FROM THE PRESIDENT'S DESK

In my home state of Virginia, late February and early March can be bleak. The air is often cold, windy and damp. While the old oaks are abloom in the deep South and the snow begins to thaw out West, here winter seems interminable. That may well have been how our Founders felt in Charlottesville during 1868. But the climate did not cool internal spirits, for a new fire was being built along the halls of West Range at the University of Virginia. These were the very days when six men came together — highlighted forever in Room 47 on Sunday evening, March 1, 1868. The resulting flame has provided warmth to so very many for, now, 127 years.

F. Anderson Morse
(William and Mary, Gamma '76)

As winter ends and the hope of spring beckons, the weeks since I last wrote have been anything but bleak. Travels, letters and phone calls provided holiday greetings, reunions with old friends and family, and new friendships that start with the first exchange of the grip. There were many special events to savor. We welcomed two new chapters into the bonds — Kappa Epsilon at Rockhurst College and Kappa Zeta at the University of Louisville. Both of these chapters will add greatly to the legacy they inherit. Executive Director Kevin E. Virta (Western Michigan, Epsilon Psi '83) saw the birth of his first child. On December 31, many of us gathered for the wedding of Director of Services Scott A. Russell (Kansas, Beta Gamma '85) — a joyous way to ring in the New Year! Next, the 1995 Chapter Presidents Conference was held in Memphis. For the twenty-third year, Pi Kappa Alpha's top young leaders convened for three intensive days of learning. As the first brother to attend this conference as an SMC, and then later return as International President, it was amazing to reflect on how our Fraternity has progressed!

Other fond memories included the 1995 North Atlantic Regional Leadership Conference, a productive council meeting, and alumni functions in Cincinnati and Atlanta, all wedged in between chapter finance and conduct challenges that went with cancelled flights and icy propellers. Which leaves me at the prior point of our Founders Day.

This is a time for recalling our connections to the past and our caring for each other as brothers for life. There is an importance in pausing for remembrance. During a dinner discussion with Chad DeMartino (Columbia, Iota Lambda '93), he said he wondered whether the Founders could have possibly foreseen what they created. Though an optimist by nature, I really do not think they could have predicted PiKA's flourish. But, their ideals have withstood the test of time. Their beliefs were captured through our Ritual, which states the dreams and the values of our beloved Fraternity. Every chapter would be well served by a stronger appreciation of those ideals.

Outside of one's family and faith, there is very little in this world like that described in our Ritual. It speaks to a brotherhood that hopes to shape its members' character in relation to the highest ideals of human excellence. It speaks to a circle of friends that understands why you must always be your brother's keeper. Our Ritual is blind to one's personal background, race or creed. It reminds us all that faith, family and fraternity can be inextricably linked. And it provides a heritage of substance, not superficiality.

We are here today thanks to the lighting of a flame on the West Range, and because countless stewards passed that flame on, keeping it safe from harm through the friendships and values that our Ritual encourages. Our greatest challenge is to work and strive to make this Fraternity live by those ideals for a very long period of time.

May the flame of Phi Phi Kappa Alpha remain with you always.

Fraternally,

F. Anderson Morse
International President

Director of Chapter Finance, Three Consultants Added at Mid-Year

Executive Vice President Raymond L. Orians (Memphis, Delta Zeta '66) announces the hiring of three new consultants to the staff of the Memorial Headquarters:

Ralph W. Simon

(Central Florida, Eta Phi '89) was appointed to serve in the Fraternity's newly created director of chapter finance position, effective December 20, 1994. Simon previously served Pi Kappa Alpha as a chapter consultant in Fall 1994. In his new duties, Simon will be responsible for managing the accounts receivable to the General Fund and Housing Fund. He will also develop and implement comprehensive financial management programs for the chapters which will include a financial software package.

Ralph W. Simon

Nick P. LeRoy (Utah, Alpha Tau '90) joined the Fraternity's staff in December 1994. He graduated in Spring 1994 with a bachelor's degree in history with a minor in public relations. He served Alpha Tau as president, rush chairman, pledge educator, secretary and public relations chairman. He was active on the University of Utah campus as president of Order of Omega, and as a member of the Student Advisory Committee and as the student representative to the Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Committee.

Jeffrey M. Meletio (Winthrop, Theta Sigma '91) joined the Fraternity's staff in January 1995. He graduated in December 1994 with a B.A. in mass communications. He also received a minor in social science. As an undergraduate, Meletio served Theta Sigma as president, vice president, pledge educator, and was rush chairman for two terms. On campus, he served two terms as secretary on IFC's executive board and was named IFC's Greek Man of the Year in 1994. He was also chairman of the Student Government Association's student allocations committee.

W. Blake Monroe (Texas-Arlington, Eta

Upsilon '93) joined the Fraternity's staff in January 1995. He graduated in December 1994 with a B.A. degree in public relations. He also received a minor in sales and marketing. As an undergraduate, Monroe served his chapter as public relations chairman, philanthropy chairman, athletic chairman and external vice president. On campus, Monroe was active in the university's IFC, serving as special events committee chairman, athletic chairman and as a member of the judicial board. He was also a university ambassador, peer leadership trainer and a member of Order of Omega.

1995 Chapter Presidents Conference

From January 5-8, 167 undergraduates of Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity gathered at the historic Peabody Hotel in Memphis, Tennessee, for Pi Kappa Alpha's 1995 Chapter Presidents Conference. Attendees of the 1995 CPC received training in areas of chapter management such as rush and risk management. There were also opportunities for SMCs to attend personal development sessions such as International President F. Anderson Morse's (William and Mary, Gamma '76) session on personal financial management and guest speaker Will Keim's "Real Man Primer" session.

The 1995 Chapter Presidents Conference was the largest presidents conference ever, and this year's conference served as a reminder that this program has become one of the Fraternity's most intensive leadership programs since its establishment in 1973. Pi Kappa Alpha's Chapter Presidents Conference was one of the first conferences devoted solely to chapter presidents. 22 years later, Pi Kappa Alpha is just one of a handful of fraternities hosting an annual conference for its top undergraduate leaders.

A major factor in the continual success of the Chapter Presidents Conference has been the support of the Pi Kappa Alpha Educational Foundation. At the International President's Banquet on the final night of the 1995 Chapter Presidents Conference, Pi Kappa Alpha Educational Foundation President Joseph R. Brown (Kansas, Beta Gamma '50) presented International President Morse with a check in the amount of $24,000 to help fund this year's conference. This year's generous contribution by the Foundation meant that presidents attending the 1995 Chapter Presidents Conference only had to pay a $10 registration fee.

Expansion

Rockhurst College Chartered as Kappa Epsilon Chapter

Pi Kappa Alpha's expansion program rounded out a hectic 1994 schedule with the chartering of Kappa Epsilon Chapter at Rockhurst College in Kansas City, Missouri. The official chartering took place Saturday, December 17, 1994. On the Friday evening prior to the chartering, 45 colony members were initiated into the Fraternity's membership. Initiations were conducted by teams from Alpha Nu Chapter at the University of Missouri-Columbia, Alpha Omega Chapter at Kansas State University and Iota Nu Chapter at Saint Louis University. Saturday's installation banquet was highlighted by F. Anderson Morse's (William and Mary, Gamma '76) keynote address. For Morse, this was his first chartering as international president. Also in attendance were Heartland Regional President Robert N. Cox (Southeast Missouri State, Epsilon Iota '64), Director of Expansion Steven S. Vincent (Missouri-Columbia, Alpha Nu '83) and Director of Alumni Affairs Matthew P. Dey (Clemson, Eta Alpha '89). Saturday's black tie celebration was attended by 120 new initiates, dates, parents, host chapter members and international officers. Kappa Epsilon Chapter is the first new fraternity on the Rockhurst campus in 20 years. To commemorate the evening, Kappa Epsilon presented the Fraternity with a Kansas City Royals baseball jersey.

Kappa Epsilon History

The first days of Pi Kappa Alpha's Rockhurst colony began in a dorm room in Corcoran Hall on the Rockhurst campus. Three individuals gathered in this room to make plans for bringing a new fraternity experience to Rockhurst. This group of three recruited two more members and eventually found themselves in the office of Steve F. O'Brien S.J. (Saint Louis, Iota Nu '91), director of Greek affairs. Through recruiting, the interest group developed into a local fraternity of 20 members. Pi Kappa Alpha was informed about the interest group by O'Brien, who was actively involved with the colonization of Iota Nu Chapter at Saint Louis University. On November 18, 1992, Jarrett W. Kolthoff wrote a letter to Director of Expansion Vincent announcing the interest group's plans to bring Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity to Rockhurst.

In May 1993, Expansion Consultant Jeffrey S. Brown (Southern Illinois, Iota Mu '90) and Chapter Consultant Matthew P. Dey (Clemson, Eta Alpha '89) arrived at Rockhurst and began recruiting members. Through the efforts of Brown and Dey, the colony stood at 35 men. The first official colony meeting was held on May 1, 1993. At this meeting, Kai E. Thomas was selected as colony president and P.J. Novick (Kansas State, Alpha Omega '79) as colony advisor. Fall 1993 proved to be an exciting period as the colony developed a strong reputation with other fraternities, the student body, and college administrators. In November 1993, the colony acquired a chapter house at a highly visible location. Along with housing success, the Pi Kappa Alpha colony received full recognition by the Interfraternity Council.

Pikes were successful in events such as homecoming, where they placed first in the banner contest and second in the relay races. November 1993 saw the colony travel to the Heartland Regional Conference and continue their success as they received the scholarship award for highest cumulative GPA in the region.

The spring semester was soon underway and colony members continued to strive towards chartering. Two new sororities arrived at Rockhurst in Spring 1994 and PiKA was right there to welcome them on campus. Thanks to this immediate show of support by the Pikes, a healthy relationship was established with the women of Alpha Sigma Alpha and Zeta Tau Alpha sororities. The addition of sororities created the need for new leadership on the college's Greek Council. PiKA led the way with the appointment of Michael T. Vogel as Greek Council chairperson. Aside from Vogel's campus involvement, colony members participated in various social, community service and fund raising functions. Moreover, colony members continued to develop brotherhood with the installation of the Big Brother program on the colony's community service calendar.

The Rockhurst Pikes returned in Fall 1994

with the realization that their chartering was rapidly approaching. Rush was a tremendous success with the pledging of 15 new members, more than any other fraternity on campus. On November 5, the colony unanimously passed inspection. The inspection team consisted of Regional President Cox, Chapter Consultant Christopher E. Peterson (Florida, Alpha Eta '91) and host chapters from the University of Kansas and the University of Missouri-Columbia.

Rockhurst Greek System

For 63 years Rockhurst College has enjoyed a tradition of Greek Life on campus. In 1932 Alpha Delta Gamma Fraternity was founded. It was not until 1966, with the arrival of Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity, that another fraternity was established on the Rockhurst campus. Six years passed until a third fraternity would be added to the Rockhurst Greek system. Until 1994, Greek life was only available to the men of Rockhurst College. However, in 1994, two sororities, Alpha Sigma Alpha and Zeta Tau Alpha, opened the doors for women's Greek organizations. The Greek system is now growing rapidly with 20 percent of the student population involved.

Rockhurst College History

In 1910, Rockhurst College and High School were established. A charter from the state of Missouri empowered "Rockhurst University" to offer degrees. The construction of Sedgwick Hall in 1914 allowed the opening of high school classes in 1914 and college classes in 1917. Today, the college serves more than 2,500 degree-seeking students. Both undergraduate and graduate degree programs feature the lifelong liberal arts learning approach that is a hallmark of Jesuit education. Through a subsidiary, Rockhurst College Continuing Education Center, Rockhurst is the nation's largest non-profit provider of adult continuing education.

University of Louisville Becomes Kappa Zeta Chapter

On Saturday evening, January 21, 1995, Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity's newly chartered Kappa Zeta Chapter at the University of Louisville celebrated well into the evening. They had good reason to do so. After two years of hard work as a colony, this group of men finally earned the right to enter the chapter ranks of the Fraternity.

The final steps of the colonization process culminated on December 10, 1994, when Expansion Consultant Christopher S. Hough (Pittsburgh, Gamma Sigma '89) arrived in Louisville to inspect the colony. Hough was joined by representatives from Omega Chapter at the University of Kentucky and Theta Kappa Chapter at Indiana University Southeast. After a full day of activities surrounding the inspection, the Louisville colony was notified that it had passed unanimously and was approved for chartering.

The actual initiation of colony members took place on Friday, January 20. Initiation teams were from the University of Kentucky and Indiana University-Southeast. A total number of 61 men were initiated, including the stepfather of Jimmy W. Atwell, a brother who was fatally injured in a car accident over Christmas break. Although Atwell was laid to rest with a badge pinned to his chest, the men of Kappa Zeta did not believe the process was complete until the initiation of Atwell's stepfather.

On Saturday, the morning of the chartering, the newly initiated members gathered at the Seelbach Hotel in downtown Louisville for the final stage of the installation. They started the day by witnessing the initiation of David J. Erickson, installation chairman. Following Erickson's initiation, all new members were instructed on the meanings of the Fraternity's Ritual. Later, on Saturday evening, PiKA's newest chapter members returned to the Seelbach Hotel for the chartering banquet. Following dinner, Chapter President William F. Yarber introduced Director of Expansion Steven S. Vincent (Missouri-Columbia, Alpha Nu '83). Vincent delivered a retrospective look at the colony and offered some advice for the Louisville Pikes' future as Pi Kappa Alpha's 246th chapter. Vincent was followed by International President F. Anderson Morse (William and Mary, Gamma '76) who delivered the keynote address. Also in attendance were Expansion Consultant Hough and past Chapter Consultant William A. Green (Wayne State, Delta Nu '88). Hough and Green originally coordinated the Louisville project in November 1992. At the conclusion of Morse's remarks, the chapter presented Morse with a hand-crafted thoroughbred sculpture that is currently on display in the Fraternity's Memorial Headquarters.

Kappa Zeta History

In November 1992, Expansion Consultant Hough and Chapter Consultant Green came to the Louisville campus with the task establishing a Pi Kappa Alpha colony. They both spent the first few weeks making presentations and interviewing possible candidates. Just two and-a-half weeks after beginning the colonization, a colony meeting was held with ten members in attendance. The size of the colony grew quickly. On November 21, 1992, 33 men were present at the group's first retreat.

