What The Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity Means to Me

Oddly enough, in this world of ours no one proceeds into any aspect of life without first having a motive to do so. Similarly, referring to the freedom of association enjoyed in America, it can be said that any association or social contract made by an individual is made with that individual's own interest in mind.

So it is with fraternities. I pledged Pi Kappa Alpha with the hope of receiving the benefits there offered and, whereas every benefit must be met with a corresponding responsibility, I simultaneously pledged to uphold the traditions and heritage embedded within the Fraternity itself. I am proud to accept those responsibilities with their emphasis on religion, brotherhood, scholarship, and individualism.

I stress individualism at this point for it is through the give and take relations among members and pledges that each person will acquire a true and lasting understanding of the fundamental principles of Pi Kappa Alpha. It is the task of every fraternity to build men of responsibility.

If free associations like our college fraternities are forced out of existence, they will be replaced not by an idyllic individualism, a perfection of equality and liberty and self-reliance, but only by a mass of confused students subject to an impersonal university administration or to a clique of student demagogues.

In the early spring of 1868, six men initiated a spirit which continues today. I am proud to be a part, however small, of that spirit. And so, this is what association with Pi Kappa Alpha means to me: the development of honor, friendship, and responsibility.

"I believe in the supreme worth of the individual and in his right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness;

"I believe that every right implies a responsibility; every opportunity, an obligation; every possession, a duty;

"I believe that the law was made for man and not man for the law; that government is the servant of the people and not their master;

"I believe in the dignity of labor, whether with head or hand; that the world owes no man a living but that it owes every man an opportunity to make a living;

"I believe that thrift is essential to well-ordered living and that economy is a prime requisite of a sound financial structure, whether in government, business or personal affairs;

"I believe that truth and justice are fundamental to an enduring social order;

"I believe in the sacredness of a promise, that a man's word should be as good as his bond; that character—not wealth or power or position—is of supreme worth;

"I believe that the rendering of useful service is the common duty of mankind and that only in the purifying fire of sacrifice is the dross of selfishness consumed and the greatness of the human soul set free;

"I believe in the all-wise and all-loving God, named by whatever name, and that the individual's highest fulfillment, greatest happiness and widest usefulness are to be found in living in harmony with His will;

"I believe that love is the greatest thing in the world; that it alone can overcome hate; that right can and will triumph over might."

PRESIDENT SCOTT INSTALLS EPSILON PHI

National officers and installation teams from Alpha-Zeta (Arkansas) and Delta-Theta (Arkansas State) present for the Epsilon-Phi chartering ceremony.

National President Joe C. Scott presided over the installation of Epsilon-Phi Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha at Arkansas State Teachers College, Conway, Arkansas, February 23. Other national officers participating included: Executive Director Earl Watkins, Administrative Assistant William Crosby, Field Secretary Warrell McMullen, National Rush Director John Browning, District President Peter Pelham, and National Historian Freeman Hart.

Chi Nu fraternity was established in 1922. Its goals throughout these years included the opportunity for stimulation of personal development, honor, friendship and service through the promotion of brotherhood and service to the school. It has established a fine record of accomplishment and has earned the respect of the college and community. Its alumni have brought credit to the fraternity. The prominence of the Chi Nu Alumni was well represented on installation day with several becoming brothers in Pi Kappa Alpha. Dr. Silas Snow, President of the college, Mr. Archie Ford, Arkansas Commissioner of Education, and Dr. James Sylar, Dean of Men, were among the charter members.

Arkansas State Teachers College is located in Conway, a town of 12,500 in the central portion of the state. It was established in 1907. There are twenty major buildings on a 200-acre campus. Current enrollment is 2,300, half of which are male students. A majority of the students live in college dormitories.

Charter members of Epsilon-Phi chapter, including Alumni Initiates.

The college is fully accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools and seven other accrediting associations. The undergraduate school grants B.A., B.S., B.S.E., and B.M.E. Degrees in 27 curricula. The graduate program includes the degree of Master of Science in Education with work in the Sciences, Fine and Applied Arts and Social Sciences. The National Science Foundation grants fellowships in Mathematics and Biology.

The Little Rock Pi Kappa Alpha Alumni Association recommended Chi Nu to the national fraternity and sponsored the chapter in its contact with and petition to Pi Kappa Alpha. It has pledged its continuing support to the new chapter.

The petition to Pi Kappa Alpha includes letters of endorsement from Dr. Silas D. Snow, President; Commissioner of Education of the State of Arkansas A. W. Ford; and from the Interfraternity and Panhellenic Councils.

The State of Arkansas has many outstanding Pi Kappa Alpha leaders. Alpha-Zeta Chapter at the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, was chartered November 2, 1904. It has provided several national officers to the fraternity. Delta-Theta Chapter of Arkansas State University, Jonesboro, was chartered March 13, 1948. Throughout its existence it has maintained high standards and has become a source of pride to the fraternity. These two chapters welcome a third, Epsilon-Phi, into the fraternity fellowship in Arkansas.

Ritual teams were provided by Alpha-Zeta Chapter and Delta-Theta Chapter. The addresses at the banquet were given by National President Joe C. Scott and Dr. Silas Snow, President of the College.

Ivey's Department Store, Jacksonville Downtown Center, Jacksonville, Florida.

George M. Ivey

George M. Ivey, AA DEPARTMENT STORE EXECUTIVE

By FREEMAN HART, National Historian

When George M. Ivey, President of the J. B. Ivey and Company, department store chain, recently opened officially in Jacksonville, Florida, his seventh department store the newspapers described the beautiful six story building as "one of the gems in the crown of new buildings dotting downtown Jacksonville." Beginning with the original store that was opened in Charlotte, North Carolina, in 1900 five outstanding stores had been established previously in such thriving cities as Asheville and Raleigh, North Carolina; Greenville, South Carolina; and Daytona Beach and Orlando, Florida. An eighth is to have the position of prominence in a very large and new shopping center in Winter Park, Florida. These seven Ivey stores employ 2500 people and do a business of over twenty-two million dollars a year. They pride themselves in offering only the best and latest in recognized merchandise.

Ivey's in Jacksonville represents the last word in contemporary architecture and designing. Both architects and designers were from world established firms in these fields. Each of the six floors of the big store are unique in their presentation of merchandise to tempt the most exacting of purchasers.

The floor devoted to home furnishings includes suggestions for furnishing rooms for youths as well as other ages and offers rooms with displays of not only Early American furnishings but even those with Chinese, French and Italian motifs. Not much is omitted that may interest the customer in new, fascinating decor. For this area the store furnishes the services of two fully qualified interior decorators, available without charge.

As a further appeal to customers the store offers parking space for over three hundred cars. Elevators are convenient from the parking areas to all floors with escalators also moving customers from floor to floor. A part of the fifth floor looking across the city skyline and the St. Johns River is used for one of the best restaurants in Jacksonville with its current appeal to the great number who prefer "roof garden eating."

The Ivey chain of department store had its beginning in the brain of George M. Ivey's father, Joseph Benjamin Ivey, who started the original store in Charlotte, North Carolina. Ben Ivey not only gave Charlotte one of its best department stores but along with this he was one of the half dozen business leaders who started Charlotte on its way toward becoming the biggest city in North Carolina and one of the largest in the Southeast. He made his impress on the city as a business leader and along with it helped mold the thinking of the city as a layman in the Methodist Church and rivaled his fellow townsman and merchandiser, Henry Belk, a Presbyterian layman. They were close friends as well as business competitors. These two men more than any others have sold the whole southeastern area the idea that business activity in a community carries with it civic responsibility and civic righteousness. Charlotte, North Carolina honors the memory of Ben Ivey as one of its great leaders.

Ben Ivey sent his son George to Trinity College, the outstanding Methodist school in the Carolinas. Around 1900, the year George's father had opened his store in Charlotte, Pi Kappa Alpha was starting its second round of Greek letter designations for its chapters and the chapter that was established at Trinity College was Alpha Alpha, a long call from Epsilon-Upsilon just chartered at Gannon College, Erie, Pennsylvania. Trinity later became the beneficiary of the George Washington Duke tobacco millions and became Duke University.

From his background George Ivey was ready to step into a role of leadership in Alpha-Alpha Chapter and made his impress for good in that chapter. The fact that Alpha Alpha through the years has been one of our better chapters can be attributed to some large extent to the leadership of George Ivey and men of his idealism. On the campus he was a leader in many fields—as director of the Band, as editor of the annual, as a class officer and as a student leader. He was a member of many honor societies, among them Omicron Delta Kappa.

When George left Trinity College he did not leave his interest and loyalty to Pi Kappa Alpha with the chapter but they continued a part of his make up. He went back to Charlotte to join in his father's business but found good time for Pi Kappa Alpha. Soon after leaving college he was president of the Pi Kappa Alpha Alumni Association in Charlotte. Not long afterward he became a District President (then District Princeps). His interest carried him into an active service and participation in the workings of his chapters which he still remembers with real enthusiasm. As District President he is proud of having helped revive Xi Chapter is proud of having helped revive Xi Chapter at the University of South Carolina. While District President, he attended national conventions at St. Louis, Atlanta, and El Paso. When his greater participation in his father's business activities added pressure, George was forced to slow down his activities in the national picture. Through the years, however, he has always continued his loyalty to his fraternity and has rendered service to Pi Kappa Alpha in every way possible.

Like his father before him, George Ivey has been an active participant and leader in an amazingly large number of community projects. His honors have Herbert S. Walters, banker, industrialist, philanthropist, and civic leader of Morristown, Tennessee, was awarded a scroll for outstanding service to the State of Tennessee and to the University of Tennessee, of which he is a Trustee, at the annual Founders Day banquet held at Zeta's new address, 1800 Melrose Avenue. IMC Vin Swasey of Oak Ridge presented the framed scroll of honor to Brother Walters, whose warm personality and gracious modesty were apparent in his expression of appreciation. SMC Bob McPherson of Alexandria, Virginia, gave a report on Zeta Chapter's rushing, pledging, and initiations, with a summary of activities and honors of various members. David Burkhart of Oak Ridge is senior class president. Bill Marks of Nashville is president of Adawayhi, the University service and school spirit organization. Bob McNees of Oak Ridge is co-chairman of Greek Week and Dream Girl Bette Carlson of Knoxville is this year's Nahheeyali Club Choice.

Among Zeta alumni who were present for the open house preceding the banquet were former National Secretary Tom Wade, Sr. of Kenton, Tennessee, and Charles Herd, director of the Knoxville Chamber of Commerce. Brother Herd deserves much of the credit for Knoxville's being named an All-America City by Look Magazine and for gaining national recognition for its annual Dogwood Arts Festival in April. Mrs. Donald Ross, the house mother, served as hostess for the open house. The Pike Quartet, composed of Charles Novel of Memphis, Butch Moore of Knoxville, John Banta of Oak Ridge, and Mark Pellegrino of Gloversville, New York, sang at the banquet. Zeta alumnus David J. Harkness of the U. T. Extension Division was master of ceremonies. Dr. Freeman H. Hart of Gainesville, Florida, National Historian and former National President and Executive Secretary, gave an inspirational address, especially appropriate in connection with the Civil War Centennial now being observed and the speaker's personal acquaintance with some of the founders and their families in Virginia.

A native of Hamblen County, Tennessee, Herbert Sanford Walters was a farm boy who had to go to work early. We are happy that he took time out to come to the University and "join the best fraternity." Today he is a Trustee and a member of the University of Tennessee Development Council, as well as trustee of King College in Bristol and treasurer of that school's endowment fund. He is president of the Hamilton National Bank there.

Brother Walters is outstanding in community work and has been responsible for bringing several new industries to East Tennessee and for building new schools and hospitals in the area. He is active in government and legislation and is chairman of the state Democratic executive committee. He has served as National Democratic Committeeman and has been on the Governor's staff as Commissioner in the State Department of Highways and Public Works.

He is president and director of Cherokee Broadcasting Corporation, vice-president and director of Concrete Materials, Inc., and director of C and S Construction Company, Tennessee Natural Gas Lines, Hamilton National Bank of Knoxville, Hamilton National Associates of Chattanooga, East Tennessee Natural Gas Company, and Nashville Gas and Heating Company of which he is chairman of the board. Brother Walters is a Presbyterian, Mason, Elk, and Kiwanian, and is widely known and respected for his untiring efforts in making Tennessee a greater state.

—Lee Denton, Zeta, Shield and Diamond Correspondent

Sometimes a person is asked to do something that he should not do, but for one reason or another he attempts it anyway. That is my situation tonight. Someone else should be here, but I accepted to say in some small way "Thank you" for the friendships of some of you and for the great joy that Beta Chapter gave to our son Bob and the cordiality with which the Chapter received Mrs. McFarland, Jack and me.

The anniversary of the founding of our Fraternity is, to me, a time for looking backward and looking forward. Looking backward, to review the deeds of those who have gone before us and to honor them for giving Pi Kappa Alpha to us; looking forward, to see the opportunities that we have to advance our Fraternity.

Our founders would be amazed, were they to return to the scene tonight.

Where they had a chapter of six men during their first year, losing three and adding four the second year, they would find 122 undergraduate chapters with 7,000 student members and pledges. Where the second year there were three alumni, today there are 75 alumni associations, such as yours in Charlotte, and approximately 55,000 alumni.

Our six founders would be pleased, for by their actions we know that they were men of vision, dedicated to advancing their young fraternity on other campuses. Beta Chapter, at Davidson, was the first chapter chartered by Alpha, the Mother Chapter,—and through Beta there have been added many fine Pi Kappa Alphas. It would be unwise to mention names, for any list would be incomplete. However, the first initiate of Beta, Dr. George Summey, should be mentioned. He lived and loved his Fraternity from the time of his initiation at the age of 15 until his death at 102. When Dr. Summey was the founders' Day speaker in Atlanta in 1949, he had a little fun at my expense, when he told the PiKA's, their wives and dates that he had been allotted 20 minutes in which to tell of 80 years of membership in Pi Kappa Alpha.

The last several years of his life, excepting the day of his 100th birthday, were spent in a hospital in New Orleans. On his 100th birthday, friends who had loved him through the years took him to his old church, where a huge reception was given in his honor.

My last visit to Dr. Summey was in his 99th year. It was amazing that he remembered so many members of Pi Kappa Alpha, asking about them by name and recalling incidents in their lives.

Dr. Summey, in his devotion to his Fraternity, is a member whom we might all endeavor to emulate.

Tonight we honor the founders and the early members for their principles for living. We honor them for their active expansion of the Fraternity during the first 20 years.

It is well that Pi Kappa Alpha had spread to other colleges and universities. Then, as now, there was misunderstanding, there was active animosity, there were unfortunate incidents that led to the banning of fraternities from one campus after another. It should be mentioned that all but a few of these prohibitions were shortlived.

When this crisis in our Fraternity arose, there were men of judgment foresight and determination to take matters in hand, chart a new course and provide the leadership to rebuild and extend our brotherhood far beyond what any of the founders, or even the junior founders, could have imagined.

One of those junior founders, Dr. Howard Bell Arbuckle, is represented here by a son who bears his name and who has himself served Pi Kappa Alpha well.

Thinking of the refounding, as we call the convention of 1889 at Hampden Sydney College, I remember spending a day and night in Room 50, Cushing Hall, between semesters about 30 years ago. This is a dormitory room, not a convention hall, but it was there the 1889 convention was held. I had known three of the four junior founders. I had read many times the record of their meeting.

I wanted to recall what had transpired there. No other person was in the building that night, to break in upon my recollections or to interrupt my imagination as it pictured the Pi Kappa Alphas who in that room forged a new pattern for our brotherhood,—a new pattern for control and administration but no change in the principles and ideals that had been handed to them from the founders of 21 years earlier.

The last of the junior founders went to the Chapter Eternal on the last night of last year, Robert Adger Smythe. From 1889 until 1933, aided during the entire period by Dr. Arbuckle and during shorter periods of time in those 44 years by many others, he led, pulled and pushed our Fraternity to a position of numerical and financial strength.

Even Brother Smythe was amazed and overjoyed at the continued progress made by the Fraternity in the near 30 years that he lived after releasing the helm.

The Chapter House Fund, that had its beginning in a $5,000 assistance to Alpha, for Founders' Memorial Hall, has more than $885,000 in mortgages and cash, making possible adequate housing for many chapters.

The Shield and Diamond life subscription fund, started in 1927, has over $775,000 of invested endowment, the income from which is used in publishing the fraternity magazine, which is received by 45,000 PiKA's.

The Pi Kappa Alpha Memorial Foundation has distributed thousands of dollars in scholarships and assisted chapters with Resident Counselors.

Our Fraternity Headquarters in Memphis is a handsome building of Georgian architecture. This building was completed in 1954 and dedicated to the memory of the PiKA's who had lost their lives in defense of our country.

There has been progress—but the fundamentals of our Fraternity remain unchanged.

Looking backward, we can be proud of our Fraternity, proud that through 95 years those who followed after the first six have kept the trust. You can have a warm glow as you realize that each of you has had some part in bringing Pi Kappa Alpha to its present position.

Looking forward, what do you see?

What will we alumni do to make fraternities—ours in particular—better understood by the public? What will we do to "sell" desirable young men on our Fraternity and to convince our chapters that the men we recommend are worthy of Pi Kappa Alpha membership? What will we alumni do to build active alumni associations?

What will undergraduates do to get their parents' money's worth from their educational opportunities? In other words, what will each undergraduate do to earn grades that will be a credit to him and will recommend him to future employers? What will each undergraduate do to reflect credit upon his Fraternity?

