Center." A few freshmen co-eds will never live down the time they sought information at the PiKA House.

With rush week over and the new pledges squeezed in the house, Beta Beta chapter is headed for a fine year.

Tulsa Employs Mrs. Brown

Gamma-Upsilon is pleased with the record of its six seniors who graduated. The graduates are: Ron Beaty, Petroleum Engineering; Gifford Smith, Petroleum Engineering with Sinclair Oil Co.; Jack Lamb, Industrial Insurance Evaluator; Ray Mashburn, Secondary Education with Tulsa Public Schools; Ron Woods, Secondary Education with Tulsa Public Schools; and Bill Shellenbarger, studying for his Masters degree in Music at the University of Tulsa, Graduate school.

Our new housemother is Mrs. Sadie Brown, from Pontiac, Michigan. "Mom" has two sons, who graduated from Michigan State and Ann Arbor and who now have families of their own. Before coming to Tulsa "Mom" was extremely interested and took an active part in the Child Study Club, Citizenship Club, and International Circle. "Mom's" consideration and efficiency is an asset to Gamma-Upsilon chapter. She has helped us start the year off right, just as a mother should.

Rush week was a hectic affair, but the labors proved to be worthwhile as we pledged 17 students. The new pledges are: Ed Barton, J. G. Beuscher, Chip Castner, Bob Davidson, Sid Dunagan, Bill Flake, Gary Gray, Pat Goff, Jerry Haggard, Gary Johnson, Mike Jordon, Lou Jutzi, Sam McCright, Jim Newman, Ed Prentice, Tom Ronning, and Bob Wally. These new pledges have already shown zeal and interest in school and Pi Kappa Alpha.

Our house got a fresh paint job, inside and out, plus the addition of new living room and dining room furniture. For these additions we are grateful to our Mother's Club, which is headed this year by Mrs. O. C. Parkinson, Jr. Even our fire truck, "Hurricane Zelda", got a fresh paint job.

This group of Epsilon-Beta brothers captured first place in the Songfest at Valparaiso University for the second consecutive year.

Largen of the Delta Gamma Sorority. Miss Largen, besides her other campus activities, is the senator for the Business School to the Student Senate.

Our President, Dick Poucel, was selected to represent the Inter-Fraternity Council on the elections committee of the Student Senate. To keep things going for us in the executive branch is Ed Wheeler who is the Vice President of the Student Senate. Statistics were released last week showing PiKA holding 8 to 15 major campus offices.

This year as the Golden Hurricane Band marches on to the gridiron they will be led by Drum Major Fred Beasley. Fred is also Director of the annual production, Varsity Night, which is one of the biggest events of the year at Tulsa University.

On October seventh we made a trip to Oklahoma State University for the OSU-TU football game. The morning was brightened by a Gamma-Upsilon victory of 6-0 over the Gamma-Chi chapter, with whom we were visiting. A pass to our tall end, Ron Woods, in the end-zone won the game for us. The afternoon was not as bright, as our Varsity was defeated by OSU. But the loss was put aside and we began an evening of fun with the Gamm-Chi chapter. We had dinner together and then went to a house party at the Pike House. We want to thank the Gamma-Chi chapter for its warm hospitality. We hope to make these visits to various chapters an annual affair. Last year we visited the chapter at the University of Arkansas. We would like to encourage other chapters to visit our chapter. It certainly makes for a closer, stronger fraternity.

October 21st brought the pledge-member football game which the members won. Following the game there was a picnic and hay ride.

We congratulate those chapters and the brothers who earned national awards. With a new year starting everyone will be trying to capture or re-capture these awards.

Valparaiso Wins Songfest Trophy

Just one more time! That's the word around the Epsilon-Beta chapter at Valparaiso University after the Pikes stole the Songfest trophy for the second consecutive year. The climactic event of Greek week-end at Valpo—held in the largest collegiate chapel in the United States—saw the men of IKA leave all competition far behind as they again walked away with the coveted trophy. Under the very capable leadership of John Vogel, the brothers sang "Ghost Riders in the Sky." It was obvious to all present that the traveling trophy would again sojourn to the trophy case of Epsilon-Beta after the first strains echoed through the voluminous chapel. Three consecutive victories in Songfest retire the large trophy so one goal of the chapter this year is obvious: Cop that trophy!

The Pikes made other additions to the chapter besides in the trophy case. Once again, Epsilon-Beta took the largest pledge class on the campus for the third consecutive semester. The brothers feel that material exists in the pledge class for championship football and basketball teams this year. At this writing, the Pikes are half a game out of first place in the football league with four games remaining.

The alumni also joined in the "adding." They graciously provided new living room furniture and shrubbery. The brothers now have even more reason to boast of living in the finest fraternity house on campus.

"Pikes Peak" At East Tennessee

Thirty-two brothers returned to Epsilon Zeta at East Tennessee State College this fall and were greeted by a fine living room which was the product of many hours of hard work donated by the brothers and pledges that resided in the house during the summer months. A formal dedication was held October 15 and was attended by the mayor, Johnson City, and many college officials and interested friends.