January 1993 marked the colony's first full semester. At this time, the Louisville Pikes not only furthered their name on campus, but in the surrounding community as well. A young Louisville girl was brutally raped and the chapter raised over $1,000 to help her family cover medical and legal expenses. This type of effort gave the colony members an early indication of the positive impact they could make when they worked together for a cause. On March 27, the colony held its first Founders Day celebration. The featured speaker at the event was Louisville head football coach, Howard L. Schnellenberger (Miami, Gamma Omega '80). The 1993-94 academic year began with an emphasis on rush. Expansion Consultant Steven S. Heck (Kansas State, Alpha Omega '88) visited the colony and helped with its rush program. In Spring 1994 the Pikes finished second in the Kappa Delta Shamrock Showdown and third in Greek Week.

The Louisville Pikes entered the 1994-95 academic year by pledging 26 men. Then, in November, the colony had the distinction of co-hosting the 1994 Cumberland/Midwest Regional Leadership Conference. Chapters from both regions attended the event in large numbers and were joined by the Supreme Council. Several weeks after displaying their quality membership to the entire Cumberland Region, Midwest Region and the Supreme Council, the colony was approved for chartering.

Louisville Greek System

Louisville's Greek System is made up of 16 fraternities and ten sororities. Approximately eight percent of the student population are affiliated with Greek organizations.

University of Louisville History

In 1837 the Louisville Medical Institute opened its doors. The next year the city of Louisville created the Louisville Collegiate Institute. The schools had no official connection. The medical institute flourished while the collegiate institute struggled to remain open. In 1846 the general assembly merged the medical and collegiate institutes as the University of Louisville. Each of the original institutes had financial autonomy but shared a board of trustees. World War II and the postwar era saw the university establish a school of business in 1953. The University of Louisville eventually joined the Kentucky state system of higher education in 1970. Today, with an enrollment of 21,000, the university is one of the oldest urban institutions in the country and remains committed to providing programs related to the needs of Louisville's urban area. □

Pike Chapters Surge Into 1995 As Campus Leaders

THETA CHAPTER Rhodes College

The men of Theta spent much of their holiday break attempting to contact Theta alumni across the country. The chapter is not telemarketing, they are merely using phone calls as a means of keeping in touch with alumni.

T. Thomas Ramsey, Jr., chair of the chapter's pledge educating committee has focused much energy and attention on instructing the 23 members of Theta's pledge class. The pledge class developed the idea of building a deck on the back of the chapter's lodge. The building of the deck has now been taken on by the entire chapter and was supplemented by money received from alumni during homecoming weekend.

On campus, the Pikes are visible on every student representative body. In community service, Theta once again teamed with Delta Delta Delta Sorority to aid underprivileged children. The chapter has also increased its attention to risk management. The risk management committee has organized an Alcohol Awareness Evening. Risk Manager David S. Norton has set a goal to hold such a type of risk management meeting on a monthly basis.

KAPPA CHAPTER Pennsylvania University

To aid underprivileged children of Lexington, Kentucky, members of Kappa played Nintendo for 36 consecutive hours. The Nintendothon was one of several events across Lexington to benefit Toys for Tots and was held in the Pikes chapter room in Clay Hall. Through its participation in the event, $1,000 was raised for "Toys for Tots."

At the university's annual Greek Week banquet, Kappa received the New Member GPA Award and Most Improved GPA Award.

ALPHA GAMMA CHAPTER Louisiana State University

Michael L. Vincent

Dr. Michael L. Vincent, DDS, was a special dispensation initiate of Alpha Gamma on October 5, 1994. Vincent was originally extended a bid by Alpha Gamma in 1962 when he arrived on the LSU campus to play football for the Tigers and concentrate on pre-dental studies. Due to the demands placed on a student-athlete, Vincent could not accept the bid. Since his original contact with Pi Kappa Alpha, Vincent graduated from Loyola University Dental School, served a stint in the U.S. Army Corps, and raised two sons and a daughter with his wife. He has also built a successful dental practice in Baton Rouge. The alumnus who initially sponsored Vincent in 1962, participated in Vincent's entry into the Fraternity. The pin placed on Vincent was worn by the alumnus, who then passed it on to his son, a fellow member of Alpha Gamma. The chapter is proud to welcome Dr. Michael Vincent into the Fraternity.

ALPHA ETA CHAPTER University of Florida

Alpha Eta's Vince Marconi once again made the President's List by obtaining a 4.0 GPA. Marconi has received a number of scholarships and was inducted into the Order of Omega during the fall semester. The Florida Pikes continue to be a force outside the classroom as well. Roderick L. Whited was given the Morton Wolfson Outstanding Fraternity President Award. Chris C. Todd earned the rights to be program director of the 1994 homecoming. Brian C. Murray was elected to student senate and was named assistant director of disability affairs. T.J. Graczewski was director of senate elections, along with assistant directors Michael P. Griffin, Todd and Jorge A. de Mena. Keith R. Drogan was elected executive vice president of the 1995 Interfraternity Council. Community Service Chairman Brian D. Whitney spear-headed the Big Brothers/Big Sisters Bowl-A-Thon charity drive. A substantial contribution was given by the family of brother Jeff Nickell. Nickell also served as scholarship chairman and led a "Book Buyback System" which offers a more efficient buyer-seller exchange than offered at the book stores.

In athletics, Alpha Eta remained a powerhouse as their flag football team once again captured the league title.

ALPHA KAPPA CHAPTER University of Missouri-Rolla

The chapter's second annual alumni golf outing was a success. The university's St. Patrick's Day celebration will once again be held March 17-18.

In community service, Alpha Kappa was involved in projects such as highway cleanup, assisting at blood drives, tutoring at local schools and cleaning up the state park. The Rolla Pikes also continued the tradition of their Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Rolla Christmas Party.

ALPHA TAU CHAPTER University of Utah

The Utah Pikes completed the 6th annual "Gameball Run" for charity. Members of the Fraternity ran the Utah/Brigham Young University game ball from Provo to Salt Lake city to raise money for the American Cancer Society. The run raised over $7,500 and had special meaning for the Pikes who participated in the event for the first time without Kevin B. Kennedy. Kennedy died on October 13, 1994, after battling a brain tumor for two years. The Pikes dedicated the "Gameball Run" in memory of Kennedy. This year's event was featured in news broadcast on radio and television as well as in Salt Lake City's major newspapers. The event has raised over $35,000 since its beginning.

BETA ETA CHAPTER University of Illinois

In December, Beta Eta coordinated a food and clothing drive for the benefit of the Champaign County Salvation Army. The drive was one of Beta Eta's major philanthropies. The chapter was recognized by the university's assistant dean of students and by Salvation Army Administrative Assistant Donna Rose. "We enjoy having people that want to help. I was very impressed by these young men," she said.

BO BETA OMICRON CHAPTER
University of Oklahoma

The OU Pikes finished the Fall 1994 semester by participating in the Salvation Army's Kettle Campaign. The chapter also helped the United Veterans Aid Foundation, which provides

On campus, Jason P. Brown was awarded Best IFC Staff Member for Fall 1994. Daniel P. Minton claimed second place for his solo performance at the university-sing competition. Alumnus Rick R. Nagel (Beta Omicron '92) gave an outstanding effort in his bid as a Republican candidate in the Oklahoma State House of Representatives.

BΣ BETA SIGMA CHAPTER
Carnegie-Mellon University

The fall semester was another busy period for the men of Beta Sigma. After a successful rush under the guidance of Rush Chairman Eric M. Shapiro, the Pikes participated in athletics, student government and various other activities. Off campus, Beta Sigma continued its community service efforts with Habitat for Humanity. Socially, the PiKA formal and homecoming were both outstanding events. New Rush Chairman Neil A. Armstrong and his committee are currently making plans for spring rush.

BT BETATAU CHAPTER
University of Michigan

On November 16, 1994, the Michigan IFC held its elections and Beta Tau's Mark W. Kibby was elected IFC vice president of community service learning. Brian C. Elliott was elected as the engineering representative to the Michigan Student Assembly and vice president of the Engineering Council. Alan D. Hall and Timothy R. Reid were appointed to IFC's social regulation committee. The Pikes and Alpha Delta Pi Sorority were involved in a Christmas party for the Big Brothers/Big Sisters organization.

The highlight of the intramural sports season was Pi Kappa Alpha's appearance in the flag football championship game. Although the team lost the final game, the Pikes finished fourth out of 34 fraternities in the overall intramural standings.

At the end of last semester, the Michigan Pikes had initiated 18 new members and had an overall GPA of 3.0.

ΓH GAMMA ETA CHAPTER
University of Southern California

Just under two years since their chartering, the Gamma Eta Pikes have already made great strides on the USC campus. They moved into a new chapter house that can accommodate 60 men, as opposed to the previous structure which could accommodate only 13 men. In one semester, the Pikes moved from tenth to third place in Iron Man Athletics. The Pikes also won both Alpha Phi Sorority's "Phi Ball" and Delta Gamma Sorority's "Anchor Splash" philanthropy events. Trevor D. Burdick, Mark A. Panzarello, Jason R. Smith and Jeffery C. Smith were inducted into Order of Omega. Jason T. Chiriano and Jeffery C. Smith were elected IFC vice presidents. Jason R. Smith, Jeffery C. Smith and William R. Carr were selected as USC tour guides and Chiriano was chosen as student representative of USC admissions. Bradley E. Abelson was elected president of Alpha Lambda Delta Honor Society and R. Scott Hardin II was recognized as USC's Most Outstanding Student Chemical Engineer.

One of Gamma Eta's more unique achievements was their involvement in the major motion picture, Beach House. The film was conceived and directed by Gamma Eta's Leigh S. Slawner. Many members of the chapter were involved as cast and crew members and part of the film was shot at the Pike house.

ΓΞ GAMMA XI CHAPTER
Washington State University

Fall 1994 included several noteworthy events, including their annual haunted house. This year, the Pikes teamed up with Gamma Phi Beta Sorority to put on the haunted house. As a result of their hard work, the Pikes and Gamma Phis raised approximately $1,800 and collected 700 pounds of food for the Pullman Food Bank. Charles M. Pinnell and Adam J. Yanasak were honored at the All Greek Scholarship Dessert for receiving 4.0 GPAs last spring and serve as indications of Gamma Xi's improving academic status. Daniel S. Swanson was elected IFC treasurer. In athletics, the Gamma Xi Pikes defeated Alpha Kappa Lambda Fraternity to win the division "A" championship.

ΓΣ GAMMA SIGMA CHAPTER
University of Pittsburgh

For the first time in their history, the Gamma Sigma Pikes have been active in Pittsburgh's Big Brother organization. The chapter has also been active in community service by working at local hospitals, and assisting with the distribution of food, clothing and blankets, to less fortunate and homeless individuals. The Pikes also maintained their involvement with Adopt-A-Highway and Habitat for Humanity.

The Pikes hope to build on their success in rush that they achieved last year. At the 1994 North Atlantic Regional Leadership Conference, the Pikes were recognized with the regional rush award and ranked twelfth on the international level. On campus, John A. Capriotti represents Pi Kappa Alpha on Pitt's student government board while ten chapter members serve as student mentors. Cyrus Zolghadri is IFC vice president of membership recruitment. The Gamma Sigma football team took home the intramural championship and the Pikes were undefeated in the soccer regular season for the fifth year in a row.

ΔΘ DELTA THETA CHAPTER
Arkansas State University

The Delta Theta Pikes continue to be a force on the ASU campus. The chapter controls one-third of the student senate positions with William Tatum Heuer Jr. holding the parliamentary staff position. Richard W. Cole, David P. Williams, William J. Sugg Jr. and Michael L. Mangrum were inducted into Order of Omega. Mangrum is president and Sugg is vice president of the organization.

In scholastics, a new program was implemented by Delta Theta. The program, called Academic Big Brothers, pairs pledges with older members of the chapter who have the same major. This program allows pledges to learn from the experiences of the older members. In other innovations, the chapter held a cookout with Omega Psi Phi Fraternity. This function served as a great opportunity to better relations between the two groups.

During the holidays, Delta Theta and the ladies of Alpha Gamma Delta Sorority hosted a Christmas party for underprivileged children. Also during this time, the chapter held its first annual holiday party.

In athletics, the Pikes top intramural football team went to Arlington, Texas, to participate in the Lone Star Shoot-Out. Delta Theta advanced all the way to the tournament's final eight.

ΔΞ DELTA XI CHAPTER Indiana University

Through the support of alumni and its housing corporation, Delta Xi finished a million dollar renovation to the chapter house. Enough money was raised during homecoming and a separate fund raiser that the chapter was able to furnish the chapter house dining room, formal room and new library. The Indiana Pikes made the most of their new look by initiating 26 men from the fall semester and pledged 23 men for the spring semester.

On campus, Ronald N. Jose, Barry J. Sadegi and Andrew T. McDonald were named to the executive council of the Indiana University Dance Marathon - IU's largest student run philanthropy, which raised over $100,000 for Riley Children's Hospital this past semester. Pi Kappa Alpha and Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority were responsible for raising $10,400 for this worthy cause.

ΔΤ DELTA TAU CHAPTER Arizona State University

The men of Delta Tau continue to strive to be the best. Following a $40,000 housing renovation, the ASU Pikes pledged 18 outstanding men. Also, the chapter's president, Frederic A. Lund was on Arizona States 1994 Homecoming Court. In community service, the Pikes are involved with the Red Cross Blood Drive, the National Football League's United Way "Air It Out" flag football tournament, and the Save the Family charity. As the spring semester continues, the Pikes are in the running for their fifth all fraternity intramural banner in the past six years.

EZ EPSILON ZETA CHAPTER East Tennessee State University

Scholastic Chairman Gregory A. Mayhue has formed teams of chapter members with equal grade point averages. The teams compete against one another for the greatest improvement in overall grade point averages. Each team meets at least three times during the week for two hours at a time. This program paid immediate dividends as 25 percent of the chapter made the Dean's List in the fall semester.

Epsilon Zeta celebrates its fortieth anniversary this spring. The chapter is working with alumni to put on a fantastic celebration. If any alumni have questions regarding the celebration, they can contact Anthony A. Martin at (615) 926-7068 or (615) 928-0927.

On campus, Brian L. Russell, Camden L. Skidmore and Brian W. Parker are all student senators. Plus, every other chapter member serves in at least one campus organization. Also, Epsilon Zeta's 1993-94 chapter president, Mark A. Droke, was named regional president for the Cumberland Region. As for community service, the Epsilon Zeta Pikes have adopted a less fortunate family. The Pikes have also developed a designated driver program to serve at the chapter's social functions. In other innovations, the chapter developed a new judicial board system.