What will the undergraduate chapters do to enable the faculty personally to form a proper estimate of the Fraternity? What worthwhile projects will be undertaken? How will the chapters let the public know of their good deeds?

It is difficult, if not impossible, to convey to the public the deep and abiding values of membership in Pi Kappa Alpha. It is difficult to disabuse the minds of the public of any preconceived notions about fraternities and fraternity life.

It is easy to tell of worthwhile activities. Fill the public with good deeds of Pi Kappa Alpha and you will rid their minds of other ideas. I will not go into detail. I will simply repeat what our mothers told us when we were little children, "Put your best foot forward."

What will be the record of Pi Kappa Alpha next year, and the year after, and the year after that, and on and on?

It will be what you and I make it.

Let us make it a credit to our founders and to ourselves.

May the God that has been good to Pi Kappa Alpha these 95 years bless you all.

EPSILON CHI Chartered

Amid impressive ceremonies, the Delta Chi Omicron local fraternity became Epsilon Chi Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha on Saturday, April 6, 1963. Thirty-eight students and two alumni were charter initiates of the Fraternity's newest chapter at Kansas State College, Pittsburg, Kansas.

Initiation and installation ceremonies, under the direction of National Vice-President Charles L. Freeman, were held at the First Methodist Church of Pittsburg. Assisting were Field Secretary Darrell L. McMullen, Administrative Assistant William J. Crosby, and installation teams from Alpha Omega (Kansas State University) and Beta Gamma (University of Kansas). Also participating were Chapter House Commissioner Herbert Miller, District President Richard N. Bills, and Alpha Omega Alumnus Counselor G. Dirk Ellis.

The ceremonies were of special significance to both Commissioner Miller and Alpha Omega Chapter—each celebrates 50 years of Pi Kappa Alpha membership in 1963.

Delta Chi Omicron was organized in the spring of 1961 by a group of pledges of a former chapter of Phi Lambda Chi. Active on campus and on the playing field, the collective ability of these men soon established the local as one of the ranking fraternities on campus and drew the attention of Pittsburg banker Donald E. Webber, Beta Gamma alumnus. With the aid of other local Pi Kappa Alpha's, he instituted a program which led to the installation of Epsilon Chi Chapter.

In November of 1962, Delta Chi Omicron received the unanimous approval of inspecting teams from Alpha Zeta, Beta Gamma, and Gamma and Gamma Upsilon chapters. A petition was prepared and submitted to Pi Kappa Alpha. With a favorable vote plans were made for installation on April 6th.

Following the early afternoon ceremonies, the new chapter held a reception and open house at its home adjacent to the campus. To greet the members of Epsilon Chi came college officials and faculty, local alumni and townspeople, and members of other fraternities and sororities. Telegrams and letters of congratulations, arriving for three days, were prominently displayed and drew a great deal of attention.

by District President Richard N. Bills

Crowning the day's activities was the charter banquet held at the Hotel Besse with Vice-President Freeman as the featured speaker. Over 100 alumni and undergraduate members heard honored guest Dr. Leonard H. Axe, President of Kansas State College, welcome the new chapter to the campus. For his continued interest and encouragement, Dr. Axe was presented Pi Kappa Alpha's Certificate of Appreciation.

Epsilon Chi's installation marks the 60th anniversary of Kansas State College, founded in 1903 as the Auxiliary Manual Training Normal School. Later it became Kansas State Teachers College. More recently known as Kansas State College, it is the youngest of the five state institutions of higher learning in Kansas. Attracting a large number of its students from a four-state area where Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Missouri join, the enrollment nears 4,000 and is expected to increase substantially in the years immediately ahead. The newest chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha is located at Pittsburg, Kansas, an agriculture and coal mining community of 19,000 in the southeast corner of the state.

BY ROBERT RIKE, E-Z

To every Pike the words loyalty and Pi Kappa Alpha are synonymous. Loyalty to his fraternity is something every Pike carries, not only through his undergraduate days, but all through his life. Feeling this loyalty to Pi Kappa Alpha, one is always willing to work for his fraternity.

Pi Kappa Alpha's good name is our good name. The heartfelt loyalty of every Pike causes his labors to be a privilege.

Part of the 150 pints of blood pledged by the PiKAs at East Tennessee State for the needy.

We at Epsilon Zeta realize this fact. We have thus made our service projects, for which we have in the past won national recognition, an important part of our fraternity life. The man who joins a fraternity to insure himself of being at a party each weekend with no responsibilities, other than dues, soon finds himself disillusioned. Each week there are two or more projects requiring complete chapter participation.

The benefits for each brother, and the chapter, go far beyond the many letters of commendation from city and school officials, or even winning the President's Service Award. They go as far as the happy hearts of the hundreds of underprivileged children whom we, through our annual Christmas party, have given extra happiness they might not have otherwise known. It goes as far as the appreciation reflected on the face of a person, with third degree burns over her entire body, having received forty pints of blood free from the members of the fraternity. These are only two of the many projects which each brother here shall remember now and always. Brotherhood is never stronger than it is when we realize that we, as brothers, acting in the name of Pi Kappa Alpha, have made this possible.

Brotherhood is not built only on the observation of the thankful faces of the people we have helped. Many projects we do cannot be observed this way. For example, the sight of a freshly painted fish pond, or of clean benches on campus can hardly inspire such feelings. Yet, in even these projects, our brotherhood is strengthened.

Recently, I heard a member of another fraternity belittle the belief that brotherhood can be built best through service projects. This person said that people at a party, even if they did not speak the same language, could have good times and build brotherhood. Good times, surely, brotherhood only to an extent. But brotherhood in Pi Kappa Alpha certainly means more to all of us than having a party together.

Our service projects this year have been varied and numerous. We started the year with a very pleasant project; carrying suitcases into the womens dorms for the returning coeds. This afforded us with an excellent opportunity to meet the new girls on campus.

As Thanksgiving rolled around, food was purchased and given to the Salvation Army, providing a hearty dinner for many local people, who might otherwise have gone hungry.

At the Christmas season, our opportunity for service became greater. A huge twenty-three foot Christmas tree was supplied, set up, and decorated by the brothers in the Student Union Ballroom. This did much to give us, and our fellow students, the Christmas spirit. We received a lot of credit for this project from the six thousand students and faculty members who viewed the tree.

Before leaving for Christmas vacation, our annual Christmas party for needy Negro children was held. Together with the $\Delta\Pi$ sorority, we gave each child gifts, food, candy, and cokes. After the gifts were opened, the brothers supervised games for the children and joined in singing carols. With the party's end, each brother left with a deeper understanding of the meaning of Christmas.

As we returned from Christmas vacation, we learned that many families in town did not have enough coal to stay adequately warm. To help these people, we began giving coal to these needy families.

Throughout the year, we have been donating blood for people who, due to various reasons, are requiring large amounts of blood, and do not have the money to pay for it. Through March, we have given seventy-seven pints of blood. This blood has been given by both the actives and pledges. This is a year long project, and we have set a goal of 150 pints donated by the end of the year.

Another continuous project is our work at the Veterans Administration Hospital here in Johnson City. Each Thursday night, the brothers donate several hours of their time and work in the hospital wards, under the direction of the recreation staff. Here, we organize games, such as bingo, for the patients, and assist them in any way possible. The men not only enjoy the games, but appreciate the fact that young people are willing to spend some time with them. Quite often we stay longer than planned to talk with these men. The enjoyment they get out of this makes it a pleasure for us.

More projects are set for the remainder of the year. A benefit supper is planned for April for a mother suffering from leukemia. She recently gave birth to a child who is free of the disease, a rarity in medical history. Her husband died recently and their medical debts now total in the vicinity of $50,000.00.

The work goes on each week in the many different projects. Brother Roger Lloyd, our Service Project Chairman, is doing a fine job in organizing and coordinating these projects. Participation of the entire chapter is required to carry out such a vast and diversified program.

What is brotherhood? It is what Pi Kappa Alpha was founded upon. It is what the late Robert A. Smythe and the Junior Founders had as their inspiration during the dark days of the Hampton-Sydney Convention. It is what has made Pi Kappa Alpha the great fraternity it is today. It is what will make Pi Kappa Alpha an even greater fraternity in the future.

ALPHA-GAMMA CHAPTER . . .

60 Years at LSU

by John Devereaux, AT

This June marks the sixtieth year of leadership by Alpha-Gamma Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha at Louisiana State University. Installed on June 4, 1903, as the third national fraternity to enter the campus, the LSU Pikes have known a history of great discouragements and spectacular successes—sixty years of pulsating depths and heights—testing the spirit of Pi Kappa Alpha.

In 1903, when the automobile was not yet commonplace and indoor plumbing was still a luxury, Louisiana was an economically weak state, still recovering from the poverty of war and lengthy reconstruction period. After regaining inward stability, the state turned its attentions toward improving the condition of higher education, and LSU was beginning to realize the benefits of this attention.

In this atmosphere Pi Kappa Alpha entered LSU. Charter members of Alpha-Gamma Chapter were Gordan B. Golson, Preston H. Griffith, John K. Fahey, George R. P. Garland, William W. Hutchinson, and Aulette W. Buckner. The early years were ones of steady growth, sprinkled with characteristic spurts of spirit and life. The chapter had a house on what is now the site of Louisiana's capitol building. However, with the education-minded administration of reform Governor John M. Parker, the campus was moved to South Baton Rouge, where it has been located since 1922.

This left the fraternities with nice houses and no school. To solve the problem, several fraternities followed the campus to its new site and built homes there. The Pikes, however, decided to stay in their old house and operate "in absentia," possibly because a portion of the school remained at the old location and they felt that they would still be close enough to the center of university activities. This was not to be the case, and the fact that PiKA did not make the trek to the new campus proved a costly mistake in future years.

Not only did the distance of the fraternity house from the school become an inconvenience, but it was not long before another reform-minded governor, Huey P. Long, worsened the problem. Fervently loved by some Louisianians and religiously hated by others, the "Kingfish" determined in 1931 that the state should have a new capitol—so he built one. And the spot he chose for his 34-story edifice included the land on which the PiKA house was situated. So, not being financially able to construct a new house, the chapter moved to a rented structure in a different location.

Time passed, and the members remained in rented houses through the financially lean days of the thirties. Then came World War II, and college enrollment dropped as young men enlisted in the armed services. Many of those men were PiKA's. The chapter lost ground, and few were left to carry on the traditions. The lease on the house ran out, and the chapter grew weak.

After the war many brothers came back, and another house was rented close to the campus. Somehow, though, this did not provide the stimulus needed to make a strong chapter.

The years between World War II and the Korean conflict were few, and the chapter again suffered a loss of men to the armed forces. Chapter fortunes continued to be lean, and there was a time in the early fifties when a casual observer would have declared that PiKA was dead at LSU. The Garnet and Gold Flag had been folded, dust collected on the Founders' pictures, and the glitter and gaiety of the Pi Kappa Alpha Spring Formal faded into the faint shadows of memory.

Then, as it is recorded in the Alpha-Gamma Chapter History of 1954, came a momentous decision:

"It is just past midnight on the morning of September 24, 1954. The place is a room in the Heidleberg Hotel in Baton Rouge, and ten men are holding a meeting to decide the fate of Alpha-Gamma Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha.

"The problem put before the group by National Officers Earl Watkins and Stan Love is 'can Pi Kappa Alpha continue on the LSU campus and uphold the honor, reputation, and dignity of the national organization?' . . .

"The results of this meeting were as follows: The chapter voted to continue; it voted to participate in interfraternity athletics and each man pledged his efforts to bring Pi Kappa Alpha back to the top of the ladder of LSU's fraternities. Everyone also agreed to carry a load of possibly two or three different offices.

"It was also agreed that a chapter house was a necessity if Pi Kappa Alpha was to survive at LSU. So that morning initial plans for conducting a campaign for funds for a new house were formulated . . ."

This decision, together with the zealous efforts of both alumni and active members, resulted in the Alpha-Gamma Chapter which lives today. A new and modern house was constructed in early 1956.

Chairman of the building committee was alumnus Brother Andrew R. Johnson, and the committee members included Borthers James R. Fuller, Otis C. Edwards, Jr., H. H. Huckabay, H. Lyall Barnett, and George C. Vordenbaumen. In addition, many other alumni aided greatly toward final completion of the house.

Records indicate that the day of dedication was one of the most glorious ever experienced for those present. Some openly wept tears of happiness at a dream fulfilled. This was the rebirth of a chapter—the rekindling of a flame among dying embers. This was the spirit of Pi Kappa Alpha!

Since that day the chapter has continually progressed and improved its position of honor and respect in LSU's Greek society. By participating in projects for the good of both school and community, the Pikes have contributed to a better atmosphere of mutual understanding and respect toward the non-fraternity world. The chapter is also active in the national life of Pi Kappa Alpha. At the 1962 National Convention in Louisville, Alpha-Gamma received eight awards, from a total of fifteen possible categories, including the first place trophy for alumni relations and seven other honorable mentions. This was the largest number of awards received by any chapter.

Then, too, Alpha-Gamma has grown, so that the combined membership of brothers and pledges presently approaches one hundred. Plans are now being formulated for expansion by increasing the capacity of the house. Both improvement and addition are included in the projected plans. Current SMC David P. Smith said, "We at Alpha-Gamma must always strive to reach upwards with the same vision that characterized the efforts of our Founders. The past successes of our alumni brothers must serve as the building blocks through which we may glorify their ideals and add contributions of our own."

These sixty years have been vigorous ones for Pi Kappa Alpha at LSU. They have not all been times of triumph, yet they have each added something to the chapter's heritage—they have each prepared their men for the days which have followed. The challenge of today offers no exception. Now, as in the past, the brothers of Alpha-Gamma are carrying on those ideals which have been a part of Pi Kappa Alpha since that Sunday evening almost a hundred years ago when six student friends joined together and resolved to "form a fraternity . . ."

SIGMA DEDICATES NEW HOUSE TO BROTHER ROBERT A. SMYTHE

by Tom Patrick, Σ , House Dedication Chairman

Saturday, March 2, the brothers of Sigma Chapter at Vanderbilt University held dedication ceremonies for their newly completed $95,000 house. The house proper was dedicated to the memory of Brother Robert Adger Smythe, "The Grand Old Man of PiKA." The chapter and activities room was dedicated to Brother John E. Crain, who, we regret to announce, passed into the Chapter Eternal on the following week.

We were pleased to have Brother Earl Watkins, PiKA Executive Director, with us on this occasion. Dr. F. A. Petrucci, president of the Nashville Alumni Association, presented a brief summary of the many years of planning and effort which went into the building of the new house. Dr. Alexander Heard, newly appointed Chancellor of Vanderbilt University, spoke of the relationship of fraternity and university and discussed the important role of fraternities within the intellectual and social framework of college.

The principal speaker for the occasion was Judge Beverly Briley, Sigma alumnus, who was recently inaugurated as Mayor of the newly formed metropolitan government covering Nashville and Davidson County. Mayor Briley discussed the important influence of Pi Kappa Alpha upon its members during crucial college years, when the processes of maturation and character formation are approaching their ultimate goal—a mature, responsible individual.

Among the guests for dedication ceremonies and the open house which followed were Chancellor and Mrs. Heard; Vice-Chancellor Emeritus Sarratt; Vice-Chancellor and Mrs. Purdy; Vice-Chancellor Stambaugh; the Deans of the Colleges of Arts and Sciences, Engineering and Nursing; the Deans and Assistant Deans of Men and Women; and many professors and their wives. Many other alumni, parents and friends also were present for the afternoon which concluded with a buffet supper for all.

Sigma's beautiful new house is a two-story, brick structure done in conservative modern style. The outside achieves a striking appearance from the mosaic tiles over the front door and over the rear doors and windows of the basement. The Greek letters PiKA appearing in front are back-lighted at night by a soft blue-white light coming from neon tubing placed within the letters and shining on the brick front. The most notable feature of the house is its two-story-high ceiling in the front living room. Windows in this room also extend from ground floor to ceiling in front and along the right side of the house. The main floor also includes a beautiful entrance foyer with the PiKA badge placed in the floor by inlaid tile. There is a large card room and a television room which includes a color TV set.

Upstairs are the living quarters which include four single rooms and one double room. This is to meet the new university ruling that only six men may live in the house. The basement includes the kitchen and spacious chapter and activities room. This room extends the length of the house, and is used for chapter meetings, dining and parties. Its tile floor was laid during semester break by actives who remained on campus. Mothers and other women guests were especially impressed with the kitchen which includes two new double freezer lockers, two new ovens and an automatic dishwasher.

For the members and alumni of Sigma who have worked so long toward this goal, this is a proud time when a dream has finally become a reality.

Ruff Turner, president of Kappa Delta Tau local fraternity, Delta State College, Cleveland, Mississippi, (center right) receives a letter from Executive Director Earl Watkins designating the group as an official colony of Pi Kappa Alpha on February 26, 1963. Judge William H. Bizzell, Cleveland alumnus, (left) and Dist. President Jason Niles endorse the approval.

What shall We do with this PROBLEM?

BY DR. R. MATTHEW LYNN, MU*

The problem about which we ask is the Drinking Problem. If you are still trying to sweep this problem under the rug, you are one of the few doing so. The problem is now out in the open. It has raised its ugly head for all to see. Magazines carry articles about it. Books dealing with it have wide circulation. Public meetings discussing it draw good attendance. Industry is employing personnel to deal with it. State and local governments are establishing Councils or Commissions to handle it.

THE EXTENT OF THE PROBLEM. The chances are that 3 out of the next 100 people you meet will have a problem with alcohol. Seventy-five million people in the United States indulge in alcoholic beverages. This is 67% of those over 15 years of age. More than 10% of these, 8 million, are problem drinkers. Near 6 million are alcoholics. Two million are women. Alcoholism among women is increasing at an alarming rate. There are 1,200 new cases of alcoholism a day.