Homecoming weekend was held the 13, 14, and 15th of October and as usual the ΠΚΑ sponsored "Pike's Peak" served as the center for the activities. The events drew an estimated 3,500 spectators and proved to be the most successful in its six year history. What is "Pike's Peak"? Essentially it is an afternoon of fun and frolic with the entertainment being provided by the seven national sororities on campus. "Pike's Peak" has both serious and ludicrous moments. The sorority woman's mind is occupied by little but a fervid desire to win for her respective organization. The women display their feminine attributes and their less feminine talents, such as milking cows and catching chickens. One of the most popular events features our pledge class on the least desirable end of an egg throwing contest. "Pike's Peak" contributes immeasurably to the color of the homecoming celebration and serves to enhance our prestige and popularity on and off campus. The Johnson City Press Chronical gave a full page to the coverage of this spectacular.

Epsilon Zeta is well endowed with leaders. This year State's football squad is captained by senior Guard Tom Ramey with Larry Berrong adding punch to the backfield and Pledge John Lassitur sparking line play. Dave Harriel and Pledge Houston Frazier are expected to be the backbone of the varsity basketball team.

Gordon Walsh has been chosen by the Military Science department to serve as Cadet Group Commander in the ROTC program. ΠΚΑ also boasts five other officers in the advanced course.

Harry Steele was elected Treasurer of the Interfraternity Council, Don Wright was elected Prexy of the Senior Class, and Pledge Ray Courtney vice president of the freshman class. Six other brothers are senators in the student government.

Don Carter heads the 1962 annual, "The Buccaneer" while Scott Elkins writes for the school paper, "The Collegian".

Fontaigne Williams was selected as "Prince Charming of ADΠi". Fontaigne was the fourth ΠΚΑ in as many years to receive this honor.

Epsilon Zeta pledged the best twenty-four men going through rush this fall, and under the fine direction of Pledgemaster Joe Savage, we expect to initiate one-hundred per cent next quarter. The new pledges have already scheduled a football contest with

We are very fortunate to have such a fine housemother as Mrs. Johnson. She assumed her duties this fall and already commands the respect, admiration, and love of the whole chapter. She works tirelessly to make living in the chapter house an enjoyable and rewarding experience.

We expect to retire the intramural trophy this year after winning it for the past two years. In Homecoming competition PiKA copped first place in house decorations among 12 greek organizations, first in the annual bicycle race and second in the wheelbarrow race. John Fletcher represented Epsilon-Zeta in the Homecoming Court.

Miss Marthanne Bullock of Bluff City, Tennessee, reigns as the "Dream Girl of PiKA". Marthanne is regarded as one of the most beautiful girls ever to attend the college. We are indebted to her for her loyalty and devotion to the Chapter.

Denver Has Large Pledge Class

After a successful rush week at Denver University, twenty men accepted Pi Kappa Alpha bids to form one of the largest and finest pledge classes on Denver University's Campus. S.M.C. Ken Koso and Rush Chairman Dirk Klein along with all the Brothers helped to make this rush week one that will stand out in Gamma Gamma's history.

The Pike men are off to a roaring start in intramural football again this year. The chapter's intramural squad is undefeated and untied as they seek to match last year's record as the intramural champs. The most recent victory was over our alumni at our active-alumni football game. The undergrads were pitted against some of the all time great D. U. Athletes.

On the social side, the Denver Pi Kaps held a Viking party in an authentic Viking atmosphere in the world's most unusual fraternity house. (Shield and Diamond, September 1960)

Browling Leads Successful Rush

Alpha-Theta's first semester rush program, under the supervision of Edward Browling, gained for the chapter thirty energetic and high-spirited pledges. Ed began rush by holding summer rush parties in Charleston, West Virginia, and Morgantown, West Virginia. We rushed over 200 young men during eight evenings of dinners and parties amidst top competition from the University's eighteen other fraternities.

Alpha-Theta, under close supervision of its athletic director, Richard Heid, ranks second among fraternities in the campus intramurals contest. Our hopes are set high at capturing the first place honors by the end of the term.

Tragedy and sorrow struck Alpha-Theta on Labor Day, when Brother Barry Van Emburg of Aliquippa, Pa., was killed while running a 10 mile race. In the 90 degree heat, the doctors placed the cause of death as heat exhaustion. Barry would have been a Junior in commerce upon returning to the University.

An award is being prepared to be presented in Barry's memory to the individual whom the active chapter believed to be the best participant in the University's interfraternity intramural program. This award will consist of a plaque to be kept at the fraternity house and an individual trophy.

Bud Swiger is president of Dolphin, swimming honorary. Roger Galloway, who distinguished himself in scholarship, campus activities, and service to the University, was initiated into Mountain, West Virginia University's top ranking men's honorary.

Alpha-Theta's social calendar has been well organized by our fine social chairman and supertime songmaster, Leo Jacobin. Our events have included a listening party with the Kappa Delta Sorority as our guests, an exchange dinner with the Alpha Phi Sorority, and several weekend costume parties.

Washington State Pledges Scholars

Gamma-Xi culminated a successful rush Sept. 19, by pledging 25 men. This is one of the best pledge classes Gamma-Xi has ever had. As a group, they have the highest high school Grade Point Averages of all pledge classes on campus. They have shown considerable initiative. Two of them are running for Frosh class office.

Fall intramurals are off to a bright start at Gamma-Xi. Our football team has yet to be scored on and has already cinched at least a tie for the league championship. Two brothers, Jerry Campbell and Wendell Wardell, are currently playing on the varsity football team and Dick Van Hersett, the number four man on the Pacific coast in tumbling, is currently leading that sport.

