SEPTEMBER 12, GRAND LAKE, Oklahoma - Today it is my pleasure to attend a meeting of your Pi Kappa Alpha Housing Commission. The Housing Commission provides housing assistance to chapters across North America. The chairman of this very active commission is Jamie Wolff (Eastern Washington, Zeta Nu '67), joined by dedicated members Gregg Ormond (Pennsylvania, Beta Pi '74) and Joe Brown (Kansas, Beta Gamma '50). These brothers have served our Fraternity in a variety of capacities, with Jamie Wolff chairing the 1996 Kansas City Convention Nominating Committee, Gregg Ormond having been an undergraduate Supreme Council member in 1976-77 and having served as Sunshine Regional President, and Joe Brown having served as president of the Educational Foundation and being the recipient of the Fraternity's prestigious Loyalty Award presented in 1996 at the Kansas City Convention. The day-to-day affairs of the Fraternity's housing efforts are in the experienced hands of Executive Housing Officer Dan Corah (Colorado State, Epsilon Theta '83), with assistance from Mark Miller (Southern Methodist, Beta Zeta '92), housing consultant. The Housing Commission's tasks are varied, ranging from the complex world of commercial real estate lending to the vital matter of ongoing chapter house maintenance.

Tomorrow the President's Advisory Forum (PAF) will hold its annual meeting here at Grand Lake. The purpose of the PAF is to promote communication and coordination between the various Fraternity-related entities. Attending will be Gary Menchhofer (Cincinnati, Alpha Xi '65), president of the Pi Kappa Alpha Educational Foundation; Jamie Wolff, chairman of the Housing Commission; Wallace Long (Memphis, Delta Zeta '67), president of the Risk Awareness Foundation, and Executive Vice President Ray Orians (Memphis, Delta Zeta '66), along with myself. There will be over 100 years of Fraternity experience at this meeting, and much good advice for your president.

OCTOBER 24, CINCINNATI, Ohio - This morning I visited the historic house of Alpha Xi Chapter at the University of Cincinnati. The chapter house was constructed in 1894 and was the home of George B. Cox, a major figure in Ohio politics at the turn of the century. It is reported that Theodore Roosevelt danced in the third floor ballroom of this turreted mansion, which is today listed on the National Register of Historic Places. Alpha Xi Chapter has been the source of much leadership for Pi Kappa Alpha, having produced three national presidents: Ralph Yeager '34 (1953), Dr. Bill Nester '47 (1978-80) who went on to be president of the National Interfraternity Council, and Gary Menchhofer (1986-88) who now serves as president of the Pi Kappa Alpha Educational Foundation. Alpha Xi has also produced Supreme Council members Glen Weissenberger '65 (1970-72) and Ted Grofer '55 (1982-86), along with Nick Shafor '57 who ably served for a decade as Great Lakes regional president.

Alpha Xi is in the able hands of SMC Adam Brady '94, whose enthusiasm for rush is exemplified by his recent Pi Kappa Alpha rush presentation to the entire University of Cincinnati football team after its practice. The chapter excels in campus leadership inasmuch as all three of the officers of the senior class are members of Pi Kappa Alpha.

OCTOBER 24, OXFORD, Ohio - This is the birth place of four national fraternities, Beta Theta Pi, Phi Delta Theta, Phi Kappa Tau and Sigma Chi. Delta Zeta Sorority was also founded here. As we all recall from our Fraternity history, learned during our undergraduate years, Beta, Phi Delta and Sigma Chi are called the "Miami Triad," all having been founded at Miami University here in Oxford. Today, Educational Foundation President Gary Menchhofer and I visited the national headquarters of Phi Delta Theta, Phi Kappa Tau and Beta Theta Pi, where we conferred with top officers of each. We can rightly take pride in the accomplishments and innovative programs of our fellow fraternities. We are all a part of the North American Greek movement, and in many respects the success of individual fraternities is greatly influenced by the overall success of all fraternities. We are thus wise to work cooperatively with our fellow Greeks as we confront common challenges.

OCTOBER 25, OXFORD, Ohio - Delta Gamma Chapter at Miami University is celebrating its 50th Anniversary, and it is my pleasure to be a part of the festivities. Loyal alumnus Eric McCarty '48, president of the Dodd Hall Housing Corporation, deserves much of the credit for making this event a reality. Delta Gamma has made many contributions to the national leadership of Pi Kappa Alpha, including former Chapter Consultant Tom Larsen '92, who now attends law school at the University of Dayton and serves as chapter advisor, Tom Husselman '49, who served as president of the Pi Kappa Alpha Educational Foundation (1993-94) and George Zimmerman '50, who served as national music director (1958-62, 1982-88).

The chapter house at Delta Gamma is the product of a highly effective partnership between loyal alumni acting through the Dodd Hall Housing Corporation and the undergraduate chapter. The

1996-97 Chapter House and Chapter Room Awards

The Fraternity acknowledges those groups that do an exemplary job of caring for and managing their houses through a recognition program that includes awards for House of the Quarter, Chapter House of the Year and Chapter Room of the Year. The quarterly winners each receive a $250 grant for maintenance and improvements, a certificate and recognition in the Fraternity's newsletter, the Forum. The Chapter House of the Year is selected from the quarterly recipients and receives a $1,000 grant, a trophy and recognition in the Shield & Diamond. Chapter Room of the Year is available to those groups who do not have a "house" per se. The winner of this award receives recognition in this article, a trophy and a $500 grant.

Chapter House Of The Year

Theta Sigma Chapter (Winthrop University) was presented the Chapter House of the Year award at this summer's Officers Leadership Academy. Like most chapters, this group does not occupy a palatial mansion, yet they desire to have that type of home someday. They've made the best of their situation by taking aggressive, yet realistic, steps toward achieving the goal of having the "ideal" fraternity house. They're in a system of primarily less than ideal fraternity houses, and lack the resources to acquire an ideal home in the near future. Yet Theta Sigma made the best of what was available to them and now has the top facility on campus. They have also charted a course towards ultimately building their ideal fraternity home.

