Educating Leaders...

For Today and Tomorrow!

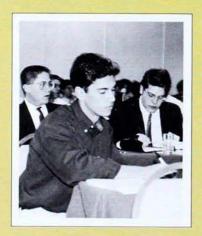

"I learned from the other chapter presidents. The interaction of all the chapter presidents gave me a sense of Pike nationally. That's what makes being in Pi Kappa Alpha so special — the programming that our National Fraternity puts together, and our alumni support."

Josh Bernstein (Beta Theta '90)

Josh is a 1990 initiate of Beta Theta Chapter at Cornell University. He attended the 1992 Chapter Presidents Conference in Memphis, Tennessee.

Last year over 2,500 brothers, almost 25% of Pi Kappa Alpha's undergraduate membership, attended a leadership and personal development program supported in part by the Pi Kappa Alpha Educational Foundation.

Through the generosity of alumni and friends of Pi Kappa Alpha, eighteen regional and national conferences received financial support from the Educational Foundation in 1991. This year's conferences will address such issues as scholastic achievement, ethical leadership, personal financial management and career planning.

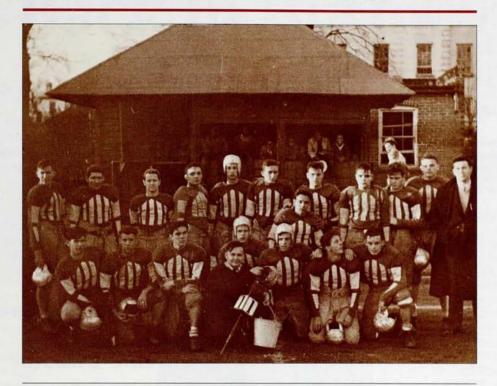

Gifts to the Educational Foundation's Annual Fund have provided over $100,000 for grants in the past five years for the support of Pi Kappa Alpha's leadership and personal development programs.

PiKA Recolonizes at USC and Michigan

n only a matter of months, Pi Kappa Alpha's newest colonies have established their places as campus leaders in the University of Southern California and University of Michigan Greek systems.

The University of Southern California

Pi Kappa Alpha first arrived at the USC campus in 1926 as Gamma Eta Chapter. For 56 years the chapter was a presence on the USC campus and had built a solid foundation of alumni in the Southern California area. Then in 1972, due to low membership numbers and financial problems, Gamma Eta's charter was withdrawn

Prior to the fall of 1991, the National Fraternity had attempted to return to the USC campus for well over a decade. Pi Kappa Alpha's return was constantly thwarted by the University's refusal to expand the Greek system.

In 1987, however, the Fraternity was given the opportunity to make a presentation to USC. Unfortunately, another group was given approval for expansion.

In July 1991, though, the doors of USC were once again opened. That August, Director of Expansion Rick Stonerook, Golden West Regional President Tony Leoni, and members of Iota Pi Chapter at UCLA presented a proposal to the USC expansion committee. Approval was granted for colonization to begin in October.

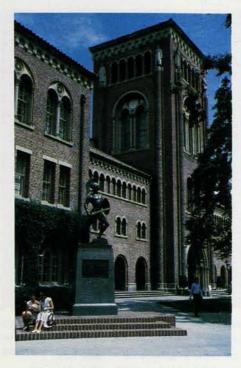

Gamma Eta alumni and other Los Angeles area alumni were notified that PiKA would return to USC after a 19-year hiatus. A reception gave them the opportunity to learn about the expansion process.

Expansion Associate Chris Vining and Services Associate Jonathan Homeyer headed to Los Angeles to begin the first five weeks of the colonization. Sixty men were selected to make up the first pledge class.

A retreat was held in November at which the colony advisor and members established chartering goals. Several days later the members were formally pledged by Iota Pi Chapter. The group then proceeded to become actively involved in the USC community, and has yet to slow down.

As of January 1992, the USC colony topped the Greek system in scholastics with a cumulative GPA of 3.12. An additional 31 men were pledged to push the colony membership to over ninety. Continuing to gain strength, the group focused on community service, campus involvement, alumni relations, and rush as areas for further development.

The University of Michigan

The Pi Kappa Alpha colony at the University of Michigan demonstrates yet another instance in which the Fraternity has returned to a prominent campus once occupied by a Pike chapter.

Beta Tau Chapter was chartered at the Michigan campus in 1922. Fourteen years later the charter was withdrawn. 1968 signaled the Fraternity's return to the University, only to close in 1974 when the Michigan Greek system suffered a period of extremely low membership.

Discussion of a Michigan colony began with a phone call. In December 1990, W. Jarman Davis, a brother who transferred to Michigan from Delta Gamma Chapter at Miami University (Ohio), spoke to Director of Expansion Rick Stonerook about the possibility of a Pi Kappa Alpha chapter on the University of Michigan campus.

Stonerook visited the campus in April. After meeting with the Greek advisor and IFC president, a colonization was solidified between the University, the Greek system and Pi Kappa Alpha.

Fall was targeted as the time to get the expansion process underway. An alumni reception was held in Ann Arbor to set an agenda for success.

In October, Expansion Associate Chris Davies and Chapter Consultant Phil Spessard went to Ann Arbor. Jarman Davis and Chris Prescott, a Pike transfer from Michigan State, assisted with the project on the undergraduate level.

Forty men were chosen to be Pi Kappa Alpha's colony at the University of Michigan. A stellar alumni advisory board was established with former Northwest and Golden West Regional President Mike Nelson serving as colony advisor.

Following the goal setting and formal pledging conducted by Delta Nu chapter of Wayne State University, the colony immediately established itself on campus. Davis became colony president and was active in revising the campus alcohol policy. Several community service projects were organized. As a result of the colony's persistent rush efforts, nineteen additional men pledged, pushing the membership to over 60.

Life is a deli sandwich.

Rev. Simon A. Simon (Delta Chi '54)

ife is a deli sandwich . . . sometimes. And then sometimes it's not. And there you have it; this, as I see it, about sums up life. Don't look for a deep and intensely profound message in this particular article. It will not be here. What with our church secretary out during the worst possible month for church secretary business, I am clumsily doing things I'm not used to doing - like working. So I'm not being intensely deep in this column.

But you might be interested in the leadership conference I participated in last November which proved yet again that life is indeed like a deli sandwich . . . sometimes. Brother Russ Alexander (Eta Rho '78) invited me to the Founders Regional, and I was happy to attend. My flight took me to Cincinnati, a short flight during which I was served a deli sandwich. You're familiar with them. I'm sure. This is a roll with shaved turkey and beef. Be sure to keep track as this unfolds.

The next leg of the flight landed me in Richmond. On this flight I was served a package that contained in the neighborhood of three half peanuts, and I think I added a cup of coffee. But that didn't matter because soon I would be at the Regional and eat like a king. We always do.

Well I was not soon anywhere, as we used eight highways to get from Richmond to the magnificent campus of Hampden-Sydney College during rush hour. And there were Brothers Russ, Sean Brasili (Eta Zeta '88), Larry Lunsford (Zeta '71), Mac Marshall (Iota '89) and John Mooney (Theta Chi '86). Andy Morse (Gamma '76) arrived, but he went to dinner at a nice restaurant. Because time was short until the evening programs, my hosts had dinner ready at our campus residence: deli sandwiches - shaved turkey and beef on a roll.

Well, I began to remember, life is sometimes a deli sandwich. But sometimes it is not. And the next morning, very early, the sessions started. The morning ended and it was lunch time. I would be leaving right after lunch, so I was grateful for the chance to have a good meal. It was buffet style. Deli sandwiches - shaved turkey and beef on a roll. Still counting?

It was starting to get humorous. I started home by flying to Cincinnati, during which time I was served a snack, a deli sandwich, shaved turkey and beef on a roll. On to St. Louis and the last leg of the trip. Snacks again. A deli sandwich again shaved turkey and beef on a roll.

As God is my witness, if my wife had served deli sandwiches on my return home, I don't know what I would have done. But for me there was a reminder in all of this that is profound in its simplicity.

Things happen sometimes. Good things happen sometimes. Nothing, neither good nor bad, happens always. There are times when life bogs down. There are heroes whose feet turn out to be clay, and we are reminded that places of honor don't always attract people of honor. There are difficult choices to make and little time or energy to make them. There are times of stress and loss; and of failures and disappointments.

There are times of ease and winning; of successes and accomplishments. There are heroes with strong characters who remain true to their characters and are effective role models, witnessing to the reality that places of honor also attract honorable people. There are times the right choices are made or we are spared from having to make tough choices.