We had a fireside and numerous exchanges. The annual pledge dance and our pajama dance, "The Rabbit Habit", will round out our major social calendar for this semester.

Prior to rush this fall, several brothers returned to build a social-athletic patio for the house. Through the sweat and planning of the members, the expense was kept at a minimum. Already the patio has been used for volleyball, basketball, table tennis, and for entertaining guests. The patio offers many enjoyable hours of recreation for the future.

Washington and Lee Has Fine Rush

Led by Rush Chairman Bo Du Bose, the Pikas at Washington and Lee began rush week this year with a determination of spirit and enthusiasm. The fruition of Du Bose's busy summer, spent in sending rush literature and planning the militarily organized rush itself, became apparent early in the week when freshman attitudes displayed a definitely positive reaction toward Pi Kappa Alpha.

Pi's record of being Intramural Athletic Champions last year as well its outstanding academic position over other leading campus fraternities, immediately placed the house as one of the "Big Three" here at W & L.

These factors combined to make PiKA's rush week one of the most successful in years. On Friday night, the bid-acceptance cards having been turned in, Pi Kappa Alpha came up with twenty-four pledges.

The fraternity started out the social activities this year with a Farm Party at the Painter "country retreat." Brothers and their dates contemplated the autumnal coloring of hazy Virginia hills and the melodic sounds of Ahmad Jamal and Miles Davis. Housemother, Mrs. Browne, treated the gathering to a picnic of fried chicken and "fixins."

The general outlook for Pi this year can be prophesied as nothing less than bright. The brothers intend to inductinate the new pledge class in the tradition of campus leadership reflected in all fields by Pi Kappa Alpha's contemporary activities at Washington and Lee.

Murray Pleased With Scholarship

The Pi Kappa Alpha scholarship cup for the highest chapter average in small colleges and universities rests safely in the full trophy case of Epsilon Lambda at Murray State.

The Murray Pikes got off to a good start this year under the leadership of S.M.C. George Stockton and I.M.C. Kenneth Rose. Our first project was to refurbish our newly decorated Fraternity room. We now have new stereo and television sets and all new lounge furniture.

The PiKA's at Epsilon Lambda are very proud of our Dream Girl, Miss Janice Hill, a Junior from Metropolis, Ill. Miss Hill was Miss Body Beautiful at Murray State in her Sophomore year, and is an elementary education major.

Rush is now in full swing at Murray State, and the Pikes are under the leadership of Fred Reeves and Bill Brooks. Our first party was complete with girls and band on the sandy beaches of beautiful Kentucky Lake.

House Addition At Louisiana Tech

Gamma Psi completed the new addition to its house in time to greet rushees and returning members here this fall. The eight-thousand dollar wing adds almost seven-hundred square feet of floor space to our chapter room. The panelled addition has new furnishings and boasts a fireplace and a lighted trophy case. When used as a television room it can be separated from the rest of the chapter room by use of folding doors. Another wing containing rooms for twenty more members is being planned for completion by fall 1963.

Fall rush this year was completed by the end of registration week. A twelve page rush brochure illustrating our leadership in honorary societies, technical groups, intramural sports and varsity sports helped greatly in our rush program. With the help of Sam DuVall of Gamma Iota Chapter at the University of Mississippi, we had a calendar printed with a picture of a campus beauty for each month. These were distributed to each rushee. Gamma Psi pledged forty-two men, the largest pledge class on the campus, and one of the finest in recent years. Pledging was followed closely with our annual Mixer Party with all sororities bringing their entire pledge classes. This is held each year to acquaint our pledges with the sorority pledges and them with us.

Paul Nelson was one of two Tech AFROTC officers to attend the recent annual national conclave of the Arnold Air Society, honorary Air Science society, held in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. Brother Paul Draper is leading the Tech marching band again this year for the third straight year.

Colorado Mines Plans For House

On September 8, Delta Phi chapter at Colorado School of Mines moved into its temporary quarters. At present the chapter is growing by leaps and bounds with the anticipation of a new house next fall.

We would like to welcome Chuck Yarbrough, Pet Richen, Oliver Roman, Elliot Harap, Dale Kirlin, Tony Cella, and John Reiss to the active chapter. Rush week proved very successful with the addition of fifteen new men. The pledge class officers are as follows: Bill MacKinnon, president; Gene Rutowski, Vice president; Bert Evans, Secretary; and Ralph Talmage, treasurer.

The return of Bob Sulte, Dick Lebedz, Galen Meyer, and Bill Schmidt strengthened the active chapter. The presence of these men has already been felt on the playing fields with Bob Sulte on Varsity Football and Dick Lebedz on the intramural field.

Due to the strong scholarstic program of Doug Zunkel, Scholarship chairman, the chapter average for the spring semester was 2.39 out of 4.00, while the all mens average was less than 2.1. We are expecting to do as well or better this fall.

George Washington Emphasizes Scholarship

Delta Alpha is on the way up on the George Washington campus this year. The chapter is well represented by elective positions in many of the campus activities including Don Ardell and Ray Lupo on the Student Council and Bill Farley on the Interfraternity Council.