Theta Sigma chapter was chartered in 1980. After renting from a private landlord for several years, they realized they were getting no closer to their dream of owning a beautiful mansion. Unable to establish a profit margin on their lease and save an adequate amount of money, the chapter knew that it was wasteful to rent for even one more year. Their rental house was in an excellent location, with ample space to build someday, so alumni and students worked diligently to take control of their future. From fall 1995 to fall 1996, they created a house corporation, purchased the property they were renting and renovated the house in a manner that will serve their needs well for at least 10-15 years. After that, they plan to raze the existing structure and build their dream home.

Safety, durability and energy efficiency were the priorities of the renovation project. Drawing upon the expertise and manpower of the students, parents, alumni and some of their wives, the group was able to save thousands of dollars. Their 2,500 square foot, wood frame house is over 100 years old and hadn't undergone a major renovation in at least 50 years. They conducted a total "gut job" renovation: removed an unusable brick chimney; reconfigured the floor plan; straightened the walls and leveled the floors; replaced the mechanical systems; brought everything up to code; and installed a hardwire fire alert system. The interior walls in the common areas are now sheetrock over plywood; all the doors are now solidcore wood with metal jambs and commercial grade hardware; all windows were either removed entirely or replaced with energy efficient units; there is now a new roof and vinyl siding; insulation was added everywhere possible and the capacity was increased from 11 to 15. With the increased income and the savings in their energy and repair costs, the improvements are already paying for themselves.

By utilizing key management procedures, Theta Sigma is operating the property in a manner that enables them to retire their debt swiftly and prepare for their ultimate project. While spending money on a house they plan to tear down eventually was a tough pill to swallow, given their situation it was only prudent to maximize the income potential and limit operating expenses over the long term.

With the continued support from some of this chapter's founders, such as Robby Cisco and Terry Williams, the ongoing guidance and leadership of their chapter advisor Bill Berry and house corporation president Phil Murdock, and the time and money contributed by the other advisory board members, corporation officers and generous alumni, not to mention the manpower of the students themselves, Theta Sigma took several big steps in a relatively short period of time that not only resulted in a house they can be proud of, but also set them on a course of ultimately achieving their dream home.

Chapter Room Of The Year

At the Officers Leadership Academy this summer, for the second consecutive year, Chapter Room of the Year was awarded to Epsilon Iota Chapter at Southeast Missouri State University. The group's house corporation leases the common space of a university dorm floor which is occupied by Pikes. This includes a beautiful living area with traditional furnishings. The chapter's care and maintenance of the facility not only creates and perpetuates pride in the membership but also impresses all who visit. Following a recent tour, the University president stated that the Pike chapter room was a model of what a fraternity living area should be.

- ◆ A "live-in" requirement is used to help insure 100% occupancy.
- ◆ There is a "house manager" who oversees the maintenance of the facility which includes routine cleaning by all members. Work duties are regularly rotated and posted weekly and there is at least one major house clean-up/project day during each school term.

1996-97 Chapter Houses Of The Quarter

- ◆ Zeta Alpha Chapter, "A" and "B" sections (Kettering University, formerly GMI Engineering & Management Institute)
- ◆ Eta Alpha Chapter (Clemson University)
- ◆ Theta Sigma Chapter (Winthrop University)
- ◆ Kappa Mu Chapter (Wilfrid Laurier University)

These chapters care for their properties in an exemplary manner and all utilize the following "key" management procedures:

- ◆ The chapter rents the property from the house corporation at a flat annual rate (does not fluctuate with actual occupancy)
- ◆ Market rate rent is charged to the individual tenants (the room rent is at least equivalent to the rate paid in a comparable dorm on campus).
- ◆ A written agreement is used between the house corporation and chapter.
- ◆ Written leases are used with the individual tenants and security deposits are required.
- ◆ Out-of-house members pay some form of a parlor fee for also having the privilege to enjoy the house.

Announcing Pi Kappa Alpha's International Chapter House Work Day In April 1998

To renew old friendships and just plain have an excuse to get together, alumni often attend homecoming events, Founders Day celebrations, golf tournaments etc., but occasionally we'll hear about a group that got together to work on the chapter house and had a great time doing it! Coordinated by the house corporation and chapter house manager, an agenda is created and the needed tools and supplies are on hand to do the work. At the end of the day, the barbecue is fired up or pizzas are ordered and everyone reflects on their accomplishments, tells stories and enjoys the camaraderie of spending time with old and new friends. One alumnus said, "It was much more satisfying for me to visit the chapter house and do something constructive rather than just stopping by in a coat and tie at some social function; it was more rewarding from a brotherhood standpoint and I gained a renewed appreciation for the undergraduate members. And the house needed the work!" Pi Kappa Alpha encourages all chapters and house corporations to plan an alumni/chapter house work day on one of the weekends in April 1998. By January 15, 1998, send the Housing Office at the Memorial Headquarters your chosen day and we'll advertise it in the Shield & Diamond's March issue. Take photographs because we'll do a follow up article highlighting the successes of all the chapters that participate.

chapter house has been regularly improved and enhanced by the Dodd Hall Housing Corporation, with day-to-day maintenance and responsible use of the chapter house being in the hands of the undergraduate chapter. Special accolades are offered to House Manager Chris Battreall '96, who did much to get the house ready for this 50th Anniversary celebration. Also, special thanks to housing corporation financial advisor, Professor Hal Jasper '49, who for years has ably assisted the Dodd Hall Housing Corporation.