But all of these are sometimes. That's all. And if we can remember this, maybe we can avoid getting bogged down in the avalanche of deli sandwiches that sometimes comes our way. Maybe we can hold onto the hope that there is a God, and life is basically good, and Pi Kappa Alpha will always be a strong part of our life; and nothing happens always or forever; and somewhere out there is a peanut butter and jelly sandwich, which for two days in November would have looked pretty good.

The Rev. Simon A. Simon has served as Pi Kappa Alpha's national chaplain since 1980, and is pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Jerseyville, Illinois. Simon is a personal and family counselor, and a member of the Jersey County Medical Ethics Board, the Jersey County AIDS Task Force. and the Tri-County AIDS Task Force. He also serves as a member of Pi Kappa Alpha's Speakers Bureau.

Defensive lineman Esera Tuaolo (Beta Nu '90) and offensive guard Steve Gabbard (Delta Lambda '87) were with the Packers. Garth Jax (Delta Lambda '84) was again with the Cardinals as a linebacker. Defensive end Craig Veasey (Epsilon Eta '87) had 2 sacks for the Steelers and cornerback Dave McCloughan (Beta Upsilon '88) saw special teams action with the Colts.

In Other Sports...

In addition to the large number of undergraduates on the football field in 1991, there are many Pi Kappa Alpha standouts competing in winter and spring sports.

On the basketball court this season is Indiana State guard Greg Thomas (Theta Omicron '91), the Sycamore's top returning scorer from the previous season. At Valparaiso, forward Eric Suiter (Epsilon Beta '90) was averaging 11 points and five rebounds a game through the first part of the season. Teammates Brian Sommer (Epsilon Beta '90) and Geoff Gilmore (Epsilon Beta '91) were valuable guards off the bench.

Several Pikes started for the 15-10 Washington and Lee water polo squad, which placed sixth at the Eastern championships. Alan Herrick (Pi '89) was second in scoring (59 goals, 12 assists) and was named to the All-SWPC first team. Chris Hagge (Pi '90) posted 18 goals and 13 assists while Andrew Pearson (Pi '91) added eight goals and three assists.

Swimmer Mark Tesoro (Iota Nu '90) of St. Louis is in his fourth season as one of the Great Midwest Conference's top backstrokers. In 1991, he had first place finishes in three GMC meet events. There are also numerous Pike swimmers competing at Illinois, Purdue, William & Mary, and Washington and Lee, among others.

Miami shortstop Chris Anderson (Gamma Omega '88)

is the Fraternity's top returning baseball player. In 1991, he hit .301 with 42 RBI and was named to the NIC All-Fraternity All-American first team. Back on the Duke squad are outfielder Ron Esquieres (Alpha Alpha '90), who hit .308 in 24 games last season, and lefthander Jack Zarinsky (Alpha Alpha '90), a key hurler. Andy Paul (Beta '90) and Jim Stanfill (Beta '89) are Davidson's top returning pitchers. Dave Christensen (Alpha Omega '89), who won four games in 1991, is back on the mound for Kansas State. Richard Henderson (Epsilon Beta '89) returns as Valparaiso's starting shortstop and Jason Schumacher (Beta Eta '91) will see a lot of infield duty for Illinois.

Back on the links for Tennessee this spring is Donnie Cooper (Zeta '90), an All-SEC Academic golfer in 1991. Over 23 spring and fall 1991 rounds, he averaged 75.5 per round. Another top golfer, Greg Dietz (Theta Epsilon '90) from Northeastern State University, was all-conference in 1991 and competed at the NAIA national meet.

One of the Fraternity's top track performers this spring is East Texas State high jumper Jeff Riner (Theta Xi '88). He earned All-American honors at the 1991 NCAA Division II meet. His best leap was 7'0'4". Leading tennis players include Indiana State's Matt Mason (Theta Omicron '89) and Purdue captain Andy Berlinski (Beta Phi '90).

Chapters Report Scholastic Progress For 1991-92 Academic Year

In order to have chapter notes published in the Shield & Diamond, chapters must be current with the Fraternity's General Fund, and must have paid their insurance assessments.

E EPSILON CHAPTER Virginia Tech

Under the direction of Chairman Eric Entlich, Pikes have been a force in community service at Virginia Tech. In October, the chapter hosted a haunted house to benefit the YMCA. As soon as the haunted house was completed, Eric obtained local television coverage for Epsilon's annual Christmas party for underprivileged children. Alpha Phi sorority worked with the Pikes to raise over $900 worth of gifts for 75 youngsters.

As a result of winning the Alpha Delta Pi Safari Hunt, and placing second in the Delta Delta Decathlon and the Kappa Alpha Kickball Classic, Epsilon raised over $150 for various philanthropies.

Scholarship Chairman Walt Hadermann passed a by-law requiring all associates to have a 2.2 GPA in order to be initiated into the chapter. Epsilog, Epsilon's annual alumni newsletter, was completed and sent out in mid-December. The Founders Day celebration was February 29th.

Chapter history was made when Epsilon won its first flag football title in December. Led by Nate Marsdend, the Pikes always won by at least seven points in the university tournament.

Kevin Motley and Chris Spillare were inducted into Omicron Delta Kappa leadership society. Kevin is also working on his campaign for SGA president.

KAPPA CHAPTER Transylvania University

Through perseverance and innovation, Kappa Chapter has become the outstanding fraternity on its campus. Kappa Chapter has set the pace for risk management, scholarship, public relations, and community service.

In the area of risk management, the chapter works with BACCHUS to create alcohol and drug awareness programs.

Academic achievement within the chapter was stressed as the required GPA was raised to 2.25. Members who fail to meet this standard are required to participate in a study program. The scholarship program provides academic big brothers, faculty receptions and academic seminars. Through such activities, the men of Kappa Chapter boast an average GPA of 3.06.

Kappa's public relations program used various means of bringing attention to Pi Kappa Alpha. Methods of publicity included cards, flowers, weekly ads in the school paper, articles in the local paper and regional television coverage.

Kappa's community service programs lead the way on the Transylvania campus. Through Kappa's participation with events such as Easter Bunny visits to local children centers, weekly assistance of furniture delivery to the poor, supplying manpower for the Diabetes Ball, work at the local community kitchen, and participation in the Toys for Tots campaign, Kappa demonstrated its dedication to the Lexington community.

OMEGA CHAPTER University of Kentucky

Pike Brother Jim Powers was one of 23 candidates from 17 UK fraternities and sororities in the 42nd annual Christmas Seals Contest. Funds raised by the contest help provide programs and services such as the Better Breathers patient support group, family asthma programs, camp scholarships and grants to support medical aid and research of lung disease.

In campus involvement, Hoyt Lovelace was elected IFC president and Pat Newberry was selected as IFC scholarship chairman. Erik Wallace was selected as Greek Week chairman.

BETA OMICRON CHAPTER University of Oklahoma

During the Fall, Beta Omicron participated in the University of Oklahoma Oozeball tournament. Brothers Mike Kerr, Tim Sayon and Eric Burger trudged their way to the semi-final round.

Beta Omicron closed out the open rush with a grand total of 22 Fall pledges. This is the largest pledge class since 1987. Such numbers raise the chapter's hopes of building a new house within 18 months.

GAMMA CHI CHAPTER Oklahoma State University

Last August, 36 granite plaques representing each active chapter at OSU were placed on what has been affectionately known as "Greek Walk." This results from the fact that most Greek students travel along this walk on their way to campus.

DELTA NU CHAPTER Wayne State University

A pilot program has been implemented to assist in reaching inactive alumni. In the Adopt-an-Alumni Program, members send personal invitations to alumni about Brother's Night, Founders Day, and other chapter functions. Although this is a new program, reply letters have already been received from alumni.

Delta Nu has maintained its successful community service program. Participation in fundraisers for the Oakland County Cancer Society and Detroit's Public Broadcast System, and a pumpkin drive for the Detroit Children's Hospital were a few of the more notable achievements of the chapters community service efforts.

The "Into the Streets" program, initiated in part by Delta Nu, is a coalition of campus organizations working to organize community service effort in the Metropolitan area.

Repeatedly, the Pikes surpass all other campus organizations in the area of leadership. Brothers Ray Kunic, Jeff Wilson and Scott Vandermergel are members of student council.

EPSILON DELTA CHAPTER University of North Texas

The Fall semester was a successful time for the men of Epsilon Delta Chapter. Community service was important to the chapter as Epsilon Delta participated in the Adopt-A-Highway program and the university's blood drive. During homecoming, the chapter teamed with Delta Zeta sorority to hold a Teacher Appreciation Night and Bowl-a-thon for various philanthropies. Epsilon Delta also collected canned goods for the local homeless shelters and made their annual visits to the Denton State School and the Cumberland Children's Home.