THE COST OF THE PROBLEM. Last year American people spent $11 billion for alcoholic beverages, more than for education and religion combined.

The hidden costs are shared by the non-drinker. Car insurance rates have risen rapidly. Much of this is credited to intoxication. Depending on how dry or wet a state is the automobile accidents in which beverage alcohol was a factor range from 45% to 65%. Alcohol makes life insurance more expensive. Three hundred fifty thousand alcoholics died last year at the average age of 51, while non-drinkers had an average of 70 years. Fifty thousand people lost their lives because of the acts of those under the influence of alcoholic beverages.

The drinking problem costs industry. One leader calls it "the billion dollar hangover." This is conservative for the cost in lost time, inefficiency, accidents, rehabilitation.

The drinking problem costs the taxpayer. Two sets of law enforcement officers are needed. One is to enforce regulations on the manufacture and sale. This costs much more today than under prohibition. The other is to preserve order and protect property threatened by the intoxicated. One city police chief said he could reduce his force by one half if alcoholic beverages could be eliminated. A neighboring county increased its force by one-third when the county voted wet.

The court and imprisonment costs are also terrific. One authority says that 80% of all persons committed to jail go there directly or indirectly because of excessive indulgence in alcohol. The rapid increase in crime among youth and women is attributed largely to the increased number of them using alcoholic beverages.

THE BURDEN OF THE PROBLEM is borne by individuals: The members of broken homes, the wives and widows who slave to feed and clothe the family, the husbands who do everything possible to keep the neighbors and children from knowing that mother has this problem, the children who live in embarrassment and fear, and the alcoholic who is no longer master of himself. The alcoholic is an object of compassion. He is a slave to drink. He has lost self-confidence, efficiency, love of home, respect for self. He has developed such fear and guilt that he doubts the power of God to save him.

Though a problem in many areas, the drinking problem is essentially a HEALTH PROBLEM. Psychiatrists have so described it for 50 years. In 1951 the American Medical Association pronounced alcoholism a disease. Some medical men say it differs from most diseases in that alcoholism is under the control of the will. The alcoholic may have a compulsion to drink, but no one has to drink if he does not want to. A strong will can intercept the drive to drink. But the chief characteristic of this disease is that the will has been weakened. The problem drinker is sick. The illness attacks the total person, body, mind, emotions and spirit.

THE INCIDENCE of this illness has made it a major health problem. Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, University of Illinois, told the Institute of Scientific Studies, meeting in Washington, D. C., "Alcoholism is now the nation's number three health problem from the standpoint of incidence, lives lost, and people disabled." Only heart and cancer exceed it. Tuberculosis has dropped more than halfway behind it.

WHAT SHALL WE DO WITH THIS PROBLEM? IGNORE IT? MINIMIZE IT? INTELLIGENTLY GO TO WORK IN SEARCH OF A SOLUTION?

In such an intelligent search I would suggest consideration of the following:

1. HISTORY. The drinking problem is as old and universal as man. The Bible records incidents of the problem and recommends solutions.

2. EDUCATION. Every citizen needs to be informed about the problem of drinking, the problem drinker and the problem of being helpful in the face of this problem. Have you ever been to the Alcoholism Information Center, 105 Allen Building, Midland, Texas? Go at once. Mrs. Russell Fouts, the secretary, will assist you as she has me, in selecting material which will help you and enable you to help the other fellow. This Council provides counseling, referral service, and literature to alcoholics and anyone dealing with, or interested in, this problem. October 25-31 is designated Alcoholism Information Week. Our local Council on Alcoholism will cooperate with the National Council in promoting this week.

3. COOPERATION. This is not a one-man task. Infinite patience must be shown. Firm intelligent determination is essential. Early diagnosis is as important in this as in other diseases. Unrelenting therapy is imperative. Family, physician, counselor, clergyman, and in many cases, Alcoholics Anonymous, must be a part of this cooperative team.

Hospitalization is expensive but now available to all. Through the efforts of the Texas Commission on Alcoholism a person may be admitted to state hospitals on a voluntary basis for treatment of from 30 to 60 days.

4. LEGISLATION. Our experience with the 18th Amendment has prejudiced many against legislation. The fact is that legislation is very effective in some places. We ourselves have a great deal of it, regulating the manufacture and tax structure, the times, places, and manner of sale. If the huckster advertising continues as it has started since the "Gentlemen's Agreement" within the industry has broken down, we may expect legislation to control this advertising. Legislation to be effective, requires three things: a beverage industry with a conscience, a law enforcement staff with integrity, and a public convinced of its importance.

5. RELIGION. The church has a ministry of compassion in the Spirit of Christ. The ministers are on call at all times. Most churches have members qualified by experience and training to help. The answer to this problem is the Christian answer of forgiveness and renewal.

Dr. C. A. D'Alonzo, in "The Drinking Problem And Its Control," discusses the fear that possesses the alcoholic. He says, "The support which the alcoholic needs to counteract this fear comes more from within than from without. The brace which he needs is a religious one; the consolation and help of a Higher Power." I would commend this book, The Drinking Problem And Its Control, by C. A. D'Alonzo, M. D., a member of the Medical Staff of the E. I. DuPont de Nemours and Company.

*This message was delivered September 20, 1959, at First Presbyterian Church, Midland, Texas, by R. Matthew Lynn.

6. ABSTINENCE. Just don't drink. The alcoholic to solve his problem must give up drinking. The surest way for the non-alcoholic to avoid the problem is not to drink. One out of 8 social drinkers will become an alcoholic and there is no way to know which one. Alcoholism, like most diseases, is no respecter of persons. There is no "type." Dr. D'Alonzo says, "No one can become an alcoholic without the first drink . . . Where you have people and alcohol, you have alcoholism."

7. THE GLORY OF GOD. Today with so many people serving so much alcohol it takes the help of the Holy Spirit and the grace of the Lord Jesus to turn your glass down or to say politely, "No, I thank you." The Apostle Paul faced this problem. He saw legalism as an answer. He saw individual freedom as an answer. But for the Christian he saw the answer in what glorifies God. "So, whether you eat or drink, or whatever you do, do all to the glory of God."

Watkins Speaks to Atlanta Alumni

About 100 alumni and undergraduates met at the Atlanta Athletic Club on February 28, 1963, in observance of Founder's Day.

Earl Watkins, Executive Director of the National Fraternity, was guest speaker following the banquet.

Presiding was Atlanta Alumni Association President Dr. Paul G. Blount. Preceding the featured speaker for the evening, SMC's of the four undergraduate chapters in Georgia were introduced. Laurence Brantley (Alpha Delta, Georgia Tech), Jimmy Gash (IMC, Alpha Mu, University of Georgia), Steve Cutshaw (Beta Kappa, Emory University), and Leon Brock (Epsilon Nu, Georgia State) reported on the achievements of their respective chapters during the past year.

Brother Harry Cashin (Alpha Mu) presented Alpha Delta with a cash award as the Outstanding Chapter during the year 1962-63.

Dr. Robert M. McFarland, Jr., introduced Brother Watkins. Recounting the founders and the conditions into which life was breathed into Pi Kappa Alpha in 1868, Brother Watkins told where the Fraternity has been and where it will go. He paid tribute to the loyalty of the men who have helped to make the Fraternity what it is today. He urged that we maintain our lofty purposes to justify our existence and to combat the adverse public opinion today associated with the college fraternity system.

Incoming Association President Garth Jenkins (Gamma Phi) responded to the remarks of Brother Watkins, urging an active program for the coming year. Serving with him will be Harry Cashin, Jr., vice president and Dan Roper (Delta), secretary-treasurer.

"DREAM GIRL with her Sleeves rolled-up"

by Robert D. Lynn, National Editor

Jean Isbell, former Asst. Editor of the Shield and Diamond magazine with daughter Jeanette Bowe Isbell.

"Dream Girl with her sleeves rolled up" is an apt description of Mrs. Paul Isbell, nee Jean Bowe, Capleville, Tennessee. Jean has recently forsaken the Pi Kappa Alpha National Office for twenty-four hour duty loving and caring for her six months old daughter, beautiful, blue-eyed Jeanette Bowe Isbell. Her quiet efficiency is missed at the Memorial Headquarters but all of us are continuing to benefit from her fifteen years of loyal service to PiKA.

In the fall of 1948, I interviewed Miss Jean Bowe when she applied for a secretarial position in the National Office. When I asked if she could take shorthand, she replied "Not today but if you will give me four weeks I'll be qualified when I return." I did. She did. She was! This is typical of this woman of action.

Jean has a host of Pi Kappa Alpha friends throughout the country. She has graciously presided over the national convention registration desk, has helped handle convention publicity, has been Girl Friday to the executive secretary and the national president, and has been assistant editor of the Shield & Diamond magazine for more than a decade. "Where's Jean?" is a familiar greeting at all conventions from her host of friends.

Mrs. Isbell attended Mary Washington College, Fredericksburg, Virginia, her freshman year and graduated in 1948 from the University of Tennessee, the Alma Mater of her mother and father. While there she served as president of the Phi Mu Fraternity, to which her mother and aunt also belong. She majored in Spanish and earned graduate credits through further study in Mexico.

Her loyalty to Phi Mu is demonstrated by her activities for it too—various offices in the Memphis Phi Mu Alumnae Association, including the presidency, charter member of house corporation of the Memphis State University chapter, treasurer and member of the board of directors, National Memorabilia Chairman for four years, collecting items of historical interest including a dress worn by one of its founders in 1840, and currently National Social Service Chairman investigating new avenues of service on a national scale.

Her husband, Paul, is a busy man too. He earned a B. S. degree in engineering at the University of Tennessee. While there he served as president of the Delta Sigma Phi fraternity. He is vice-president and one of the principal owners of Southern Fabricators, Inc., a steel fabricating firm.

Jean is active in her community and serves as organist in the Methodist Church. Her hobbies are travel—Mexico, Europe, and the Middle East—antiques, and landscaping the thirteen acre yard in which their modified colonial home is centered.

Jean says, "My two favorite hobbies are taking care of Jeannie, and my fond memories of my work with Pi Kappa Alpha, its magazine, and my many friends therein who have so greatly enriched my life."

Dr. Kenneth N. Ogle Beta-Rho, Colorado College received an honorary degree from the University of Uppsala, Sweden.

Phi Beta Kappa Michael Foreman, Omicron (University of Richmond)

Louisiana Tech Honors Coach Eddie

"This is your life, Coach Eddie McLane." No, these words weren't spoken by Ralph Edwards of the popular TV show; instead they were spoken by past-SMC Larry Beadles as Gamma-Psi Chapter opened its commemoration of Founders Day with a tribute to Lovick P. "Coach Eddie" McLane for his many years of loyal and dedicated service to Pi Kappa Alpha.

Coach Eddie, as he is known to all, was born August 9, 1899, in Birmingham, Alabama, and there he lived until the tragic death of his parents. He attended high school in Pinchard, Alabama, where he was valedictorian of his graduating class. He was given an athletic scholarship by Howard College in Birmingham, and there played his college athletics. In 1918 at Howard College, Coach Eddie became associated with the organization that was to become part of him and his way of life for the rest of his life. This group of college men was the Alpha-Pi Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha.

After three years at Howard, Coach Eddie transferred to Maryville, a small Presbyterian College in Tennessee, where he received his A.B. in 1922. He has done graduate work at Michigan, Alabama and Notre Dame and received his M.S. at L.S.U.

He held coaching jobs at Anniston and Jasper, Alabama, and at Jennings, Louisiana. There he met Mrs. McLane, who has been a constant inspiration to Coach Eddie. Coach's next assignment was as assistant coach at Howard College.

In 1934, President G. W. Bond of Louisiana Tech offered Coach Eddie the position of athletic director. The depression was on and President Bond had a powerful persuader, cash rather than script. Since the McLane family numbered four, it was nearly impossible for Coach Eddie to refuse.

For three years, the McLane luck and skill prevailed and Louisiana Tech had winning teams against such noted rivals as Ole Miss, University of South Dakota, University of Tampa, Centenary and Tulane. On first arriving here, Coach joined in with a group of civic minded citizens known as the "Light Brigade" and through pre-season ticket sales raised enough money to light the football field, which in those days required much hard work. A few years later, the state built Coach Eddie a stadium. One of the most memorable occasions in Coach's life was the presentation of a watch, which he still wears, by his championship 1936 football team.

All was going well, then, tragedy struck. Saturday, November 13, 1937 returning from an L.S.U. football game in Baton Rouge, Coach Eddie and several of his coaches were involved in a serious automobile accident near Bunkie, Louisiana. The news was released to the press the next morning and thousands of people sent up their prayers that Coach Eddie might live.

When asked if Coach Eddie would ever walk again, Dr. Marvin Green said that anybody else would have been killed but, with McLane it would be impossible to predict what the outcome might be. After seven months in the hospital, between life and death, Coach Eddie came home with Mrs. McLane.

In the spring of 1939 because of his ill health, Coach Eddie retired from coaching and turned to teaching. Since then he has been on the Tech faculty as professor of Health and Physical Education and Director of Driver Training Instruction.

When a local fraternity petitioned the national office for a Pi Kappa Alpha Chapter, Coach Eddie came to their assistance and Gamma-Psi obtained its charter quicker than any other chapter. Since then Coach Eddie has devoted many hours of work with the chapter and is largely responsible for its position as the top fraternity on the campus, because of his never-say-die attitude and his hard work.

A voice was heard from outside the banquet room and puzzled Coach Eddie could not identify the voice of a long time friend, National Executive Director Earl Watkins. Brother Watkins was only the first of several surprise guests, all of whom played significant roles in Coach Eddie's life. In his appearance Brother Watkins presented Coach Eddie with a certificate of commendation from the national office of the fraternity.

The high light of the pre-banquet ceremonies came when Gamma-Psi Chapter presented Coach Eddie with a membership in the Diamond Life Chapter as an official recognition of all his activities on our behalf. This tribute can be placed alongside that of being the honor guest at Howard College's 1960 Homecoming activities.

Since its inception Gamma-Psi's house corporation has been headed by Coach Eddie so ably that Brother Earl Watkins was moved to remark that we had a national reputation for financial stability. For years Coach Eddie has been radiating inspiration in his attendance of functions ranging from rush parties, where he exemplifies the spirit of Pi Kappa Alpha, to regular meetings where he "just dropped by to see how my boys are."

After the introduction of honored guests, including: F. Jay Taylor, President of Louisiana Tech; S. X. Lewis, Dean of Men; and Mrs. S. A. Dyson, Dean of Women; and their wives and husbands; SMC Pete Moore presented Brother Earl Watkins to the audience. Brother Watkins addressed the gathering and gave brief biographical sketches of various notables in the fraternity's history. From the National Museum in Memphis he displayed the pin and guard worn by former National President Harvey T. Newell, Jr., when he was killed in a plane crash while he was returning from installing Epsilon-Gamma Chapter at Texas Tech in Lubbock on May 17, 1953. He told how it was found in the wreck.

Following the banquet, which was concluded early that afternoon, the entire group left the banquet hall to attend the open house held at the Gamma-Psi house. Guests were greeted at the open house by SMC Moore and our lovely Dream Girl Bette Stokes. The guests were escorted through the house by active members and pledges.

The banquet and the program commemorating Founders' Day were a huge success, for it showed the parents of PiKA's and all the alumni that we here at Gamma-Psi are interested in the future by keeping close ties with the high standards of the past of PiKA. We feel also that the program succeeded in showing also just a small part of the great love we hold for our "Coach Eddie" McLane.

Pike Fiesta At Texas Tech

Epsilon-Gamma entertained the students of Texas Tech recently with its annual "Pike Fiesta" in the wildest of Spanish styles. Freddy King and his group provided the not-so-Spanish music, and all in attendance, whether in serapes or ivy leagues, had fun.

Prior to Fiesta Weekend, the Pikes were busy in many other endeavors. The intramural office noted that the Pikes rank second in overall athletic competition. We are going to win again this year!

We celebrated our Founder's Day this year—our tenth anniversary—with a breakfast and church attendance, as we recalled the death of Brother Harvey T. Newell who died in a plane crash as he was returning to the National Office after having installed Epsilon-Gamma on this campus. Later this year, the National Office is honoring Brother Newell with a ceremony in which will be presented a new award in his memory.

Much has been happening since our last report—a whollopig big homecoming celebration, a chapter New Year's party in Dallas, the Tramp's Turnout, the Toga Party, and the Dream Girl Dinner Dance, at which Miss Carolyn McDuff, a sophomore from Stamford, Texas, was made our new Dream Girl. Two weeks later, Miss McDuff was chosen the Tech "Playmate of the Year" by the beauty-minded on campus.

Valparaiso Third In Fraternity Scholarship

The spring semester at Epsilon-Beta has found the brothers active in many phases of campus and academic life. They have shown their interest and leadership qualities by their participation in academic pursuits, intramural activities, and student service and social organizations.

Spring rush brought eleven pledges to Epsilon-Beta, bringing the total affiliate membership to ninety-five, the largest on campus. The academic goals of these new affiliates range from engineering (3) to pre-med (3), to pre-dental.

The Pikes completed a 10-1 record in basketball which put them first as interfraternity champs. Chief point scorers were Bob Woolley, Bill Niess, and Dan Drapp, all of whom were nominated to the all-star basketball team this year. Bowling brought another first place to Epsilon-Beta, with Del Krause as top point man.

The house scholarship average rests at 1.71 on a three point system which gives the Pikes at Valpo a third place ranking in scholarship out of ten national fraternities.