In commemoration of this important chapter anniversary, a 107 page chapter history was published under the stewardship of Tom McGlone '47. This history, entitled The First 50 Years, includes scores of photos and year-by-year accounts of the affairs of the chapter and events in the lives of its alumni. The text explains the origins of the name of the Dodd Hall Housing Corporation. The corporation was named in honor of Charles Forbes Dodd, a class of 1950 pledge, who drowned while swimming in the Tallawanda River. Delta Gamma founder Bainbridge Parker (initiated at Georgetown, Alpha Lambda '43) traveled from Florida for this 50th Anniversary celebration, recounted to all present his experiences in the founding of the chapter, and explained his role in recovery of the body of Charles Dodd. When several brothers learned that grappling hooks would be used to retrieve the body the next day, they set about their own systematic search of the river, and Brother Parker himself located the body. It was thus recovered without disfigurement caused by grappling hooks. Pi Kappa Alpha and each of its chapters are rich with history.

CHAPTER HOUSE OF THE QUARTER: Applications may be submitted to PiKA's Housing Department throughout the year. If your chapter needs an application, contact Housing Assistant Heather L. Huffman at the Memorial Headquarters, 8347 West Range Cove, Memphis, TN 38125. Completed applications may be faxed to (901) 748-3100.

Expansion

American University Chartered As Kappa Upsilon Chapter

In the spring of 1996, American University was forever changed when Pi Kappa Alpha Director of Expansion Shad Williams (Oklahoma State, Gamma Chi '90) and Director of Services Jef Meletio (Winthrop, Theta Sigma '91) came to American to establish a chapter. Nearly eighteen months later, after an untold amount of hard work and joy, the Kappa Upsilon Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha was installed.

The long road began with Williams and Meletio convincing the school and the Interfraternity Council to allow Pi Kappa Alpha the chance to begin a colony. They hand-picked the Alpha class of American University colony, and the process began. Under the leadership of SMC Mark Egan, things went well for the colony although over the summer they lost several members. There is no fall rush for freshmen at American, but they came back strong taking a small but superlative fall pledge class of four, including current IMC Jeff Polyak.

The colony pushed on, knowing that the key to establishing themselves as a presence on campus was the spring rush. Under the orchestration of Phillip Cook, Pike's spring rush took an unprecedented nineteen gentlemen – beating every other fraternity in not only size, but quality. The Gamma class provided the necessary life blood and vitality that was needed to move forward towards inspection.

The big day came on a Saturday morning in April. There to inspect the colony were Founders Regional President Russell Alexander (Northern Kentucky, Eta Rho '78), Meletio, and brothers from Johns Hopkins University and George Mason University. After a long and stressful six hours, the verdict came back – American University Colony had passed inspection and would be chartered in the fall.

Over the summer, the colony kept close touch with the help of Internal Communication Chairman Jim Krustapentus. Phillip Cook, now the SMC, and John Glazier began preparations for the chartering ball and celebration. The fall semester started off on the right foot, with the introduction of the Delta class. Another strong fall rush of five, the Delta class members underwent a superb pledge program ran by Pledge Educator Michael Miller. The colony also welcomed Brian Crandall, back from London, as their new IMC.

The brothers of Kappa Upsilon Chapter, American University.

The chartering and installation began on Friday, October 17 with the initiation of all four classes of the colony. On hand to initiate the members were brothers from George Washington University, Johns Hopkins University and George Mason University. Ritual continued on Saturday with part two of initiation and the installation of the chapter. There to perform the installation were Russell Alexander and F. Anderson Morse (William and Mary, Gamma '76), the immediate past international president of the Fraternity.

The ball was held that Saturday evening at the Doubletree Park Terrace in Washington, D.C. The newly installed Kappa Upsilon Chapter celebrated this great moment with dinner and dancing. There again to deliver the keynote speech was Brother Morse, with additional speeches given by Brother Alexander and Brother Cook, Kappa Upsilon's SMC.

This was truly a magnificent moment, not only for the brothers of Kappa Upsilon Chapter, but also for American University. Long into the future, there will be men on AU's campus introducing the meaning of $\phi\kappa\alpha$ into all aspects of life at American.

American University History

American University was chartered by an Act of Congress in 1893. The University opened its doors on May 27, 1914 and graduated its first class in 1916. Located in northwest Washington, D.C., American was used as a military base during World War I and later in World War II under the name of Camp Leech.

Through the years the campus has been the beneficiary of many memorable speeches by prominent world leaders. In 1963, President John F. Kennedy delivered a speech calling for the end of all atmospheric nuclear testing; a speech that marked the beginning of nuclear arms containment. President Bill Clinton spoke at the University's winter convocation in 1993.

American University is home to approximately 11,000 students, of which 5,000 are undergraduates. American is a private university affiliated with the Methodist Church.

Greeks at American

Greek life at American University has been an important part of the college experience for AU students. Located near Embassy Row in D.C., there is no real opportunity for traditional fraternity housing. However, fraternities and sororities are the driving force behind the activities that make the University what it is today – a place to experience the excitement of "The Hill", while still enjoying the benefits of the traditional college experience.

The Interfraternity Council consists of seven fraternities; seven sororities are represented on the Panhellenic Council. Kappa Upsilon Chapter is the newest chapter in a system that hasn't experienced expansion in over 25 years.

TAU CHAPTER North Carolina

Tau Chapter placed third out of all fraternities in GPA for fall 1997, with an aggregate 3.059. The Office of Greek Affairs awarded the chapter a plaque in honor of their achievement. SMC Bill Warren addressed the issue of alcohol abuse on MSNBC's Interright program, and spoke in regard to the new measures and preventions taken by UNC. In athletics, Tau Chapter won the fraternity division intramural basketball championship, as well as the overall intramural championship title.

BK BETA KAPPA CHAPTER Emory

Beta Kappa Chapter is working hard on public relations, hosting a series of dinners with administrators, professors and students. "Dinner with the Pikes" is held each Wednesday at the chapter house. Alpha Kappa Sorority, Greek Life, and favorite professors have enjoyed the brothers' hospitality so far. The brothers are participating in a program entitled On Campus Talking About Alcohol, designed to assess guidelines for changing high risk behavior. The chapter also co-sponsored motivational speaker Dave Westol to address the Emory community on the dangers associated with hazing.