Epsilon Delta maintained its influence in campus organizations. Jeff Carrington was elected IFC rush chairman. Michael Gipp and Mike Poulos became members of the Order of Omega and Golden Key National Honor Society. Eddie Sikes became a member of the Gamma Phi Beta National Honor Society.

The chapter also continued its high athletic achievements. Securing first place in water polo and flag football, the chapter captured first place in volleyball.

EPSILON LAMBDA CHAPTER EA Murray State University

Epsilon Lambda gained 19 pledges during Fall rush, the largest pledge class on the Murray State campus.

In October, homecoming festivities were organized by Brent Carter. The highlight of the weekend was a ceremony commemorating the fact that Epsilon Lambda has paid off its entire mortgage.

C H A P T E R N O T E S

Chapter Advisor Joe Chaney burned the mortgage to recognize the accomplishment.

Once again, the chapter worked diligently at its community service events. Chapter members participated in the Adopt-A-Highway program and held the first Pikes On Bikes event to benefit the Kilo Diabetes Foundation.

On campus, Tim Carroll won the Alpha Omicron Pi Mr. MSU Pageant and Dave Cox received second team all-conference honors at fullback on the football team. In intramurals the chapter was co-champions in softball and made strong showing in other athletic endeavors.

The men of Epsilon Lambda extend their appreciation to David Chaney for his years as chapter advisor. David is stepping down and David Moses is assuming the advisor duties.

EM EPSILON MU CHAPTER East Carolina University

Epsilon Mu was the number one fraternity on campus in overall GPA for the 1990-91 school year. Leading the way for the chapter was Hunter Meadows with a 4.0 GPA. Hunter received IFC's recognition of the highest GPA among fraternity men as he completed 30 credit hours for the year. Hunter's success is just one result of Epsilon Mu's study hall program. Scholastically, the chapter has risen from seventh to second place in two years.

In recognition of its community service efforts with groups such as the Ronald McDonald House and Special Olympics within the local community, the chapter received awards for "Outstanding Efforts in Community Service" from both the mayor of Greenville and the governor of North Carolina.

The Pikes fell just short of winning the Chancelor's Cup for the second year in a row. The chapter took home first place honors in Home Run Derby, tennis, golf, and the all-campus softball tournament and the all-Greek softball tournament. Glenn Whitley was named MVP in the Greek All-Star game, and Ben Parrot was voted PiKA Athlete of the Year for his participation in football, tennis, basketball and softball.

ЕФ EPSILON PHI CHAPTER University of Central Arkansas

Epsilon Phi has taken steps to ensure a solid relationship between undergraduates and alumni. Alumnus Rush Harding donated the use of his office watts line so the chapter could attempt to raise money for the construction of the house. Rush was appointed to the UCA board of trustees by Governor Bill Clinton.

As for the undergraduates, the chapter is a leader in several areas. Epsilon Phi has the highest GPA on campus, and is on its way to another intramural championship.

In other areas of campus involvement, Epsilon Phi participated in Alcohol Awareness Week and had members on the football team which won its third national title in ten years. The chapter is also taking over the Mr. UCA contest.

EY EPSILON PSI CHAPTER Western Michigan University

Brother John Christie made strides in helping Epsilon Psi to develop community service activities. The chapter participated in 300 hours of community service.

On the IFC level, Pikes play a prominent role. Steve Najera operates IFC sports and Steve Ingram conducts the rush activities for IFC. Also, in the Western Student Association, Tim McClurg is active as Pi Kappa Alpha's representative.

Pikes continue to dominate athletics as they placed once again in the top three fraternity's on campus.

ZA ZETA ALPHA "B" CHAPTER GMI Engineering & Management Institute

The athletic fields at GMI were the site of many successful moments for the men of Zeta Alpha. The chapter won first and second place in floor hockey, first place in basketball and second place in football. These achievements put the chapter in a strong position to win the Greek Cup Race.

To get involved with the Zeta Alpha house corporation, please contact Roger Rupp at (313) 996-8300.

ZT ZETA GAMMA CHAPTER Eastern Illinois University

Zeta Gamma initiated 32 new members in the Fall semester. The chapter has made such innovations as the Blue Chip Dinner for rushees and Spirit Week, both ideas were brought from Gamma Delta Chapter at the University of Arizona by Troy Clements.

Zeta Gamma also made contributions to the community through several projects. One of the contributions was the annual Christmas party held for underprivileged children. The chapter worked with Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority on the event which received local TV coverage.

Safety has also been a priority with the chapter, and Zeta Gamma stepped forward to introduce a designated driver program at a social function this semester.

Theta Gamma also teamed up with the local historical committee to help scrape paint off houses. The chapter was also the first chapter at Georgia College to be a part of the Adopt-A-Highway program.

OX THETA CHI CHAPTER Villanova University

A strong Fall rush resulted in 14 pledges. The January rush was aided by the presence of new slides and skits. Fall was also time for the annual homecoming weekend. Much of the success of homecoming can be attributed to alumni chairman Michael Montgomery.

Theta Chi took first place in the 4th annual "Anchor Splash" competition held by the Delta Gamma sorority. The proceeds of the event went to help the blind.

Preparations are currently being made for the 2nd annual "Hunt for Hunger," a philanthropy event organized by Theta Chi and Alpha Chi Omega sorority.

ΘΩ THETA OMEGA CHAPTER University of California-Davis

IA IOTA ALPHA CHAPTER University of Wyoming

Iota Alpha Chapter remained the largest fraternity on campus this Fall by initiating 28 new members. The chapter also won the intramural "A" division softball championship. Iota Alpha sponsored its 2nd annual all Greek basketball tournament and took second place.

Homecoming proved to be a source of success as the chapter won two of three university-sponsored competitions. Iota Alpha won first place in the annual Homecoming Sing and Dan Haley was selected Homecoming King. Dan is the fourth Pike in five years to be crowned Homecoming King.

Community service was again a major strength of the chapter. Through the guidance of Community Service Chairman David Lyon, the chapter achieved its goal of over 2,000 hours of community service.

Pikes are prominent leaders on the Wyoming campus. The student body president is Travis Gentry. Matt West is president of the student alumni association and Steve Horvath is vice president. Dan Haley is president of the Society of Professional Journalists and Kyle McGinness is IFC rush chairman. Over 90 percent of the chapter is involved in chapter activities.

I A IOTA DELTA CHAPTER Rose-Hulman Institute of Technology

Iota Delta Chapter attained the highest GPA of all fraternities on the Rose-Hulman campus. The chapter is only one of two fraternities to have a GPA higher than that of the all-men's average.

The chapter placed first in the Delta Gamma Anchor Splash, which benefitted the blind. Iota Delta is also an active participant of the Adopt-Highway program.

Greg Hall placed first in the intramural cross-country championship. Greg Vialle and Jason Jeffries are studying in England and Ireland, respectively.

Chapters Continue To Serve Others

Every day the Pi Kappa Alpha National Headquarters receives letters and news clippings praising our chapters for the work they do to benefit their communities. Here are a few of those commendations.

ALPHA NU CHAPTER University of Missouri-Columbia

November 20, 1991

To: Raymond L. Orians Executive Vice President Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity

The past month of October was designated by the University of Missouri as Alcohol Awareness Month.

On behalf of the Alcohol Awareness Steering Committee, I would like to take this opportunity to recognize your local chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha for its support during the month. Of the forty-seven sororities and fraternities on the University of Missouri campus, only eleven responded to the Steering Committee's request for a $20 donation. Pi Kappa Alpha was one of those eleven. In addition to their monetary donation, the members hung a red ribbon outside their house to publicly show support throughout the month.

Because the program addresses a campuswide problem, it is a goal of the Alcohol Awareness Month Steering Committee to increase Greek participation. We feel Pi Kappa Alpha helped take the first step in bridging this gap and thought you might be interested in knowing about it.

So here's to the University of Missouri Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha!

Sincerely,
Jill E. Shemwell
Residential Life Programming Coordinator
University of Missouri-Columbia

BETA UPSILON CHAPTER University of Colorado

December 6, 1991

EPSILON GAMMA CHAPTER Texas Tech

January 21, 1992

To: Raymond L. Orians Executive Vice President Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity

I am writing this letter to acknowledge the outstanding efforts of your Texas Tech University Pi Kappa Alpha Chapter.

The Pikes held their annual telethon street corner collection which raised $2,600 in one day. With the success of this event we are going to try to raise money for Jerry's Kids again in February at Pikefest.