The chapter has increased its total membership by 44 percent with initiation of 18 more men into the Fraternity. In intramurals, the Pikes were contending for the intramural title.

EΙ EPSILON IOTA CHAPTER Southeast Missouri State University

The men of Epsilon Iota achieved new heights during the past semester. In academics, the chapter tallied a 2.7 GPA, ranking second among Greeks. The chapter's fall pledge class attained a 3.1 GPA, ranking them top pledge class on campus in academics. Elsewhere on campus, Epsilon Iota was represented by the vice president of student government, five student senators, president of the marketing club, president for the Society for Advancement of Management, two members on IFC, three members on the SEMO funding board, members on the chamber of commerce, two members on the Dean's Council, two presidential ambassadors, and the vice president of Beta Beta Beta. The Pikes have also won homecoming 10 of the last 11 years.

The SEMO Pikes were forces in athletics as well during the fall. The chapter captured first in all-school basketball, all Greek volleyball and in the Sigma Sigma Sigma Basketball Shoot-out. Pikes were also involved in varsity sports such as football, golf, baseball, track and cheerleading. In community service, Epsilon Iota was involved with the Toys for Tots program, St. Francis Hospital's Cancer Rodeo and the Ronald McDonald House.

EΚ EPSILON KAPPA CHAPTER Lamar University

Epsilon Kappa's Stephen W. Hockett was selected to receive a $500 scholarship for 1994 through the National Order of Omega. The board of directors and executive council of the National Order of Omega award 40 $500 scholarships each year. The scholarships are awarded to individual Order of Omega chapter members for their contributions to Order of Omega, Greek life, campus life, and their respective Greek organization. Recipients also receive a plaque and are featured in Omega Trends, the official newsletter of the National Order of Omega.

ZΑ ZETA ALPHA "A" CHAPTER GMI Engineering & Management Institute

Zeta Alpha "A" continued to be focused in the field of athletic endeavors as the chapter was once again in contention for the campus Greek Cup award. Also, the chapter was focusing on their fourth consecutive Dean's Cup, which is given to the most outstanding Greek chapter on campus. The chapter also logged over 200 hours of community service in 11 weeks.

ZA ZETA ALPHA "B" CHAPTER GMI Engineering & Management Institute

Zeta Alpha "B" maintained a strong stance on community service by being involved with a PBS Pledge Drive, Adopt-A-Highway, and a Red Cross Blood Drive. On campus, the Pikes had members elected to the student senate, the Greek Council, the faculty senate, the student alumni council and the GMI hockey club. The Pikes were also intramural champions in indoor soccer and floor hockey.

As for chapter innovations, the chapter's membership development committee organized "Membership Day," a retreat that brought the entire membership for a day in which chapter members expressed their goals and ideas in an open forum.

ΘB THETA BETA CHAPTER University of Montevallo

Nine brothers were inducted into either the Garnet or Gold Scholarship Clubs and 14 brothers maintained a total GPA of 3.0 or better. This summer, three members of Theta Beta will be attending an international study seminar at Cambridge University in England. Chapter President Jason L. Epstein will be attending a similar seminar in Quebec, Canada.

ΘΛ THETA LAMBDA CHAPTER Creighton University

Scholastically, Theta Lambda Chapter has been a driving force on campus this semester. Thomas D. Becker, Todd J. Popp, Scott A. Swanson and Todd R. Trautman were inducted into the Order of Omega. Nicholas Juliano and Swanson were inducted into Alpha Sigma Nu Jesuit Honor Society.

In the past, Theta Lambda's alumni relations have been lacking at times. To better alumni relations, the chapter has developed an alumni newsletter that keeps alumni aware of chapter happenings. One long time trademark of excellence for Theta Lambda has been community service. The chapter raised $300 for a family they adopted and they also participated in Habitat for Humanity.

Aside from holding 60 percent of the IFC positions, Pikes are also active in honor societies such as Order of Omega, Omicron Delta Kappa (The chapter's latest ODK inductees are Jason E. Hillard, Juliano and Swanson) and Alpha Sigma Nu. PiKA is also represented on the student board of governors and various athletic teams.

Theta Lambda completed a highly anticipated housing renovation. Complete interior repainting, drywall work, complete recarpeting and extensive electrical work were finished over the holidays. The chapter also installed indoor and outdoor motion detector lights.

ΘO THETA OMICRON CHAPTER Indiana State University

Once again, Theta Omicron led all ISU fraternities in academics. The fall semester marked the twenty-eighth time the Pikes have won grades at ISU in 32 semesters. Douglas S. Collins and Kenneth R. Noojin were selected for the 1995 edition of Who's Who Among Students in America Universities and Colleges. Theta Omicron also proved to be a constant force on the playing field as the Pikes captured first place in the all-university competition for the thirteenth consecutive year - the only fraternity to win the all-university title. The Theta Omicron Pikes have also won the all-fraternity competition 14 of the past 15 years.

For the third consecutive year, Theta Omicron hosted over 100 alumni for homecoming festivities. In other alumni events, the annual Pike Basketball Tournament will be April 1-2.

In community service, the chapter accumulated approximately 1,500 community service hours last semester. The Pikes worked with United Cerebral Palsy, the local mission house and various community groups. Theta Omicron was also the key volunteer group at the Great Midwest Racing Weekend.

ΘΣ THETA SIGMA CHAPTER Winthrop University

In one year, Theta Sigma's pledge class doubled in size from eight to sixteen. The chapter exhibited a fantastic retention rate by initiating all 16 of these men. The active chapter is firmly committed to keeping the chapter moving forward as Theta Sigma alumni did in the past. The Pikes not only excelled in rush, they also won Greek Week, intramural football and were leading the overall intramural sports competition by a large margin. Along with homecoming, Theta Sigma has won these events three years in a row. In the classroom, the Pikes did well due to a new scholarship program that requires members to attend study hall a specified number of hours based on their GPA.

ΘΥ THETA UPSILON CHAPTER Tennessee Technological University

Theta Upsilon completed their annual MTSU/TTU Football Run for Charity. This year, the Pikes raised $875 for the UnitedWay—the most of any organization on campus. Over the holidays, Theta Upsilon began remodeling their house. As the semester began with a new group of officers, the Pikes were leading the intramural standings for the All-Sports Trophy and were poised to win the trophy for the third consecutive year.

ΙΓ IOTA GAMMA CHAPTER University of Nebraska-Kearney

The UNK Pikes were a visible part of the campus community heading into the new year. In community service, the chapter was involved with Habitat for Humanity and the Association for Retarded Citizens. The Pikes also supported a local food pantry. As for campus involvement, the Pikes passed a by-law that prohibited members who weren't involved on campus, from attending social functions. The by-law made an immediate impact as every member of the chapter is involved in a campus organization.

Iota Gamma's fall pledge class was one of the chapter's most active as they hosted a flag football tournament and raised money for the chapter. Over the past ten semesters, the Pikes have been the top academic fraternity on campus six times. The years that the chapter was not in first, they placed second. To better their academic standing, the UNK Pikes increased study hours requirements.

In innovative programming, the chapter established a designated driver program, brought in guest speakers and held brotherhood sessions every week.

ΙΜ IOTA MU CHAPTER Southern Illinois University

In the fall semester, Iota Mu once again set the standards for rush as they led the SIU pledge class with a 37 man pledge class. At the conclusion of the fall semester, the Pikes were ahead in the race for the IFC sports trophy, which the chapter has won for the past two years. On campus, Iota Mu is proudly represented with the IFC president, the IFC public relations chairman, two members of the Inter Greek Council executive council, and two members of the Order of Omega. The Pikes were defending champions of the Most Distinguished Fraternity Award.

ΙΨ IOTA PSI CHAPTER Appalachian State University

One of PiKA's newest addition to its chapter ranks, Iota Psi spent much of the fall semester devoting its time to community service. The Pikes volunteered for the March of Dimes and a local elementary school. The chapter also participated in a fund raising activity for the ASU athletic program.

On the athletic field, the Pikes were contending for the All-University Points crown thanks to their success in flag football, European team handball, volleyball and soccer. In varsity competition, Iota Psi's James J. Schimpf was awarded Special Teams Player of the Week following ASU's victory over Marshall University.

ΚΔ KAPPA DELTA CHAPTER Northeastern University

The men of Kappa Delta take part in a multitude of community service activities or special campus events. One of the chapter's latest community service projects is the Mission Hill Adopt-A-School. This program allows the chapter to interact with underprivileged children. The Pikes also visited local hospitals, sponsored walk-a-thons and local food drives; and continued their clean-up efforts in the Southwest Corridor Park. During the holidays, James M. Topper volunteered his time to be Kris Kringle at Northeastern's annual Christmas tree lighting.

To further their name on campus, the NU Pikes joined forces with Theta Delta Chi Fraternity, Alpha Epsilon Phi Sorority and Delta Zeta Sorority for the university's annual homecoming festivities. To increase their reputation as an athletic power, Kappa Delta's football team went undefeated. The chapter also increased its membership by initiating 13 new members.

Pi Kappa Alpha's 1994-95 Sports Review

by Jay Langhammer

FOOTBALL

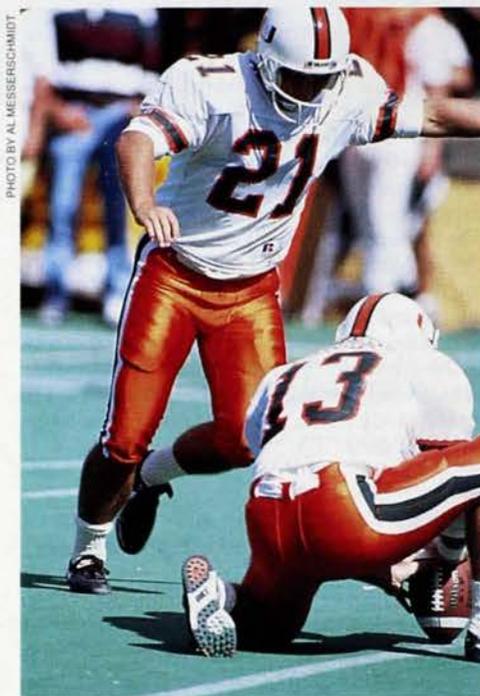

The Fraternity's top college player during the 1994 season was Louisville tight end Jamie Asher (Kappa Zeta '95), who was named to the UPI All-American first team, The Football News All-American first team and the NICAll-Fraternity All-American first team. A three-year starter, he ranked seventh in NCAA Division I-A with 70 receptions for 794 yards and played in the Senior Bowl and Blue-Gray game. Asher is now the school's all-time receiving leader with 154 catches and is second in yardage with 1,741.

Chris M. Fitzpatrick (Kappa Zeta '95) was Louisville's starter at fullback for the third year, rushing for 252 yards, 2 TDs on 59 carries and catching 32 passes for 315 yards, and scoring 4 TDs. The Cardinals football squad finished 6-5 under head coach Howard Schnellenberger (Miami, Gamma Omega '80), who departed after 10 seasons to become head coach at Oklahoma. His career record is currently 95-72-2.

Three college players were granted a sixth year of eligibility in 1994 by the NCAA due to past injury problems and two of them were Pikes. Co-captain/linebacker Dan Conley (Alpha Chi '92) of the 7-4 Syracuse squad was named to the NICAll-Fraternity All-American first team and the All-Big East first team. He was third in tackles with 106 (7 for losses) in 9 games and played in the Hula Bowl. Linebacker Kevin Watler (Beta Mu '90) of the 7-4 Texas Sun Bowl team fought injuries again but had five starts and 40 tackles (including 17 versus Rice) in seven games played.

Earning All-Big East second team honors for the 10-1 Miami Orange Bowl squad was Dane Prewitt (Gamma Omega '93), who set a school mark with 13 consecutive field goals during 1994 (including 4 against Washington). He totaled 74 points (13 field goals, 35 extra points) and now ranks fourth in school career scoring (220 points) and field goals (36) with one season to play. Prewitt also had 8 punts for a 40.1 average during the regular season and 7 punts for a 40.0 average in the Orange Bowl.

Another top kicker was Christopher

The Miami Hurricanes' Dane Prewitt (Gamma Omega '93) set a school record with 13 consecutive field goals during the 1994 college football season.

Richardson (Beta Eta '91), who led the 6-5 Illinois Liberty Bowl squad in scoring for a school record fourth straight year (67 points on 12 field goals, 31 extra points). He gained All-Big Ten honorable mention, had a career best 52-yarder against Iowa and booted 3 FGs against Washington State. Richardson is now the Illini's second all-time leading scorer with 253 points and is second in career field goals with 51. Handling the deep snaps for the third year was Illinois co-captain Peter A. Gabrione (Beta Eta '91).

Wide receiver Blake C. Anderson (Beta Upsilon '91) was the top special teams player for the 10-1 Colorado squad and played in the Fiesta Bowl and Hula Bowl. He led Colorado with 17 special teams tackles, held for placements and had a touchdown catch versus Kansas. Anderson was also involved in one of the year's most dramatic plays, tipping the "Hail Mary" pass to another Buffaloes player for the last-second win over Michigan.

Safety Ryan G. Black (Beta Upsilon '94) also excelled on special teams for Colorado, posting 12 tackles, and appeared in the Fiesta Bowl, which was the last game coached by William P. McCartney (Missouri-Columbia, Alpha Nu '61). He resigned in late November but coached the Buffaloes to a decisive win over Notre Dame in the Fiesta Bowl to run his record to 93-55-5 as the winningest coach in Colorado history.

Texas Tech tight end Jerod Fiebiger (Epsilon Gamma '94) had 2 touchdown catches during the regular season then saw action in the Cotton Bowl for the 6-5 Red Raiders. Offensive guard Zach Edwards (Gamma Xi '94) saw some special teams action for the 7-4 Washington State Alamo Bowl team. Seeing a lot of action for New Mexico were offensive guard Shane M. Jaeger (Beta Delta '94), tight end Roy E. White (Beta Delta '94) and linebacker Bart E. Barnard (Beta Delta '94). Ohio center David M. Wendt (Gamma Omicron '90) earned Academic All-MAC first team honors again.

Darin Hinshaw (Eta Phi '91) of the 7-4 Central Florida squad concluded a great career as one of NCAA I-AA's best quarterbacks ever. In 1994, he completed 187 of 342 for 2,801 yards, and threw for 26 touchdowns while ranking 15th in I-AA total offense (254.55 yards per game). Among his best games were 24 of 36 for 387 yards, 2 TDs against Liberty and 17 of 28 for 343 yards, 5 TDs versus Western Kentucky. Hinshaw now holds most UCF career passing marks, including 636 completions, 1,160 attempts, 9,322 yards and 86 TDs. Also seeing action for Central Florida were offensive tackle William H. Cook (Eta Phi '91), offensive guard Christopher S. Wrenn (Eta Phi '92) and defensive back Brian Crutcher (Eta Phi '91).