BY BETA UPSILON CHAPTER Colorado

Beta Upsilon Chapter is proud of an aggregate GPA of 3.058, with the pledges averaging 3.4. Brothers hold prominent positions on campus, and are highly visible in campus sports. This high profile helped Beta Upsilon succeed in pinning 31 out of 33 bids given out recently.

Tau Chapter SMC Bill Warren accepts an award for Chapter Excellence from UNC Board of Trustees member Anne Cates.

Epsilon Sigma Chapter at UT-Martin is the strongest fraternity at the northwest Tennessee university with a pledge class of 53.

ΓΔ GAMMA DELTA CHAPTER Arizona

Gamma Delta started the academic year with an amazing rush, giving out nearly fifty bids. Intramural sports are also a priority. Family weekend at Arizona saw many parents visiting the school, prompting the chapter to plan a fathers' weekend.

ΓΘ GAMMA THETA CHAPTER Mississippi State

Gamma Theta Chapter ranked first academically among all fraternities on campus this fall with a 2.87 GPA, and won a Most Improved recognition for their scholastic efforts. Three-time weekly study sessions for pledges have begun this semester. The brothers hosted a Greek Council for Christ in October. Summer rush gained 56 rushees. With football season underway, Gamma Theta is represented on the varsity team by four brothers.

ΓΚ GAMMA KAPPA CHAPTER Montana State

Brothers from Gamma Kappa Chapter attended the Western Regional Greek Conference this year, meeting to discuss rush, risk awareness, and alcohol policies. While at the conference, the Montana State Joint IFC and Panhellenic Councils won the award for most improved joint council. The trip was partially funded by generous support from Gamma Kappa alumni. In community service for the Bozeman area, Gamma Kappa sponsors a highway cleanup.

ΓΟ GAMMA OMICRON CHAPTER Ohio

Gamma Omicron Chapter is the largest on the Ohio campus with over 130 active members, and 18 recent bids. The brothers also lead academically with a 3.0GPA. Gamma Omicron was paired with Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority for homecoming, and together they helped with the Save-A-Dog fundraiser for the Athens Pound rescue. Last summer's Officers Leadership Academy saw the Ohio chapter win their sixth Smythe award, as well as the 100+ Man Chapter award, and awards for rush, community service and scholarship.

ΓΞ GAMMA XI CHAPTER Washington State

Gamma Xi Chapter produced their first alumni newsletter in October, following their win of the Fraternity's alumni relations award. The house is now at its 72-man capacity, after this fall's rush gained a 24-man pledge class. Renovations to the chapter house include new computers, carpet, a reconstructed BBQ pit, DSS television services and a catered meal plan.

ΓΥ GAMMA UPSILON CHAPTER Tulsa

Gamma Upsilon Chapter is highly involved on the Tulsa campus, with members on the Student Association, IFC, Hurricane Sports Medicine Club, and the President Ambassadors Council. Several brothers were instrumental in planning Greek Week '97, and the chapter was heavily involved in intramurals.

ΔM DELTA MU CHAPTER Southern Mississippi

Delta Mu Chapter posted an overall GPA of 2.66; ten brothers made the Dean's List and Chad Lee made President's List. The chapter was awarded an excellence award at the Officers Leadership Academy last summer. Three rush parties and a rush workshop resulted in 22 new pledges this fall. Campus life and athletics are also important to Delta Mu, with brothers representing the chapter in IFC and on varsity teams.

ΔE DELTA XI CHAPTER Indiana

The brothers of Delta Xi Chapter used a unique idea to improve their summer rush program. The idea was the brainchild of Brother Josh Babcock. Rush Chair Darius Guzalaitis obtained a list of incoming freshmen who had indicated an interest in learning more about Greek life. Brothers who lived in proximity to these freshmen worked to establish personal contact and offer transportation to the rush program. Members were also encouraged to bring personal acquaintances as potential rush-ees. As a result, the summer rush program yielded a much larger number of rushees than in previous years. Activities included a tour of the chapter house, fishing at Lake Monroe, a barbecue, and a social with the women of Delta Gamma.

ΕΘ EPSILON THETA CHAPTER Colorado State

The brothers of Epsilon Theta Chapter pledged 24 top quality men after fall rush. An extremely motivated executive council deleted an extreme financial deficit in a matter of months. ThC Bryan Austin has produced a new computerized financial program. On April 20, 1997, Epsilon Theta won the following awards at the Greek Night Out program: Honorable Mention for Highest Percentage of New Members Initiated, First Place for the Overall Athletic Award, and Outstanding Interfraternal Man awarded to Andrew Densing. Epsilon Theta has entered into the final stage towards the chapter's Dream House. They have obtained a third residential house in its prime location, creating the largest property on campus. The active brothers will present Executive Housing Officer Dan Corah (Epsilon Theta '83) with over $7,000 by the end of 1997 for their Dream House fund. Questions and/or interest about Epsilon Theta's Dream House may be directed to Corah at the Memorial Headquarters.

ΕΙ EPSILON IOTA CHAPTER Southeast Missouri State

Epsilon Iota Chapter's Rush Chairman Kyle Vogt, along with a newly revised rush program, produced 25 pledges this fall. The chapter took first place in homecoming for the thirteenth year; that evening's formal was highlighted by guest speaker Dr. Burton Harris '71. Currently, Zeta Sigma Chapter at Florida Institute of Technology is proud of winning the Harvey T. Newell Award at the 1997 Officers Leadership Academy.

80% of the chapter is active in various campus organizations including student government and IFC. Athletics continue to run strong with intramural and varsity sports.

ΕΛ EPSILON LAMBDA CHAPTER Murray State

Epsilon Lambda Chapter encourages and rewards scholastic excellence with the Heath Skipworth memorial scholarship, which goes to the pledge with the highest grade point average. On campus, brothers are involved in IFC, student government, student alumni association and the University Center board. On October 9th of this year, Epsilon Lambda was the only fraternity at Murray State to be awarded the Greek Excellence award. In rush, the chapter has gained 21 pledges this fall, more than double the amount of any other fraternity. Alumni speakers and the chapter consultant contributed to their efforts. Surprisingly, the chapter's rush expenses went down 50%, proving that a good rush does not require a high budget.