We are leading again in intramurals this year. Our program under the direction of Athletic Chairman George Jaeger, is coming along very well. We are confident that we can take first place again in A League football.

The main emphasis will be on scholarship this year with the expectation of raising our scholastic average even higher than last year. A program has been well planned by our able Scholarship Chairman, Barry Dantzcher.

A very successful fall rush program has been completed with the pledging of fifteen outstanding pledges, bringing our membership to one of the largest in the chapter's history. We are proud of the fact that the pledge class is showing great initiative in campus activities, pledge activities, and intramurals.

Our officers for this semester are SMC Marty Hertz, IMC Ray Lupo, ThC Tom Fuller, SC Henry Bosma, and Pledgemaster John Bacon.

1919 Reo At Trinity

Epsilon-Alpha has made 16 important additions to its house this fall—15 pledges and one fire engine.

For nearly a year the firetruck committee, headed by energetic Larry Robertson, had been searching for an inexpensive engine. When we returned from summer vacation in September, there was a 1919 Reo, four-cylinder crank model, sitting on our front lawn. The committee's efforts had finally produced some results.

The fire engine has created quite a stir on campus, both as an object of marvel and as one of mild annoyance. Several attempts have been made to capture its ladders, but our able-bodied pledges have warded off all attacks thus far. Off campus, we have strengthened our bonds with the Hartford community by entering the truck in a parade as a representative of Pike and hose company number 11.

Never has number or spirit been so high at Epsilon-Alpha since its establishment in 1953. The house is near capacity with a total of 40 men following a very successful rushing period. Participation in campus activities, success in intramural sports, and a keen interest in campus life as a whole has been evident within the fraternity.

If you ever journey to New England, don't hesitate to stop in and visit with your fellow Pikes at Trinity.

Oklahoma Has Largest Pledge Class

Beta Omicron came out of Rush Week with one of the largest pledge classes on the campus. These carefully selected men will make a positive contribution to our chapter.

Keith Smith, president of the senior class, arranged to have the cheerleader tryouts held here at the chapter house where we had a tea for the girls who were trying out. Continuing our social activities, we joined forces with the Pi Phis and the Pi Lams in giving the "Pi Party". This all campus street dance is enjoyed by the campus each fall.

Bob Grove was elected senior class treasurer and Keith Smith president. We retained our large representation in the Student Senate and had several men appointed to various committees.

Bowling Green Buys La France Truck

Delta Beta Chapter at Bowling Green State University is very proud to announce the acquisition of a new fire truck—an American-La France that is in excellent condition. The brothers had the unfortunate experience of having the previous truck break down, after many years of service, on the way to the University of Toledo football game last fall. We were able to purchase the truck at a reasonable cost from the Tiffin, Ohio, Fire Department. The monster engine is currently undergoing minor repairs at the skilled hands of Brother Robert Jeffery.

The new truck has really been getting a workout this fall. Some of the major events to which the truck has added dignity on campus were the chauffeuring of the Homecoming candidates, the leading of parades at pep rallies, and as a means of transportation for our social functions.

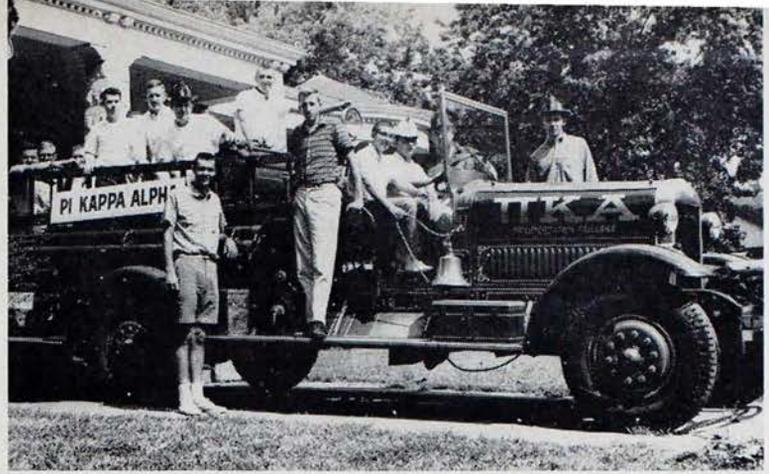

The new furniture for the house finally arrived in time for rush this fall. It is contemporary and adds a homelike atmosphere to our new house.

At the beginning of school the active chapter assured the success of the fraternity by going all out in its rush program and obtaining the number one pledge class on campus, totaling fifteen pledges in all. Continuing in its pledge work, the chapter instituted a new and unique pledge program in an effort to bring the pledges closer to the actives, creating a stronger sense of fraternalism, making a better pledge socially, and more important to make outstanding actives of the pledges.

Another achievement this year was the awarding of a trophy for the fraternity with the most improved scholastic average.

Our championship football team is still undefeated in intramurals this season with a 4-0 record. The team is undefeated in three consecutive seasons. We hope to win the all-campus trophy again this year.

For the second consecutive year Dr. Russell Decker, our alumni advisor, succeeded in making Delta Beta's Homecoming one of meaning and inspiration to the alums and undergraduates. Delta Beta "kicked off" Homecoming with a brunch for the alumni, undergraduates, and their dates. After Bowling Green's rousing triumph over arch-rival Toledo University the Pikes moved to Portage, Ohio, for a banquet. The highlight of the evening was when alumnus Brother Don Percy gave a talk on the value and meaning of Pi Kappa Alpha. Later the "troop" moved to Bowling Green for a private Homecoming dance.