Several Pike standouts led Western Carolina to a 6-5 season. Quarterback Chad D. Green (Zeta Xi '92) was on the All-Southern Conference second team after completing 130 of 259 for 1,900 yards, 15 TDs and running for 237 yards on 78 carries. Center J. Wes Greenwell (Zeta Xi '94) earned All-Southern Conference first team honors and tight end Chad A. Simpson (Zeta Xi '94) started every contest. Linebacker Aaron J. Lucas (Zeta Xi '93) received All-Southern honorable mention after ranking fourth with 68 tackles and a team high 8 sacks. Linebacker James O. Rodgers (Zeta Xi '93) was in on 17 stops for the Catamounts.

Appalachian State's 9-4 Division I-AA play-off team had several Pike players. Andrew Y. Arnold (Iota Psi '94) had five starts at quarterback, rushing for 122 yards, 4 TDs on 43 carries and completing 42 of 85 for 444 yards and 3 scores. Shawn H. Elliott (Iota Psi '94) started 12 games at defensive end and posted 64 tackles (8 for losses) and 8 QB pressures. John W. McPhaul (Iota Psi '94) had three starts at tight end while linebacker James J. Schimpf (Iota Psi '94) was in on 10 tackles for the Mountaineers.

Five Pikes saw starting duty for Samford. Safety Jeffrey R. Morris (Alpha Pi '93) was third in tackles with 86 stops along with 2 intercepted passes. Cornerback Joseph M. Roberts III (Alpha Pi '91) was in on 49 stops, broke up 9 passes and intercepted 2. Tackle Jonathan P. Vernon (Alpha Pi '92) had 51 tackles and linebacker Robert E. Emerson (Alpha Pi '92) made 19 tackles in 3 games before being injured. Jonathan M. Gibson (Alpha Pi '94) started every game at offensive tackle and kicker Dawson F. Ingram (Alpha Pi '93) had 6 extra points and a field goal for the Bulldogs.

A number of Pikes had good years for Drake's 7-3 team. Defensive end Craig M. Ortwerth (Delta Omicron '92) was third in tackles with 59, including a team high 8 sacks, and was named to the All-Pioneer first team. On the All-Pioneer second team was leading receiver Richard I. Hoskins (Delta Omicron '93), who caught 42 passes for 480 yards and 3 TDs. Quarterback Roy Fletcher (Delta Omicron '92) hit 127 of 236 for 1,619 yards and 13 TDs, while Robert R. Berkley (Delta Omicron '94) was the team's top deep threat, catching 21 passes for 462 yards (22.0 average). Kicker Bill C. Willers (Delta Omicron '92) was the leading scorer with 43 points (8 field goals, 19 extra points).

Several Pikes played well for Davidson. Wide receiver A. Kirk Roberts (Beta '94) led with 35 receptions for 401 yards and returned 9 kickoffs for a 16.6 average. Tight end Peter Perri (Beta '94) had 11 catches for 171 yards. Linebacking regulars for Davidson were co-captain Mark H. Hemby (Beta '92), third with 71 tackles and A.R. Barrington (Beta '94), who had 38 stops and a 44 yard interception return.

Tailback Troy Gassaway (Theta Tau '93) had a big year for the 5-5 California State-Sacramento squad, earning All-American West Conference first team honors. He led the AWC in rushing (811 yards on 192 carries), scoring (60 points) and touchdowns (10) while also returning 13 kickoffs for a 25.1 average. Also seeing action for the Hornets were defensive lineman Peter T. Wilson (Theta Tau '94), who had 26 tackles, kick holder Nicholas R. Biaz (Theta Tau '94), backup tailback Mike McGirr (Theta Tau '93) and offensive lineman Brian Silva (Theta Tau '92) and James C. Mora (Theta Tau '94).

Defensive back Charles C. Edwards (Alpha Iota '93) had a fine year for Millsaps, picking off 7 passes (second-best mark in school history) for 153 yards in returns and ranking third with 89 tackles. He earned All-SCAC first team honors. Wide receiver Craig A. Sorenson (Alpha Kappa '91) led Missouri-Rolla with 29 receptions for 451 yards. Defensive end Jeremy P. Mader (Iota Gamma '92) had five starts for the 8-3 Nebraska-Kearney team and was in on 20 tackles.

Four Pikes were valuable performers for the 5-5 East Texas State squad. Safety Brian D. Gow (Theta Xi '94) started 6 contests and had 34 tackles, including 3.5 sacks. Nose guard W. Eddy Bradshaw (Theta Xi '94) was in on 8 tackles. Brian C. Jones (Theta Xi '93) returned from a pre-season leg injury to a starting role at offensive tackle during the last part of the season.

The 8-2 Central Arkansas team had several fine Pike players. Linebacker John G. Coburn (Epsilon Phi '93) was in on 21 tackles while David A. Peevy (Epsilon Phi '94) saw duty at both center and offensive tackle. Starting 3 contests at tight end was Toby Nutt (Epsilon Phi '94).

Many Pikes again dominated the CaseWestern Reserve squad. Named to the All-UAA first team and All-NCAC second team was wide receiver Stephen P. Rospert (Epsilon Xi '93), who caught 54 passes for 554 yards, 8 TDs; rushed for 183 yards on 58 carries; returned 20 kickoffs for a 22.9 average; and had 16 punt returns for a 4.1 average. Co-captain/flanker Joel D. Gabele (Epsilon Xi '92) was on the All-UAA second team and received All-NCAC honorable mention. He caught 37 passes for 455 yards, 4 TDs and returned 23 kickoffs for a 24.6 average. Nick Leskiewicz (Epsilon Xi '95) earned All-UAA second team selection as a punter (61 for a 36.7 average) and All-UAA honorable mention at quarterback (152 of 278 for 1,988 yards, 15 TDs).

Also seeing action on offense for CaseWestern Reserve were two All-UAA honorable mention linemen: center Adam Heller (Epsilon Xi '94) and guard Aaron M. Henderson (Epsilon Xi '93). Other offensive stalwarts included starting guard-long snapper David A. Kachmarik (Epsilon Xi '94); flanker Michael Phillips (Epsilon Xi '95), who had 5 receptions and 9 kickoff returns for a 16.2 average; and quarterback Doug Finefrock (Epsilon Xi '93), who hit 43 of 102 for 457, 4 TDs, plus 10 tackles as a safety.

Co-captain/nose guard Rusty H. Delf (Epsilon Xi '91) gained All-UAA and All-NCAC honorable mention for Case Western Reserve, posting 41 tackles to rank fifth on the team. Safety Dwight Coy (Epsilon Xi '95) was second with 55 stops and picked off 2 passes. Other key defenders were cornerback Anthony R. Miller (Epsilon Xi '93), who had a team high 3 interceptions and 29 tackles; cornerback Jason J. Toth (Epsilon Xi '93), with 25 tackles and 2 interceptions; linebacker Jon Cocco (Epsilon Xi '94), who had 20 tackles; safety Jeremy J. Cain (Epsilon Xi '93), with 19 tackles; and nose guard Victor B. Guida (Epsilon Xi '94), with 15 tackles.

Running back Charbel G. Latouf (Epsilon Upsilon '92) had a fine year for the 6-3-1 Gannon squad, setting school records for yards rushing, carries and touchdowns in a season. He ran for 951 yards on 190 carries and scored 12 TDs. Teammate Richard B. Miller (Epsilon Upsilon '93) started 7 games at quarterback for the Golden Knights, completing 41 of 92 for 689 yards, 3 TDs and rushing for 187 yards, 2 TDs on 78 attempts.

A number of Pike players saw action for the Presbyterian squad, coached by John F. Perry (Presbyterian, Mu '69), who completed his fourth season at the helm. Wide receiver Stewart N. Hackney (Mu '94) was limited to just 4 games due to injuries but averaged 22.1 on 10 kickoff returns. Seeing duty on defense and special teams were back Wylie M. Rucker (Mu '94), back James F. Chastain (Mu '93) and end Benjamin S. Biggar (Mu '92).

Linfield had another winning season (8-2) as several Pikes contributed. Rover Pete R. Fisher (Delta Rho '93) was fourth in tackles with 60, including 5.5 sacks and 8 others for losses.

Robert B. Guthrie (Delta Rho '93) saw action at tight end and did some kicking (4 field goals, 4 extra points). Rian P. Petrick (Delta Rho '92) was second team quarterback, completing 27 of 52 for 328 yards while Derwin M. Planesi (Delta Rho '93) was a solid backup offensive tackle.

After posting a great 9-1-1 regular season and a Sugar Bowl victory over the University of Florida, in his 29th year as a head coach (and 19th at Florida State), Robert C. Bowden (Samford, Alpha Pi '49) has moved into eighth place among all-time winningest NCAA coaches with his 249 victories. He's also second among current Division I-A head coaches in wins, ranking only behind Penn State's Joe Paterno who has 269 victories.

BASKETBALL

The Fraternity's leading college basketball star has been Iowa State swingman Fred Hoiberg (Alpha Phi '91), a 1994 Academic All-American second team pick, who was spotlighted in the January 30, 1995 Sports Illustrated. After scoring at a 20.2 per game clip during the 1993-94 season, he totaled 452 points (20.5 average) and 128 rebounds (5.8 average) through the first 22 games. Among his top games this season; career high 32 points, 9 rebounds in a 69-65 upset of Kansas; school record 8 three-pointers (among his 29 points) versus Missouri; and 30 points, 9 rebounds against Oklahoma. Hoiberg set a new Iowa State season mark for three-pointers (62) this season.

Iowa State's Fred Hoiberg (Alpha Phi '91) was a 1994 Academic All-American second team pick and was one of the Big Eight's top performers.

A key player for the top-ranked Connecticut team is 7'0" center Travis J. Knight (Iota Chi '94), who had a career high 17 points, 14 rebounds versus Seton Hall in late January. Through 18 contests, he was the Huskies' top rebounder with 150 (8.3 per game) while scoring 147 points (8.2 average).

Baylor 6'10" center Douglas W. Brandt (Theta Nu '93) had another sound season. Through 20 games, he scored 225 points (11.3 average) and pulled down 148 rebounds (7.4 per game). Brandt's top game was 18 points and 13 rebounds against Southern.

Having his best season for Illinois is Richard J. Keene (Beta Eta '93), who totaled 233 points (11.1 average) through the team's first 21 games. In addition to grabbing 90 rebounds (4.3 average), he led the team with 40 three-pointers and was second with 78 assists. Keene hit a career high 22 points against Ohio State and was poised to become the school's career leader in three point shots before the season ends.

Another Pike having his best year as a collegian is Illinois State guard Chad Altadonna (Kappa Alpha '94), the team's top free throw shooter at 86.6% (58 of 67) through the first 22 games. He scored 214 points (9.7 average), grabbed 75 rebounds (4.3 average) and made 42 assists. Two of his career best efforts were 24 points versus Virginia Commonwealth and 22 points against Tulsa.

Arkansas State shooting guard David L. Bass (Delta Theta '93) was also having his best year, scoring 124 points (6.5 average) after 19 contests. He had 15 points against both Jacksonville and South Alabama. North Carolina guard Pearce A. Landry (Tau '91) played well off the bench for the Tarheels. Through 19 games, he scored 79 points (4.2 average), including a high of 11 against Virginia Tech, and gave out 42 assists.

Washington & Lee forward Cam R. Dyer (Pi '93) was the Generals' leading scorer and rebounder through the first 20 games. He scored 344 points (17.2 average) and pulled down 158 rebounds (7.9 average). Dyer hit a career high 31 points against Catholic and 29 point performances in two other contests.

The top two scorers for California-Davis through the first 20 games were both Pikes. Forward Brad V. Foss (Theta Omega '93) led the squad with 298 points (14.9 average) and was also first in field goal percentage (65.1%) and rebounds (95, 4.8 average). Guard Kevin S. Vasquez (Theta Omega '91) was the number two scorer (223 points, 11.2 average) while leading in steals (32) and minutes played.

The leading rebounder in the Southern Collegiate Athletic Conference through the first 18 games was Scott S. Brown (Theta '93) of Rhodes College, who pulled down 151 rebounds for an 8.4 average. He was second in minutes played and third in scoring (223 points, 12.4 average) and field goal percentage (51.7%). Brown's best games were 24 points versus Westminster and 16 rebounds against Maryville. Duane J. Robichaux (Theta '94) was Rhodes' number four scorer with 151 points (8.4 average) while teammate David S. Norton (Theta '94) appeared in 13 contests off the bench.

Among other Pikes seeing action on the court this winter have been Princeton forward Benjamin D. Hart (Kappa Beta '94); Texas Tech guard Chad H. Collins (Epsilon Gamma '93); Winthrop guard John D. Temple (Theta Sigma '92); and Missouri-Rolla guard Jason C. Piepho (Alpha Kappa '93).

WATER POLO

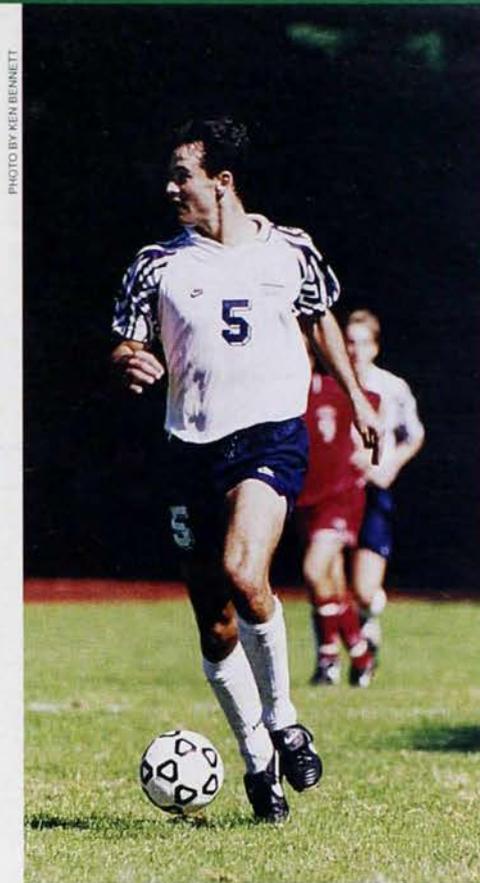

California-Berkeley two-meter man Brent E. Albright (Alpha Sigma '94) was named to the collegiate All-American first team and NCAA All-Tournament first team. He led the 21-10 Bears in scoring with 62 points, including 6 goals at the NCAA meet as Cal placed third. Driver Peter A. Stern (Alpha Sigma '95), who had 15 points, and Ryan M. Begin (Alpha Sigma '94) also saw action for the Bears.