In this economically tough time for our country, we feel even more grateful for people like the Pikes at Texas Tech who find the time and energy to volunteer their talents and help raise funds for MDA.

Your Pi Kappa Alpha chapter's generosity and dedication are assets prized by all of us at MDA and all those we serve, and they will keep the fight against neuromuscular disease strong in the years to come. They truly were enjoyable to work with, and I would just like to express my gratitude for their interest in helping people in Lubbock.

Sincerely, Mike Jones District Director, MDA

ZETA BETA CHAPTER Delta State University

December 13, 1991

To: Mr. Gregory C. Cohen Chapter Consultant

I have been involved with the United Way of Cleveland-Bolivar County for the past five years. During these years, the young men and women at Delta State University have always been enthusiastic about helping with the annual campaign drive. This year was no exception.

The young men of Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity continued this needed and greatly appreciated involvement this year. Their car wash helped the United Way of Cleveland-Bolivar County exceed its goal for the second straight year.

The United Way of Cleveland-Bolivar County commends these fine young men for their efforts and thanks them for their continued support.

Sincerely yours, Harvey Tackett, Jr. President, United Way of Cleveland-Bolivar County

THETA EPSILON CHAPTER Northeastern State University

December 16, 1991

To: Dwayne C. Rury Northeastern University BACCHUS

I just saw your name on the "Pike Bulletin Board," recognizing your contribution to BAC-CHUS on your campus. It's always great to see a fellow Greek recognized for his outstanding efforts on campus. Of course, it's always a little extra rewarding when those contributions are for BACCHUS!

Our Greek student members are making a big difference in this organization, both as leaders of BACCHUS and GAMMA chapters. I am very happy to see that your national fraternity, and others, are taking the opportunities to recognize those undergraduate brothers who are dedicated to raising a greater awareness of alcohol among their peers.

Keep up the great work at Northeastern! We, like your national fraternity, sincerely appreciate all you continue to do.

Interfraternally, T.J. Sullivan National Coordinator, GAMMA Member, Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity

hat's how many SMCs were present at Pi Kappa Alpha's first Chapter Presidents Conference in 1973. In strong contrast, 164 chapter presidents convened at the Peabody Hotel in Memphis, Tennessee from January 9-12 for the 1992 Chapter Presidents Conference.

Previously known as the SMC Conference, this year's meeting went back to the original name used when the conference was first established. According to Executive Director Kevin Virta, the conference went back to its original name to reflect its focus on educating and training the chief executive officers of the chapters.

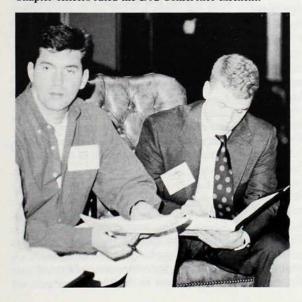

Along with name variations, throughout the years the conference has undergone changes to stay current with the needs of the chapter presidents. In 1983, the conference was composed of both chapter presidents and treasurers. The 1990 and 1991 conferences included funding for chapter advisors. 1990 was the highest attended conference with 169 SMCs and 46 chapter advisors.

The 1992 conference was funded to accommodate chapter presidents only. This was done to place the emphasis on the SMCs and offer advisors the opportunity to attend other Fraternity events during the year.

The conference has moved from an agenda focused primarily on leadership within the Fraternity to a broad-based agenda that includes fraternal issues and personal development. The 1992 conference agenda reflected the latest changes.

Discussion of fraternal issues was the first event as the conference began on Thursday evening with the SMC Workshop. Housing Officer Dan Corah and Director of Expansion Rick Stonerook led the workshop. Corah and Stonerook advised the chapter presidents of the duties and responsibilities of the SMC in the everyday operations of the chapter.

The challenges of both fraternal issues and personal development were topics dealt with by Dr. Will Keim in his Friday morning session, "Leadership for the 21st Century." Keim emphasized the changing world and the need to make the most of opportunities in a society where a college degree is no longer a guarantee for success. Keim urged those in the audience to make the most of their time and "live with passion.'

Friday's programs then focused on issues concerning the Fraternity. Challenges & Choices, an ethics and values program developed by the National Interfraternity Conference, was next on the agenda. The chapter presidents were divided into small groups and were presented with case studies of situations and questions that face today's chapters. Challenges & Choices gave the groups the opportunity for a period of discussion to exchange ideas, recommendations and conclusions.

The afternoon saw the SMCs board busses and head to the Memorial Headquarters, site of the afternoon's events. National Rush Director Tom Handler conducted a seminar on managing the rush program and Director of Services John Mooney led the session on membership development. The chapter presidents were taken on a tour of the Headquarters following the sessions.

Saturday proved to be a full day of activity as the agenda continued to mix issues surrounding the Greek system with personal enrichment. The Pi Kappa Alpha Mock Trial gave SMCs the opportunity to analyze and discuss the existence of the Greek system. Individual development followed as former executive director Pat Haynes led a session on resume writing and interview skills.

Following Haynes was Glenn Christensen, corporate marketing manager for Jos. A. Banks Clothiers. The program, "Dressing for Objectives," focused on the importance of presenting an image that reflects the individual and helps that individual to achieve their objective.

The focus then shifted back to fraternity issues as National Vice President Dan McGehee conducted the risk management program.

The setting then moved to the stage as the play But I Said No was performed by the Offstage Theatre of Charlottesville, Virginia. The play dealt with acquaintance rape. A lengthy discussion followed as chapter presidents and performers posed questions and comments concerning the issue of acquaintance rape.

The events of the day were winding down as the chapter presidents divided into two groups for goal setting sessions. These sessions were led by National President Jerry Askew and Past National President Ed Pease. In these sessions the chapter presidents discussed the goals of the entire Fraternity.

The 1992 Chapter Presidents Conference was concluded with the National President's Banquet. National President Jerry Askew, the keynote speaker, stressed the need to truly live by the values of the Fraternity. Askew said if this is achieved, then "PiKA will truly burn in the hearts of men forever."

The chapter presidents left Memphis with plans and ideas for their respective chapters. Yet new ideas are already being discussed for the 1993 Chapter Presidents Conference. The chapter presidents were asked to evaluate the conference. 76 percent rated the conference "excellent." This was the highest rating possible. Many of the comments and suggestions on the evaluations will be implemented into next year's conference. Such implementation continues the tradition of a conference that changes to suit the needs of the chapter

Still Presiding At Ninety-four

t ninety-four years of age, Judge
Elbert Parr Tuttle (Beta Theta '16) can still be found in his chambers
Monday through Friday, from 10:30 in the morning until 4:00 in the afternoon. He doesn't hear cases from the bench anymore, but that's only been so for the last two years.

Judge Tuttle's chambers are located in the Federal Court House in Atlanta which has borne his name, the Elbert Parr Tuttle U.S. Court of Appeals, since June 11, 1990. In this same building, he heard cases and rendered decisions which helped advance civil rights under the law for all people in the United States.

Today, Brother Tuttle is still an important cog in the federal judicial system, serving as the initiating judge on a screening panel for the 11th Circuit Court of Appeals. In this capacity, Tuttle reviews every appeal filed with the Court. He then helps to render a decision on whether or not the appeal should be argued orally.

This role is quite different from his work as Chief Judge on the Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit from 1960 to 1967. Tuttle became well known throughout the federal judicial system, and throughout the South, for the decisions he handed down which influenced the abolition of segregation and the advancement of the civil rights movement.

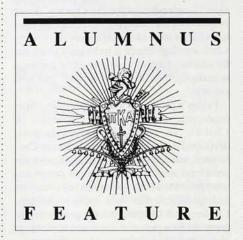

"Today, it's hard to believe that complete segregation, both public and private, existed in our country," Tuttle remarks, "It just happened that I was the chief judge during that time and it fell upon me to make decisions which called to uphold equal constitutional rights for everyone, black and white."

In looking back on those decisions, Tuttle says that his court "did just about everything a court can do to vindicate the constitutional rights of black citizens."

The Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals at that time had jurisdiction over six former confederate states, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas. Tuttle admits that the decisions of his court did not make him a popular man at the time. He also says that being from California and having been educated in

New York made him a "foreigner" in his adopted home city of Atlanta.

History already points to Tuttle and the decisions of his court as having played an important part in the civil rights battles of the 1960s. Former Supreme Court Justice Earl Warren paid this tribute to Tuttle: "He is one of the great judges of the civil rights era, who devoted unending labor to the mountainous task of assuring the peaceful, orderly fulfillment under law and the promise of racial equality."