Georgetown Has World's Fair Truck

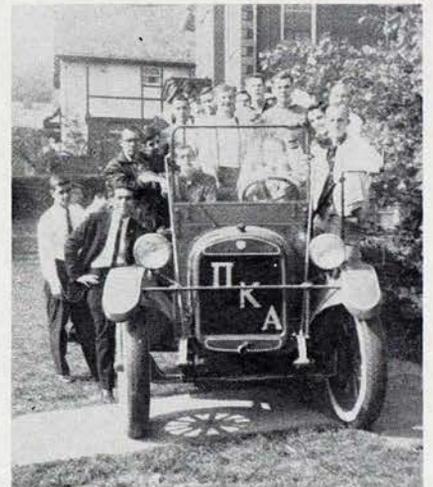

Alpha Lambda had jumped into the lead on campus this year faster and more noticeably than ever before. The most important reason for this has been our acquisition of a 1928 Ahrens-Fox fire engine. This fire truck was the only one displayed at the Chicago Worlds Fair in the early 1930's.

Our "Little Jewel" has given Pi K A the lead at Georgetown College in several ways. So far it has been used to represent the college in parades in surrounding communities; it led the annual homecoming parade; and most important, it has led the chapter into a new closeness and unity that is so vital in the fraternity system. Of significant importance is the response from alumni. After the many T.V. and newspaper accounts of our purchase, we began to hear from local alumni that heretofore had not been in touch with the chapter.

Also of importance has been the role of our fire truck on campus. It has been one of the centerpoints of fall rush and fraternity parties. At a recent faculty tea sponsored by Pi K A, the fire engine captured the imagination of many faculty members and climaxed the gathering with a ride around campus. We have found this to be one of the most rewarding and cherished endeavors undertaken by the chapter.

Pi Kappa Alpha has also secured recognition on campus through class officer elections. S. M. C. Earl Goode was elected president of the senior class and Bobby Cooke was elected president of the junior class.

Bradley Has Varsity Sportsmen

Delta Sigma returned seven brothers to varsity sports at Bradley this year. SMC Tom Albrecht returns for his fourth year on the swimming team. He holds three Missouri Valley Conference records—the 100 yard butterfly, the 200 yard butterfly, and the 200 yard individual medley. Supporting Tom in the medley relay is John Short, one of the top members of the team. Participating on Bradley's Baseball team that placed second in Missouri Valley Conference last year was Jerry Marchetti in right field and Neil Goforth in left field. Returning to Bradley's Track Team is Dave Budz, who holds the two mile record at Bradley. Bob Mandillo returns to the wrestling team in the 157 pound class. Bion Murphy is back for his third year with the Bradley Golf Team which compiled a 13-2 record last year in dual meets.

Delta Sigma is pleased to announce the pledging of the following men for the fall semester: Reed Pash—Freeport, Illinois, Barry Hershman—Franklin Park, Illinois, Dale Johanson—Chicago, Ronald Johnson—Chicago, Brandon Jenison—Chicago, Robert Siegler—Oak Park, Illinois, Michael Alexander—Decatur, Illinois, Carl Ulm—Roselle Illinois, Larry Hughes—Peoria, Illinois, David Budz—Bellwood, Illinois, Robert Unterbreger—Mt. Carmel, Pennsylvania. Another new addition to the house is our collie puppy named "Pike."

On December 2, Delta Sigma will host the District 17 Convention. This district is composed of the chapters from Northwestern University, University of Illinois, Valparaiso University, Purdue University, and Beloit College.

Campus politicians at Delta Sigma are Bob Mandillo—Senator at Large, Tim Ristau—Junior Class Senator and Homecoming Steering Committee Secretary, and Walter Mearkle, Secretary of the Inter-Fraternity Council.

Joelene Stephens, 1960 District 6 (now District 17) Dream Girl, is the Pike's representative for Homecoming Queen. Joelene is one of the three finalists in the contest.

Delta Sigma has a house mother for the first time in its history. "Mother" Pamela Hinds is a resident of Peoria. All of the brothers appreciate the services that she renders and know she is one of the very best.

Texas Tech Strong In Football

Epsilon-Gamma Chapter at Texas Tech has enjoyed a lively fall social season centered around the football games and including a picnic at Buffalo Lakes, barbeque at the Dub Rushing Ranch, open houses and dances.

The chapter proudly introduces the following new initiates: Bud Averett, Robert Browning, Horace Duncan, Jimmy Goddard, Gary Harrell, Mike Harrell, Jay Henderson, Mose Lindsay, Edwin Meyer, Bill Rachel, Bobby Stanton, and Alan Sumner.

Our intramural football team hasn't been scored on in twelve games and we hope to continue this winning streak throughout the season.

Thanks to the efforts of Joe LaRoe and Mickey Smith, our chapter lodge was completely redecorated this past summer.

Officers for the fall terms are: SMC Tommy Taylor, IMC Jim Johnston, ThC Jay Van and SC Charles Newman.