ΕΣ EPSILON SIGMA CHAPTER Tennessee-Martin

This fall, Epsilon Sigma Chapter conducted a remarkably successful rush. This year's rush program proved worthy due to new structure and organization. Out of 180 potential rushees, and competition from seven other fraternities, Pi Kappa Alpha succeeded in pledging 53.

ΖΑ ZETA ALPHA "A" CHAPTER Kettering University

Zeta Alpha "A" Chapter has a new school name: GMI Engineering & Management Institute has changed its name to Kettering University, in honor of noted inventor Charles F. "Boss" Kettering. This fall, the chapter brought in 18 pledges. In community service, the annual Dribble for Life raised $2,000 for the Make-

A-Wish Foundation. Intramural sports have also been big, with Zeta Alpha holding the lead in the race for the Greek Cup.

ΖΒ ZETA BETA CHAPTER Delta State

Zeta Beta Chapter has a number of members involved in organizations and honor societies on the Delta State campus. The brothers also showed school spirit by winning the spirit award at pep rallies. Using traditional rush methods, Zeta Beta pledged 22 associate members and has a number of prospective pledges lined up for spring rush. Varsity and intramural sports also play a large part in Zeta Beta's fraternity life.

Pikes Get The Opportunity To See The World And Earn Credits

The University of Pittsburgh's Semester at Sea program gave eight brothers of Pi Kappa Alpha the opportunity to take part in an amazing voyage around the world. This unique study abroad program allows students to travel extensively while earning a semester of credit to their home universities. Students enroll in four to five classes from a wide selection of class offerings by professors from all over the world. The classes correlate with situations that students will encounter in various ports of call. The ship also offers recreational facilities to give the students a chance to relax in their spare time. Students can be found doing anything from sunbathing at the pool to just relaxing or playing basketball. Pikes were no exception this semester and made a showing at all events. The Spring 1997 voyage, extending from January 29th to May 10th, had an extensive itinerary. The S.S. Universe Explorer traveled to nine ports of call during the voyage; Venezuela, Brazil, South Africa, Kenya, India, Vietnam, the Philippines, Hong Kong, and Japan. Brothers could be found on the streets of Caracas, celebrating Carnival in Brazil, at the Stellenbosch Winelands, on safari in Kenya, at the Taj Mahal in India, crawling through the Cu Chi Tunnels in Saigon, going to a cock fight in the Philippines, visiting Tian'anmen Square in China, visiting the world's largest outdoor bronze Buddha in Hong Kong, or at Disneyland in Tokyo. These eight brothers came from different universities all over the United States but bonded on their journey across the globe. The brothers attending were:

Lucas Kovalcik (Cornell, Beta Theta '95)

Christopher Stogel (Southern California, Gamma Eta '95)

Brad Ableson (Southern California, Gamma Eta '94)

Jay Hack (Emory, Beta Kappa '95)

Elmquist '85 and Paul Antonenko '89 spoke on rush and rebuilding the house that was lost in this year's floods. Without a house, rush was difficult, but active members have determined to double their efforts next spring. The chapter has a temporary cubicle in the University Union as its headquarters, and plans are for construction on a new house to begin in the spring.

ZETA SIGMA CHAPTER
Florida Institute of Technology

Zeta Sigma Chapter has established new study hours and a library sign-in program, earning the brothers the second highest GPA on campus, with the pledge class earning the highest GPA of all Greek pledge classes. The chapter pledged 25 men with rush events that included a Meet the Greeks program, a day at the beach, a dinner, and other activities designed to give brothers and rushees a chance to meet one-on-one. Zeta Sigma maintains high visibility with members on varsity teams, and by winning the President's Cup and the Most Outstanding Greek Organization award. On the international level, Zeta Sigma won a Chapter Excellence award and the Harvey T. Newell Award at the 1997 Officers Leadership Academy.

HA ETA ALPHA CHAPTER Clemson

After a long week of rush, Eta Alpha Chapter came away with the most pledges on campus. The 30-man pledge class includes men from twelve different states. As a result, the Clemson Pikes continue a long tradition of having the most diverse group of men on campus. On homecoming day this year, Eta Alpha held a family brunch attended by over 50 families.

HE ETA EPSILON CHAPTER Angelo State

An alumni newsletter is in the works for Eta Epsilon Chapter, thanks to help from alumnus Jim Bean '71, a professional photographer. The chapter participated in Angelo State's homecoming, sponsoring the first Ms. Angelo State contest and a brisket cook-off with entry fees going to the San Angelo United Way. Eta Epsilon made use of freshman dormitory move-in day to meet young men interested in Greek life. These potential rushees were invited to the chapter house for refreshments, and a social mixer was held at an alumnus-owned restaurant. The chapter has strict requirements for pledges: they must have at least a 20 on the ACT, a 900 on the SAT, or if they've had more than 12 college hours, a 2.20 GPA. This stringent rush resulted in 12 top quality associates.

IN IOTA NU CHAPTER Saint Louis

Iota Nu Chapter proudly received the International Scholarship Award at the 1997 Officers Leadership Academy for the highest GPA. Spring 1997 rush and initiation went well, with the spring pledge class GPA a strong 3.5. In the fall semester, Iota Nu used the two-week rush period to good advantage with a barbecue with all the sororities on campus, softball games, and other social activities. In community service, the Pikes volunteer weekly at a soup kitchen, along with the ladies of Gamma Phi Beta. The chapter is well represented in intramural and varsity sports.

IE IOTA XI CHAPTER Chicago

Iota Xi Chapter boasts a solid 3.1 GPA, and is a growing chapter. With 36 members, the brothers have held rush events including a White Sox game and paintball to attract the new pledge class. The chapter participates in a volunteer tutoring program in the inner city on Monday nights. Intramurals are a big part of chapter life, as are varsity sports. Heavy representation in these areas provides the Pikes with great visibility, always an aid in rush.