Several Pikes were key players for the Washington & Lee squad, which had its best finish ever, placing fourth at the 1994 Eastern Seaboard Championships. Goalie David W. Silvester (Pi '92) made 13 saves in his final game to reach a school record 300 saves in a season. Other standouts were James J. Silberstein (Pi '93), second with 44 goals; Richard T. Cober (Pi '93), who had 37 goals; Frank W. Braden (Pi '93), with 26 goals; Reuben S. Munger (Pi '92), who added 14 goals; Nathan E. Hottle (Pi '94) and Grant J. Holicky (Pi '92).

SOCCER

Three Pike regulars led Richmond to a 12-8 season. Todd D. Morris (Omicron '93) received All-Virginia honorable mention and was the top scorer with 37 points (15 goals, 7 assists). Defenseman Robert S. Horton (Omicron '92) started every game. Three year regular Thomas A. Suter (Beta '92) played well for the 12-9-1 Davidson squad and totaled 9 points (3 goals, 3 assists). Midfielder Charles L. Dimmler IV (Iota Lambda '94) and goalie Doron N. Barness (Iota Lambda '93) were reliable players for Columbia's 9-4-2 squad.

Captain/goalie Philip R. Hahn (Alpha Kappa '91) had a fine year for Missouri-Rolla, making 109 saves while giving up 34 goals (2.06 goals against average) and posting 6 shutouts. Teammate Gevan L. McCoy (Alpha Kappa '95) was fourth in scoring with 8 points. Midfielder Derek E. Samuelson (Gamma Tau '92) scored 5 points for Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute while defenseman Andrew R. Kuhn (Alpha Iota '93) had 4 assists for Millsaps. Donald Alexander (Iota '93) was a three year starter for Hampden-Sydney.

Todd D. Morris (Omicron '93) was Richmond's top scoring soccer player with 37 points.

CROSS COUNTRY

Pike runners dominated the Indiana State squad with three earning All-MVC honors at the conference meet. George Condy (Theta Omicron '93) placed third at the MVC meet with a career best 24:38 time then ran a 31:49 time in the 10K to place 15th at the District 5 meet. Todd Kostelnik (Theta Omicron '93) placed sixth (24:44) at the MVC meet then finished 20th (32:04) at the District 5 event. Both were named to the Academic All-MVC team and Condy gained a spot on the 25 man United States Cross Country Coaches Association All-Academic team.

Also earning All-MVC honors was Indiana State's William R. Porter (Theta Omicron '93), who placed seventh (24:45) after a fifth place finish at the Indiana Intercollegiate meet. Other strong ISU runners included Scott A. Steinhardt (Theta Omicron '92), who was 20th at the MVC meet and sixth at the Sycamore Pride 5K event; Chad E. Rice (Theta Omicron '94), who was 29th at the MVC meet; Aaron M. Pierson (Theta Omicron '94), who placed 30th at the MVC and 14th at the Illinois State Invitational; and Michael R. Roberson (Theta Omicron '94), who placed third at the Indiana Intercollegiate.

Arkansas State's J. Craig Forrest (Delta Theta '94) was one of his squad's top scholars and had a best finish of 12th at the ASU Invitational four mile run (21:48.2). Brendan P. Minihan (Theta '94) of Rhodes earned All-SCAC honors by placing fourth (28:47) in the conference's 8,000 meter event. At Rose-Hulman, Kenneth B. Anderson (Iota Delta '93) was named Most Improved Runner. Other quality runners included Georgetown captain Edward Stanko (Alpha Lambda '94) and F. Bruce Stephens (Iota '93) of Hampden-Sydney.

Clemson's David C. Miller (Eta Alpha '95) hopes to capitalize on last season as he takes the field for the 1995 Tigers Squad.

SWIMMING

SMU's Gustaf Johansson (Beta Zeta '94) competed at the 1994 NCAA championships and had the team's best time in the 200 butterfly (1:46.90) and second-best time in the 100 butterfly (48.78). At the SWC meet in 1994, he placed second in the 200 butterfly and sixth in the 100 butterfly. Johansson also won a Gold Medal at the 1994 Swedish national championships and plans to compete for Sweden at the 1996 Olympics.

Co-captain Brian M. Katt (Gamma '92) and four other Pikes saw action in the pool for William & Mary this winter. The team's top distance swimmer, he had the top times in the 500 freestyle (4:50.79) and 1000 freestyle (10:05.26) through the first seven meets. Christopher D. Brown (Gamma '93) had the squad's best one meter diving score (221.53) and second best three meter total (206.775). Also competing for the Tribe are Wayne L. Duncan (Gamma '94), Matt McCormack (Gamma '93) and Bobbin Tuleya (Gamma '93).

Key swimmers again for Washington & Lee include co-captain Grant J. Holicky (Pi '92); Frank W. Braden (Pi '93), the team's best all-around performer; co-captain William "John" Rowe, Jr. (Pi '92) and Joseph S. Tison (Pi '92).

Freestyler Jason Wilmot (Zeta Omicron '94) is competing again for Cal State Northridge while diver Daniel W. Dusman (Epsilon Upsilon '94) is a co-captain of the Gannon squad.

GYMNASTICS

A leading performer again for the highly-rated Illinois squad is Goncalo Macedo (Beta Eta '93), considered to be the team's top all-around competitor. Among his top 1994 scores were 9.85 in rings, 9.75 on the pommel horse, 9.65 on the bar and 9.50 on the parallel bars. This winter, he increased his career best all-around score to 56.80 at a meet with Michigan and Ohio State.

BASEBALL

Bidding for All-American honors this spring is Illinois second baseman Brian McClure (Beta Eta '93), who hit .332 with 9 homers and 44 RBI last season. Back with the Illini after missing the 1994 season is infielder-DH Josh S. Klimek (Beta Eta '93).

Returning as a starter for Clemson's high-rated club is first baseman David C. Miller (Eta Alpha '95), who batted .313 with 59 RBI and 23 stolen bases in 1994. Lefthander Jerry L. Vansell (Alpha Nu '92) is one of Missouri's top returning hurlers after earning Academic All-Big Eight honors in 1994. He posted a 6-6 record in 18 appearances and was second on the Tigers squad in innings (75) and strikeouts (63).

Mississippi State catcher D. Blake Anderson (Gamma Theta '93) missed much of 1994 with an injury but will bid for All-SEC honors. Winthrop's top pitcher should be Bryan C. Link (Theta Sigma '92), who had an 8-4 record and 3.96 ERA in 1994. Andrew M. Hall (Iota Theta '93) is expected back as Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo's starting second baseman after hitting .321 in 1994.

Jared H. Arrasmith (Alpha Lambda '94) is expected to be Georgetown's leading hurler again while Christopher S. Robinson (Delta Theta '92), who started 11 contests in 1994, should see a lot of action in the Arkansas State outfield. Also figuring as regulars this spring are catchers Mark W. Sappenfield (Pi '93) of Washington & Lee and Christopher W. Walsh (Theta Omega '92) of California-Davis.

GOLF

Three year letterman J. Steven White (Eta Alpha '92) of Clemson averaged 76.83 (with a low round of 69) over 29 rounds in 1993-94 and should be a leading player for the Tigers this spring. Also competing is teammate Chad L. Starliper (Eta Alpha '94), who averaged 75.5 over 6 fall 1994 rounds.

Back again for Missouri is Jason R. Schultz (Alpha Nu '92), who averaged 77.5 for 12 spring rounds in 1994. Western Carolina's Michael J. Sutton (Zeta Xi '93) was an All-Acaademic Southern Conference selection in 1994 and averaged 76.7 over 8 rounds this past fall.

Paul T. Clements (Epsilon Lambda '91) of Murray State was the team's second-leading shooter in Spring 1994 (78.0 for 12 rounds) then averaged 78.0 for 10 fall rounds. Teammate Brandon L. Tucker (Epsilon Lambda '93), who averaged 79.0 for 3 fall rounds, should also see action for the Racers. Hampden-Sydney's Berkley D. Jolly (Iota '93) returns to the links after being named ODAC Player of the Year in 1994 and All-ODAC for the second time.

TENNIS

One of the Big Eight's top singles players is Jean Paul Vissepo (Beta Gamma '93) of Kansas. Playing primarily at number two and three singles, he posted a 21-8 record in 1994. Expected to see action in the Big Ten are the Purdue duo of Max A. Eisenbud (Beta Phi '92) and J. Ryan Maggart (Beta Phi '93) and Kevin M. Schwartz (Beta Eta '93) of Illinois.

Two of the leading returnees at Rhodes are Daniel E. Kirsch (Theta '93), who was 9-2 in singles play in 1994, and Henry J. Mercier (Theta '94), who was 9-0 in doubles and 6-4 in singles last year. Thomas C. Lackey (Alpha Lambda '94) is back as number one singles player for Georgetown. Also expected to see action this spring are Gannon co-captain Robert W. Hojnoski (Epsilon Upsilon '92) and Christopher A. Higgs (Pi '94) of Washington & Lee.

TRACK AND FIELD

Back on the Indiana State track are several Pike standouts. Two-year All-MVC returnee William R. Porter (Theta Omicron '93) was second in the 10K (31:43.4) at the 1994 MVC outdoor meet after setting a school mark (30:26.87) in the event. George Condy (Theta Omicron '93) was a 1994 All-MVC outdoor selection, placing third in the 5K (15:03.82) and fourth in the 3,000 meter steeplechase. Teammate Scott A. Steinhardt (Theta Omicron '92) won the 800 meter run at the 1994 Redbird Invitational and was third in the mile (4:16.40) at the 1994 indoor Indiana Invitational.

David J. Miller (Kappa Beta '94) was a solid discus thrower for Princeton in 1994, placing second at the New Jersey Invitational and third at the Rider Invitational. Also returning this spring is Scott Burns (Zeta Omicron '93) of Cal State Northridge, who had a personal best of 172-0 in the hammer throw during 1994. Expected to see action for Rose-Hulman are David A. Sandquist (Iota Delta '93), who placed third in the 1994 ICAC 800 meter run (1:57.94); distance runner Kenneth B. Anderson (Iota Delta '93) and Mark A. Law (Iota Delta '93).

OTHER SPORTS

Returning as a defenseman for Princeton, the 1994 NCAA championship lacrosse team, is Robert M. Brawner (Kappa Beta '94). Among the leading returnees for the Hampden-Sydney lacrosse team are co-captain and two-time All-ODAC selection Christopher A. Bissinger (Iota '92); starting goalie Benjamin T. Heinsohn (Iota '92); and midfielders Lachlan L.E. Cheatham (Iota '92) and Ray E. Lockard (Iota '92).

After a college football career, Todd D. Hays (Tulsa, Gamma Upsilon '90) has achieved success in two other sports. In Fall 1993, he won the Universal Kickboxing Federation's U.S. super heavyweight title after just two years in the sport. In September 1994, Hays won a place on the 12-man U.S. Bobsled team and has been touring internationally in recent months. □

Pikes in the Pros

FOOTBALL

In pro football, a number of Pikes saw action during the 1994 season. Rookie quarterback Gus J. Frerotte (Tulsa, Gamma Upsilon '90) started several games for the Washington Redskins and completed 46 of 100 for 600 yards and 5 TDs. Jeff A. Feagles (Miami, Gamma Omega '86) joined the Phoenix Cardinals and had 98 punts for a 40.8 average, with 33 downed inside the 20 yard line. A. Craig Veasey (Houston, Epsilon Eta '87) gained a starting role at nose tackle for the Miami Dolphins while defensive tackle Esera T. Tualo (Oregon State, Beta Nu '90) again saw action for the Minnesota Vikings. Defensive back Dave K. McCloughan (Colorado, Beta Upsilon '88) was with the Seattle Seahawks again and quarterback Gino L. Torretta (Miami, Gamma Omega '91) was on the Detroit Lions roster during the latter part of the season. Los Angeles Rams quarterback T. J. Rubley (Tulsa, Gamma Upsilon '90) was hurt during the pre-season schedule and spent the entire season on the injured reserve list. Kicker Roman Anderson (Houston, Epsilon Eta '90) of the CFL's Sacramento Gold Miners ranked eighth in league scoring with 160 points. He booted 40 field goals in 56 attempts and added 40 extra points in 41 attempts.

BASKETBALL

When the 1994-95 National Basketball Association season got underway, there were two members of Pi Kappa Alpha serving as head coaches. Back as head coach of the Dallas Mavericks was John R. "Dick" Motta (Utah State, Gamma Epsilon '50), who was the team's first coach from 1980-87. Fourth on the NBA's all-time winningest coaches list with 856 wins as the season started, he first moved into pro ball with the Chicago Bulls in 1968 and his 1978 Washington Bullets won the NBA title.

Longtime ABA and NBA star forward Daniel P. Issel (Kentucky, Omega '68) was in his third season as Denver Nuggets head coach but resigned in January. He is the Fraternity's all-time leading pro scorer with 27,482 points over 15 seasons.

In his first season with the NBA's Orlando Magic is forward Horace Grant (Clemson, Eta Alpha '91) after seven seasons with the Chicago Bulls. As a pro, he has scored 6,866 points (12.6 average) while pulling down 4,721 rebounds (8.6 average) going into this season. Through the Magic's first 46 games, he was averaging 12.3 points and 9.8 rebounds a game.

Horace Grant (Clemson, Eta Alpha '91) has made an immediate impact with Orlando as the Magic have sported one of the NBA's best records this season.

BASEBALL

Two Pike relief pitchers saw action in the 1994 strike-shortened major league season. Richie T. Lewis (Florida State, Delta Lambda '86) appeared in 45 games for the Florida Marlins, posting a 1-4 record and 45 strikeouts in 54 innings. He reached the big leagues with the Baltimore Orioles briefly in 1992 then had a 6-3 mark and 3.26 ERA for the Marlins in 1993. Matthew C. Whiteside (Arkansas State, Delta Theta '87) had a 2-2 record in 47 games for the Texas Rangers during 1994. He joined the Rangers in 1992, pitching in 20 games, then was 2-1 in 60 contests during 1993.