Of special note is EB's contribution to Tau Beta Pi—the national honorary fraternity for engineers. Stu Walesh was selected to preside over Tau Beta Pi for its first year at Valpo. EB active members Verne Schneider, Hugh McAlear, and Allen Landmeier have been selected as charter members to the Indiana Delta chapter. EB alumnus initiates to Tau Beta Pi include Robert A. Blesch '59, Gilbert M. Lehmann '55, and Paul J. Pekrul '56.

Kent Machina was selected as a Danforth Fellow to continue his study of math and physics in graduate school. Other graduating seniors to receive offers of assistanceships from prominent graduate schools are: Verne Schneider, Stu Walesh, Michael Householdler, Jay Lieske, and Doyle Vogt.

The Pikes at Valpo started their Founder's Day celebration with a basketball game against the Purdue chapter. After a short break for refreshments, both chapters traveled by bus to Chicago to complete the day's festivities with the chapters from Bradley, Northwestern, and Beloit.

A "Roaring 20's" party featuring the Charleston and the twist leads the social calendar as the most enjoyed social event so far this semester. Coming up is a "Wild West" theme party emphasizing costumes and some Western style dancing and the spring dinner-formal to be held in Chicago on May 3rd.

New officers in EB's executive board are Hugh McAlear, SMC; Don Albright, IMC; Dave Polster, Th.C, and Allen Landmeier, SC.

All Pledges Qualify At Southeast Missouri

The Pikes at Southeast Missouri State saw every member of the fall pledge class make his grades. Nine men were initiated as brothers into Epsilon-Iota Chapter.

Our spring rush was very successful. We pledged sixteen fine and spirited men. The chapter took the new pledges to visit the National Office in Memphis. A few men went from there to visit the brothers at Ole Miss.

After witnessing a very fine year under the dynamic leadership of former SMC Jim Portell and his capable administration, we now have an equally progressive administration, consisting of Ron Hahs as SMC, Mike Loehr as IMC, Ron Jones as Th.C, and Wayne Ladreiter as Historian.

We celebrated Founder's Day at Cape's finest country club, with Brother Ray Bass giving an enlightening and eloquent speech on his interpretation of "Brotherhood." Also, the same country club was the site of the Dream Girl Dance on May 4. Our Dream Girl outing took place at Crab Orchard Lake in Illinois.

The remainder of the school year kept the Pikes on campus busy with our annual money making light bulb sale, the National Service Day, the District Convention at Memphis, and the fraternity intramural activities. Our new Rush Chairman, Jim Portell, held seminars with our pledges on rushing techniques. This will thrust us forward with powerful strides in our next year's rush program.

We are looking forward to moving into the new Greek Dorms this fall. Jim Lee, Wayne Ladreiter, Jim Leist, Jim Rhodes, and our alumnus counselor Wendell Black, have worked diligently in providing our new chapter room and lounge with the proper decor.

Pittsburgh Pikes Second in Scholarship

The brothers of Gamma Sigma have good reason to be proud this trimester. Under the leadership of John Borkovik, scholarship chairman, our chapter scholarship is now ranked second on campus. Also, Jim Mastrian has been elected a member of the Druids, an honorary scholastic fraternity.

Gamma Sigma has had a very diversified and active year in 1963. John Hollingsworth, Chet Riley, Don Sweeney, Chuck Loch, and Jim Coll attended the District 2 and 3 Convention at the University of Pennsylvania and gave a full report of their activities upon their return to Pittsburgh. Our athletic teams have given us a 2nd place in basketball and two 3rd places in squash and swimming in our race for the IF Sports Trophy. We also thank the brothers of Epsilon Upsilon for playing a tough basketball game with us (which Gamma Sigma won 51-45). The brothers from Gannon College made a long trip to play us and Gamma Sigma is happy to establish closer contact with them.

The new officers of Gamma Sigma for the fall trimester are Jim Mastrian, SMC; Chet Riley, IMC; Frank Charles, Th.C; Jim Coll, SC; and Don Sweeney, Fifth Man.

The alumni of Gamma Sigma organized an excellent Founder's Day banquet and program. This year's program was attended by the alumni and actives of Gamma Sigma, the actives of Beta Sigma at Carnegie Tech and Epsilon Upsilon at Gannon College.

Perfect Season At Georgetown College

Pi Kappa Alpha swept the intramural volleyball and basketball championships with perfect records. This makes the fourth consecutive year the chapter has gone undefeated in basketball. This also puts Alpha-Lambda well on its way toward capturing its fourth straight intramural championship.

Spring pledging saw the Alpha-Lambda Chapter take a great step forward. Georgetown's academic standard for pledging left a limited number of men eligible, and those men were much sought after by all the fraternities on campus. As in previous years, Alpha-Lambda pledged the top men out for rush at Georgetown College.

Pi Kappa Alpha Dream Girl Louise Carver of Jacksonville, Florida was crowned the queen of the Georgetown campus for the coming year. In her formal acceptance she said, "I am happy to represent Georgetown College and the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity."

Georgetown chapter is now engaged in the formation of an active alumni association. Alpha-Lambda was host to a highly successful alumni weekend party in February and hopes to have more house functions for our older brothers.

Southern California Building New House

A fifteen-year old dream came true for Gamma Eta Chapter last Founders' Day when Brother Grant Macfarlane drove the tip of a gold shovel into the ground in front of the old house and officially broke ground for the new chapter house.

Brother Macfarlane, who had traveled from Salt Lake City as the National Fraternity's representative for the occasion, then gave a short address to the largest group of alumni, actives and pledges ever gathered for any Founder's Day in Gamma Eta history. He spoke of the duties and responsibilities and the challenges ahead that faced not only the actives and pledges but also of the Alumni Association which, together with the National Office, made the dream a reality.

After introduction of the new Spring pledge class and the present chapter officers, the group adjourned to the Rodger Young Auditorium for a buffet dinner and additional ceremonies. Brother Macfarlane addressed the gathering once again and expressed optimism for the future of the chapter. He complimented the men on their efforts, the chapter has tripled in size in less than a year, and on its current pledge class which is the third largest of thirty fraternities at USC. Following the dinner, copies of the rendering of the new house were sold at cost to those present and three of the gold shovels used in the groundbreaking ceremonies were auctioned off . . . a fourth shovel will be encased in a trophy room designed for the new house.

Don Shaw, President of the Gamma Eta Foundation, expressed his thanks to the National Fraternity for its aid which enabled Gamma Eta to be the only fraternity on the USC campus to build a new house with private funds. Three other fraternities are building, but are financed with Federal funds.

Brother Shaw then introduced former Alumnus Counselor Hugh Holbert, who explained the plans for a reorganized Los Angeles Alumni Association. Awards were made by SMC William Rader — Outstanding Pledge for last semester, Carl Ferraro; and Outstanding Alumnus, Hugh Holbert.

SMC Rader then outlined the plans for the coming semester which included:

(1) An improved scholarship program which features a mandatory 15 hours of supervised study each week.

(2) Grade sheets which would be turned in every five weeks.

(3) Alumni assistance for actives and pledges who desired it in their respective fields of study.

(4) A Pi Kappa Alpha ring for any chapter member who, by the end of his junior year, had an accumulative grade average of 2.75, on a 4.0 system.

(5) Friday night Date dinners sponsored by the alumni for all members and pledges achieving a 2.75 grade point average during any one semester.

(6) A Jeweled PiKA badge donated by the Gamma Eta Foundation for all initiates achieving a 2.75 grade average or better during the semester they pledge.

(7) A component stereo system for the new chapter house if the house average is equal to or better than the All Men's average during the Spring semester.

Brother Rader then pointed out that the Chapter, with the help of former Rush Chairman Al Fadel and current Rush Chairman Charles Harrison, is planning an intense Rush program for the summer which includes the following:

(1) Personal Rush, which has been implemented under Brother Fadel and has produced a large quality Pledge class.

(2) A Rush Program that includes a meeting with the Rushee's parents in an attempt to familiarize them with the objectives of Gamma Eta Chapter and of the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity.

High points of the year for Gamma-Eta Chapter were:

(1) The loan from the National Office which enabled the chapter to build its new 46 man house on private funds.

(2) The District Convention hosted by Gamma-Eta.

(3) The election of Pledge Paul Hackett to the office of Freshman Class President.

(4) The election of three other pledges to freshman and sophomore men's service organizations.

(5) The addition of a new "beast", sometimes called a Fire Engine.

(6) A highly successful social year which included a Formal at the Point Loma Inn in San Diego and joining with the Gamma Phi Beta Sorority in Trolios; a PiKA sponsored, all university Street Dance in front of the Chapter House, heralding the groundbreaking ceremonies and the demolition of the old Chapter house to make way for a new addition to Pi Kappa Alpha.

Todd Treasurer At Ole Miss

"At Ole Miss, Pi Kappa Alpha means leadership." This tradition has been continued this year with the election of Dick Todd to the office of treasurer of the Associated Student Body. This marks the fifteenth year PiKA has elected its candidate for an A. S. B. office without a single defeat. We have elected brothers to every office in the A. S. B. except secretary which is traditionally held by a coed. At present we are waging campaigns for the election of Twig Branch as cheerleader and Ken McCoy as President of the Engineering School. Arthur Ray was recently elected treasurer of Delta Sigma Pi, business fraternity.

Several brothers have received honors this year. Henry Haynes was selected the outstanding chemical engineer; Bill Bullock was promoted to Wing Commander of the Air Force R.O.T.C.; Arthur Ray was selected for Beta Gamma Sigma, honorary business fraternity, and Beta Alpha Psi, honorary accounting fraternity; Ranny Cross and Ken McCoy were ranked number one students in the Army R.O.T.C. and Naval R.O.T.C. respectively; and Joe Hartley and Ranny Cross were elected to Delta Sigma Phi, business fraternity.

Brothers on the Chancellor's list last semester were: Cecil Brown, (also given the Outstanding Pledge Award), Ranny Cross, Arthur Ray, Pick Scruggs, John Gunter, Tate Thigpen, and Henry Haynes. Henry Haynes, a chemical engineering major, had a perfect grade point average.

In March, David Wilson was elected SMC. The officers serving with him are: Henry Haynes, IMC, Ralph Young, Th.C, Garner Lester, SC.

Recently the Ole Miss Rebel football team completed spring training and Brother Whally Hall emerged as a potential All-American candidate. On the Intramural sports scene, three Pike football players, Semmes Ross, Ted Dame and Bob Neil, were selected for the all-fraternity football squad. Softball, volley ball, tennis and golf are now underway.

On the social side, the annual Roman Ball has just been held and plans are being completed for the Playboy party and the Dream Girl Formal. Plans for the formal weekend include our Dream Girl Formal dance on Friday night followed by a breakfast. On Saturday afternoon we plan to have a tea dance followed by a beach party that night.

Gamma Iota was honored with a visit from National President Joe Scott. Accompanying him were Executive Director Earl Watkins and Chapter House Commissioner Herbert Miller. Brother Scott gave a very inspiring talk which was thoroughly enjoyed by all the brothers and campus officials present.

On February 24, Founders' Day was celebrated with an alumni banquet. We were extremely fortunate to have been able to have National Historian Freeman Hart as our speaker. Present at the banquet were Executive Director Earl Watkins, National Rush Chairman Johnny Browning, District President Jason Niles and many alumni.

Pike Colony Producing Leaders at Eastern Illinois

The men of Eastern Illinois Colony started the school year off by pledging twelve men during Fall Quarter rush, ten of whom have become initiated brothers.

Captain Don McMorris and Jim Cunningham and Larry Watts were outstanding performers on the EIU cross country team in the fall and are on the track team this spring. Max Jaeger was the University House Decorations Chairman for the EIU Homecoming. The annual Sadie Hawkins Dance sponsored by our fraternity was a large success and was enjoyed by students and faculty. The brothers were active in Intramural sports, but did not come away champions.

During winter quarter we took fifteen fine men. We now have twenty-six actives and fifteen pledges. Our membership should be close to or above fifty after spring rush.

The Pike Juniors were Intramural Basketball Champions in Class "D" winter quarter after having tied with another fraternity team for the championship at the close of the regular season. Sparked by Dana Duvall, Chip Winnett, and Russ Carlen on the front line and Chuck King's able passing, the Pikes won the game and the league title, 42-39.

On February 1, 1963 our new officers took charge of the fraternity. The newly elected officers were: Max Jaeger, President; Steve McFarling, Vice-President; Dana Duvall, Treasurer; and Don Cougill, Recording Secretary. Jim Cunningham, Rush Chairman, was elected Historian for the coming year. We are confident that these men will prove to be as fine a group of leaders as the preceding men were.

The men of Eastern Illinois Colony are very eagerly awaiting the date when we will become a chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha and know that chapter status will be a great asset to us. It is something that we all want.

Tom Yerkes Leads Wm. & Mary

Formal Rush on Fraternity Row at the College of William & Mary has ended. Gamma Chapter pledged two outstanding sophomores in Jay Anthony and Kenny Williams, and eleven fine freshmen: Dave Kern, Billy Lott, Tim Harris, Pete Holtzmuller, Keith Dauer, Pete Nance, Bill Rountree, Dave Olsen, Al Mullahane, Al White, and Jack Drew. Rush Chairman Tom Yerkes did an outstanding job.

Tom has also contributed greatly to PiKA's run for the school Intramural All-Points Trophy. Gamma is now third in the standings, a mere twenty points from the top. Tom achieved All-League honors in touch football at right end, leading the team to a fourth place finish. He teamed with Jim Delany, Bob Sizemore, Dick Weber, Tom Vice, and Butch Plageman to sweep the volleyball title in an exciting playoff. Also contributing greatly to our strong showing were Tom Brennan and Bob Sizemore, first and third respectively in the free throw competition, Dave Thomas in tennis, Paul Zisman and Tiger Nevins in wrestling, Tom Connor in horseshoes, and our fine swimmers Tom Yerkes, Paul Mattox, Skip King, and Dave Thomas. Bob Sizemore deserves special mention for the fine job as intramural manager. Dick Weber has assumed the responsibility of getting us to the top in this second semester. Prospects for this are excellent, especially with our strong basketball, softball, and track teams.

Outstanding leadership was provided first semester by President Perry White, Vice President Bill Pippin, Treasurer Jim Delaney, Secretary Tom Brennan, I.F.C. representatives Bob Buckley and Dan Denby, and Scholarship Chairman G. Henry Plageman. Vice President Pippin engineered our novel parties; the construction of our prize winning entry in the Homecoming Float Parade; and, his most important project, the fraternity work in conjunction with the Peninsular Tuberculosis Association's Christmas Seals drive, for which we earned a beautiful plaque for "outstanding community service" and much prestige with community and school officials.

Under our new leaders, and with the new additions made to the fraternity during rush, teamed with already excellent prospects in all fields of fraternity endeavor—social, athletic, scholastic, and community—we look forward to an even better semester at No. 6 Fraternity Row, Williamsburg, Va.

Sam Houston Pledges Are Slaves for Day

In the scramble for pledges second semester, the Sam Houston Pikes tied for first in number and are convinced that the quality is equal to the quantity.

A total of 15 rushees became pledges and have already displayed that Pike spirit, instigating an auction in which they were sold to campus sororities as "slaves for a day." The auction netted the pledges some coinage for a pledge project and gave them a chance to become acquainted with the "snob hill" gals.

Our annual donkey basketball game was par excellence again and a large crowd was on hand to watch the Greeks and townspeople take their spills.

The chapter house is the current rave on campus. We have completely redecorated our living and dining rooms with ultra-modern furniture, and the big eye-catcher, a huge garnet carpet.

Sportswise, we defeated Delta Tau Delta in double overtime basketball, only to lose to them in the championship game, but we're proud of second place. Baseball is in full swing right now and Epsilon-Pi is still in the running with a 1-1 record.

There is never a dull moment around here as we are tuning our vocal cords for Greek Sing Song. Plans are set up for a gala weekend, May 10, for the Dream Girl Formal to be held at Galveston.

Western Week is approaching here on campus and the Pikes are sponsoring their annual Western Week Talent Show. Five hilarious acts are already lined up in what promises to be the liveliest evening on campus.

Sam Houston Greeks sponsored a very successful Soap Box Derby. Pike President Stan Mikula together with Stan Lester built a beauty which turned out to be the third fastest car in the twelve car field. The flaws have been ironed out and we're confident of a first place next year.

Epsilon-Pi enjoyed itself immensely at the District Convention in Austin March 23. The chapter brought back a huge trophy for the best skit presented at the convention. Brother Brick Lowry, Dean of the College, and Brother C. W. Davis, our sponsor, received a good share of the limelight.

We earned second place in fraternity grade point averages with a 2.32. All six of Sam Houston's fraternities were above the all-men's average, and Sam Houston's Greeks have been designated Summa Cum Laude by the National Interfraternity Scholarship Committee. This was our greatest achievement.