IY IOTA UPSILON CHAPTER Georgia Southern

Iota Upsilon Chapter has had a goal, since its chartering five years ago, of obtaining a lot and building a permanent chapter house on Greek Row. This past spring, with the help of Alumni Housing Association President Russ Davis '93, and their chapter advisor, the Pikes have succeeded in buying their property. Fundraising for the construction of the new chapter house is now underway.

IX IOTA CHI CHAPTER Connecticut

Scholastic performance is a top priority to Iota Chi Chapter. The spring 1997 GPA of 2.85 is well above the Greek average on campus, and also that of the all-men's GPA. Old rivalries returned this year in intramurals, and one of the chapter's most rewarding wins was against Sigma Alpha Epsilon on the football field.

Charlotte Music Festival, and the Rolling Stones Concert.

IO IOTA OMEGA CHAPTER Western Ontario

Iota Omega Chapter has publicized the young group's name and reputation with Greek life activities, including social functions with the Western Ontario sororities. Following a successful rush, the chapter pledged 16 outstanding men. High profile involvement in campus leadership also assists the group in rush. Last spring, Iota Omega hosted the Great Lakes Regional Leadership Conference, and is looking forward to the 1998 Convention in nearby Toronto.

KΔ KAPPA DELTA CHAPTER Northeastern

Kappa Delta Chapter achieved an overall GPA of 3.0+ during the summer quarter, the best Greek average on campus. The presence of Pikes in key positions in campus organizations, as well as in intramural and varsity sports, assisted the chapter in rush, which yielded nine pledges this fall.

KA KAPPA LAMBDA CHAPTER Western Illinois

Kappa Lambda Chapter had the highest GPA of all student organizations at Western Illinois for fall 1997. An effective study hour program for actives and pledges gives the chapter the scholastic edge. All members of the chapter are involved in campus organizations, with many brothers serving as officers. A new program for the chapter is "Pike Taxi", a service which assures brothers of a safe ride home each weekend night from 10:30 p.m. - 2:30 a.m. Also this semester, the Pikes joined representatives of other fraternities in protesting the Office of Student Activities policy which prohibits new students on probation from rushing or pledging a Greek organization. The brothers reason that Greek groups offer scholarship programs and many have GPAs above the university average. A rush program which recruits scholars, leaders, athletes and gentlemen yielded a fine pledge class with a GPA of 3.1.

KN KAPPA NU CHAPTER Pacific

Kappa Nu Chapter has the highest GPA of any men's organization on the University of the Pacific campus. New faculty advisor for the Pikes is Bob Hanyak, chairman of the communicative disorders department. The chapter is proud of winning Delta Gamma's Anchor Splash this year, including the title of Mr. Anchor Splash.

KK KAPPA KAPPA CHAPTER North Carolina-Charlotte

An outstanding rush brought sixteen pledges into Kappa Kappa Chapter, which held the highest Greek GPA on the Charlotte campus. The brothers worked heavily on fundraising this semester, raising money by parking cars for the Carolina Panthers home games, the

The Promise Of Pi Kappa Alpha:

A Response to the Social Capital Study

by Dr. William H. Willimon

The National Interfraternity Conference (NIC) and the National Panhellenic Conference (NPC) joined forces to commission a study to measure the impact of Greek affiliation on college alumni. Specifically, they were interested in knowing whether or not the concept of public, community and university service promulgated by the Greek system carries over into adult life, and whether or not the emphasis on "giving back" to society translates to greater amounts of money donated to educational or charitable entities.

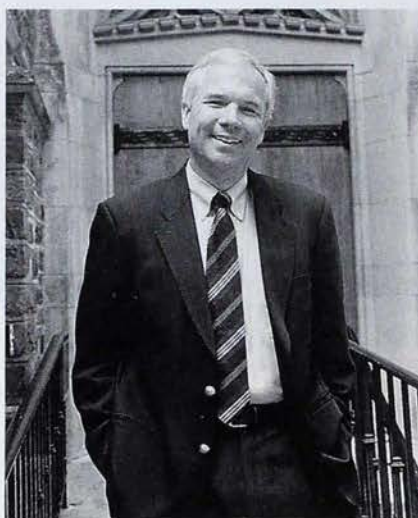

The Center for Advanced Social Research conducted the study. A preliminary report released last spring revealed that Greek alumni contribute more to the development of their communities, in both time and money. The implication is that, as adults, fraternity men and sorority women contribute significant social capital to our society. This study represents an important step toward understanding the real value of the undergraduate Greek experience and the positive role it plays in developing good citizenship.

What follows is Dr. William H. Willimon's response to the preliminary report.

When I was a lowly pledge (Wofford College, Nu '65) the brothers had each of us write an essay, "What Pi Kappa Alpha Means to Me." Perhaps such essays are still required of pledges. I do not remember the full substance of my essay, however I do remember its central thesis: Fraternities are valuable because, among other virtues, they force you to be with people you don't immediately like.

As I recall, the Pledge Master failed to grasp the profundity of my argument. Still, I stand by it. A fraternity forces you to call perfect strangers "brother." Eventually, given enough time and effort, many of these erstwhile strangers will become brothers. That is the promise of Pi Kappa Alpha.

To a remarkable degree, the promise is kept. Those whom we might not otherwise have regarded as friends become friends. The guy with whom you have nothing in common turns out to be, within the fraternity, your dearest cohort. Thus is fulfilled the promise that is Pi Kappa Alpha.

Dr. Willimon

"Are you going out for rush?" I asked a Duke First-Year-Student.

"I'm not sure," he said. "Frats take a lot of time. I'm not sure I can make the commitment."

I then found myself urging him to rush. "In my experience, you're just the sort of person who could benefit from a fraternity. Fraternities force you to venture out, to become involved with others, to be exposed to a wider array of people than you would have encountered if you had been left to your own devices."