Leonard F. Ball

(University of Oklahoma, Beta Omicron '58)

A resident of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, Brother Ball is the former president of HTB, Inc. of Oklahoma City, a consulting firm specializing in architecture, engineering and interior planning. Now retired, Leonard remains active through affiliations with numerous charities in the Oklahoma City area.

William C. Watkins

(Auburn University, Upsilon '51)

Brother Watkins is president and chief executive officer of ICEE of Atlanta, a development firm, and has served as chairman of firm nationally. A past Rotary Club president, "Wick" resides in Atlanta with his wife Shirley, and has two daughters and four grandchildren.

THE SABRE AND KEY SOCIETY

John D. Chandler, Sr.

(Howard College, now Samford University, Alpha Pi '43)

Brother Chandler, now retired, resides in Atlanta with his wife, Eloise, and is the proud father of one daughter and three sons (all of whom are PKAs). A loyal supporter of the Fraternity for years, John has served PKA in numerous capacities including distinguished service in the Atlanta Alumni Club of Pi Kappa Alpha, one of the Fraternity's most prominent alumni organizations. Brother Chandler received his B.S. degree from the former Howard College (now Samford University) and M.S. degree from Vanderbilt University, and served our country in the United States Navy from 1943 to 1946.

Garth C. Grissom

(Kansas State University, Alpha Omega '49)

A partner in the law firm of Sherman and Howard in Denver, Colorado, Brother Grissom has a distinguished career of service to Pi Kappa Alpha in various capacities including national president from 1968 to 1970, and president of the Memorial Foundation (now known as the Educational Foundation) from 1981 to 1983. In 1987, Garth was recognized for his service to the Fraternity as that year's Loyalty Award recipient, and was named to the Foundation's Order of West Range in 1992. Brother Grissom and his wife, Elena, have four children, and he still serves Pi Kappa Alpha as a trustee emeritus of the Educational Foundation.

Ross L. Edwards (deceased)

(North Georgia College, Psi '30)

The Pi Kappa Alpha Educational Foundation continues to benefit from the generosity of Brother Edwards who established a trust which benefits the Foundation on an ongoing basis. To date, this trust has generated in excess of $14,000 directly benefiting our undergraduate brothers through Brother Edward's foresight.

Marvin D. Dennis

(University of Illinois, Beta Eta '55)

Brother Dennis currently serves as a trustee of the Pi Kappa Alpha Educational Foundation. Marvin and his wife, Nancy, live in Hillsborough, California, and are the parents of two daughters, Julie and Laura. A certified public accountant, Brother Dennis is employed as senior vice president of Trans Ocean Ltd., a worldwide maritime container leasing company in San Bruno, California.

Thomas W. Wade, Jr.

(University of Tennessee-Knoxville, Zeta '53)

Brother Wade currently serves Pi Kappa Alpha as treasurer of the Pi Kappa Alpha Educational Foundation. He and his wife, Pat, live in Union City, Tennessee, where he is owner/operator of Tom Wade Company, an agribusiness firm. Tom also serves as a director of First State Bank of northwest Tennessee. Brother Wade has served the Fraternity as president of his undergraduate chapter, and as a district president as an alumnus. Both Tom's father and son were also initiates of Pi Kappa Alpha at the University of Tennessee.

Thomas J. Turner

(Texas Tech University, Epsilon Gamma '67)

A former trustee of the Pi Kappa Alpha Educational Foundation, Brother Turner most recently served the Fraternity as international president from 1992 to 1994. Prior to his election to IKA's top post, Tommy served as a regional president, chapter advisor of Epsilon Gamma chapter, legal counsel to the Supreme Council, and as a national vice president. A partner in the Lubbock, Texas law firm of Turner, Medina and O'Neil, Tommy and his wife, Lou Pat, have two children, Lisa and T.J.

JUNIOR FOUNDERS SOCIETY

W. Bram Govaars, II

(University of Arizona, Gamma Delta '67)

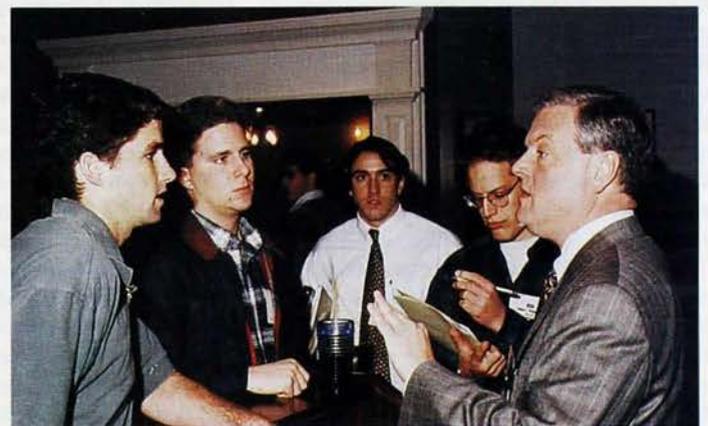

Recognized as one of Gamma Delta chapter's outstanding alumni, Brother Govaars retired in 1989 from Govaars and Associates, the investment firm he founded in 1976. Additionally, Bram had the honor of serving as a delegate to the 1968 Centennial Convention in Richmond, Virginia. He was appointed a trustee of the Pi Kappa Alpha Educational Foundation in 1990, and was named chairman of the Foundation's Endowment Fund in 1992. The proud father of three children, Garrett, Taylor and Morgan, Bram maintains a busy schedule coaching soccer, traveling, and staying active in sports. He lives in Balboa, California.

Your Foundation at Work:

Through the generous gifts of thousands of loyal alumni, the Pi Kappa Alpha Educational Foundation recently granted $24,000 to the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity to help defer qualified expenses associated with the 1995 Chapter Presidents Conference, held January 5-8 at the Peabody Hotel in Memphis. This grant enabled the Fraternity to greatly reduce the registration fee charged to each chapter president attending the three day conference.

The Chapter Presidents Conference, held annually, brought 167 chapter leaders from across the country to Memphis for three days of intense programming on both chapter management ideas and numerous personal development workshops.

Foundation President Joseph R. Brown (Kansas, Beta Gamma '50) commented, "The Chapter Presidents Conference is one of the finest programs of its type in the fraternity world today, and through the support of alumni gifts to the Pi Kappa Alpha Educational Foundation, we are very pleased to make this great conference more affordable, and a reality for all of the leaders of our chapters."

Former National President Ed Pease (Indiana University, Delta Xi '71) discusses leadership techniques with four chapter presidents during a tour of the Memorial Headquarters held at the 1995 Chapter Presidents Conference.

A Man of the Students

Ohio State's E. Gordon Gee Personalizes the Position of College President

by Timothy J. McNary

The office of The Ohio State University's president, Dr. E. Gordon Gee (Utah, Alpha Tau '63), is located in 205 Bricker Hall, on the north side of the area of campus known as "The Oval." The view outside his window is unlike that of any other college president in the United States. Beyond the windows of 205 Bricker Hall is the largest university in America. 57,000 students are enrolled at Ohio State and are served by a faculty and staff that numbers over 20,000. To accommodate this large population, 339 buildings are spread out over a campus that encompasses over 1,600 acres linked together by over 36 miles of streets. As Gee states simply, "It's the largest institution in America — period."

Accessible

Due to these large numbers, one might be tempted to classify Ohio State as an academic institution where students are numbers in a system. Yet when you read about Gee's five years as Ohio State's president, or when you talk to members of his staff, "accessible" is a word that comes up continually. Barbie Tootle, who is the university's special assistant to the president, describes Gee as a tireless individual who makes himself available to people while successfully managing his time. It is not uncommon for Gee to walk into sorority or fraternity parties, as well as residence hall functions. He also spends a night in a university residence hall each quarter.

When Gee first arrived on Ohio State's campus in September 1990, the student newspaper viewed Gee's accessibility as merely a public relations ploy. But for Gee, being accessible is not an act. He actively practices his belief that he has a responsibility to nurture and support students. Yet even with such a desire to serve, it can still be a daunting challenge to be the visible leader of 57,000 students.

"I think you have to work hard at it...I felt that if students, faculty and staff knew me and I knew them, that would certainly personalize the institution," Gee said.

To help Gee in his efforts to "personalize the institution," he makes notes reminding himself to make some time for an individual or organization with which he hasn't been in contact for a while. He also has a calendar management committee that helps organize his schedule. Gee's schedule of activities isn't confined just to the Ohio State campus. His travels have also taken him throughout the state of Ohio. To illustrate just how much of Ohio Gee has covered, Tootle unfolded a state map that easily covered most of her desk. The map was marked with an array of highlighted routes serving as evidence of Gee's desire to take the University across the state.

When Gee first arrived at Ohio State, he vowed to visit every county in the state. He made this statement before he was aware that Ohio was composed of 88 counties. True to his word, Gee visited all 88 counties, which took 19 months. He makes appearances at alumni gatherings and high school assemblies, and also takes the message of Ohio State to potential future Buckeyes. Visits to grade schools often include a session in which Gee spends time reading to the children. His audiences vary, as do the locales for his appearances. Some of the settings across Ohio have included a ketchup factory and a coal barge.

A College President at 37

"I literally woke up one day and found myself in a position to be offered the job." The "job" that Gee is referring to is his first stint as a college president at West Virginia University. At the time of his appointment, Gee, at the age of 37, was the youngest college president in the country. Looking back on his time at West Virginia and his current position at Ohio State, he sees some obvious differences between Gordon

Gee in 1981 and Gordon Gee in 1995. Aside from the fact that he is 15 years older, Gee views himself as "probably light years more knowledgeable about the politics and policies and pitfalls of running a major university." And although Gee, college president, has changed over the years, one thing has remained the same.

"...I think in many ways that I still haven't lost my exuberance for the job and my willingness to be able to think in new ways about issues..."

Prior to Gee's appointment at West Virginia, his academic career was focused on law. He was assistant law dean at the University of Utah from 1973-74; a judicial fellow and senior staff assistant in the chambers of the Chief Justice of the United States from 1974-75; associate law dean and professor of law at Brigham Young University from 1975-79; and dean of West Virginia's law school from 1979 until he was named the institution's president. When Gee became the 15th president of the University of Colorado in 1985, it was apparent that his career track had clearly shifted from college dean to university president. While he was serving the University of Colorado in Boulder, Gee had no aspirations of leaving the university. He had even told Colorado's board of regents that he would accept his next appointment for another five years, which would allow his daughter, Rebekah, to graduate from high school in Boulder. Everything was proceeding according to plan until representatives from Ohio State arrived in Boulder in 1990. The Ohio State representatives were looking for a new college president and Gee was on their list of candidates. According to Gee, "they talked to me and talked to me." On June 26, 1990, the Ohio State University Board of Trustees voted unanimously to select Gee as the university's 11th president. What prompted Gee to change his plans and leave Boulder for Columbus? "This is the single largest, most complex institution of its kind in the country and the ultimate challenge is being able to come and be a part of this environment."

Restructuring

Challenges have been a part of Gee's daily activities since he arrived in Columbus. His continual exuberance has aided his presidency as Ohio State has made landmark changes in its operating structure. Like most academic institutions and major corporations, one of the challenges that Ohio State faces is the task of downsizing the institution while increasing quality. This massive restructuring has included cutting the College of Agriculture from 11 departments to eight and moving the school's research emphasis from crop productivity to food processing; as well as a possible merging of the department of communications and the university's journalism school. Gee's constant visibility has been invaluable during the restructuring process. He has actively involved faculty and students in the restructuring because "it is very important for them to make the decisions and make them as close to where it effects them as possible."

Although Ohio State has made major strides during restructuring, Gee readily admits that it puts him in a precarious position at times. "I think that being a college president in the 90s is sort of like a young boy walking along a picket fence. You're thrilled, but in constant danger of being impaled and that is much the way I feel about my job right now. It is thrilling, but it also has a good deal of danger to it," Gee said.

For Gee, there may be an element of danger in being Ohio State's president, but both the university and the students have already benefited from Gee's restructuring plans, even though there are many changes still in the works. On the financial side, Ohio State has saved $100,000 annually due to the university's work in restructuring. As for cutting bureaucracy, students who used to have to wait 13 weeks for solutions to financial aid problems now only have to wait two weeks.

The Students

Although Gee finds himself answering to interests such as the faculty, staff, trustees and governor, his direct focus is always on that of his students. On a campus with the physical qualities of Ohio State, there are literally hundreds of groups and organizations at work every day and every evening. In order to meet the demands of his presidency, Gee's days run well into the evenings. Tootle said that lunch is not a part of Gee's schedule and that his desire to interact with the students keeps him occupied five nights a week. It is a grueling and demanding pace to say the least.

"My schedule gets overwhelming because there are so many things that I would like to do and so many people I would like to see and so many things that I should do. This is not an intimate place. On any given night there are literally hundreds and hundreds of things happening on this campus that are interesting, valuable... things that I ought to be doing that I just cannot do," Gee said.

Upon his arrival at Ohio State, Gee was quoted as saying, "The title I take the greatest pride in is not president, not tenured faculty member, but teacher." Gee has an appointment in the college of law at Ohio State which could serve as a possible opportunity for him to become reinvolved on the side of higher education that he loves best. When he was president of West Virginia and Colorado he taught on a fairly regular basis. However, the duties of being president at Ohio State have not allowed Gee to serve as an instructor — although he does guest lecture from time to time. Although he will not set any limits on how long he will serve Ohio State, Gee does know that teaching is in his future. "...I want to get back into legal education again at some point and into teaching. This would be a great place to involve myself because it's a wonderful law school and this is a great community."

For four decades, Gee has been able to view students from their perspective, from the front of a classroom, from the dean's office, and from the office of the college president. So what are his perceptions on today's college students?

"I think that our college students today are much more serious than those in the decade when I was a student, and then the decade I served as a dean. I think they are very serious. I think they are very consumer-oriented. I think that they want to make a difference, but I think they also have a fear that the world may be a bit out of control or beyond control," Gee said.

As for where the Greek system fits in on today's college campus, Gee believes that fraternities and sororities face the same challenges as their host institutions. They must be willing to change and "become more serious partners in the nature of what university life is about...I think now that the challenge of Greek life is to make this bonding experience relevant to the challenges that students are facing...I think that fraternities are wonderful places and that people ought to join them and have a good time. But there ought to be more balance."

Gee and PiKA

Gee's introduction to Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity at the University of Utah in 1963 came about through his participation in formal rush and through a brother-in-law who was a member of the Fraternity. "I was from a very small town and I thought that a fraternity was appropriate from my own view of life. And it certainly turned out to be that way. I was a very committed member of the Fraternity and remain so to this day."