North Texas Truck Leads Parade

The Pi-wearing pledges are also the root-carrying pledges this semester at Epsilon-Delta Chapter, North Texas State University. The roots (cypress knees), brought from Thibadeaux, Louisiana, are about three feet long and resemble Alley Oop's battle-ax. They were stripped of their bark and branded PiKa by this semester's enthusiastic pledge class of eleven men. The pledges, by the way, will carry them for eight weeks. But there is one consolation—the roots are light as balsa wood.

For Homecoming this year, our 1927 Seagraves fire engine was completely overhauled, painted (fire engine red, of course) and driven in the parade. The homecoming parade this year paralleled North Texas' becoming a State University in September.

After the game, we held a dance at the Stoneleigh Hotel in Dallas. Approximately 180 Pikes were present to dance and mingle to the music of a rhythm and blues combo.

Around the house, our chapter has been remodeling including repainting the rooms, the house, and new furniture for the living room and television room.

Kentucky Brothers "At Work"

Fifty-three of the brothers of Omega returned early in September to get the house and grounds in shape. Last year's pledges had worked throughout the summer to surprise us with a much needed addition and improvements on our patio.

We had a very successful freshman rush during orientation week and then went into rush for upperclassmen. We pledged nine fine men.

We started the intramural football season with a fine line-up piloted by Paul Price and Al Bowles. The team looked good and is doing fine despite the absence of both quarterbacks who were injured in the first and second games.

Our dream girl Betsy O'Roark is adding a very enjoyable atmosphere to all our activities. We all have a very warm spot in our heart for Betsy.

Many of the brothers are very active in campus organizations. Brad Switzer is a very active Vice President of the Wesleyan oundation. Jim Shuffett and Jim Pitts are student leaders in the physics department. Jim Kopenhoefer and Don Vizi are members of the nationally famous University of Kentucky "Marching 100 Band". Bill Black represented the University of Kentucky Civil Engineers at an Engineering Association held on the University of Michigan campus. Jack Ewing just returned from the University of Virginia where he was a Group Discussion Leader at the Annual Conference, Region IV Association of College Unions. Bill Kenton, a transfer from Alpha chapter, is very active politically and a most effective Pledgemaster. Several of the brothers are recent members of Society for the Advancement of Management here on the campus. Al Lindsay, Bill Feiler and Roy Ireland are members of Alpha Chi Sigma, a chemical engineers professional fraternity. Milt Minor has been elected Vice President of the University of Kentucky "American Institute of Architects". Jim Kopenhoefer was elected Vice President of Omega.

Preparations are in progress for the National Leadership School which is to be held here next summer. Art Miller, a recent graduate from Omega, was elected President of the Louisville Pi Kappa Alpha Alumni Association and is doing a fine job.

All the brothers are very dedicated to Pi Kappa Alpha and are working hard to make this the best year in Omega's history and to prepare for the best convention and leadership school possible.

Case Pikes Have Busy Days

One mark of a successful fraternity is a spirit of cheerful cooperation among the brothers. Never before has this spirit been as high for the Pikes at Case as during the past rush season and the first few weeks of school. It has grown partly from a sincere pride in our two year old house which is being slowly redecorated from top to bottom. The earnest help of the brothers during the summer made the Pike house one of the most attractive houses on Case's campus.

Cooperation has yielded its rewards in our successful rush program. This year a new attitude and approach toward rush was initiated by Rush Chairman Chris Papas. Presently we have nineteen men in the able hands of Pledgemaster Don Stroud.

Busy with studies, busy with rush, busy with house decoration, but still we have managed to have our full round of social events. The Key Party, the picnic, the Hayride, and finally float building and Interfraternity Council Weekend, with tug-o-war, float parade, and IFC Formal. Our main boast, however, is the actives' victory over the pledges in the pledge-active football game, 38-0.

The new officers for the fall semester are: Joe Rich, president; Jerry Hite, vice president; Chris Papas, secretary, and John Barnard, treasurer.

Miss. State Pledges Forty-five

Gamma Theta Chapter at Mississippi State University completed a successful rush week with the pledging of forty-five rushes on September 22. This was the climax of the summer rush program and was a tribute to the rush chairman, Howard Wallace. We hope to have forty-five new members by February.

A supper was held following the pledging ceremony with special guest Executive Director Earl Watkins. Brother Watkins presented the Freeman Award for the best chapter house corporation to our house corporation President, Richard Stockett, Sr., and Treasurer, Ralph Webb.

On October 14, our homecoming activities were held. Gamma Theta Chapter welcomed the returning alumni with a dinner before the game. Our Homecoming float won second place in the parade. After the game, a dance was held in the house to celebrate the victory over Arkansas State.

We received our trophy for being co-champion in the I.F.C. sports program last year.

Mom Friedel LSU Housemother

With a membership of forty-four brothers and twenty-six pledges, Alpha-Gamma Chapter has begun an active year on the L.S.U. campus.

A project initiated for the first time this year was printing the Beauties of L.S.U. Calendar. Picturing a member of a different campus sorority as the featured girl on each month's page, the calendar proved to be a tremendous rush asset and has become a stimulating aid to campus life as well.

PiKA is well represented on the L.S.U. scene. Ken McCoy is Senior Colonel of the R.O.T.C., in which position he is commander of student military activities. Finance Commissioner for the Student Government Association is Trent James, who also is Alpha Gamma S.M.C. Gary Owen, Th.C., holds the position of Interfraternity Council Treasurer.