Left to our own devices, we hunker down with our own. We keep safe. Fraternities are about commitment, the commitment to be with persons we might otherwise have avoided. There is no community without commitment.

Thus I am not at all surprised by the results of the Social Capital Study by the Center for Advanced Social Research. Social Capital - a citizen's involvement in the community - has been a hot topic in recent years. You may have read about Harvard sociologist Robert Putnam's article, "Bowling Alone" in which he noted the drastic decline in civic engagement in America during the past two decades. Voter turnout, participation in volunteer organizations, churchgoing, all appear to be in decline. People are staying home, cultivating their own gardens, and disengaging from commitment to what Putnam calls the "moral resource" that enables our communities to work - Social Capital. We are fast becoming a nation of detached, uncommitted strangers.

Except among members of fraternities and sororities. The study of a couple of thousand of us showed that, in life after college, the fraternity members demonstrated an unusually high degree of "Social Capital." Greek affiliation correlates with high student involvement in extra curricular campus organizations. Then, as adults, Greeks belong to more civic and community organizations than non-Greeks. Furthermore, Greeks gave significantly more money to support charitable and religious organizations.

Presumably, those who join fraternities desire a high degree of social interaction. They come to us already making group commitment and social engagement a priority. However, once they are in our fraternity, organizing and motivating others, running and participating in meetings, allocating time and money, and managing commitments are major aspects of Greek life.

Recently a fraternity member expressed surprise that, when he was applying for a job, prospective companies were more interested in his work in his fraternity - organizing a complete Habitat for Humanity work team which built a home in one month - than in any other aspect of his college career.

"We can get people with great grades," one interviewer explained to him. "What's tough is to find college graduates who have had significant experience organizing people, getting people to produce, setting goals and urging others to cooperate in achieving those goals."

"Then I realized," said the student, "that my fraternity life had given me my most marketable skills."

Among those skills are skills which are "Social Capital". A democracy is utterly dependent upon a complex network of intermediary organizations spread throughout the community which make our life together humane. Therefore, we should not at all be surprised that Greek life is a major contributing factor to a lifetime of service.

Community Service Accolades

Recognizing Pi Kappa Alpha's Undergraduate Brothers

The true adventure and fullness of life can be experienced only by giving unconditionally of ourselves for the benefit of others. Greek organizations exert tremendous influence in the development of young people. Therefore, giving of one's self is a critical element of the Greek system's curriculum for producing good citizens.

Philanthropic and community service has always been an important part of the Greek system's role in society. Each year, literally millions of dollars and hours are raised and donated to charitable organizations and other worthwhile causes by fraternities and sororities throughout the nation.

Pi Kappa Alpha has always believed that civic and philanthropic service is an important aspect of the undergraduate experience. The Fraternity encourages and supports endeavors of this kind. Awards and recognition are given annually to those chapters that go above and beyond the call of duty in this area.

PI CHAPTER

Washington and Lee University – The brothers of Pi Chapter gave over 170 man-hours of their time to charitable causes. Some of their major community service projects included:

Rockbridge Area Conservation Council's Maury River Clean-Up – This annual event involved cleaning trash and debris from the Chessie Trail and the banks of the Maury River, the main river through Lexington. Twenty-two brothers participated this year and collected over 1,000 pounds of trash and debris.

Valentine's Day Dance at Stonewall Jackson Hospital – The men of Pi Chapter teamed up with the ladies of Chi Omega Sorority to show gratitude and appreciation to the elders of Lexington, Virginia with a Valentine's Day celebration at Stonewall Jackson Hospital's Extended Care Facility.

American Cancer Society's Walk for Life – This was the third year that the Washington and Lee Pikes have participated in the Walk for Life, organized in conjunction with the American Cancer Society and the Catholic Campus Ministry. Pi's house mother proudly took part in the 10k walk along with the brothers.

Annual Pledge Class Highway Clean-Up – In March 1997 the pledge class and their pledge educators worked to clean PiKA's one-mile stretch of Highway 11 in Rockbridge County. Traditionally, this on-going clean-up project is chosen as one of the pledge class' community service projects. This year they collected over 50 bags of trash.

TAU CHAPTER

University of North Carolina – Tau Chapter completed its 1996-1997 partnership with Habitat for Humanity on April 20, 1997: construction was finished on the house the Pikes worked on along with Delta Delta Delta, Pi Kappa Phi and Sigma Phi Epsilon. After a dedication ceremony, the house was turned over to its new owners, the Rodriguez family.

BETA KAPPA CHAPTER

Emory University – The Emory Pikes participated in an AIDS Walk on Sunday, October 19 in downtown Atlanta, Georgia. Additionally, the brothers have purchased jerseys for a local underprivileged boys' basketball team.

Over 3,000 boy scouts and their families enjoyed the world's largest popcorn ball, sponsored by Delta Chi Chapter at the University of Nebraska-Omaha.

BETA UPSILON CHAPTER

University of Colorado – The brothers of Beta Upsilon clean a stretch of Highway 36, leading onto the Boulder campus. Also, in conjunction with Kappa Kappa Gamma, the chapter contributed to the Kick for Craig tournament, a philanthropy benefiting the Craig Memorial Hospital. The Pikes continue to help out the local school district through the Adopt-A-School program, in which more than 30 members participate. At Halloween, a Pike "haunted house" gave local children an opportunity for safe trick-or-treating.

GAMMA THETA CHAPTER

Mississippi State University – Gamma Theta Chapter contributes to the Starkville, Mississippi community with monthly highway clean-ups, which have gained the brothers some great recognition on campus and in town. The Mississippi State faculty also received appreciation from the chapter in the form of a free faculty car wash, held in conjunction with Phi Mu Sorority. The Palmer Home for Children is another beneficiary of Gamma Theta's community service. A roller skating party treated the kids to fun, games and pizza. Another party for the Palmer Home was held for Halloween.