The relationship that Gee formed with the Fraternity over 30 years ago has benefited the entire brotherhood, particularly PiKA's Alpha Rho Chapter at Ohio State. On his visits to Ohio State's 40 fraternities, several of Gee's stops have been at the Pike house at 43 East 15th Street. On one occasion, Gee, who has made wearing a bow tie his personal trademark, was presented with an official garnet and gold striped bow tie from Alpha Rho. As a result of his continually tight schedule, Gee's visits to Alpha Rho have been brief. Yet he has made a lasting impression on the men of the chapter. According to Chapter President Dillon Cook (Alpha Rho '92), "He's probably the nicest guy that I know that's got such a diverse job and interacts with so many people."

Gee has left an impression on Alpha Rho Chapter and he has an idea how he would like to be remembered by the rest of the Ohio State community. "If it were embedded on my tombstone, I would hope there would be a couple of things: one, "He cared about the people of the university," and two, "He cared about the university itself and worked hard to make a very fine place a bit better."

1994-95 Chapter Anniversaries

by Timothy J. McNary

During the 1994-95 academic calendar, several of the Fraternity's chapters are celebrating notable anniversaries. Two chapters (Tau Chapter at the University of North Carolina and Upsilon Chapter at Auburn University) are celebrating centennials. Three chapters (Beta Kappa Chapter at Emory University, Beta Mu Chapter at the University of Texas and Beta Nu Chapter at Oregon State University) are all celebrating 75th anniversaries. Two other chapters (Eta Alpha Chapter at Clemson University and Eta Beta Chapter at Seton Hall University) are celebrating 25th anniversaries.

It may seem a bit odd that no chapters are celebrating 50th anniversaries. However, 50 years ago, World War II was in its final stages and maintaining existing chapters and keeping the Fraternity's finances in order were the focuses of the Fraternity at this time.

100 Year Anniversaries

Tau Chapter - University of North Carolina

On February 11, 1895, Tau Chapter was chartered at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. The Fraternity was just shy of its 27th anniversary at the time of Tau's founding. Tau was Pi Kappa Alpha's 19th chapter and its second in the state of North Carolina (The first PiKA chapter was Beta at Davidson College, founded in 1869. The five men who had the distinction of serving as the chapter's founding fathers were: John F. Nooe, Joe S. Wray, John B. Wilkinson, Paul R. McFadgin and Claud G. Winstead. Although this was a small number of men, other established fraternities at UNC only averaged between ten and fifteen members. Numbers, however, would be a problem during the infancy of the chapter and the Tau charter was eventually withdrawn in 1897.

Tau Chapter did not remain dormant for long. McFadgin lobbied with the leaders of the National Fraternity to reorganize the chapter. As is still the case in the 1990s, rush was the lifeblood of the Fraternity in the 1890s. McFadgin, intent on reviving Tau Chapter, went out and rushed Franklin Wray, the brother of one of the founding members of the chapter. He also went out pledged six other men. McFadgin's efforts were successful as Tau Chapter was rechartered in January 1899. The doors of Tau Chapter have remained open to this day.

Membership continued to be a problem for Tau in the early years following the rechartering. In 1901 the chapter only had six men in the chapter and none of them were undergraduates. The future did not look bright for the chapter whose membership roster was made up of one law student and five medical students. However, the chapter was able to recruit seven undergraduates for the following year and the membership crisis was over. During World War I, Tau's Hugh M. Smith became the chapter's first brother to receive the Gold Star from the National Fraternity for making the supreme sacrifice. Following the war, the chapter continued to flourish.

The strength of Tau Chapter allowed it survive the Great Depression and the difficult years of World War II. As a result of the war, five more members of Tau Chapter were added to the Gold Star roll: Robert A. Aird, Paul Browning, William C. Bullock Jr., James F. Jones and Charles H. Sloan Jr. Following the war, the chapter was a prominent fixture in the UNC Greek system. The Tau Pikes became known for their annual activities such as The German Dance, Formal Beach Weekend, and the Beat Dook Parade. The Beat Dook Parade was started in 1933 as UNC prepared to battle Duke University in football. Someone misspelled "Duke," and the Beat Dook Parade was born and has become one of the university's most recognized traditions.

In the 1960s and 70s, the chapter once again found itself battling membership numbers, but was able to adapt and maintain its status as a top fraternity. The 1980s saw the chapter excel on a number of different fronts. In Fall 1986, Edward W. Boehm was the first recipient of the Brother of the Semester Award. Spring 1988 marked the chapter's first annual PiKA Charity Run. As Tau entered the 90s, they worked to move the chapter forward as their brothers had done nearly a century earlier. In Summer 1993, the executive council established a fund raising program to renovate the basement of the chapter house. Chapter President James D. Rash Jr. proved to be invaluable to the chapter as renovations were underway. As a show of appreciation to Rash, the chapter named the study room in honor of him.

Upsilon Chapter - Auburn University

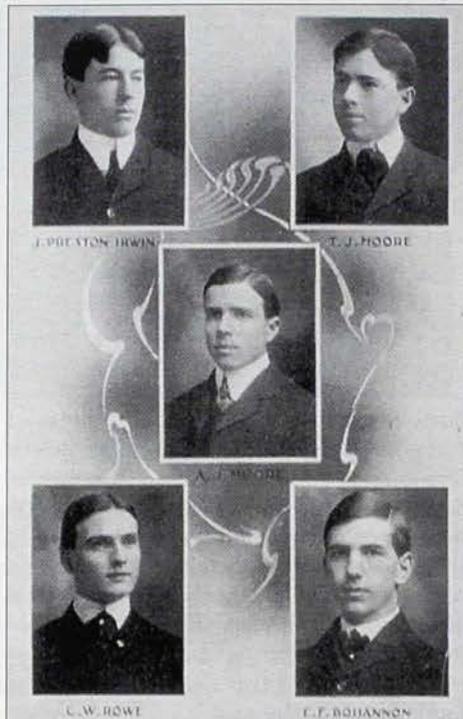

Following Tau's chartering in February 1895, the National Fraternity brought a second chapter to the state of Alabama as it had brought a second chapter to North Carolina with the chartering of Tau Chapter. PiKA's first chapter in Alabama was Delta Chapter at Birmingham Southern College, which was founded in 1871. The Fraternity was successful in bringing a second chapter to Alabama with the chartering of Upsilon Chapter on April 5, 1895. Upsilon's home was the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Alabama, which was eventually renamed the Alabama Polytechnic Institute and then, Auburn University. Although the university has undergone name changes over the years, Upsilon Chapter has remained a steady force as it has remained an uninterrupted chapter throughout its 100 year history.

Junior Founder Howard Bell Arbuckle (Hampden-Sydney, Iota 1886) who had been a vital part of the Fraternity's re-founding in 1889, was in Auburn to lead the chapter's installation. There was no chapter house secured at the time of the installation, so by the permission of Dr. W. L. Brown, president of the school, the initiations took place in the Girl's Assembly Room in the southwest corner of the administration building. The first man to be initiated into Upsilon Chapter was Leonidas W. Payne, Jr. He was followed into the Fraternity by Walter L. Fleming, James L. Pollard, Emile G. Abbot, Fletcher D. Harvey and Peter M. McIntyre. By next spring, the chapter had increased its chapter size to 13 members. In the March 1896 Shield & Diamond, Upsilon wrote of its 13 chapter members and conveyed the hope that the number "13" would not prove unlucky. The number 13 proved to be far from unlucky as the chapter initiated over 2,000 men throughout the next 100 years.

Although no housing was available to the first men of Upsilon Chapter, this would be remedied in 1911-12 when Upsilon built its first chapter house. In the 1930s the chapter had developed new housing needs and a chapter house was constructed on South Gay Street. On May 31, 1962, at 840 West Magnolia Avenue, the current chapter house was officially dedicated. At the time of the dedication, Upsilon's chapter house was the largest chapter house in the world. The home of the Auburn Pikes resides on a four and-a-half acre piece of land. The house is designed to accommodate 60 men and is valued at an excess of $1 million.

To commemorate Pi Kappa Alpha's 100 years at Auburn University, a celebration will be held April 1-9, 1995. The entire week will be filled with activities, including a chapter meeting on Wednesday April 5 and an alumni reunion Friday and Saturday, April 7-8.

75 Year Anniversaries

Beta Kappa Chapter at Emory University

In Fall 1919 on the campus of Emory University there were ten members of the Fraternity from various chapters that were enrolled at the university. These ten men set out with the objective of bringing a Pi Kappa Alpha charter to Emory. The initial meeting of this group took place on October 13, 1919 in room 308 in Alabama Hall. The next step was gaining the consent of the faculty and other existing fraternities at Emory. The ten men then signed and presented a petition for chartering to Grand Treasurer Robert Adger Smythe (The Citadel, Lambda 1889). As the prospective chapter waited for approval from the Supreme Council, it took part in all student activities and was admitted into the Panhellenic Council. They also interacted with their brothers from Alpha Delta Chapter at Georgia Tech which is also located in Atlanta. In fact, the two groups combined manpower and entertained potential members at a luncheon at the Ansley Hotel.

The ten men were successful in their aspirations to bring a charter to Emory. On December 6, 1919, Beta Kappa Chapter was chartered at Emory University. The ten Pike transfers responsible for establishing a chapter at Emory were: Albert E. Barnett, William F. Calhoun, John R. Boswell, Hill Hodges, Ernest R. Denmark, Jacob F. Foster, Byron H. Warner, Eugene L. McCurdy, John E. Cloud and James W. Bradshaw.

Within its first year of existence, the founding members initiated 12 more men into the bonds. As the chapter, at 22 members strong, prepared for rush in Fall 1920, they were still using room 317 in Alabama Hall as the chapter room. Soon, the Emory Pikes occupied a small house on the university's newly built fraternity row. The row was located across and along the Seaboard Railroad. The Pike house was third in a row of eight fraternities. Fraternity life in the 20s at Emory was quite different than today. Many students arrived by train. Once they stepped off the train they found tuition was roughly $35 and a room in Alabama Hall was $54 quarterly. Many of these students were soon pledging Pi Kappa Alpha and by Spring 1928 Beta Kappa had initiated over 100 men into the Fraternity. It was during this time that Beta Kappa changed its address with its move into a two story brick house at the end of fraternity row.

Beta Mu Chapter - University of Texas

Beta Mu's beginnings at the University of Texas are similar to those of Beta Kappa due to the fact that the chapter's founders were eight transfers from other Pike chapters. These eight transfers originally formed the "Pi Club." The "Pi Club" was officially chartered as Beta Mu Chapter on March 1, 1920. The eight transfers responsible for PiKA's latest edition to the Lone Star State were: Howard C. Buchly, John L. McCollough, H. Bascom Thomas, Reuben W. Gray, Bertram Hedick, Caradine R. Hooton, Frank H. Lancaster and Walter W. Meeks. The "Pi Club" had kept quiet its desire to petition Pi Kappa Alpha for a charter because of the requirements placed on "locals" by the university.

Beta Mu's charter was granted on March 1, but the actual installation program did not take place until March 20. The ceremony was held in the capitol building and was a bit unique in presentation because the charter members were already members of the Fraternity. Assisting with the installation was Alpha Omicron Chapter at Southwestern University. Also participating in the installation was Dr. Leonidas Warren Payne, Jr., who was a university faculty member. Payne was a founding member of Upsilon Chapter and was able to use his own experiences as a founding member when he addressed Beta Mu chapter on the challenges that were in front of them. Following Payne's address was L. Theodore Bellmont's (Tennessee-Knoxville, Zeta '05), who was the university's director of Athletics. At the conclusion of Bellmont's remarks, the chapter officially admitted Bledsoe Payne, son of Dr. Payne, as the chapter's first pledge. The chapter then elected its first officers. Frank H. Lancaster was elected president; John L. McCollough was elected vice president; and Reuben W. Gray was elected treasurer. Lancaster then appointed Walter W. Meek as secretary; H. Bascom Thomas Jr. was appointed sergeant-at-arms; and Bertram Hedick was appointed corresponding secretary.

As the third chapter in the state of Texas (the other two chapters were Alpha Omicron Chapter and Beta Zeta Chapter at Southern Methodist University), Beta Mu was quickly accepted on the Texas campus by other fraternities and sororities. H. Bascom Thomas, Jr. wrote of Beta Mu's welcome at Texas and of the Fraternity's reputation in Beta Mu's Chapter Letters submission in the April 1920 Shield & Diamond. "It is certainly gratifying to know that we can count on the friendship and assistance of other fraternities in these our trying days. This simply shows that Pi Kappa Alpha's good name and splendid reputation have spread to fields hitherto unexplored."

Beta Nu Chapter at Oregon State University

When Beta Nu Chapter was chartered on May 12, 1920, it was Pi Kappa Alpha's only chapter in Oregon and it gave the Fraternity yet another vital chapter designation in the Fraternity's expansion westward. At the time of Beta Nu's chartering, Oregon State University was known as Oregon Agricultural College. The chapter's roots stemmed from the local Kappa Phi Delta Fraternity, which originated from the Rose City Club. Although the university is located in Corvallis, the installation ceremony took place in Portland. The charter members of Beta Nu Chapter were William B. Mainwaring, Harry D. Howard, Samuel J. Doukas, Eric W. Witt, James W. Medley, Franklin G. Chapel, Calvin Billeter, Joseph I. Steel, Andrew J. Brugger, James R. Parker, Walter A. Marquis, Nicholas Schneider, Russell L. Harris, Merle G. Haynes, David Streiff, Elmo C. Coovert and Vernon Pantall Duncan. These new members of the Fraternity quickly made a name for themselves as they won the Pi Kappa Alpha Scholarship Cup in 1920-21 and 1921-22.

At the installation banquet, chapters from the entire western region were represented and telegrams offering congratulations were delivered from around the country. Leading the ceremonies was Grand Historian Roy E. Warren (California-Berkeley, Alpha Sigma '12) who travelled to Portland from California for the event.

In the June 1920 Shield & Diamond, the Supreme Council was saluted for granting a charter to Beta Nu Chapter, which benefitted the Fraternity on a number of different fronts. "The action of the Supreme Council in granting this charter has brought joy to the hearts of all Western Pikes. It places another dot on the PiKA map in a very strategic place and furnishes a natural connecting link between California and Washington."