Alpha-Gamma Chapter is again fortunate to have as its housemother Mrs. Olga H. Friedel, of New Orleans. A veteran of the Pike House, "Mom" Friedel is beginning her fifth year with "her boys."

We are very proud to announce that our chapter placed second in the L.S.U. homecoming decorations contest.

Rensselaer Enjoys Spacious Lot

Situated close to the top of Mt. Ida, overlooking the city of Troy in upstate New York, the PiKA's of R.P.I. can be found on any day of the week applying their talents to the academic and extracurricular activities that they have worked to dominate for many years.

Our claim to fame is based not only on the list of achievements that have been enumerated in issue after issue of this noble journal, but also on a physical plant that certainly warrants comment of one sort or another. Few people realize the full import of our prowess as one of the leading houses on campus, and even fewer people across the nation realize what our house is really like.

The two houses of Gamma-Tau are set at the center of a spacious three acre tract of land located at the edge of the Rensselaer campus. From south to north, our land encompasses a small stock-car track, a large touch football field (affectionately referred to as the big side lawn), the land on which the two houses rest and last but by no means least a quaint little forest inhabited by a wide variety of local denizens and a small stream, stocked with the very best of water-fowl.

The old house was once the mansion of one of the area's most prominent families, but while the fame of its former owner decreased with the industry he began, the big white house on Burdette is now well known for more contemporary reasons. The new house is, as yet, not quite six years old. At the time of its construction, it was one of the most advanced pieces of architecture in this area, and still is. While the old house was built in a manner familiar to all, the new house is unique in its modular design and provides us with a very comfortable place to live as well as a strong point used in rushing. With the two completely separate houses, there is space available for all to pursue their individual desires without any fear of disturbing others. The land on which the houses are located is ideally situated with respect to the rest of the campus and neighboring domestic facilities. It is far enough removed to provide an element of privacy and yet not so far as to prove inconvenient.

The accomplishments of the brothers of Gamma-Tau for the present school year are no less than they have been in the past. We still retain the distinction of being the only house on campus with a full fourth of the members of R.P.I.'s highest honorary, as well as representatives in almost every honorary and extra-curricular facet of campus life. The football team won its league in interfraternity competition, while at the same time, the golf and tennis teams were working toward supremacy in their respective fields.

Beside this leadership in fraternity sports, a recent examination of our participation in varsity athletics showed that there are very few houses on campus that can boast of a greater number of players. In other fields, the brothers have displayed an equally strong ability. For many years now we have held the upper hand in campus politics. There have been more PiKA's in prominent political positions in some years than others, but the leadership has never failed to come from the big white house on Burdette. In the field of the academics, the Pikes have also displayed a strong sense of leadership. Almost without exception Gamma Tau has been one of the top houses on campus.

On the other side of the fence, there has developed a certain amount of reverence here at R.P.I. for the quality of the festivities that seem to predominate our weekend activities. With the very recent start of rushing, the calibre of our parties has reached an all time high that will no doubt be maintained throughout the school year. Besides the usual quota of fall parties, Dream Girl weekend will be punctuated with a large party for the children of Troy's largest orphanage.

Southern California Entertains Children

Gamma-Eta's second annual Christmas party for underprivileged children will be aided this year by Disneyland and local radio station KMPC. KMPC has arranged for gifts and Disneyland is donating the admission and amusement tickets. Following the excursion, a dinner will be held at the chapter house where the gifts will be distributed. Helping to keep herd on the children will be members of the Alpha Delta Pi Sorority.

"The Beast" (not to be mistaken for one of the brother's dates)—our 1924 seagraves fire engine is back in running order once more. Last semester it was the victim of a flash fire and a complete rewiring job was necessary. Thanks to some hasty repairs it made it to the annual "Fire Engine Party" and once again is a familiar sight on the Southern California campus. Since our house is more than a half mile from the campus, lunch runs are a daily practice. "The Beast" carried no less than 95 Pikes, dates, and friends on the return trip from the SC-Iowa football game.

Scholarship has been stressed strongly for the past three semesters, and we are proud to report that our chapter grade average has risen above the "All Mens Residence Hall Average" as well as the "All Fraternity Grade Average." Credit is due mainly to the consistent efforts of our past SMC Warren Nyback and the revitalization of the chapter study habits.

Chattanooga Largest On Campus

Forty outstanding men were pledged at the conclusion of the rush season by Delta Epsilon Chapter at the University of Chattanooga, making it the largest fraternity on campus. Ten new brothers were initiated at the beginning of the fall term.

Brother Ken Peterson presides over the Interfraternity Council. Tom Tyrrell is currently president of the Newman Club. Our

1961 Dream Girl, Judie MacKenzie, Chi Omega, was also voted "most typical coed."

Delta Epsilon Chapter was honored by being chosen to serve as host to the District VII Convention recently held. We feel that the chapter will have a most successful year under the leadership of SMC Charles Martin, who is captain of the University of Chattanooga basketball team, and his fellow officers.

Delaware Redecorates House

Working through the last warm rays of summer, Delta-Eta has restyled its house in physical plant as well as in program. Our redecorated house owes much to Alumnus Brother Oritorio and his lovely wife for having donated freely of their time, money, and spirit in an effort to make Delta-Eta number one on this campus.