The Early Years

Brother Tuttle was born on July 17, 1897 in Pasadena, California. He spent most of his youth in Hawaii as a student at Punahou Academy in Honolulu.

"Punahou Academy was established by missionaries and is the oldest private school west of the Mississippi," Tuttle points out. "When I was growing up there were no private schools in California, and the forty-niners would send their children to Punahou."

After graduating from Punahou in 1914 Tuttle entered Cornell University in Ithaca, New York. "Each year four or five graduates from Punahou would go to college at Cornell," he remembers. "That's also how I ended up joining Pi Kappa Alpha."

"At Cornell there was a local fraternity called Alpha Theta, and many of the Punahou graduates attending Cornell were members of this fraternity. A year or two after I joined, Alpha Theta accepted an invitation from Pi Kappa Alpha to become one of its chapters," Tuttle recalls. "In fact, I was the first elected president of the fraternity after we became Pi Kappa Alpha."

As the new president of Beta Theta Chapter, Tuttle attended the Fraternity's convention during the summer of 1917 in Jacksonville, Florida to receive the chapter's charter.

For Elbert P. Tuttle, picking up the charter turned out to be the second most important event of that summer. The first was meeting Miss Sarah Sutherland, who two years later would accept his proposal of marriage.

"I remember going to Jacksonville to spend that summer with a Fraternity brother," Tuttle fondly recalls. "I took a boat from New York down the east coast to Jacksonville. I got off the boat at 10:00 (a.m.) and met Sarah at 12:00."

Asked if it was love at first sight, he replies, "For me it was, I had to pursue her somewhat!" They were married in 1919, a year after he graduated from Cornell.

Tuttle served in the Army Air Force for a short time, and after getting out of the service he worked as a reporter for the New York Evening World. His job at the World helped him land a job working for the Army and Navy Journal, and then for the American Legion Weekly.

According to Tuttle, when the American Legion Weekly folded in early 1921 he accepted a job working for Cornell University in its $10 million endowment campaign. This enabled him to attend Law School at Cornell in the fall of that year.

While in law school, Tuttle was editor of the Law Review, a member of Phi Kappa Phi and the Order of Coif. When he graduated in 1923, he and Sarah moved to Atlanta. Sarah's brother Bill, also an attorney, had started a law firm in Atlanta a few years earlier. The two brothers-in-law became partners in the law firm of Sutherland and Tuttle, where he

by Louis B. Quinto (Beta Phi '79)

continued working up until 1953 when he was appointed by President Dwight D. Eisenhower as General Council of the United States Treasury.

While he was in Atlanta Tuttle became acquainted with Pi Kappa Alpha's Junior Founder Robert A. Smythe (Lambda 1889). Smythe, also a resident of Atlanta, invited him to attend the Fraternity's 1926 National Convention. At that convention Tuttle was elected to the position of grand chancellor. As grand chancellor, Tuttle was responsible for interpreting the constitutionality of the Fraternity's laws.

He served in that capacity for four years, and in 1930 was elected to the Fraternity's top office of grand princeps.

"As grand princeps I undertook the responsibility to rewrite the Fraternity's constitution," Tuttle says. "To do this I did a lot of research and reviewed all of the Fraternity's important documents, which were kept by Smythe at his office in Atlanta."

It was during this research that Tuttle uncovered inconsistencies, and what some might have considered management improprieties. So, he persuaded the other members of the Supreme Council that it was time to centralize and simplify the management of the Fraternity. This required much change, including the restructuring of the national office and also a call for Smythe's retirement.

At the 1933 National Convention in Troutdale, Colorado, the changes proposed by Brother Tuttle were adopted. Among them was the change of the Latin officer titles to English names. This included changing the title of grand princeps to national president, the position to which Tuttle was elected and in which he continued to serve until 1938.

"As national president I left the daily management of the Fraternity to Bob McFarland (Alpha Delta '19) who took over for Smythe," Tuttle says. "The major issues those days were finances, and of course how many chapters would be able to survive. The country was going through the Great Depression and college enrollment was down. Ultimately we lost a few chapters, but overall the Fraternity weathered the times fairly well."

Some of the other important actions taken during Tuttle's term as national president include directing the writing of the Fraternity's first history, the publication of the first Fraternity pledge manual and the authorization of Canadian expansion.

Pi Kappa Alpha has recognized Elbert Tuttle over the years for both his professional achievements and for his work during Pi Kappa Alpha's earlier years. In 1954, the Fraternity presented him with its Distinguished Achievement Award. More recently, in December 1991, Tuttle was inducted into the Fraternity's prominent Order of West Range.

Brother Tuttle embarassedly admits that after 1938 he lost touch and has had almost no involvement with the Fraternity.

"My career has been divided into three distinct parts," Tuttle points out, "and it seems that when I began each new phase I was forced to leave behind many of the activities which consumed a large part of my earlier life, and unfortunately, PiKA was one of those activities."

Brother Tuttle's certification as a judge doesn't expire for another two years, and he plans to continue working for the court until that time.

"I'm feeling fine, and as long as I'm still able to get to the office everyday, I'll continue to show up for work," he declares.

When asked to what he attributes his longevity, he quickly replies with a big smile, "Being married to the same woman for the last seventy-three years."

Louis B. Quinto serves the Fraternity as an editorial consultant. He is a past editor of the Shield & Diamond, and current president of the College Fraternity Editors Association.

The June issue of Shield & Diamond will feature additional members of the Fraternity who have celebrated 75 years of Pi Kappa Alpha.

Brother Skinner Accepts the Challenge

President appoints Beta Eta alumnus as White House Chief of Staff

by Thomas J. Handler (Beta Eta '74)

ess than two years after his appointment as the tenth United States
Secretary of Transportation,
Sam Skinner has been called upon once again by President George Bush to assume the duties and responsibilities of a tough job. But tough jobs have never been an impediment to the newly appointed White House Chief of Staff. He has earned a well-deserved reputation as a skilled, determined pragmatist who knows how to get the job done. In fact, Sam Skinner has known how to get the job done for a long time.

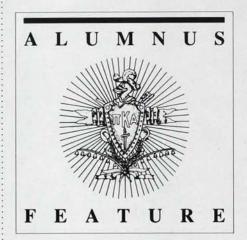

Sam Skinner is a 1957 initiate of Beta Eta Chapter at the University of Illinois. During his college tenure, he was a member of the varsity swimming team, pre-law club, business clubs, Commerce Council, U.S. Army R.O.T.C. and Illini Union Board. After graduating from the College of Commerce with a degree in accountancy, Skinner served in the U.S. Army as a first lieutenant.

His business career commenced with IBM, where he was employed in various marketing and managerial positions. In 1967, he was designated one of the company's outstanding salespersons in the United States. He again distinguished himself as a member of the DePaul Law Review while pursuing his legal studies at DePaul University College of Law in Chicago.

Skinner's public service career began at the Office of the United States Attorney in Chicago where he served as an assistant U.S. Attorney and first assistant to the U.S. Attorney. President Ford subsequently appointed him United States Attorney for the Northern District of Illinois. Skinner was the first career prosecutor in the history of the Northern District to have been named to the position.

While working as U.S. Attorney, Sam Skinner served as a member of the Department of Justice White-Collar Crime Committee and the United States Attorney General's Advisory Committee, and as Vice-Chairman of the President's Commission on Organized Crime. He was honored with the U.S. Department of Justice Outstanding Service Award on two occasions.

In 1984, he was named Chairman of the Regional Transportation Authority of Northeastern Illinois, where he was responsible for the rail, highway, and water transportation systems in and around metropolitan Chicago. He subsequently worked as a senior partner in the Chicago office of the international law firm of Sidley & Austin.

Skinner also served as Chairman of the Illinois Capital Development Board, the Illinois Governor's Fraud Prevention Commission, and the Governor's Task Force on Energy Conservation and Coal Conversion. He has also served on numerous boards of directors and civic committees.

For his accomplishments and devotion to public service, Skinner has received numerous awards and accolades. He was named by the Chicago Junior Chamber of Commerce as one of ten outstanding citizens. He was chosen as one of the outstanding alumni of DePaul University and received the Distinguished Alumnus Award from the University of Illinois College of Commerce. Skinner was honored by the National Fraternity in 1989 as winner of the Pi Kappa Alpha Distinguished Achievement Award, which is given annually to only one prominent alumnus. In the same year, he also received the Outstanding Alumnus award from his chapter at the University of Illinois.