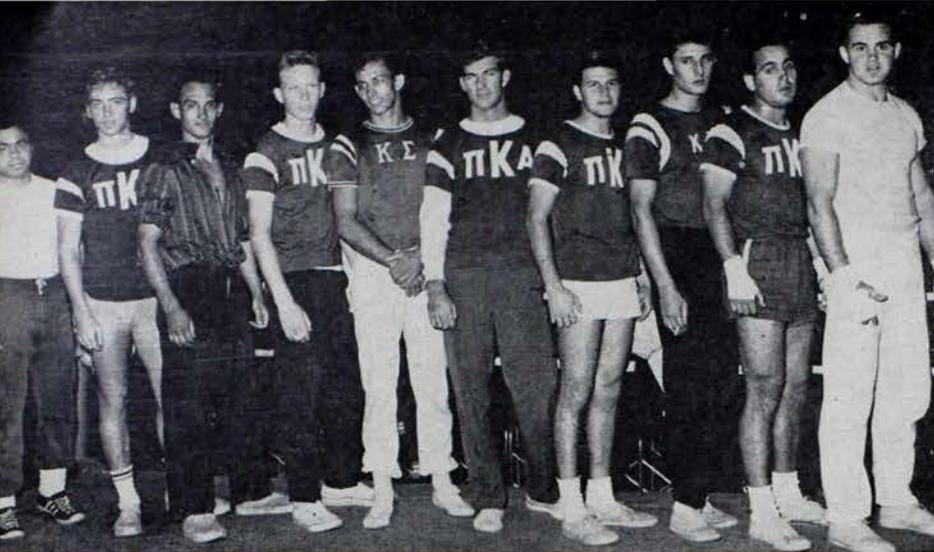

John W. Breen, Jr.,
EII, Sam Houston State

Epsilon Pi SMC Stan Mikula rolls to an easy victory in the Soap Box Derby Competition at Sam Houston State.

CORRECTION!

Your editor deeply regrets an undetected error when type was set for the article in the March 1963 SHIELD AND DIAMOND magazine entitled "Minister Hugh Grant Addresses Commemorative Assembly." On page 15, column 1, top of page, second paragraph is the following statement: "Certainly there was sell-out to Italy by King Zog." This line should have read as follows: "Certainly there was no sell-out to Italy by King Zog." The word no was inadvertently dropped out of the line in the printed copy and obviously it would appear that King Zog did "sell-out" to Italy, which is wholly incorrect. That he did not "sell-out" is stated in the sentence that follows: "Such an allegation is a gross libel against the character and patriotism of Ahmet Bey Zogu . . ."

Gamma-Omega Chapter, University of Miami, Florida, wins five of the ten championships in intramural wrestling.

Miami, Florida First in Intramurals

The activity that has commanded the most interest and created the most spirit at Gamma-Omega chapter this year is the intramural sports program. Although competition has been unusually keen, the Pikes have forged ahead to the top position.

Each year, the University of Miami awards The President's Cup, a handsome gold trophy, to the team that wins the intramural program. The team that wins the trophy five times retires it permanently. Pike is the only team that has won it four times so far, and we are making every effort to retire it permanently this year.

With outstanding participation from all the brothers, we have won wrestling, riflery, boxing, and the tennis doubles. We took second place in basketball.

Gamma-Omega chapter's top position is a genuine tribute to teamwork and a competitive spirit. With several sports still to be played, we are confident that Pike will be the first team permanently to retire The President's Cup.

Trinity is First In Fraternity Scholarship

H. Meade Alcorn, former Republican National Chairman, was guest speaker for the annual Founder's Day Banquet, held on Wednesday, April 3, 1963. The successful affair, preceded by a social hour, was attended by over sixty alumni and members of the Trinity College faculty. Alcorn, former classmate of Nelson Rockefeller at Dartmouth, described his two and one-half years as the GOP National Chairman—his debates with his Democratic counterpart Paul Butler, his appearances on question and answer TV programs, and his personal contact and experiences with history-makers in Washington.

On the scholastic side, for the second semester in a row, Epsilon-Alpha has topped all the Greek letters in scholastic achievement. This record is an enviable one at Trinity, which is recognized as a good—and, accordingly, an academically difficult—liberal arts college.

The chapter is currently making a strong bid for the cherished Interfraternity Cup, awarded annually for excellence in IFC activities and scholastic standing. Thus far more than five hundred dollars have been donated to the Trinity College Fine Arts Center drive. This is more than double the sum contributed by any one of the other fraternities. The campaign, incidentally, has received much publicity for high student participation. Epsilon-Alpha, in addition, has contributed time and talent all year to greater Hartford area community volunteer projects and is looking forward to the annual American School for the Deaf outing. During this all day affair, scores of handicapped children are treated to a hot-dog roast and engage the Pikes in a game of softball—a contest in which PiKA is not infrequently trounced!

We salute one of our senior brothers, Thomas R. Berger, who has been awarded the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship. Tom is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Pi Sigma, national physics honor society, of which he is a past president. Other offices he has held during his college career include chapter treasurer and president of the Athenium Society, the Trinity debate club. He will attend California Institute of Technology next year and will do graduate work in mathematics. Tom has compiled a fine record here at Trinity and we are justly proud of him.

Gamma Nu Names Hoff Outstanding Pledge

Ten new men were initiated into the bonds of Pi Kappa Alpha at Gamma Nu Chapter on March 30. The new brothers are: Glen Clark, Steve Combs, Dick Eggert, Nick Gollobitz, Randy Hoff, Lance Lercher, Ron Macloskey, John Nachazel, Lee Petersen, Mike Petersen. Randy Hoff was voted the outstanding pledge of his pledge class.

As we entered the second semester our social activities included two parties at a local ski lodge. For the non-skiers there was tobogganing. On April 19th we had our second costume party of the year. The climax to our social season came on May 10th with the annual Dream Girl Formal. This event was held at the chapter house. The favorite spot in the house that night was our large patio. As we were approaching final week the men hit the books to raise our scholastic rating even higher.

On the intramural sport side of our campus activities our basketball team clinched the first place in the fraternity league. Also the Pikes copped first place honors in intramural bowling led by Brothers Hedglin and Macloskey, who are also on the University bowling first team.

During Greek Week on the State University of Iowa campus we nominated Miss Carolyn Lozier, Kappa Kappa Gamma, for Inter-Fraternity Council Queen. At the IFC dance that ended the week's festivities our candidate was chosen runner-up to the Queen.

University of Washington Wins District Trophy

Winter Quarter found Beta Beta at the University of Washington making some new additions to a growing collection of trophies. Thirty-two brothers and pledges of Beta Beta attended the District No. 27 Convention hosted by Gamma Xi at Washington State on the 15th-17th of February. We walked off with the John U. Yerkovich Man-Mileage Trophy for District No. 27. Beta Beta is now proud to hold both the National and its District attendance awards at the same time. The men of Beta Beta also found themselves judged the best chapter of the district giving it claim to the Gamma Xi Alumni Proficiency Award.

Other highlights of the quarter included the addition of a canine mascot, affectionately called "Hannah" in honor of the neighboring Delta Gamma Sorority; and the annual Founder's Day Banquet held at Crawfords by the Sea on March 2nd. The attendance at the banquet totalled over a hundred and Beta Beta expects to see alumni support tripled next year on the Golden anniversary of Beta Beta's chartering.

3 Named Phi Beta Kappa At Hampden-Sydney

Of the eight Hampden-Sydney men named to Phi Beta Kappa, three were Pikes—R. G. McAllister, W. R. Middelthorn and C. E. Guthrow. McAllister, Guthrow and W. H. Saunders were named to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." George Heley was given the Omicron Delta Kappa outstanding freshman award for last year.

The brothers of Iota Chapter at Hampden-Sydney have enjoyed an active and rewarding year. Among our nineteen pledges were such leaders as Wavey Townes and Bryan Smith who were elected by the freshmen as their president and Honor Council representative respectively.

We are leading in intramural sports. After having won the football championship, we went on to be undefeated in basketball also. In varsity sports as well the brothers of Iota boast outstanding players: In basketball four regular starters, Norwood Davis, Bill Hardin, Mike Crane, and Dave Trichler, are all Pikes, Hardin having been the state's leading scorer (small college) for the second consecutive year.

Otis Bradley who for the past two years has won the Mason-Dixon Conference's Outstanding Wrestler Trophy, again won first place in his weight division and finished the season having only one point scored on him.

Ohio State Pledges Hie to French Lick

On February 9th the Pike pledge class along with the Delta Upsilon pledges ditched for a weekend at French Lick Sheraton

Hotel in southern Indiana. Thirty-five men and their dates made the University-approved trip in two Greyhound busses.

The French Lick management gave their ballroom and combo over to the group that Saturday night and there was dancing till the wee hours. They returned to O.S.U. Sunday night.

Both classes had worked hard selling doughnuts and other projects to finance the trip. The weekend created a strong rapport between the two pledge classes.

Carrying on its tradition, Alpha Rho was very active on campus this year. John Creamer served as president of I.F.C. the entire year, and former SMC Ben Jones was elected treasurer of I.F.C. in January. Pledge Marty Watkins was president of Freshman Fraternity Council. Ray Posgay is presently an officer in the Men's Resident Hall Association and Roger Hyman was elected to Student Senate in February.

In the Winter Quarter election, Jim Higbee was elected SMC; Tom Welch, IMC; John Creamer, Th.C; and Tom Prasuhn, SC. Ben Jones took over the pledge training duties. This Spring ten seniors all former officers, were graduated. Ted Ball, our alumnus advisor, was elected President of our McCormick Hall House Association.

Socially the highpoints this year, in addition to the pledge ditch, were the combined pledge party with the Phi Deltas, Kappas, and Chi O's, the Greek Week party at the house with the Sig Epps and KDs serving as co-hosts and the Spring Weekend. Alpha Rho had a booth May Week, and also were well represented in the festivities. Alpha Rho has worked hard not only within the chapter but for the whole fraternity system.

Southern Mississippi Leads in Scholarship

Action is the big word on the University of Southern Mississippi campus this quarter. And Delta Mu Chapter is in the midst of all the happenings. From scholarship to intramurals to socials, we are kept busy.

On the academic side, the Pike pledges have led the national fraternity chapters on campus for two consecutive quarters in the quality point averages. The chapter is assured of some top-notch scholars in future academic work.

Ed Clarke and Pledge Tommy Nance are members of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Both of these men were then tapped for membership in Omicron Delta Kappa, two of three Greeks on campus to make the honor group this year. Clarke is also business manager of the annual and Pledge Nance is executive editor of the campus newspaper.

Intramurals found the Pikes taking first place in the all-campus weightlifting championship. The chapter team defeated the University M Club by a decisive margin.

Miss Betty Smith, chapter Dream Girl and a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority, was again elected a Top Twenty Beauty on campus. She was also selected the Best Dressed Coed. Her fine accomplishments reflect most admirably on our chapter. She is a true Pike girl, for she is now pinned to Brother Clarke, our past SMC.

On March 1, Delta Mu staged its Founder's Day Banquet at a local restaurant. Our speaker was Brother James L. Neill, who was initiated at Alpha Iota over 50 years ago. His address will be long remembered by the Brothers and Pledges of Delta Mu.

Mike Ball was elected treasurer of the Student Government Association. Joe Hess is the new treasurer of the Interfraternity Council. Glenn Lyle is the outgoing state president of Canterbury Association.

Highlighting the spring quarter calendar are the District Convention in April, the Roman party, the Dream Girl Formal, and IFC Skit Night.

Renovations are now taking place in the chapter house. The room of the house-mother, Mom Gibson, is to be redone and wall-to-wall carpeting added. New curtains are now up and it is hoped that our fine, permanent Dream Girl will have the show-room of the campus.

The new officers of the chapter are the following: Bro. Jackie Collins, SMC; Bro. Don Renegar, IMC; Bro. Glenn Lyle, SC; and Bro. Mike Ball, Th.C.

Steward Named Vice-President

At the beginning of the spring semester Delta-Zeta initiated seventeen new members. The initiation ceremony was held at the National Office and was very impressive. Soon after initiation spring rush began and we had numerous open house parties. "The Counts" a well-known recording band, played at one of these parties. As a result of our rush program, we now have 32 new pledges.

All-Sing, one of the big events of Spring, was recently held at Memphis State. Under the direction of Jim Lamb, we took second place in this singing event. We also won first place for the best poster illustrating the theme of All-Sing, "America's Musical Heritage." This is the second consecutive year we have won the Poster Division through the efforts of Marty Bullard.

"Corkey" Steward, has been elected vice-president of the Student Government Association. Delta Zeta sorority has honored Tom Duscoe by naming him "ΔZ Man of the Year."

Our Mothers Club recently gave a spaghetti supper at the National Office, the proceeds of which will be used to improve the chapter house. This was a pleasant occasion for the brothers to get together and show our National Office to others attending the supper.

We are making big plans for our coming Dream Girl Ball, which will be held at the exclusive Hunt and Polo Club of Memphis. After an early buffet dinner, we will dance to the music of the famous "Drifters". The following day we will go to Sardis, Mississippi for an outing at the lake.

The winners! The Pikes at the University of Chattanooga win first in the Campus All-Sing.

Chattanooga Pikes First In All-Sing

Delta Epsilon Chapter at the University of Chattanooga won first place in the 1963 Mortar Board sponsored All-Sing. Jerry Cannon was Chorusmaster. They sang "Alleluia" from Cantata Number 142 by Johann Sebastian Bach and Sigmund Romberg's "Drinking Song" from "The Student Prince."

Willy Leonardi, the league leading scorer and member of the second place Pike team, headed up the Echo All-Star team for the 1963 Intramural Basketball league as most valuable player. Ralph De Rizzo was our other member of the All-Star team.

Jerry Cannon won first place in the voice division with "The Song is You" by Sigmund Romberg in the annual Independent Student Organization sponsored talent show in February.

John Heard, Roy McKenzie, and Ken Peterson were recently chosen as charter members of the National Society of Pershing Rifles. John Heard serves as first sergeant of the organization.

These brothers were included on the Dean's List for the first semester: Bill Kelsey, John Allison, Lee Goodner, Joe Clem, John Heard, Ken Peterson, and Bill Reed.

Delta Epsilon has embarked upon a good will project of presenting a basket of fruit to every faculty member who becomes ill.

Brother Bill Reed, along with eight other students and faculty members of the University of Chattanooga, felt compelled to contribute his part to the furtherance of physical fitness by walking 50 miles.

The two principal projects of the pledge class during Help Week were assisting all sororities with the spring cleaning and landscaping of our patio. Brother Jerry Cannon helped the pledges plant his Chinese Windmill palm in a prominent place in the patio. Brother Cannon is the pioneer experimenter in the cultivation of palms in Tennessee. This variety of palm is one of the hardest known, but he still hopes the temperature in Chattanooga will not fall below seven degrees below zero next winter.

Jim Fischer was chosen the assistant treasurer of the University Chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management.

Howard Sompayrac, junior, one of our finest alumni, was chosen Young Man of the Year for Chattanooga and Tennessee. Howard Johnson has been chosen the general agent in Chattanooga for the Occidental Life Insurance Company of California. Steve Harvey was elected president of the University of Chattanooga Quarterback Club. Ben Landress is the first manager of the widely celebrated Twioli Theatre, of Chattanooga. Douglas Meyer, a prominent attorney General for Chattanooga, has been chosen as a member of the local committee for Law Day, U. S. A.

Our mothers' club, the Petticoats of Pi Kappa Alpha, sponsored a benefit bridge at the Fraternity house on March 26th. 127 people attended.

High Point Works For Heart Fund

An important community service performed by the Delta-Omega Chapter was the collection of $145.00 for the Heart Fund Drive. We received outstanding recognition by the Heart Fund Drive Chairman, and Dr. Wendell Patton, President of High Point College.

The Delta-Omega Chapter at High Point College is pleased with its reorganized Alumni Association with Phil Mowler as its president.

After losing fifteen brothers by graduation last year, Delta-Omega has gained fourteen outstanding men during this year. Delta-Omega has become distinguished in leadership, scholarship, and athletics. In the past three months, Delta-Omega has become increasingly strong in athletics by winning intramural volleyball, ping-pong, and free-throw shooting.

Delta-Omega has had many successful social events throughout the year. The Sweater Girl was held on November 7, and on March 16, the Pledge Class sponsored the annual Gangster's Ball. There were many alumni who turned out for these parties.

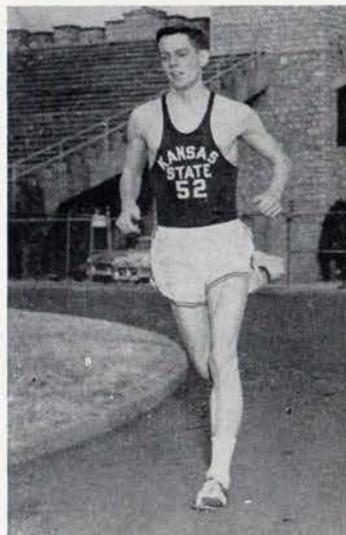

One of Delta-Omega's main work projects this year was the acquisition and refinishing of an old Red Barn outside of town. With a great deal of help from our alumni, we have been able to convert the old barn into a fine place to hold meetings.

Delta-Omega's new officers for the next year are: Jimmy Doolittle, President; Tom Kester, Vice-President; Richard Bulla, Secretary; Rex Connor, Treasurer; Sam Byers, Pledge Master; Charles Van Hook and Pete Hepler, Rush Chairmen.

Tea Party Opens West Virginia Festivities

Dream Girl weekend was celebrated by Alpha-Theta March 22 and 23. Beginning the weekend's festivities was a "Tea Party" on Friday evening at the chapter house. Due to inclement weather, an indoor picnic was held on Saturday afternoon, followed by the real highlight—the Dream

Pat McNeal, Alpha Omega (Kansas) Track Star.

Girl formal, which was held in the ballroom of the Hotel Morgan.

Mrs. Donna Greenleaf, wife of Brother Robert E. Greenleaf, was chosen the 1963 Dream Girl. She was presented with a trophy by last year's Dream Girl, Miss Linda McMorrow, ΠΒΦ. Attendants to Mrs. Greenleaf were Miss Helen Zick, ΔΦ, and Miss Sue McGrainer, ΔΔΔ. Alpha-Theta's favorite Dream Girl, Mrs. Sadie Henderson, housemother, was presented with a dozen long-stemmed red roses. The Dream Girl and her attendants were also presented roses.