25 Years

Eta Alpha Chapter at Clemson University

Eta Alpha Chapter at Clemson University was chartered on February 1, 1970, but plans were made for Pi Kappa Alpha's arrival on campus beginning back in 1959. At that time, Clemson students approached the Board of Trustees about the formation of social, Greek letter fraternities at Clemson. The Trustees approved the request and Sigma Alpha Zeta, a local fraternity, became the first social fraternity at Clemson. Ten years later the Trustees gave fraternities permission to seek national affiliation. Sigma Alpha Zeta achieved another distinction as they were the first local fraternity to be colonized by a national fraternity; and the national fraternity in this case was none other than Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity. The official colonization took place on November 19, 1969. 52 men were initiated as the charter members of Eta Alpha. Just 12 years after the chapter's installation, the chapter's first SMC, Joseph J. Turner, Jr., would later go on to serve the Fraternity at a number of different levels, including national president from 1982-84 and as president of the Pi Kappa Alpha Educational Foundation from 1987-89. There was another future national president present at Eta Alpha's installation. Dr. Jerome V. Reel, Jr. (Tulane, Eta '57), who was the chapter's faculty advisor, served as Pi Kappa Alpha's national president from 1974-76. National recognition for Eta Alpha has not been limited to the National Officer ranks. In its 25 year existence, Eta Alpha has won 13 Robert Adger Smythe Awards - the most coveted recognition a chapter can earn from the International Fraternity.

The Clemson Pikes were initiated in the Fort Hill Presbyterian Church in Clemson on Saturday, January 31. On Sunday, February 1, the new initiates returned for services at the church, where Reverend Charles E. Raynal, Jr. (Davidson, Beta '62) was pastor. On this historical day for the chapter, they placed garnet and gold flowers in the sanctuary of the church.

On November 18, 1994, just one day shy of Pi Kappa Alpha's 25th anniversary of establishing a colony at Clemson, Eta Alpha held its 25th anniversary celebration at the Hyatt Regency in Greenville, South Carolina. Turner and Reel were in attendance to commemorate the historic anniversary of the chapter they had been involved with since its beginning. In all, over 500 people were in attendance at the occasion, including South Carolina Senator J. Strom Thurmond (Xi, South Carolina '59), International President F. Anderson Morse (William and Mary, Gamma '76), Executive Director Raymond L. Orians (Memphis, Delta Zeta '66), and Director of Alumni Affairs Matthew P. Dey (Clemson, Eta Alpha '89).

Eta Beta Chapter at Seton Hall University

Exactly two weeks after Pi Kappa Alpha chartered a chapter at Clemson, Seton Hall University, in South Orange New Jersey, became home to the Fraternity's next chapter. On February 15, 1995, Eta Beta Chapter at Seton Hall joined PiKA's chapter roll. Eta Beta originated from a local fraternity, Kappa Tau Lambda. The local fraternity had been existence since 1960 and had distinguished itself as a reputable organization on the Seton Hall campus. In the mid-1960s, the local group believed that they needed to affiliate with a national fraternity to remain competitive with the national fraternities in existence at Seton Hall. A committee was set up to examine prospective national fraternities and Pi Kappa Alpha was the committee's choice.

On April 21, 1968, Field Secretary Daniel F. McGehee (Southeast Missouri State, Epsilon Iota '63), along with teams from Epsilon Alpha at Trinity College and Beta Pi Chapter at the University of Pennsylvania, officially installed Kappa Tau Lambda as a Pi Kappa Alpha colony. Now affiliated with a national organization, the colony went through the task of overhauling many programs. New programs were established in the fields of alumni, rush, public relations and scholarship. The colony also committed themselves to publicizing Pi Kappa Alpha's name on campus. Pikes held positions in the student senate, on IFC, and in the area of varsity athletics.

22 months after its colonization, the Seton Hall Pikes were designated for chartering the weekend of February 13-14, 1970. The majority of the colony member's initiations took place on Friday. On Saturday afternoon, the chapter's installation ceremony took place in the Seton Hall Campus Chapel. That evening, the brothers of Eta Beta, along with their guests, met for dinner at the Robert Treat Hotel, to celebrate the birth of Eta Beta Chapter - Pi Kappa Alpha's 170th chapter. □

University of North Carolina-Charlotte Colony

The UNC-Charlotte colony was organized by Expansion Consultant Max G. Holland (Georgia Southern, Iota Upsilon '93) and Chapter Consultant Clarence R. Dowdy III (Kentucky, Omega '89). By the end of the fall semester, the colony had 44 members and was the fourth largest fraternity on campus. The colony was also committed to immediately building a solid base of alumni support. A reception was held for the colony members to get acquainted with Pi Kappa Alpha alumni.

In community service, the colony volunteered for Metrolina Food Bank and a senior citizens dinner. As for varsity athletes, Ashley D. Tison is a redshirt sophomore on the basketball team while Tim Collie, Lance Swiler, Kelly Skeens and Brent A. Bovender plays on the baseball team.

News of Bygone Days

125 Years Ago... Near the end of the 1869-70 session, Alpha Chapter initiated Joseph E. Tyler and Octavious Nash Ogden. PiKa's mother chapter stood at ten members for the first time in its brief history.

100 Years Ago... There was still an interruption in the publishing of the Shield & Diamond because there was only a little over $100 collected to cover expenses of the Fraternity.

75 Years Ago... From Chapter Letters of the Shield & Diamond, "Zeta is sure she is enjoying one of the best years in her history, and sent six men to New Orleans to tell the Convention about it. We wish all the sister chapters, especially the triplets, Beta Kappa, Beta Lambda and Beta Mu, the greatest prosperity"... "Alpha Xi still at the bat, and the game is becoming more interesting with every inning. The main attraction was the mid-year initiation, in which four men became brothers in the best fraternity under the sun."

50 Years Ago... PiKAs killed in action during World War II were honored at Founders Day observances in St. Louis, Birmingham, Lexington, Charleston, Jackson, Portland and Knoxville ... Frederick P. Schierloh (Cincinnati, Alpha Xi '20), engineer and vice president of A.M. Kinney, Inc., consulting engineers and associated architects, has been selected by the War Department for a confidential mission and has been sent to the occupied territory on the Western Front... Captain Harry Marvin "Pete" Smith (Kentucky, Omega '39) led the first wave of Third Army soldiers across the Rhine.

25 Years Ago... Dr. J. Gray McAllister, Grand Secretary 1894-96 and National Chaplain 1905-09, died in Richmond, Virginia at the age of 97. He was the oldest living member of the Fraternity at the time of his death ... Pi Kappa Alpha became an international fraternity with the installation of Eta Gamma Chapter at the University of Windsor in Windsor, Ontario.

Southern Methodist Housemom Remembers

Thelma Middlebrooks has been the faithful housemother of SMU's Beta Zeta Chapter since 1969. In her twenty-five years of service, she has seen Beta Zeta and its men through several different stages. Having been at SMU for so long, Mrs. Middlebrooks is an authority on the many changes that have taken place on campus and in the Pike house.

Christian Bohmfalk (Beta Zeta '94) interviewed Mrs. Middlebrooks on her years at Beta Zeta Chapter.

Q. How did you become the housemother here?

A. When my husband died, a friend of mine named Mrs. Hanes, who was and still is a housemother at SMU, suggested that I apply. Dr. Jim Caswell, one of the vice presidents, hired me. The boys had me over for dinner, to get to know me. There were almost 100 boys then.

Q. How has Beta Zeta changed over the years?

A. I'd say that it has changed for the better. We went through the hippie movement during the early 70s. I can't tell you how many pairs of jeans I patched for those boys! After we were closed in 1980 for restructuring, I stayed in the house. The old house was in awful shape, with broken windows. I was amazed at the beauty of the new house.

Q. What about the members' respect for the house?

A. When we moved into the new house, boys really began to take pride in it. I used to live right next door to the den in the old house, and let me tell you, I used to hear some things! But the boys have always been really nice to me.

Q. You work with the cooks a lot. What has that been like?

A. I worked with one cook named Maggie for ten years; we also had a cook, Myrtle, who stayed for ten years. They were both very easy to work with. Our current cooks, Dorothy and Della, are both wonderful.

Q. Any final words on your years here?

A. It's been twenty-five very rewarding years, to have all these fine young men call me "Mom" all those years. It's been an honor most people don't have.

Chapter Eternal

Jeffrey A. Eastman

The University of Texas-Arlington's Maverick Stadium seats bore a sad message for passers-by on Monday, November 28th. Pi Kappa Alpha members used the seats to spell out the name of their late brother, Jeffrey Allen Eastman (Texas-Arlington, Eta Upsilon '90). Eastman was killed in an auto accident on his way to go hunting with a friend. He was 22.

He was the longest active initiate of the Texas-Arlington Pike chapter. He was to graduate this May as a finance major.

He is survived by his parents, a sister and a grandmother. His fraternity brothers quoted Jeff's father as saying, "God takes the good ones and leaves the rest of us here for 60 or 70 years," and they add, "Jeff was definitely a good one."

Hugh S. Gibbs

Hugh S. Gibbs, a 1982 initiate of Beta Theta Chapter had a long association with the Cornell University chapter dating back to 1948.

In that year, Gibbs took a job as houseman at Beta Theta. He would live in the fraternity house for the next 40 years.

Gibbs was a veteran of World War II. His employment at Beta Theta provided the opportunity to make lifelong friends and influence the lives of young men for several decades. A party given in his honor on this 30th anniversary as houseman saw several hundred alumni turn out for the occasion.

In 1982, the chapter asked then Executive Director Richard L. Murgatroyd (Ohio State, Alpha Rho '56) to come to Ithaca to initiate Gibbs. Hundreds of brothers were in attendance for the initiation and the banquet that followed.

Those who knew Gibbs echo the words of Dik Saalfeld (Beta Theta '77), "Hugh Gibbs was my best friend."

Brice A. Jones

Brice A. Jones, a 1992 initiate of Gamma Omicron Chapter at Ohio University, lost his battle with leukemia on December 1, 1994. Jones was a 1991 graduate of Newark, Ohio, High School, where he played basketball. A junior at Ohio University, he was also a member of an honor fraternity. He is survived by his fiancée, Missy Stuck, a brother, Kevin Jones, two grandmothers and a great grandmother.

Kevin B. Kennedy

On October 13th, my friend and brother, Kevin Brett Kennedy (Utah, Alpha Tau '90), passed away after a valiant struggle with an inoperable brain tumor. Life can be measured in two ways — quantity and quality. Though Kevin passed away at the young age of 24, the richness of his life and the number of people he touched in a positive way, eclipsed the relative shortness of his life.

Kevin Kennedy epitomized all the qualities that make Pi Kappa Alpha such an important institution in our lives. Kevin was a fine scholar whose gifts in the classroom were only matched by his willingness to share them. Many a brother would turn to Kevin for help in school, and he was always willing to sacrifice his time for his brothers. Kevin was also a fine athlete who, through his actions on the field, showed that sportsmanship is a quality that should be the basis for all competition. Kevin was a leader, serving as president of Alpha Tau when it was a difficult time to be a leader. With his integrity and honesty, however, Kevin showed all of us how to become better Pikes.

Finally, and most importantly, Kevin was a gentleman, treating everybody with respect and always willing to give someone a break or a second chance. Even during the worst times of his condition, Kevin would have a smile or a kind word to bestow on everyone around him.

His loss is felt keenly, both by his family and by his brothers. We will all miss Kevin, but he will live on as an example of friendship, love, and truth to all who knew him.

Nick LeRoy
Alpha Tau '90

Paul C. Kimball

Paul C. Kimball, a 1925 initiate of Alpha Tau Chapter at the University of Utah, died on October 27, 1994. He was owner of the Paul C. Kimball Company, an investment banking firm. He was born in Salt Lake City; he served a two-year mission in Canada for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. After graduating from the University of Utah in 1927, he was awarded a Rhodes Scholarship and spent the next three years in England studying economics at Oxford University. The oral exams for his degree from Oxford were conducted by famed economist and writer, John Maynard Keynes. Upon returning from England, Kimball joined the faculty of the University of Utah, and a year later, became the director of the Utah State Tax Commission. Kimball served on the boards of more than 20 companies, including Ampco Mets of Milwaukee, Standard Prudential Corporation, New York City, and Treasure Isle, Inc. of Tampa. Kimball was preceded in death by his wife, Audrienne, and a son, Paul, Jr. He is survived by two daughters, Nancy Robinson and Pamela Stewart and 11 grandchildren.

Robert Mueller

Robert Mueller (Minnesota, Beta Chi '26), a retired executive of 3M Company, died October 29, 1994. He was a group vice president for the company, served on the board and the executive committee. After retiring, he moved to California, where he helped found the Bob Hope Cultural Center. He also served on the board of the Eisenhower Medical Center in Rancho Mirage and the Sequoia Hospital Foundation in Redwood City. He is survived by his wife, Winnie, a son, Robert, and a daughter, Mary Lynn, six grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Coulter R. Sublett

Brig. General Coulter R. Sublett, retired, died on January 17, 1995. He was born in Arlington, Texas, in 1911, where he grew up and graduated from high school. He then attended Danforth Pharmacy School before entering the University of Texas as a pre-med major. He received his bachelors degree from the School of Business in 1933. From 1940 to 1946, he was in the Army; he was on duty at Fort Bliss when Pearl Harbor was attacked, and he was sent to California for approximately a year. He was sent to Europe in March, 1944, and from D-Day through the European campaign, he served under General George S. Patton, commanding all forward ordinance, maintenance, and supply for the Third Army. By the end of the war, at the age of 33, he had 17,000 men reporting to him. He was decorated with the Bronze Star with Oak Leaf Clusters and with the Croix de Guerre with Palme. After the war, he continued to be active as a Reserve Officer. Until his retirement in 1971 as a Brigadier General, his active duty assignment was in the Pentagon as Deputy Chief of Staff of Logistics for the Army. He was a Founding Trustee of the General George S. Patton Museum in Fort Knox. His business career started in 1935 with Eli Lilly & Company, and he rose quickly through the ranks. As Lilly developed various sales and marketing strategies, Sublett was frequently chosen to implement them; he was responsible for allocating the Salk Vaccine the first year it was available to the public. He met his wife of 58 years while both were students at the University of Texas, which they loved and supported through all the years. Sublett was an "Emeritus Member of the Advisory Council of the College of Pharmacy. He was installed in the School of Business Hall of Fame in 1994, was a charter member of the Littlefield Society, a member of the Chancellor's Council, the President's Associates, the CBA Foundation, and the Longhorn Foundation. He was also a founder of the Eyes of Texas Club scholarship program. He is survived by his wife, Bobbie, his daughter, Barbara Guthery and his grand-daughter, Katie Guthery. He had a military funeral on January 20th at Park Cities Presbyterian Church.