In accepting the Distinguished Achievement Award before over 400 undergraduate members at the Fraternity's 1989 Officers Leadership Academy, Skinner remarked, "... This award means a lot to me...let me tell you why. Beta Eta is family to me. It has been since they took in a young guy who thought he knew everything, but really didn't know anything. He wanted to be a team player but didn't know how to be one...he thought that he respected other people, but he didn't know how, and yet, he became part of the family. As I look around this room, I think of all the brothers and what they did for me...some have achieved great things." He continued, "I guess if I had to list ten things in my life that have made a difference, Beta Eta and Pi Kappa Alpha would be right up there on the list . . . Our (PiKA) Founders left us with a great legacy and a great tradition to carry on. They provided us with an opportunity to join, enjoy and be with people that we can learn from and share experiences. But, they also challenged us to be the best, and to give something back. I have the privilege of working for a man who has believed and lived by this principle all of his life. George Bush discusses and truly believes in a kinder and gentler nation. He shares an empathy for others that are less fortunate and he is devoted to making this country a better place for 300 million Americans."

"I think that the President would be proud of the many efforts that this Fraternity and its many chapters across the country, 180 strong, are making every day. I would only suggest that you have great times now, but this great experience — and this great obligation — does not end when you walk out on graduation day. It lasts a lifetime."

"...And later on in life, when you are recognized by your fellow citizens, by your Brothers and others through life, remember the recognition that will mean the most to you is the time and effort you have spent in the service of others, in the highest tradition of this Fraternity."

As the President of the United States and Skinner's wife look on, Samuel K. Skinner is sworn in as White House Chief of Staff. From left: President George H. Bush, Samuel K. Skinner, Mary Jacobs Skinner, and Judge Joel Flaum.

Sam Skinner's long-standing commitment and dedication to public service have been unwavering and well noted. A question in the minds of some, however, is whether he has the political savvy and fortitude to serve George Bush in these difficult times. Those who know him are confident that he does.

He demonstrated a deliberate and steady hand as the top federal prosecutor in Northern Illinois for six years and during his term as chairman of the Chicago Regional Transportation Authority for four years. For his persistence and determination as U.S. Attorney in Chicago, he was nicknamed "the Hammer." One of his most noteworthy and best received successes was the development of a longrange strategic plan for the region's transportation needs. In the eyes of both political allies and foes, he was heralded as a miracle worker. Skinner earned a reputation as a quiet yet effective troubleshooter for his political ally and mentor, former Illinois Governor James Thompson.

After confirming his nomination as U.S. Secretary of Transportation, members of the Senate Commerce Committee had high praise for Skinner. Committee Chairman, Senator Ernest Hollings (D-South Carolina) called him "a breath of fresh air" and Senator Howard Metzenbaum (D-Ohio) said he is "a man of integrity."

After three years as Secretary of Transportation, it was clear that Skinner had raised his profile and the stakes of his political career. As the most highly visible Transportation Secretary in the history of the United States, he is widely thought to have brought unusual competence to the Cabinet post.

Immediately after assuming office, he was launched into the public spotlight first by the San Francisco earthquake and later by the Exxon Valdez oil spill. His expert handling of these crises earned him the role as one of the President's top troubleshooters. In fact, Washingtonian magazine awarded him its top rating among Cabinet officials in both 1989 and 1990, while industry analysts applauded his performance at the Department of Transportation.

A little-publicized but landmark piece of legislation which served to segregate highway funds was finessed through the system by the Secretary, who had the difficult task of dealing with the expiration of the old Interstate Highway Act.

Skinner was also able to overcome the longstanding problems associated with the government's approach to planning. Although Congress had been pressing for years for structural overhaul of the Transportation Department to make it more responsive and minimize bureaucratic infighting, nothing had been done. In fact, the last major transportation planning occurred in the mid-1950s when the government devised the interstate highway network. Skinner responded with the National Transportation Policy, designed to attack the country's transportation problems and adopt a long-term focus.

Sam Skinner was also called upon to assume additional duties not typically associated with the job of Transportation Secretary. These included aiding Vice President Dan Quayle and serving as a political advisor and confidante to President Bush. In fact, Skinner joined the President at Camp David, along with Secretary of Commerce Robert Mosbacher, to discuss re-election strategy.

During his tenure as Secretary of Transportation, his close ties to President Bush led to early speculation that Skinner might be the next Chief of Staff or possibly Chairman of the Republican National Committee. The speculation is over for the time being.

As Chief of Staff, Sam Skinner may be facing his most formidable challenge yet. A difficult economy and the pressures of a re-election campaign face the Bush Administration. If his track record has any predictive value, Sam Skinner is the best man for yet another tough job.

Thomas J. Handler serves the Fraternity as National Rush Director, a post he has held since 1982. He is also the principal tax attorney with Handler & Associates in Chicago, Illinois.

Brother Fess Parker Honored for Career Achievements

On October 22, 1991 Fess Parker (Beta Mu '48) was presented with the Disney Legends Award at Walt Disney studios in Burbank, California. The award was established in 1987 "to honor individuals whose body of work has made a significant impact on the Disney Legacy."

Brother Parker began his career with Disney 37 years ago. Walt Disney was casting the role of Davy Crockett for Disney's new television show when he noticed Brother Parker in a science fiction film called Them! Disney hired Parker, he appeared on the show five times between 1954-56, and the show became an immediate hit. "The Ballad of Davy Crockett" was a top song for thirteen weeks.

While under contract at Disney, Parker starred in six feature films, including Davy Crockett, King of the Wild Frontier in 1955 and Old Yeller in 1957. He then left Disney to star in the Daniel Boone TV series.

Brother Parker has written screenplays, composed songs, and been a successful recording artist with a gold record of Davy Crockett. Currently, he owns his own winery, and owns the Red Lion Inn in Santa Barbara, where he resides with his wife.

Foundation Announces Program To Benefit Chapters

The Pi Kappa Alpha Educational Foundation is pleased to announce the creation of the chapter endowment program.

The chapter endowment program provides alumni with the opportunity to contribute tax-deductible gifts to the Foundation for the direct benefit of the chapter of their choice. Gifts made directly to chapters, house corporations or alumni associations are not tax-deductible, regardless of their intended purpose. This new program, however, provides both deductibility and perpetuity. Here is how the program works.

The Foundation has established an endowment fund for each of Pi Kappa Alpha's active chapters, the annual earnings from which will ultimately benefit each respective chapter and/or its individual student members.

The Foundation, in cooperation with each chapter and its alumni, will actively solicit gifts on at least an annual basis from alumni and student members of each chapter. When contributions have reached the minimum endowment level of $10,000 and have been at that level for one full fiscal year (July 1st - June 30th), a portion of the earnings will be available for distribution.

Upon reaching the $10,000 minimum goal, each chapter and/or major donor(s) shall determine how their respective chapter fund earnings shall be disbursed and shall instruct the Foundation staff accordingly in writing.

In keeping with the Foundation's mission and its obligations as a 501(c)(3) organization, awards will be limited to academic and leadership scholarships, grants for attendance at educational programs of the Fraternity (e.g. Chapter Presidents Conference, Officers Leadership Academy, Regional Leadership Conferences, etc.), qualified educational products (e.g. computers, library books, study tables, etc.), or other qualified educational programs.

Award pay-outs will be guaranteed at 5% (rounded to the next lowest $25 increment) of each endowment's principal as of the beginning of the preceding fiscal year. For example, a $10,000 fund would generate a $500 award the following year. If no award is made for any reason in a year for which an award is available, the undistributed earnings will be returned as principal to that chapter's endowment.

The Foundation will advise the chapter president and/or chapter advisor when their chapter's respective endowment has reached the $10,000 minimum endowment level. At that time the Foundation will request direction from the chapter as to how the endowment's annual earnings should be disbursed when available and will disburse the funds accordingly (within the guidelines for qualified disbursements). Payouts must be in increments of $25 and may be divided into disbursements of $100 or more.

Further, in fiscal years when the overall investment performance exceeds 5%, the Foundation board of trustees may decide, at its own discretion, to return a portion of the excess earnings (those in excess of the guaranteed 5% payout) to the principal balance of each endowment.

Donations to the Freeman H. Hart Memorial Museum

The Freeman H. Hart Museum houses a unique collection of Fraternity memorabilia, such as original charters and minutes, items that were or are presently owned by Pi Kappa Alpha's highest achievers (e.g. Distinguished Achievement Award winners, Order of West Range inductees, etc.) and items used by members who served the country's military branches during our various wars.

The Museum provides substantial space for display of Fraternity artifacts and is visited by thousands of undergraduates and alumni annually. Chapters and alumni are encouraged to donate such memorabilia to the Foundation. If you have questions regarding such a donation, please contact Foundation Executive Director Jeff Abraham at the Memorial Headquarters.