Earlier in March the Pikes teamed up with the ΔΔΠ's to take top honors in the Spring Water Carnival held at the Student Union pool. Brothers Joe Burford, Kingsley Smith, Bill Chittum, Trenton Pauley, Martin Work, Les Shearer and Richard Hied, along with six ΔΔΠ's, captured three first places in the seven events.

The coming of spring saw the Pike fire truck more in evidence around the WVU campus. Alpha Delta Pi was the first sorority to have the honor of touring the campus on the 1927 LaFrance, as part of a Saturday afternoon listening party at the chapter house. The WVU basketball team was welcomed back to campus at the airport, after winning the Southern Conference championship. The fire truck was again in evidence filled with jubilant Pikes ringing the time honored ΠKA victory bell.

On the evening of February 22, 1963 Alpha-Theta accepted eleven men from the first semester pledge class into the bonds of Pi Kappa Alpha. They were: Joseph F. Burford, Robert C. Welling, Richard Littke, Paul A. Folfas, Leon T. Pauley, Russel C. Williams, Richard C. Robinson, Frank H. Julian, Keith S. Kennedy, Kingsley R. Smith and Robert Feeman.

New officers for the fall term are: Henry C. Wagner, SMC; Douglas J. Ladish, IMC; Thomas J. Perry, SC; and Jack W. DeBolt, Th.C.

Omaha Pi Kaps Take Top Honors

Delta Chi is completing one of the finest college seasons of its history. Pi Kappa Alpha has consistently led in all activities on campus.

Starting off first semester, pledge Rich Tompsett was elected Typical Freshman. This position has been occupied by a Pi Kap twelve out of the last thirteen years. One week later, Pikes swept the class elections, taking 5 out of 8 offices. Willy Wakefield and Pat Halloran were elected President and Vice President, respectively, of the sophomore class. Jim Pelowski and Kenny Allen were elected President and Vice President of the junior class. Pledge Jim Grasso was elected President of the freshman class. Student Council posts are occupied by three Pi Kaps: Rich Tompsett, Dud Kersey, and Jim Leslie.

Sports were by no means neglected. Brother Kenny Allen starred both defensively and offensively for Omaha University's champion football team. The job of trainer was ably filled by Brother Jack Sinclair. During the basketball season, Pi Kappa Alpha was represented on varsity by two starters, Larry Villnow and Rich Tompsett. Kenny Allen, Eddy Bryant and Larry Krebiel are now playing varsity baseball.

December 7, 8 and 9, Delta-Chi hosted the District convention. Fred Elsasser was Convention Chairman. District President Dana Powers was guest speaker.

At this year's Greek Week Banquet, March 23, Pi Kappa Alpha swept top honors. Dud Kersey had the Highest Active grade average, with a 3.80 (4 point system). Jim Grasso had Highest Pledge average with a 3.78. Rich Tompsett was named Best Pledge.

The chapter as a whole gained the interfraternity scholastic cup with an average of 2.41, a school record.

Pi Kappa Alpha also won the interfraternity athletic championship with 300 points, another record. Pikes placed first in indoor track, outdoor track, volleyball, swimming, and basketball.

Pi Kaps Win Utah College Bowl

Alpha Tau scholars continued to build an ever increasing scholarship dynasty here at the University of Utah by winning the scholarship trophy for Fall Quarter, and by downing fellow competitors in the first annual Greek Week College Bowl. The question and answer event was part of the ninth annual Greek Week sponsored by the Interfraternity Council and Panhellenic. Questions asked in the week end battle ranged from, "Why are cracks placed in the sidewalk?" to "Approximately when did the Little Renaissance in American Literature begin?" Large crowds attended the matches and lent vocal support to their favorite teams. Members of the four-man PiKA championship team were: Rod Decker, John Holbrook, Dave Smith, and Mike Hurd, who had been voted Greek of the Year.

Laurels were bestowed upon Alpha Tau athletes and student leaders as the "This Week We Honor Committee" congratulated with a feature article: Lynn Davidson for his student leadership as first vice president of ASU; Joe Ribbotto for his service as Editor-in-chief of The Daily Utah Chronicle; and Mike Hurd as outstanding senior student.

New initiates Mike McCarthy, and Rick Lambert were elected to the position of President and Vice President respectively of the Freshman class due to their able leadership and the support of their pledge brothers.

Robert Nelson received editorial commendation for his contribution as a top skier for the U of U ski team, while PiKA brothers received "kudos" for their second place standing in I-M competition.

Winter Quarter got off to a quick start as two brothers, astride Schroader the mule, and Schroader's friend, a horse, raced between the fraternity house and the student Union Building to commence the celebration of the annual Western Round-up. Later the brothers and their dates rambled to the fraternity house where hay bales, pitch forks, and an old western town set the atmosphere for the event along with the western attire for the couples. Spurs jangled as an authentic cowboy band provided the collegiate cowhands with every thing from square dancing to twisting.

Social Chairman Skip Daynes recently informed the chapter of the social schedule for Spring Quarter, featuring an array of exchanges, costume parties, and the Spring Formal to be held May 25 at the Old Homestead.

Pat McNeal K-State Runner

One of the finest middle and long distance runners to enroll at Kansas State University in many years is Alpha Omega's own Pat McNeal. Pat, a senior this year from Wayzata, Minnesota decided to enroll at K State to further his ambitions of running collegiate track.

Running has always been a tradition in the McNeal family. His father, also a Pike at K State, had primary interests centered around the middle distances and mile run. Pat and his father were both coached by the now retiring head coach Ward Haylett.

In his first year of varsity competition Pat competed mainly on the relay teams and was a member of the two mile team which set a new school record of 7:36 minutes. In 1962 he was the two mile champion at the Arkansas Relays. He was also crowned the Missouri Valley A.A.U. Champion of the mile run with a time of 4:13.1. His ability in the long distance won him a third place in the Big Eight Cross Country Meet at Iowa State last year.

In 1963 he tied the thirteen year old record in the mile at the Michigan State Relays with a time of 4:12.7. Pat also set the record for the indoor mile and 1,000 yard run at Drake and the new meet and field record at the Colorado Invitational in the mile run.

Besides these and many more honors, he was chosen as captain of the track and cross country team for the '62-'63 season. After graduation Pat may continue his track competition in the Armed Service.

$400 Raised For Heart Fund

For the third year in a row, the brothers and pledges of Gamma Omicron sold Heart Fund balloons to Ohio University students and Athens residents. In this manner, over $400 was raised for the Heart Fund.

Gamma Omicron was host to District 15's convention when it was held at Ohio University on April 19, 20, and 21. Five major areas of chapter operation were discussed: rushing and pledge training, alumni relations, chapter administration, scholarship, social, and financial. A regular system of district conventions was set up and a district convention fund was established. National Treasurer H. Thomas Hance and National Administrative Assistant William Crosby attended the District Convention and banquet held Saturday evening. The success of the convention can be credited to the hard work of our new district president, John Stoelting.

The hard work of the brothers and pledges of Gamma Omicron on rush has paid off well. Since the middle of January, twenty men have been pledged, making this one of the largest pledge classes in the recent history of the chapter.

On March second, the annual Founders' Day-Dream Girl banquet and dance was held at the Sportsman Club in Athens. District President John Stoelting gave a very inspiring Founders' Day talk. At 11 p.m. Becky Kunze was crowned Dream Girl of 1963.

During the second week of March, Athens and Ohio University were completely cut off from the rest of the world by the flooding waters of the Hocking River. The chapter fire truck was put to good use evacuating townspeople from their homes, and students from their dorms. When the waters receded, the brothers and pledges participated in Operation Cleanup, sponsored by Panhellenic and Interfraternity Councils.

Another one of Gamma Omicron's service projects has been the taking of twenty-five underprivileged children in the Athens area to see the circus.

In intramurals, Gamma Omicron's two bowling teams placed second and third in all-fraternity competition. We hope that our baseball, tennis, and golf teams do at least as well.

Socially, we have had many teas, exchange dinners, and breakfasts with the various Ohio University sororities, plus informal parties. Some of our theme parties have been the South Seas Party, the Colosseum Party, and the biggest theme party on Ohio University's campus, the annual PiKA Funeral Party.

On campus, Brother Bruce Dudley has been appointed editor of the new Interfraternity Council newspaper "Greek Columns", and Brother Art Marinelli has been appointed scholastic and cultural chairman of Interfraternity Council.

The officers of the chapter for the present term are: Norman G. Findley, SMC; Michael L. Diller, IMC; Gary A. Doering, Th.C; and Dale E. Floyd, SC.

Bradley Holds Hawaiian Party

Brothers, pledges, and their dates were obliged to walk through a tunnel carved in the base of an "active" volcano to gain entrance to the house for the Hawaiian party. Inside, the living room and dining room were decorated with palm trees, paintings on the walls, and mattresses and low tables. Roast pig and punch in a hollowed-out coconut shell were served at the Hawaiian bar. A five-piece combo provided music for the Hawaiian version of the twist.

The hallway leading to the recreation room became a labyrinth of reeds strung from the ceiling. The walls of the recreation room were decorated like a moonlit Honolulu beach. Soft music from a record player completed the mood.

Highlighting the evening was the limbo contest. A queen was selected on the basis of having fast hands and feet, a not too squeemish stomach, and general physical dexterity. She had to be the first to catch a live rooster to earn her crown.

Judge Dixon Speaks at SMU

For our Founders' Day celebration Judge Joe Dixon, a founder of our chapter and one among those students at SMU in its first year, 1916, gave an enjoyable talk on life at SMU and in our chapter at the time. National President Joe C. Scott was present at the occasion and gave an inspiring speech to the brothers that filled us full of the spirit of PiKA. Our District President, Clark Wysong, down for the second time this school year, gave us a report on the district and plans for expansion of the physical plant at Beta Zeta.

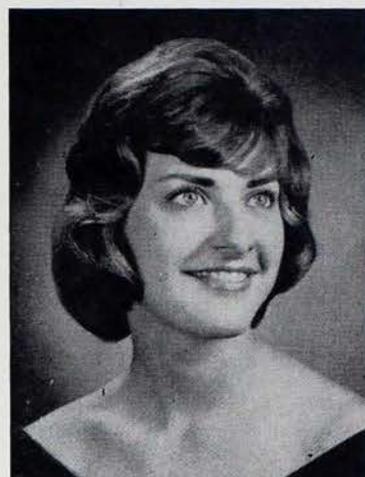

The Fleur de Lis Ballroom of the plush, new Cabaña Motor Hotel was the scene of the 1963 Dream Girl Dance. Social Chairman John Rankin made elaborate plans for decorations, refreshments and a top-notch band. One hundred thirty couples attended the all-university function April 20th.

The fine young men initiated into the bonds this spring were: Mike Dennis, Danny Dixon, Walt Purkey, John Knouse, Howard Wadsworth, John Noble, David Starr, Don Wheeler, and Richard Ray. Chosen best pledge was John Noble, and the winner of the pledge scholastic award was Danny Dixon.

In athletics, our bowling team consisting of Rich Pool, Joe LaFoy, Bill Brown and Don Wheeler tied for the league championship. All the members had a fine year on the lanes.

In scholastics, the chapter made great improvement with over 25% of the members having an average of 3.0 or better on the 4.0 system. The winner of the active scholarship award, Gerald Rickey, was recently elected a member of the Texas Gamma Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa.

The year has been full of spirit and great improvement. The house has been full both

Delta-Lambda Third in Scholarship

Delta-Lambda at Florida State University climaxed another fine year on the Tallahassee campus with its annual Dream Girl Weekend March 22-24. For the first time this year, mainly because of the new tri-mester system, the FSU Pikes incorporated their annual Go-Kart Derby as part of the weekend.

On Sunday, March 10, the chapter members, dates and alumni attended the Founder's Day Banquet at the Elks Club. After a filet mignon dinner, they listened to a speech by Dr. Freeman H. Hart, national historian and author of our history. He spoke on the theme "Truth." There wasn't a dull moment in his talk which was a mixture of humor and seriousness.

The 1888 jeweled pin, emblematic of the Best Pledge, was presented at the banquet to Donald L. Bryan by Brother Ralph R. Oglesby, Dean of Students at Florida State University.

The day following our Dream Girl dance the chapter attended church as a group and then traveled the 50 miles to Alligator Point on the Coast for a picnic-barbecue. There were some tired brothers and dates who attended classes on Monday.

In September, Pikes initiated nine members and followed this in February with 11. Those who are the newest members in the chapter are John Friese, Don Bryan, John Walker, Jim Hart, Mark Wilcox, Tex Driver, Sandy King, Steve Huber, Jim Cobb, Bob White and John Smith.

The Pikes got together with Delta Zeta sorority and built a float for Homecoming which placed fifth among 25 floats entered. The chapter, with a 2.38 scholastic average (all men's was 2.24) placed third on campus among 16 fraternities for the tri-mester.

Ben Sharp was once again editor of the Flambeau, the first daily collegiate newspaper in the state of Florida. Charlie Park of Savannah, Ga. was a member of the famous FSU Flying High Circus which appeared on CBS-TV's "Wide World of Sports" in color.

Sarah Fain of Sigma Kappa sorority, pinned to Jim Lankford was presented the Delta Lambda Dream Girl Trophy and pin. She was crowned by outgoing Dream Girl Judith Anne Riddle of St. Petersburg.

Other awards presented at the banquet by outgoing SMC Martin Steiner were: Outstanding in intramurals—George Allen; Dean R. R. Oglesby Scholastic Award—Grant Culverhouse and Jim Lankford; Delta Lambda Big Brother Award—Paul Musante; Outstanding Pi Kappa Alpha—Martin

Steiner; Outstanding Achievement Award—Ben Sharp.

Over 3,000 students and Tallahassee residents watched the Go-Kart Derby on Tully Gym Parking Lot. Both a Powder Puff Derby for sororities and a Fraternity-Sorority Combination race were held with engraved trophies presented to the winners.

Ronny Arthur was elected SMC for the coming year. John Walsh was elected vice president and J. L. Milton was chosen treasurer.

Pikes placed second with Sigma Kappa Sorority in the annual Soap Box Derby on campus.

Mrs. Osborne Is Housemother at Linfield

The men of Delta Rho are very fortunate to have as their first housemother, Mrs. S. J. Osborne, fondly called "Mrs. O." A reception was held in her honor on March 10, with faculty guests and other housemothers from the campus attending. At the same time, we were pleased to introduce our new Alumnus Counselor, James McDaniels. Jim is a past SMC of Gamma Pi Chapter at the University of Oregon.

Recent improvements to the house, are the addition of two new rooms, extensive carpeting, and desks in all of the rooms. The capacity now stands at 27, but a new room is planned in the near future that will bring the total to 30. At the moment PiKA is the largest house on campus.

Because of our efforts toward chapter improvement during the past year we received the George T. Watkins "Most Improved Chapter Award" for District 27 at the recent District Convention, held at Gamma Xi chapter. The impressive trophy holds center spot on our mantle next to the Homecoming trophy that was won last fall. At the Founder's Day Banquet on March 2, Paul Eklund, past SMC, was honored with the C. S. Johnson Award, given to the outstanding member of the chapter.

The Pikes of Delta Rho are the proud owners of a new 40 foot flagpole, another first among fraternities on the Linfield Campus. At the moment there is only a fifty star American flag that flies, but a Confederate flag is planned in the near future, to be a gift of the fall pledge class.

On February 25 the bonds were strengthened by the initiation of eight new men. These men are Bob Steadman, David Given, David Brown, Larry Rich(ter), Mike Milnes, Dennis Johnson, Ben Jackson, and John Rice.

Our newly elected and installed officers are SMC Dennis Engblom, IMC Bruce Hammermann, and Th.C Dave Wells. Remaining officers are Historian Frank Seufert and SC Lyle Craven.

On March 22, the 13th annual Dream Girl Dance was held at the Dorchester House on the Oregon Coast. The highlight of the evening was the crowning of our new Dream Girl, Miss Trish Tyler. Her court consists of Miss Pam Oaks and Miss Mary Lamb.

Kentucky Men Earn Campus Honors

Members of Omega Chapter have been working in 1963. The semester started with the pledging of fourteen fine men. Gene Sayre was elected president of the Interfraternity Council. Mer Grayson represented Pi Kappa Alpha as a member of both the Greek Week and the Little Kentucky Derby steering committees. Early in April, Roger May was elected to the Student Union Board, following in the steps of Jack Ewing who served the previous year. Bill Black is now the editor of the Kentucky Engineer with Gerald Hieronymous assisting as managing editor and Alvin Bowles serving as humor editor. Student Congress officer elections will finish off April and Omega hopes to gain another campus position.

Representing Omega in honoraries are Gene Barnes, Secretary of Keys, the Sophomore men's honorary; and Jim Shuffett and Jim Pitts in Lances, the Junior men's honorary. Jim Pitts is serving as president of Lances. Bill Kenton is a member of Lamp and Cross, the Senior men's honorary. In professional honoraries are Bill Schmidt and Don Harris in Pi Tau Sigma, the mechanical engineering honorary, and Paul Price in Eta Kappa Nu, the Electrical engineering honorary.

Founder's Day was celebrated with Kappa and Alpha-Lambda Chapters. Kappa Chapter celebrated its seventy-fifth anniversary. National President Joe Scott gave an entertaining and informative speech.

Newly elected officers are Douglas Hubbard, SMC; Dan Boeh, IMC; Don Vizi, SC; and Tom Rachford, ThC.