With the unveiling of our 100% cast iron farm bell, we have made sure that PiKA is heard far and wide throughout the Newark area. This bell, compliments of Brother Thompson, was initiated into service at a recent "Fire Party". The bell is now being safely guarded by our new mascot, Pike—a purebred Heinz (57 varieties) puppy.

In one year, the chapter has increased its deleted membership by over 400%. To help us continue to expand, we are now in the process of locating a new house. Plans are also underway towards organizing a gala Founders' Day banquet with the nearby chapters from University of Maryland, University of Pennsylvania, and George Washington University attending.

We are proud to announce the election of Ronald Rosenwald to the office of S.M.C. Brother Rosenwald has previously served the chapter as a delegate to the district convention and as pledgemaster.

Pittsburgh Honors Dinley and Isler

The 1960-61 school year at Gamma-Sigma Chapter officially closed with the spring formal at Webster Hall Hotel, April 15, 1961. At this function Chuck Isler and Jim Dinley were honored as Gamma Sigma chapter's "Man of the Year" and "Athlete of the Year" respectively. Plans were then conceived for the fall term. Rush Chairman Bob Bryan gave us a shot in the arm when he helped get a pledge class of fourteen men.

Among our initiates are Jerry Cherry, varsity footballer; Dave Garwood and Bob Tarkeney, track lettermen; and John Cioffi who played right field for the Panther nine last season. Willis "Woody" Higgins was elected president of the William Pitt Debating Union for this year. Our candidate for I. F. Ball queen, Ann Saxmann, Kappa Kappa Gamma, was first runnerup in the contest. Notables such as Rege Welsh, Jim Mill, Carl Pepine, Al Brucalilly, Don Hocevar, John Cioffi, and Frank Fusaro have sparked the PiKA football team to an undefeated season with only one game remaining with the Pi Lams.

Through the funds supplied by our Mother's Club the brothers were able to purchase materials to rebuild the downstairs into chapter and game room. At the present time wall paneling and acoustic tile are being affixed to the walls and ceiling. Upon completion this will be a beautiful compliment to our new house. The hand of Gamma-Sigma was stretched across the country to our brothers at Washington State in the person of Larry Vignali. The All-American candidate and several other Pitt players visited the Gamma Xi house after the game with the Huskies.

Kester High Point IFC President

Delta-Omega has placed some of its brothers in key positions on the campus of High Point College. Bill Kester is president of the IFC, Jerry Kyle, treasurer of the SGA, and Doug Barr, House of Representatives.

The year is still young for us, but since the beginning of school we have had three good informal parties at the Oakview Grange. At the present, we are planning a hayride and hamburger get together, and a week-end combo party.

This year Delta-Omega is experiencing second semester rush. Since we are new at this, we will appreciate any help which other chapters have to offer.

Delta-Omega is collecting empty cigarette packs for a stereo set which is to be given away by a leading cigarette manufacturer. We have found that this project is a sure thing for creating old Pika spirit.

Tulane Buys 26 Foot Engine

The brothers of Eta have hopped aboard the Pike Fire Wagon with the purchase of its own fire engine—a 1924 American La France 26 footer. The fire engine was purchased and donated to the chapter by one of its members and already it has begun to pay rich dividends in both publicity and social functions. The football team has attended its intramural games on the engine and the university has used it to good advantage at pep-rallies for the Green Wave team.

We began the year with a week-and-a-half of rush parties culminating in the pledging of a fine pledge class for 1961-62. The class includes Jeff Adamo, Ed Baird, Jon Bowers, Dave Carnes, Fred Churchill, Jim Ciaravella, Jim DeCarlo, Tom Donofrio, Joe Elliott, Steve Farris, Carl Fehr, Dick Hansen, Terry Hiserud, Jack Lally, Alain Lane, Marshall Logan, Ed Reid, Al Stewart, and Earl Stolz.

Helping to make the rush parties a big success was Eta's new housemother, Mrs. Seale, a gracious and lovely addition to our home. Mother Seale has done an outstanding job in supervising the dining hall and the functioning of the house in general. Coupled with her duties at the house, Mother Seale is also president of the Housemother's Association, an organization of all fraternity and sorority housemothers on campus.

The new slate of officers for the fall semester is Jim Deacon, SMC, Lenny Sapera IMC, Bruce North, ThC, and Bill Vaudry, SC.

Tulane's Pikes are looking forward to continuing their athletic competition with Alpha-Gamma Chapter, LSU. Tulane has won both games in the current football series, and a win this year will mean permanent retention of the trophy which has been in the Eta house for the past 3 years.

With new improvements on the house and the initiation of many pledges into the bonds, the chapter is looking forward to a most successful year on the Tulane campus.

Austin State Initiates New Members

On October 14, 1961, Epsilon Omicron completed the initiation of its spring pledge class, bringing the total number of new brothers to eighteen. This also marks the initiation of all those eligible of the first pledge class of the Epsilon Omicron Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha, which is marking its first anniversary December 17, 1961.

At the present, the chapter is engaged in preparing for Homecoming Weekend, dividing its time between building its float for the Homecoming Parade, and making plans for the Homecoming Reception and Dance for the alumni, actives, and new pledges.

The Epsilon Omicron Chapter welcomed its new pledge class with a smoker in the chapter room.