In the past few months, gifts to the Museum have been received from:

Mrs. Raymond W. Bolmeyer, Jr., Wife of Raymond W. Bolmeyer, Jr. (Gamma Omicron '54)

Wilson R. Caskey (Alpha Theta '33)

Edward A. Pease (Delta Xi '71)

Earnings assigned to principal by the board of trustees will be deemed assigned as of July 1st of the fiscal year immediately following the fiscal year in which the earnings were generated. All funds will be invested by the Foundation's Endowment Fund commission.

In the event a chapter fund fails to reach the $10,000 minimum to begin providing awards within ten years or the amount in that fund remains unchanged (no contributions are received) for a period of ten years, the funds may revert to the Foundation's general fund to be disbursed at the discretion of the Foundation's board of trustees. The board of trustees at its discretion may also decide to maintain the fund's status quo if it appears circumstances exist that may result in a change to the fund soon after the completion of the ten-year period.

In the event a chapter goes silent for any reason, the chapter's respective fund would remain active for a period of ten years. If, at the end of that ten-year period, the chapter has not been rechartered, the endowment funds may revert to the Foundation's general fund to be disbursed at the discretion of the Foundation's board of trustees. The board of trustees at their discretion may also decide to maintain the fund's status quo if circumstances exist that may result in the rechartering of the chapter soon after the completion of the ten-year period.

The Foundation board of trustees reserves the right to evaluate the program annually and to amend the terms of this program when, in the opinion of a majority of the members of the board of trustees, it is necessary to do so for the good of the Foundation.

The Foundation board of trustees is convinced that this new program will help to ensure the academic performance and leadership development of Pi Kappa Alpha's youngest brothers while providing a previously unavailable opportunity for all of Pi Kappa Alpha's brothers to contribute directly with a tax-deductible gift to their own chapter's progress in those areas.

Please look for additional information in future direct mail packages. If you have any questions or comments about this program, please contact Foundation Executive Director Jeff Abraham at the Memorial Headquarters.

Milestones: 100 & 75 Year Chapters

As the month of March comes to a close, five chapters of Pi Kappa Alpha will have celebrated noteworthy anniversaries during the 1991-92 school year.

by Timothy J. McNary (Beta Gamma '85)

100 YEARS

Xi Chapter (University of South Carolina), Omicron (Richmond University), and Pi (Washington and Lee University) are all commemorating the one hundredth year of their entrance into Pi Kappa Alpha.

The eldest of the three, Xi, was chartered on October 22, 1891. Omicron received its charter just one day later, on October 23, 1891. Pi would arrive on the scene early in the new year, receiving its charter on February 4, 1892.

Xi Chapter

In October of 1891, Xi was learning about a certain element of chapter life that is still a topic of discussion amongst today's chapters — a strong rush program. In a letter to Robert Adger Smythe printed in the October 24, 1891 edition of The Pi Kappa Alpha Journal, charter member Douglas Pitts wrote at the time of the chapter's founding:

"It would have been a great deal better if we could have been organized at the early beginning of the session; for some of the finest fellows we have ever had at college have joined other fraternities, and we might have had a chance at some of them. However, not all the chances are gone: there are still some of the best men in college that are not members of any fraternity, and we have our eyes on at least one or two."

One or two men were a significant number on the South Carolina campus. In 1892 there were ten fraternities at USC with an average of six members each.

The upcoming years were difficult for Xi Chapter as the anti-fraternity sentiment made its way into the state legislature. On July 1, 1897, the state legislature banned fraternities at all state institutions. It would be thirty years before the ban was lifted.

Although gone from everyday campus life, Xi Chapter remained a part of the ongoing operations of Pi Kappa Alpha. John Gordon Hughes (1893) served as grand chancellor from 1905-09. He then served as grand princeps from 1909-17. Aside from Hughes' accomplishments within the Fraternity, he served in both the South Carolina Senate and House of Representatives. Hughes was also president of the University of South Carolina Alumni Association.

On June 11, 1928, the wait was over, and Xi Chapter returned to the University of South Carolina. The local fraternity of Alpha Kappa Pi had 21 members who were chartered as Xi Chapter. This would not be the last rechartering for Xi. In 1972, the chapter had its charter withdrawn. The absence was considerably shorter this time, as Xi was rechartered in 1975.

Along with Hughes, Xi has possessed other prominent alumni. Olin Sawyer (1893) was a distinguished surgeon who served 10 years in the South Carolina House of Representatives. His political accomplishments included serving as mayor of Georgetown, South Carolina.

An alumnus of Xi is still a force in the U.S.

Senate. The Honorable J. Strom Thurmond ('59) has represented his home state of South Carolina in the Senate since 1954. Thurmond was Pi Kappa Alpha's 1982 recipient of the Distinguished Achievement Award. He was inducted into the Order of West Range in 1989.

Omicron Chapter

It is definitely an understatement to say the early days of Omicron Chapter were difficult ones. Marion L. Dawson, C.A. Boyce and Malcolm Carrington were charter members. In the October 24, 1891 edition of The Pi Kappa Alpha Journal, R.E. Moore (Iota 1885) wrote of Omicron's "hope that this will be the most prosperous year in our history." The next fall was far from prosperous as two members did not return to school. The Knoxville Convention of 1892 gave the chapter two months to improve its standing. Unable to do so, Omicron had its charter withdrawn in 1893.

Not about to let Omicron die, Fairfax S. McCandlish (Gamma 1897), along with the support of Richmond college students, succeeded in rechartering Omicron on October 12, 1901. The chapter was back on its feet with five new members. Omicron has remained active without interruption to this day.

Throughout its existence, Omicron has produced alumni who served the National Fraternity as well as on other professional fronts. A. Willis Robinson ('04) was a U.S. Senator during the 1940s. In 1951 he won the Distinguished Achievement Award. Guy A. Borkey ('27) served as the National Treasurer of the Fraternity from 1946-48. Captain Irving T. Duke ('19) commanded the U.S.S. Missouri, the battleship on which the Japanese agreed to terms of surrender to end World War II. In 1954, Charles L. Melson ('23) became Superintendent of the U.S. Naval Academy. T. Coleman Andrews ('41) became U.S. Commissioner of Internal Revenue. In 1957, Lew Burdette ('46) led the Milwaukee Braves to a World Championship as he won three games in the World Series.

Pi Chapter

On February 4, 1892, Pi Chapter at Washington and Lee University became Pi Kappa Alpha's eighth active chapter. Members of Alpha Chapter were on hand to initiate the chapter members. However, due to exams, not all Alpha members were able to attend. This was not a hindrance according to Robert Smythe's account in the March 1892 issue of the Shield & Diamond. "The 'deed,' however, has been done, and Pi stands enrolled upon our list," he wrote.

Smythe viewed the establishment of Pi as momentum for future growth. "Where shall we next raise our banner? The ball is started — keep it rolling, boys."

As was the case with Omicron, low membership numbers would be a setback in Pi's early years. The momentum of 1892 was short-lived and a lack of numbers resulted in the charter being withdrawn in 1898. Like Omicron, however, Pi eventually returned to campus. On October 14, 1901, Pi was rechartered. A member of the revived chapter was John Graham-Sale ('01). Sale would go on to serve the Fraternity as grand historiographer from 1905-17. At the New Orleans Convention of 1909, Sale was responsible for moving that a technical description of the coat-of-arms be placed in the constitution. He was also responsible for the first membership directory in 1915.

Other Pi alumni made significant contributions to the National Fraternity as well. Walter G. Riddick ('01) served as grand chancellor from 1909-13. He also served as grand editor from 1909-11. Leroy Hodges ('31) was the Fraternity's national alumni secretary from 1942-45. In 1945, the Honorable Clarence C. Meadows ('22) was selected for the Distinguished Achievement Award.

75 YEARS

Beta Eta Chapter

When Pi Kappa Alpha's Beta Eta chapter arrived on the University of Illinois campus in 1917, the Greek system was well-established with thirty fraternities and twelve sororities at the University.

Beta Eta's establishment was linked to Illinois' Magruder Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity. The Magruder Chapter had originally pledged men only in the college of law. The enrollment in the college of law was small, and to widen its selection, Phi Alpha Delta allowed its Illinois chapter to pledge and initiate men in liberal arts who intended to study law.