"Sportsapoppin" At East Tennessee

Epsilon-Zeta at East Tennessee State is now leading the hot race toward the I.F.C. trophy. We have captured top spots in the major sports of volleyball, bowling, and basketball championships. Credit here goes to Brothers Hairell, Price, Smithers, and Orchard; and to James Belcher, our Intramural Chairman.

Bill Newbold is an outstanding guard on the basketball team, and Jimmy Baker led the football team to the Ohio Valley Conference co-championship the past season. His prowess on the gridiron netted him All-Ohio Valley Conference, All-IIKA and Little All-American honors. Pledge Mike Herron did a bang-up job at guard for the State eleven also.

Again this year, Epsilon-Zeta is taking much praise for its efforts in the field of service for the school and community. Under the direction of Roger Lloyd and Bob Barger, a Christmas Party for needy children, and a weekly recreation program at the Veterans Administration Center have been carried out with much vigor.

Work has now begun on an addition to house a party room, chapter room, and dining facilities. Doug Willoughby is in charge of this endeavor which should be finished this spring.

On February 3, 1963, six new men were initiated into the brotherhood. They were Pogo Paolangeli of Ithaca, N. Y., Roger Lloyd of Arlington, Va., Bob Rike of Winston-Salem, N. C., Bill Berry of Bulls Gap, Tenn., Phil Merritt of Grundy, Va., and Terry Pope of Coburn, Va.

Many long hours of work met with high praise February 9th as our annual Calendar Girl Ball was held in the Student Union Ballroom. At this time the girls on the calendar, featuring our Dream Girl, Miss Ada Ruth White, were presented to the students and the faculty. Brothers Stiner, Smithers, Pace, Kiker, Garrett, and Pledge Frank Moore deserve credit for the outstanding jobs they have done in putting this calendar together and selling it to the public.

Epsilon-Zeta has taken the lead this year in putting on social events for the student body. We were most instrumental in bringing several combos to campus for dances which were open to all students.

Wink Baker was chosen as Kappa Delta Barnwarming King, and Farrell Mathis won the talent contest at this same function.

One of the bright spots in our chapter is our outstanding pledge class of thirty men, under the leadership of Pledge Master Tony Jones. We are predicting a great future for our chapter.

District Convention Held at Howard

Alpha-Pi at Howard College kicked off its Founder's Day weekend with a luncheon honoring National President Joe Scott on February 6th. Earl Watkins, executive director of the fraternity, from Memphis, was also present as a guest. After meeting with Alpha-Pi and Delta (Birmingham-Southern), they went to Tuscaloosa for a conference with Gamma-Alpha Chapter at the University of Alabama.

On the ninth over two hundred alumni and undergraduates gathered in Birmingham for the District 10 convention and Founder's Day. Presiding officer for the convention was Dr. Paul Blount, President of District Eight, who filled in for District President Bowling. Among the guests present were Dr. Leslie Wright, President of Howard College; Brother John Fincher, Dean of Howard College; John Browning, National Rush Director; Johnny Hardin; and Carl Ketchum.

There were delegates attending from Auburn University, University of Alabama, Birmingham-Southern, and Howard. Dr. Fincher gave the opening prayer and the welcoming address. Alpha-Pi SMC Bill Cochran gave the official welcome. Discussion groups and their chairmen were: Finance, Greg Eanes (Alpha-Pi); Alumni Relations, Bob Hogle (Delta); Pledge Training, Reese Hunt (Gamma-Alpha); Scholarship, Phil Christian (Upsilon).

The convention was impressed by hearing a recording of the speech given by the late Robert Adger Smythe at the 1962 National Convention at Louisville.

Brother Andrew H. Knight, a past National President, presented in his Founder's Day speech a picture of the world into which our fraternity was born, and how the expansion of fraternity has taken place until what is now "Our Finest Hour." Sunday morning the delegates went in a body to Dawson Memorial Church in Birmingham.

The week was filled with many memorable occasions. We profited from these events by sharing our ideas, and we gained many new friendships among our District Brothers.

Arizona Rises In Intramurals

Gamma Delta is at an all time high in intramural standings. Brothers John Zech and Faruq Ziada have coached the house into sixteenth place out of fifty-two competing organizations. Under the guidance of the new athletic chairman, John Zech and Russ Liebold, the goal is to move into tenth position during the baseball season.

Brother R. H. Clark, National Pledge Training Director, joined Gamma Delta in a fine Founders' Day Banquet. "Bunny's" address was humorous and inspiring.

Gamma Delta was host to the April 27th district convention under the direction of District President J. Kent Morrison. The discussion groups considered financial, rush, scholarship, and pledge training problems.

Washington Chapter Wins Scholarship Trophy

Gamma Xi started the second semester by winning the IFC Scholarship Improvement Trophy. The house raised its all-campus scholarship rating from thirty-first to sixth place. The improvement in grades came largely through the efforts of the Scholarship Committee, which is headed by Jerry Stewart.

The District Twenty-seven Convention was held at Washington State University, February 16-17. The convention was highlighted by the presence of the National President Joe C. Scott, National Secretary George T. Watkins and National Dream Girl Gretchen Van Bevers. Miss Patricia Merritt, Beta Nu Dream Girl, was crowned District Dream Girl.

Bob Wright was named "Knight of Knights" at an all-campus dance on March 2. This title is bestowed upon the member of Intercollegiate Knights who shows extraordinary service and loyalty throughout the school year. Ed Stock was chosen by the women of WSU as a finalist in the Sophomore Tolo King Contest.

On the sports scene Mike Maas received a freshman letter for swimming. Klaus Vorderwulbeke is presently a member of WSU's undefeated soccer team. Gamma Xi has seven men entered in the intramural wrestling meet.

Sir Winston Churchill, former prime minister of England, has been named "Honorary Pledge of 1963" by Alpha-Xi chapter at the University of Cincinnati. Alpha-Xi Names Churchill Honorary Pledge of 1963

Sir Winston Churchill, former prime minister of England, has been named "Honorary Pledge of 1963" by student members of Alpha-Xi Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity! . . . That was the news Cincinnati newspapers, radio and television stations broadcast throughout Ohio, Indiana, and Kentucky early in March, this year.

"A pledge pin and cap will be forwarded to Sir Winston in England," they reported, "according to Robert Felts, president of the University of Cincinnati fraternity chapter."

"The fraternity chapter owns a 1920 'Stutz' fire engine which it uses in university parades and pep rallies. 'We will also send Sir Winston a stock certificate entitling him to drive our fire engine. He can flash the red lights and sound the siren too, if he desires,' said Felts. 'We believe Sir Winston has demonstrated that he should be entitled to all the privileges of being a PiKA pledge.'"

"The fraternity members promised to get Sir Winston 'a date with one of the loveliest co-eds on the U.C. campus' if he should get to Cincinnati."

"Sir Winston need not fear being paddled as pledges in college fraternities used to be. Felts stated, 'Paddling went out of pledge life even before we students were born. College fraternities now promote 'Community Help' weeks instead of 'Pledge Hell' weeks.'"

"The honor has been bestowed upon Sir

Winston Churchill 'because of his very outstanding leadership and his many great contributions to freedom, which are fine examples to college students everywhere.'"

"The Congress of the United States is currently considering making Churchill an honorary citizen of the U. S."

Both major Cincinnati newspapers carried the story in their news columns. In addition, Alfred Segal, popular Cincinnati Post and Times-Star columnist, included the news in his column with the comment, "Oh, we hand this (the promise to get Sir Winston a date) on as a high compliment to Mr. Churchill, who's far past 80."

WKRC-TV news reporter George Palmer showed a photo of Churchill and reported, "Sir Winston Churchill probably has become the oldest fraternity pledge in history! Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity at the University of Cincinnati has named him its 'Honorary Pledge of 1963!'"

WCPO-TV sent a movie photographer to the Alpha-Xi Chapter house to cover the event. They showed a photo of Sir Winston, a close-up of the pledge pin, and a shot of the brothers running down the front steps of the chapter house to climb upon the chapter's fire engine.

The news was also reported by other media.

Alpha-Xi members are now waiting to learn what Sir Winston Churchill's reaction will be when he learns that he is a new PiKA pledge. They are sure that he will be pleased!

Oklahoma's Pledge Program Nationally Acclaimed

The printed pledge program of Pledge Trainer Leroy Hightower was highly acclaimed at National Convention and has been honored as a model pledge program, having spelled out clearly the fundamentals of pledgship that we practice.

Since an honored visit by our National President Joe Scott during rush week, a continually successful year has followed. Due to unusual selectivity during rush, especially on grades, we had a relatively small pledge class to begin with. However, after keeping this same selectivity in our "on campus" rush, we now have the finest pledge class we've seen in years. Through the efforts of two capable rush chairmen, Jay Lynn and Tim Hicks, this year's rush has been a tremendous start in our planned building program.

A new $30,000 wing is expected to be started in the near future. Expected to be completed within the school year, it consists of a giant clubroom, wood paneled, suited for any type of activity or function.

A scholarship committee was formed at the first of the year, which began an "own room" study hall program in an effort to improve grades. It seems to have helped greatly and other improvements are still being made.

Our social life has flourished this year, beginning with a Victory Party, an all campus party in our parking lot called the Pi party, and the annual Roman Toga Party, well known to the campus. Our Christmas formal followed. Our annual Dream Girl Formal will be held in the spring, at which time one of five lovely candidates will be chosen Dream Girl for 1962. The candidates are Barbara Imel, Delta Delta Delta; Kay Maltby, Chi Omega; Claudean Johnson, Gamma Phi Beta; Diane Smith, Kappa Alpha Theta; and Marsha Willis, Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Our new slate of officers includes: Mark Miles, SMC; Lee Ferber, IMC; Mike Collins, SC; Bob Fitzgibbons, Th.C; Noah Kennedy, House Manager; Jerry Maddux, Pledge Trainer; Tim Hicks, Rush Chairman; Jim Machen, Social chairman; Lee Henderson, Historian; Terry Middleswarth, Intramurals chairman; Dwight Yenser, Corresponding Secretary; and Lanny Sockwell, Shield and Diamond Correspondent.

We are quite proud of Larry Derryberry, recently elected to the State House of Representatives at only 22 years of age. He is now taking state bar examinations in preparation for a legal and political career.

Case Wins Stunt Night

One, two, three, and still going strong has been the spirit of the Pikes at Case Institute of Technology during the 1962-1963 school year so far.

By capitalizing on the theme of "Scenes from Great Novels," the chapter won the annual Case Junior Stunt Night competition with a musical farce entitled "Malice in Blunderland." Selected as the best of twelve entries, the skit parodied "Alice in Wonderland" to relate how Case Tech came to be co-educational in 1959. "Wonderland" characters were used to portray several prominent faculty members who secretly wanted girls at Case just as much as did the students, but who were frustrated by the Institute's president. With the help of Alice and several fraternity men, the problem was resolved and the skit ended happily. A victory celebration followed at the chapter house.

Missing first place in the spring semester Blood Drive by one pint, Epsilon-Xi took second place with a 61 per cent turnout of the brothers to bleed for the American Red Cross. The close margin was particularly vexing since two other Blood Drive trophies already decorate our trophy shelf.

Earlier this year our Homecoming float placed third, and more recently, our chapter achieved the honor of being the third best fraternity on campus in scholarship, indicating that studies have not been detrimentally affected by extracurricular activities.

With eleven men initiated February 3, 1963, and with the formation of a relatively large second semester pledge class, the chapter has plenty of men to maintain Epsilon-Xi's spirit of enthusiasm and friendship, both at the chapter house and on campus.

New officers for the spring semester are Bill Cap, SMC; Bill Kimberly, IMC; Bob Egger, Th.C; John Drilling, MS; Mike Matzek, MC; and Dave Breakey, Historian.

Gamma Phi Honors Beloved Dr. Earp

"Twenty years of devoted service to Gamma Phi—1943-1963." This was the inscription engraved on a silver platter presented to Dr. C. B. Earp at a banquet in his honor on March 25. To "Doc," as he is known at the Gamma Phi house, this banquet was in commemoration of the founding of Pi Kappa Alpha, which is normally celebrated at this time. But to the brothers and pledges of the fraternity it was a tribute to a man who has influenced and guided Gamma Phi for twenty years at Wake Forest.

Present at the banquet were the brothers and pledges of the fraternity, Dean Edwin G. Wilson, and Dr. and Mrs. Earp. Dean Wilson began the program by telling of his long and fruitful association with Dr. Earp. From his student days to the present, Dean Wilson has always admired and respected Dr. Earp, as everyone does who knows him. He stated that Dr. Earp had maintained close relations with many students who never had a class under him, and had left a lasting impression on them.

David Forsythe, president of Gamma Phi, made several remarks about Dr. Earp's valuable contributions to Pi Kappa Alpha. Forsythe stated that he had not only helped the fraternity as a whole, but had helped many of the brothers and pledges individually. Dr. Earp has always paid special attention to the pledges by counseling them on scholastic matters and helping them get adjusted to college life. On several occasions Dr. Earp has turned down the position of district president so that he might devote his full time to advising Gamma Phi chapter.

At the conclusion of the speeches, a silver platter was presented to Dr. Earp. Completely surprised, quite slowly and sincerely, Dr. Earp said, "If someone were to ask me how I would like to have spent my life, I would answer: I would like to be a Latin teacher at Wake Forest College, counseling fifty or sixty boys and their dates, just as I am doing now."

This banquet for Dr. Earp was the highlight to a very successful year for Gamma Phi.

Third PiKA Prexy At San Diego State

The Associated Students at San Diego State University are making the President's job a family affair. For the third time in four years Delta-Kappa Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha has had a member elected to the top student government post.

Brother Mike Spurgeon, a 21-year-old personnel management major and 1962-63 as vice president, was named to the number one position in the spring elections. Three years ago Brother Don Brown won the chief executive's job and two years ago Brother Boyd Malloy was elected President. Six of the nineteen Council officers elected this Spring are members of Pi Kappa Alpha.

Such honors come only as the result of long-range planning and perseverance. Delta-Kappa Chapter encourages pledges and first year members to select student activities and stick with them. This provides a greatly broadened education and personal development in leadership qualities.

Epsilon-Omicron First in Scholarship

After a successful rush season spearheaded by Paul Wilson, the Stephen F. Austin Pikes came out on top with the highest bidding percentage as well as the highest number of men pledged. Twenty-eight top rushees cast their bids for Pi Kappa Alpha.

The climax of our rush parties ended with a barbecue and fellowship party at Brother Bill Ferguson's lake house. The main speaker was Dr. Abbott, alumnus counselor, who cleared up various questions in the rushees' minds, and presented to them the values in Immediately following rush we had a "Welcome Pledge Party." It gave the actives and pledges a chance to acquaint themselves with each other. The party also served to initiate the pledges into the social realm of Pi Kappa Alpha. The Outstanding Pledge Award was presented at the party to Ronnie Rhone who was pledge president.

This semester our social functions included the Viking party, Show Boat dance, Dream Girl formal, Senior's Day banquet honoring the graduating seniors, and the annual "Greek Bowl," a football game in full pads with the Phi Delta Theta Fraternity.

We of Epsilon-Omicron were very proud of our recent standing on campus scholastically. The seventy-seven man chapter posted well over a "C" average to lead all other fraternities and sororities.

March 23rd and 24th we spent a great weekend in Austin at our annual District Convention. We were blessed with the chance to meet and talk with National President Joe C. Scott and National Pledge Training Director Bunny Clark. We were deeply touched by the way Brother Scott expressed his love for the fraternity. Bunny Clark's advice and leadership concerning pledgship proved to be very beneficial.

Denver Plans For National Convention

Spring quarter has been a busy one for Gamma Gamma Chapter. Our Dream Girl Formal was held on April 26th at the Pinehurst Country Club here in Denver. This quarter has been highlighted by numerous "woodsies" in Colorado's beautiful mountains; hayrides and barn parties were also on the "fun agenda."

Dave Miller was elected SMC while Joe Pagone was elected IMC. They are making plans for a great summer rush program.

The Gamma Gamma Pikes entered Denver University May Days with the Sigma Kappa sorority. Our theme followed the movie "Sayonara." We built an authentic Japanese tea house for this successful project.

All the brothers at the University of Denver were very happy to hear that the 1964 National Pi Kappa Alpha Convention will be held in the "mile high city" at the fabulous Denver Hilton. Plans are already being made to welcome all of our brothers.

Emory Builds Bigger Chapter

Twenty-four pledges brought our Emory University chapter up to thirty-seven brothers and pledges. With an aggressive and well planned rush program we hope to round out the chapter to fifty-five brothers.

In athletics Beta-Kappa, in competition with several fraternities having 150 members and over, did very well: in soccer taking second place; in wrestling taking third place; and in football taking third place.

This January we were pleased to welcome Brothers Charles Freeman, Robert Lynn, and John Horton to Atlanta. They were here for the funeral of Brother Robert Adger Smythe. During Brother Smythe's illness Beta-Kappa donated fifteen pints of blood in recognition and appreciation of all that Brother Smythe had done for PiKA.

In February, all the brothers and pledges got up at 6 o'clock Sunday morning to participate in the Empty Stocking Fund drive. For our efforts, we won two trophies—for collecting the most money per man and for the highest percentage participation of membership.

Delaware Pikes On GE College Bowl

The Delaware Pikes are on their way to their second straight fraternity bowling championship. After three weeks the Pikes lead the pack with eleven wins against one defeat. Dick Crossland, the team captain and the league's leading bowler last year, leads the 165 plus average team consisting of five veterans and three promising newcomers.

Several refinements were added to our new chapter house. The basement "Blue Room" was given a face lifting with a new coat of paint and by murals of the pledge pin, badge and fraternity crest done beautifully by brother Rich Klowsowitz. A new juke box now provides music to supplement our chapter combo during breaks.