It was routine for other chapters of Phi Alpha Delta to initiate only those men studying law, and the Illinois chapter soon developed into a social fraternity. Phi Alpha Delta's advisory board recommended that the Illinois chapter seek a charter in a national fraternity, and that Phi Alpha Delta would remain strictly a professional organization. The chapter then began the process of looking for affiliation with a national fraternity, and chose to petition Pi Kappa Alpha for membership. Following a yearlong investigation, the Supreme Council approved the petition, and on March 24, 1917 the petitioning members were chartered as Beta Eta chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha.

Throughout Beta Eta's seventy-five year history, its members have continuously maintained a high profile in Pi Kappa Alpha. The achievements Beta Eta claims include an alumnus who served as national president of the Fraternity, Loyalty Award recipients, and inductees into the Order of West Range.

Virgil R. McBroom ('25) was national president from 1980-82. Prior to his presidency, McBroom had served as a national vice president from 1970-72 and 1974-78. He had also served on the real estate management commission from 1968-72.

Malcolm C. Todd ('31) was a national vice president during 1978-80 as well as a Memorial Foundation Trustee. He also served on the alumni commission from 1980-84.

Beta Eta is currently represented at the national level of the Fraternity by Thomas J. Handler ('74) who has served as national rush director since 1982.

Beta Eta's involvement with the National Fraternity goes back to Keeler DeWitt Pulcipher ('17) who was national editor during 1931-40 and 1941-42.

He was national secretary from 1942-46. In recognition of their devotion to the Fraternity, Pulcipher received the Loyalty award in 1973 and McBroom received the award in 1978. Todd was selected for the Distinguished Achievement Award in 1976 and was inducted into the Order of West Range in 1990, as was a fellow member of Beta Eta, Charles A. Bowsher ('50), comptroller general of the United States.

Beta Eta's most recent award winner was Samuel K. Skinner, ('57) (see page 20). Skinner was inducted into the Order of West Range in 1991. He was selected for the Distinguished Achievement Award in 1989.

Beta Theta Chapter

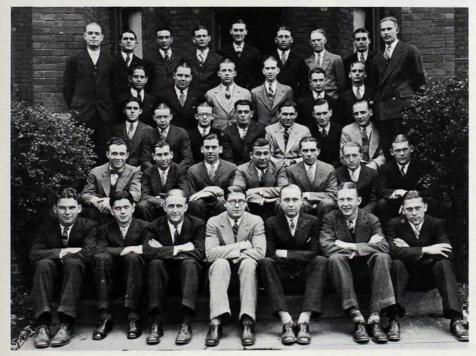

Beta Theta can trace its existence at Cornell University back to the local fraternity Alpha Theta. The Alpha Theta Fraternity had been at Cornell since 1911. According to the chapter historian of Beta Theta in 1924, Alpha Theta first petitioned Pi Kappa Alpha National Fraternity in 1912. "The petitioners met with great opposition, principally because of the anti-expansionistic ideas regarding Cornell University."

Five years of persistence paid off for the petitioning body. On March 26, 1917, seven members were chartered the Beta Theta Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha. Robert Adger Smythe gave the charge to the charter members. Once the chartering was completed, Beta Theta consisted of thirty-eight active members.

Beta Theta continued to grow as the chapter initiated six members in 1918, and initiated twenty-one in 1919. Beta Theta was Pi Kappa Alpha's largest chapter for the 1919-20 school year, the only chapter with over fifty members.

A few years later, Beta Theta would be recognized on a national level as Elbert P. Tuttle ('17) (see page 18) was elected grand chancellor of the National Fraternity in 1926. He held that position until 1930 when he served as grand princeps. In 1933, Tuttle was responsible for restructuring the fraternity at the Troutdale Convention.

Beta Theta Chapter was inactive (though still retaining its charter) due to World War II from 1943-46. The chapter house was used by the U.S. Navy for housing officers in training. Much of the house was painted battleship grey during the Navy's presence. In 1947, Arthur Charles Stallman ('28), Frank L. O'Brien ('31) and Robert Frank Ruff Sprole ('35) showed the value of alumni support as they helped initiate a class of nineteen men which was essential in reestablishing the chapter. Beta Theta has remained active to this day.

"As the most of you well know, Nu chapter is among the baby chapters of our order, and as all babies have to crawl before they can walk, our men have been very careful in preparing themselves for this act, so that when they once attempted, they would not fall back and perhaps bump their heads against a stone, but will walk forward without even reeling to one side or the other."

CHAPTER ETERNAL

Dr. Paul Groves Blount, Past National Historian

"Dr. B" leaves a legacy of excellence in education.

Dr. Paul G. Blount, former national historian of Pi Kappa Alpha, died January 5, 1992, at the age of 72.

Chairman of the Georgia State English department, Dr. Blount was a special dispensation initiate and a charter member of Epsilon Nu Chapter in 1960. In 1962, he began his term as president of District Eight. He served until 1965. He also served as president of the Atlanta Alumni Association of Pi Kappa Alpha in 1962. In January of 1966, Dr. Blount was appointed by the Supreme Council to succeed Freeman H. Hart as national historian.

Two years after his appointment, Dr. Blount made a lasting mark upon the Fraternity as he revised Hart's History of Pi Kappa Alpha with additional information on the founders and junior founders, and a new final chapter.

Along with his work on the History of Pi Kappa Alpha, Dr. Blount was published in many journals. Many of his articles focused on writers of the Victorian era, including George Sand in Victorian England.

Dr. Blount's accomplishments were numerous. He began his collegiate education at Westminster College in his hometown of Fulton, Missouri. Graduating with his A.B. degree in 1941, Dr. Blount moved on to Emory University where he received his M.A. in 1942. In 1960, he received his Ph.D. from Cornell University.

The man the Pikes of Epsilon Nu affectionately referred to as "Dr. B" was a fixture on the Georgia State campus from 1955 to 1986. During his days as a member of the Georgia State faculty, Dr. Blount served as regent's professor of English in 1974, as assistant dean of the School of Arts and Sciences from 1957 to 1960 when he began his duties as chairman of the English department. Along with these responsibilities, Dr. Blount also served as an advisor to the Department of Education and as a member on the committee that developed the University-system policy regarding tenure.

The impact of Paul Groves Blount will continue to be felt by Epsilon Nu through the Dr. Paul G. Blount Scholarship Fund, established two years ago by alumni of Epsilon Nu. The scholarship required $10,000 to be accepted by the Georgia State University Foundation. The funds were raised and the first scholarship will be awarded in the Fall of 1992. In a letter to alumni and donors following the establishment of the scholarship, Dr. Blount expressed his satisfaction that the fund will aid students in the years to come.

"The happiest thought is that a similar scholarship will be awarded each year after that in perpetuity. Thus many students will be helped throughout the years."

ROBERT EARLY HARDAWAY (Alpha Omicron '10)

Robert Early Hardaway, a 1910 initiate of Southwestern University, died January 5, 1992, at the age of 101.

Born September 1, 1890, in Tuscaloosa, Alabama, Hardaway enrolled in Southwestern University, Georgetown, Texas. He graduated in 1914 from the University of Texas at Austin with a degree in Civil Engineering.

A lieutenant in World War I, Hardaway spent his entire professional career as a civil engineer for Hardaway Company and retired as vice president and treasurer.

Hardaway was also a fellow of the American Society of Civil Engineers and a member of the Sons of the American Revolution.

At Pi Kappa Alpha's 1990 National Convention, a resolution was passed honoring Hardaway on his 100th birthday.

VICTOR SCOTT HANNON (Epsilon Mu '89)

Epsilon Mu Chapter (East Carolina University) sadly adds our brother, Victor Scott Hannon, to Chapter Eternal. Our young brother was taken from us during Summer 1991, in a car accident, four days shy of his twenty-second birhtday.

Scott's enthusiasm and commitment to Pi Kappa Alpha were blessings to the brotherhood. His love for life, his family and his friends were blessings to us all.

Scott was a member of the Iota pledge class and was initiated into the brotherhood on April 9, 1989. Our prayers and most sincere sympathy go out to his family amd friends. Scott was what we aspire to be in phi phi kappa alpha.

CLARENCE ALLGOOD (Upsilon '21)

A 1921 initiate of Upsilon chapter at Auburn University, Allgood attended Samford University before enrolling at Auburn. He then attended Birmingham School of Allgood was the subject of a biography subtitled His Brothers Keeper. That was a term that Judge Seyborne Lynne used to refer to Allgood. Lynne, a 1923 initiate of Upsilon chapter, was Allgood's associate for 69 years. "He's the finest man I ever knew, except my father," Lynne said.

Allgood was appointed bankruptcy judge in 1937. He was responsible for forming the Chapter 13 payback plan that authorized the method by which debtors paid creditors. In 1981, he moved on to the U.S. District court.