In the recent chapter elections Howard K. Tuck was the unanimous choice of the brotherhood for SMC. We are happy to announce that the Pike team of Dick Crossland, Howard Tuck, Lynn Marples and Walter Mackie placed first in the campus wide eliminations for the G. E. College Bowl. Brothers Tuck and Marples were among the sixteen finalists. The Pikes were the only team to have more than one member in the finals.

The highpoint of the spring social season is our annual Spring Weekend. A formal dinner followed by a formal dance are scheduled at North East River Yacht Club. That evening the chapter Dream Girl will be crowned and the outstanding pledge of the year will be chosen.

Nu Chapter Wins Homecoming Award

Nu Chapter was fortunate enough to take first place in the Homecoming display. The brothers and pledges had much fun to build it.

In the Marlboro Cigarette Contest, Nu Chapter has won the past two consecutive times. These victories have added a new Hi-Fi and a new console TV set to the house.

The state-wide Founder's Banquet for District 3, held in Columbia, S. C., was well attended by representatives from Xi Chapter of the University of South Carolina, Mu Chapter of Presbyterian College, and Nu Chapter of Wofford College.

Brother John Horton of Greenville, S. C., National Alumni Secretary, was the featured speaker. He spoke of Pi Kappa Alpha, past, present and future, and issued a challenge to make Pi Kappa Alpha loved and respected everywhere.

Missouri Chapter Member Dies

Alpha Nu was saddened February 22, by the death of Brother Russell Holloway, 82, the last living charter member of our chapter. Brother Holloway was graduated from Northeast Missouri State College at Kirksville in 1903, received his A.B. degree here in 1906 and his LL.B. in 1908. Having been a practicing attorney in Columbia more than 50 years, he received a certificate from the American Bar Association. He also was honored with a Senior Counselors Award from the Missouri Bar Association. PiKA meant a great deal to him, and this was acknowledged by the fact that he wore the fraternity ring throughout his lifetime. The chapter paid tribute to him by observing a period of mourning.

February 23, found our chapter observing Founders Day. Many alumni and distinguished guests were present, including Dick Bills, President of District 20. Guest speaker for the day was Charles L. Freeman, National Vice President. Honored at the banquet with the William Sears Pledge Award was Paul Merry, AN's outstanding pledge. On display for the occasion were scrapbooks from many years past, recreating many fond memories for all present.

On March 24, initiation was held. AN is proud to announce the initiation of ten fine men into Pi Kappa Alpha. They are Paul Merry, John McCamman, Mike Puddington, Jerry Dunstan, Norman Robinson, Bill Ladoucieur, Mel Marien, Jim King, Jess Cox, and Tom Darnell. Afterwards the chapter, along with their dates, celebrated by having a spelunking party.

On March 29-31, just preceding spring break, we had our annual "high school weekend", with high school seniors coming to the house from throughout Missouri. The weekend consisted of an orientation around the campus, a breakfast at the Moonvalley Lodge, a barbecue on the patio, and the highlight of the weekend, a dance in the rathskellar, featuring the Accents.

With many hard practice sessions, AN walked off with the division championship in intramural volleyball. Also in athletics we have Pledge Darrel Goodwin representing the house on the university varsity baseball team.

With these events in our memories, AN is now in the process of preparing for next year's Savitar Frolics, Mizzou's yearly student variety show.

Homeless State Has Building Plans

Although we Pike at Mississippi State have suffered a tremendous loss and are under a great handicap since our chapter house was destroyed by fire last Christmas Eve, we are still maintaining the high position on campus that we have always held, and this crisis has helped us learn to work together better. Immediately after the house burned, we began a campaign to raise funds for a new house. We decided to hold banquets throughout the state for alumni of Gamma-Theta in order that they might learn of our rebuilding plans; and undergraduate members visited personally many alumni in hopes that they could be interested in our program.

The response at the banquets was good, and we have received many donations toward our building fund as a result of these banquets. Many alumni who weren't able to attend the meetings have since sent contributions to help us. Although alumni reaction has been good, and we have received money from friends of the fraternity and from other chapters, we still have a long way to go in order to be able to afford the new house that we need. Plans for a new house have been drawn up, and if we can raise a few more thousand dollars we will other house on the campus. Bids are scheduled to be taken by contractors on March 28. If things go well, we hope to start construction by April 1st.

As soon as the brothers returned to school from the Christmas holidays, we began a search for a temporary home. Mrs. Claiborne, our house mother, soon found a small house just off the campus and we have since begun serving meals there. The conditions are crowded; in fact, the house is too small to hold meetings in, but at least we have a place where we can eat and be together.

Spring rush went well for the Pikes, as we pledged twelve fine young men—the largest pledge class on the campus. This is an exceptionally good group, and we are expecting great things from them in the future.

On March third our annual Founder's Day Banquet was held. Our guest speaker was Dr. U. S. Gordon, a minister of the Presbyterian Church and main founder of Gamma Theta Chapter. We greatly appreciated Brother Gordon's presence.

Gamma Mu Mourns Past SMC Dean

Gamma-Mu at the University of New Hampshire lost one of its most loyal alums this past year when Burt E. Dean ('62) was killed in an accident at the Allis-Chalmers Heavy Construction Equipment Proving Grounds in Cedar Rapids, Iowa on January 31, 1963. Brother Dean served as SMC, IMC, and House Manager of Gamma Mu Chapter. The SMC's gavel which Burt last used has been retired and presented to his parents. In addition an SMC's plaque in honor of Brother Dean has been established, beginning with Burt's name and each successive SMC thereafter. It is hoped that the memory of Burt Dean will live on through Gamma Mu and that the high ideals and worthy aspirations which Burt exemplified will be an inspiration to all PiKA's to follow.

Earl Hanson spurred one of Gamma Mu's most successful rush seasons this past year by pledging 9 informally in the fall semester and 13 formally this semester. The present pledge class has elected Steve Marston as its president, Fred Prior social chairman, and Arthur Banks, historian. With the superb organization of this pledge class all the Brothers are kept constantly on their toes trying to keep ahead of them.

Gamma Mu placed second in the Outing Club's annual Winter Carnival Meet. Dennis Allyn placed third in the giant slalom with a time of 30.8 seconds over a field of 44 entires.

As a result of the ever increasing emphasis on scholarship at Gamma Mu, three brothers are members of honorary societies. Ronald Perkins and Earl Hanson are members of Alpha Chi Sigma a honorary chemistry society. Brother William Weaver has been elected to Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering societies.

Gamma Mu's 1929 Ahrens-Fox, hook and ladder fire engine, received a new coat of paint this fall. Thanks to Thomas Averill's work on the fire engine it has been seen at all of the university functions this past year.

Scott Speaks At Rensselaer

Founder's Day 1963 at Gamma Tau proved to be an occasion worth remembering, due to the presence of National President Joe C. Scott and the elevation of the weekend to "Big Weekend" status.

The arrival of Brother Scott Sunday morning was an occasion itself for the personality and vitality of the man was felt immediately. The annual corporation meeting began at once and involved discussion of the chapter's financial status for the fiscal year. Gamma Tau's own alumni, John Fisher, District President, and George Shake, Chapter House corporation president, were both present, especially pertinent and helpful.

Brother Scott's advice on several topics was Brother Scott was taken on a tour of the "new" and the "old" chapter houses. The annual banquet was held at Crooked Lake Hotel. It was a very rewarding afternoon as brothers, pledges, alumni, and PiKA faculty members eagerly listened to Brother Scott's message. He spoke of the Supreme Council's newly-instituted Ten Point Program of standards towards which Pikes all over the nation are striving. He emphasized the fact that college fraternities have a definite and worthwhile purpose—the development of the young man's ability to live and work with others in a real world of responsibility. At the same time, however, he pointed out that fraternities are currently suffering increasing criticism from both the American public and college administrations. They are dying on many campuses and will continue to do so unless each one can live up to its own creed. It is indeed regrettable that the entire fraternity system must suffer because of the demeanor of a small minority. Brother Scott urged every Pike to rededicate himself to his fraternal ideals and to be an example for others so that the system may endure.

"Rensselaer Weekend"

The banquet on Sunday afternoon was the culmination of an entire weekend of activities which were geared to simulate the events of a typical Rensselaer "Big Weekend". Highlighting the festivities on Saturday were the final hockey game of the season against St. Lawrence University. The hockey games are what "make" the winter season at Rensselaer and the winter season of the people of Troy.

Several of the unforgettable PiKA parties were held, featuring the "PiKA Sours" and those great old songs. The famous PiKA buffets, too, were in style replete with the finest in hors d'oeuvres and "Ma's" sandwich specialties. But most importantly the brothers all were present and shared the special meaning Founder's Day Weekend had this year, for the best pledge class in recent years was able to witness the fraternity spirit's extra measure in Brother Joe Scott.

"Pledge Class"

The 28-man pledge class was the result of a highly successful, intensive rush in the fall, enabling the "Hoobies" to boast of the most active pledges on the Rensselaer campus. Individually and collectively the pledges represent the tops in the 800-man freshman class, participating in nearly every sport offered at RPI, and in most of the other activities. An impressive and happy fact is that Ted Mirczak, freshman class president, and Bob Harper, vice-president, are Pike pledges.

"Spring Politics"

We at Gamma Tau Chapter are extremely proud to have Glenn Mueller running for President of the Union, a position second only to the Grand Marshall who acts as student-body president. No Pike nominated to either major office has lost in the past, and the entire brotherhood will be working hard in his campaign. Elsewhere on the political scene, Brothers Jim Barker and Steve Zwick have done much in the development of the Campus Chest program, our student charity organization, which this year successfully sponsored a UMOC (Ugliest Man on Campus) campaign which our own pledge, Dick Hungate, won by receiving the most votes in dollars contributed. Brother Zwick, currently in the Student Council, is running for Senior Class Secretary. It is a fact, also, that one sixth of the Student Council members are PiKAs, on a campus with thirty fraternities and a 50:50 fraternity-independent ratio.

Four team captaincies at Rensselaer are held by PiKAs: football, basketball, soccer, and lacrosse. With the results of last semester's finals just in, the brothers showed definite improvement by placing 8th in 30 on campus in scholarship, with an average above both the all-fraternity and all-student mark. Two of our pinmates have honored us by becoming Queen of the Navy Ball and first on Queen's Court of the Saturnalia Weekend.

Gamma Tau is experiencing an especially successful year.

Maryland Chapter Builds Fast and Strong

Second semester rush at the Delta Psi Chapter was very successful. Headed by Rush Chairman, Roger Powell, the chapter pledged ten new men. These new pledges have boosted the chapter membership to forty actives and pledges. The excellent spirit put forth by the members has been a primary factor in the chapter's tremendous growth and expansion in the last two semesters.

The chapter has been gaining much recognition on campus by the collective and individual efforts of the chapter's members. Among the members who received individual recognition are: Lawrence Phaller, the past SMC, who was tapped by Kalegethos, the fraternity honorary; Kenneth Miller, who was selected to the all-fraternity football team; Lewis Fagan, a member of Eta Kappa Nu, the electrical engineering honorary and also a member of Tau Beta Pi, engineering honorary; Wayne Cligan, a member of Chi Epsilon, a civil engineering honorary;

Charlie Ward, who is the head cheer leader for the University of Maryland; and Roger Powell, who is on the staff of the college's literary magazine and is also a member of the university men's glee club. The pledge class placed third in the Kappa Kappa Gamma all fraternity-sorority pledge skit night. The fraternity has made a concentrated effort to participate in all IFC and campus functions and will continue to do so.

A new slate of officers began their duties at the beginning of the second semester. The new officers are: Robin Best, SMC; Thomas Bode, IMC; Thomas Brogan, Th.C; and, Alex Carswell, SC. The desires and goals of the chapter are firmly held by these officers and under their leadership the chapter hopes to reach greater heights. Looking into the near future the chapter has planned a formal Dream Girl Weekend, climaxed by the chapter's crowning of its "Dream Girl." Song Chairman Roger Powell has composed a song dedicated to all Delta Psi dream girls.

The chapter has also participated in several functions outside of normal campus activities. It sent representatives to the District Two and Three Convention held at the University of Pennsylvania in February. For Founder's Day, the chapter held a Founder's Day Dinner. It was highlighted by the presence of Dr. Freeman Hart, National Historian, who gave very enlightening and interesting talk on the history of the fraternity.

From four to forty in one year with the old PiKA spirit prevailing, the Delta Psi Chapter has grown into a strong and confident fraternity.

Murray State Adds Twenty-One Pledges

Epsilon Lambda Chapter ended a successful rush program March 6, by pledging 21 new members. Our Spring rush was highlighted by several dances for rushees and their dates, a stag casino party, and the annual alumni dance held at the women's club house.

In chapter elections this spring several outstanding men assumed the responsibility of leadership: SMC—Joe Rexroat, IMC—Jim Long, Th.C—Ronnie Lee, SC—Ken Stadlemen, and Pledgemaster—Ed Stadleman.

One of the highlights of the fall semester was our Dream Girl Ball, where our new dream girl, pretty Miss Mary Ann Arnold, of Calvert City, Ky. was crowned. Mary Ann is a pinmate to Bill Jolly. Also at our annual Royalty Ball this year, Dr. Feelgood and the Interns were featured.

Fifteen outstanding new members were initiated into Epsilon Lambda Chapter on January 13. Mike Girard, sophomore from Mayfield, Kentucky, was selected as "Ideal Pledge".

One of the big dances of the spring social season will be our annual Neptune's Cove dance held April 27. Keeping up with the Pike tradition of having big name bands on campus, this year, Jerry Lee Lewis and his combo will entertain.

talked on his impressions of American college life.

The chapters engaged in a volleyball tournament Saturday evening. Alpha-Kappa won the tournament, and the host chapter received a great deal of good natured kidding as a result. The remainder of the night brought much fun and fellowship to all those involved.

Sunday morning found many sleepy people up for church and the final round of discussions on finances and rushing.

The award banquet was held at the newly completed Holiday Inn. Special guest at this banquet was Mrs. H. T. Mann, wife of the first pledge of Alpha-Kappa Chapter. Dean Curtis L. Wilson, Dean of the School of Mines and Metallurgy, gave a very humorous talk. For the first time one chapter was awarded all the trophies. Beta-Gamma received the District President's Cup, District Twenty Scholarship Award, and the Kansas City Alumni Association Award for the highest percentage of pledge initiations.

District Twenty Convention

The annual Convention of District Twenty was held this year at Alpha-Kappa Chapter's newly expanded chapter house on the campus of the Missouri School of Mines and Metallurgy, Rolla, Missouri, the weekend of February 8-10, 1963. Well attended by all of the chapters in the district, guests included the men of Delta Chi Omicron Fraternity, now Epsilon-Chi Chapter, District Twenty-one; President Clark Wyson; brothers from Epsilon-Iota (Southeast Missouri State) and Beta-Omicron (Oklahoma University); and National Pledge Trainer R. H. (Bunny) Clark.

Men started arriving at 5:00 p.m., Friday, February 8th and kept coming until the wee hours Saturday morning. Friday night was devoted entirely to getting better acquainted with our brothers.

Saturday morning the Convention was officially opened by District President Bills. Guest introductions were made after which each District SMC presented a report on his chapter. We then viewed the 1963 National Convention movie which brought many favorable comments and much talk about the convention itself.

Before an excellent buffet luncheon at the Student Union we took a leisurely walk around the campus of the School of Mines and Metallurgy. At the noon program, Mayor Eugene Northern of Rolla presented latch-strings to Bunny Clark and Dick Bills. A stirring Keynote address was given by R. H. (Bunny) Clark.

The afternoon saw panel discussions on scholarship, pledge training, and public and alumni relations. Everyone took part in these discussions. A panel of four men, one man from each chapter, presented their views and their chapters' views on each subject after which there was a period of open discussion. Prior to the evening meal, which was served at Alpha-Kappa's chapter house, Phillippe Carrez, French exchange student who is living with the men of Beta-Gamma,

Freeman Returns To Bowling Green

Founders Day at Bowling Green State University for Delta Beta brought together not only life time brothers but also the National Vice President. Charles L. Freeman was making a return visit. His previous visit was in 1942 for the installation of Delta Beta.

Brother Freeman's remarks were directed especially at the underclassmen and pledges. The topic of his speech, "The Heritage of Delta Beta," was very appropriate for the occasion. The heart of his speech centered around the idea that any chapter will only be as good as their best efforts. The chapter was presented the original telegram sent by Brother Freeman to then District President Ralph Yeager.

Prominent among the officers and Delta-Beta alumni attending the festivities were: Ted Grofer, President of District 16; Dr. Russell Decker, Secretary-Treasurer of the Alumni Association; Jerry Rader, President of Alumni Association, and Michael Clancy, Alumnus Counselor. Brothers came from as far away as Florida (Tom Sloane), New Mexico (Bunk Davis) and Texas (Jerry Girard). Afterwards, the brothers went to the Bowling Greene-Duquesne basketball game which Bowling Green won.

Once again our chapter is in contention for the all campus sports trophy. The brothers swam to a third place finish in the intramural swim meet behind Jim Miller's record breaking 50 yard fly. The bowling team has virtually wrapped up the fraternity bowling league.

One of the highlights of this semester's social calendar was the Hawaiian Luau complete with costumes, dinner, and dance. Pie Week was once again a success being noted the top Greek social function of the year. The top ten Dream Girl finalists have been selected and the Dream Girl will be crowned at the annual Dream Girl Dance which will be held this year at the Continental Inn in Toledo, Ohio.