GAMMA XI CHAPTER

Washington State University – Forty members of Gamma Xi Chapter walked for the benefit of Habitat for Humanity on September 28, 1997, and raised donations of $200.

GAMMA UPSILON CHAPTER

University of Tulsa – Members and pledges at Tulsa participated in Kappa Alpha Theta's annual Theta World Cup soccer tournament for CASA, in Chi Omega's Chi-O Brunch for Call Rape, and in Kappa Kappa Gamma's Kappa 5K Klassic for the American Cancer

Recently I met with four or five different fraternities at Duke. I led them in discussion of a wide range of campus issues. One "hot topic" on our campus is diversity. How can we be a campus which respects differences among people and lives with and even celebrates those differences? Fraternities are often accused of being places which harbor the antithesis of diversity.

"The campus believes that all of us look alike and that's why we're in a fraternity - to be with guys just like us," complained one member.

Ironically, life inside a fraternity rarely feels like a pleasant, non-conflicted party with people "just like us." Inside a fraternity, in the frequently intense interaction among members, our differences are exposed, encountered, and negotiated. We learn to deal with our diversity rather than to deny it.

"It's a great challenge," said one chapter president, "to party with, get money out of, and get along with forty guys who are all different from one another."

Quite a challenge. Yet meeting that challenge represents fraternity life at its best. Too often on our campus, "diversity" means, "You've got your culture (or gender, or race, or ethnicity, or religion) and I have mine. That's cool. I won't bother you with mine if you won't bother me with yours." Cool. Detached. Disengagement called "diversity." This isn't much out of which to build a common future.

The promise of Pi Kappa Alpha is that if we dare to commit ourselves to others, if we work at treating one another as brothers, we will be as we profess. We will discover that our differences are part of the fun of being in a fraternity. We will have gained skills of commitment, engagement, negotiation, and civic leadership which will serve our communities well for the rest of our lives. Think of fraternity life as the acquisition of Social Capital which will be expended for the good of the community for the rest of our lives.

That's the promise of Pi Kappa Alpha.

William H. Willimon is Dean of the Chapel and Professor of Christian Ministry at Duke University in Durham, North Carolina. He is the author of over forty books and numerous articles, and a past contributor to Shield & Diamond. His December 1996 article, "Fraternities and Friendship", received the National Interfraternity Publications Award last year. He is a frequent speaker on college campuses and in communities. Newsweek magazine has identified him as one of the twelve most effective preachers in the English speaking world.

Community Service Accolades

Society. The Pikes had racked up over 500 community service hours for the fall semester as of October 1st.

DELTA MU CHAPTER

University of Southern Mississippi - The Delta Mu brothers assist the children of the Dubard School for Language Disorder by entertaining them two or three times each week. On October 19th, the Pikes cleaned a two-mile stretch of highway with the Adopt-A-Highway program. They also participated in a blood drive in November for Mississippi Blood Services.

DELTA CHI CHAPTER

University of Nebraska-Omaha - On Thursday, September 18, fraternities and sororities banded together to show their support for the Boy Scouts of America at the world's largest popcorn ball. According to Kris Kimmy, SMC of Delta Chi Chapter, the Boy Scouts have been adopted as the chapter's philanthropy.

Brother Jamie Pollert explained how they proposed the PIKE CHALLENGE, asking other Greek groups to sell popcorn to raise money for the Scouts. Greeks involved included Delta Chi Chapter, Theta Lambda Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha from Creighton University, Chi Omega, Theta Phi Alpha and Alpha Phi Omega. Their combined goal was $10,000 in sales.

Over 200 men and women worked the event; Delta Chi sponsored a police cruiser and two fire trucks, present to offer fire and safety information to the youth attending. Exploring Executive Jeff Barnhart of the Mid-America Council of the Boy Scouts of America writes, "...Approximately 3,000 Scouters and their families attended this event, showing their support of Scouting. I'm proud to say that Pi Kappa Alpha and their PIKE CHALLENGE stole the show... The fraternity brought excitement as well as education to our scouts and their families. Not only did (the Pikes) show us their support, but they gathered other organizations to do the same."

earned praise from Scout Executive/President Lloyd E. Roitstein of the Mid-America Council for their assistance. Roitstein writes, "The Mid-America Council, Boy Scouts of America, built a new Scout Center in Northwest Omaha... We're in the midst of building a nature and hiking trail along the river on our property. At a recent workday, the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity volunteered to help deliver woodchips on the trail, plant trees, trim branches and do other work to help us... The fraternity brothers were positive, enthusiastic, hardworking and helped lead some of the other volunteers during the project..."

Mayor Hal Daub of Omaha commends the chapter on their participation in the 1997 Keep Omaha Beautiful Youth Fall Clean Up. This project was sponsored by the Boy Scouts of America, with the help of Delta Chi Chapter. "You have set a high standard of community excellence," Daub writes, "an example I hope all citizens will follow throughout the year."

Russ Roe, Learning for Life Director of the Mid-America Council, comments, "The Pikes enthusiastic dedication to the Boy Scouts is starting to turn some heads. I feel you should know that philanthropy directors such as Jamie Pollert are directing a large number of hands and bodies in a positive direction for the community."

EPSILON THETA CHAPTER

Colorado State University - Cans Around the Oval is a tradition on the Colorado State Campus, and the Epsilon Theta brothers excel at collecting thousands of pounds of food for the drive. The chapter was recognized nationally for their extraordinary efforts in fundraising over $10,000 in a four-month time span. They accomplished this feat by working guest relations/security at Colorado Avalanche and Denver Broncos games.

EPSILON IOTA CHAPTER

Southeast Missouri State University - Epsilon Iota Chapter won the University's community service award last year by giving over 1,200 hours of service to organizations such as the Red Cross, Ronald McDonald House, Special Olympics and the Humane Society. Already this year, over 400 hours have been documented as the SEMO Pikes work toward a goal of 2,000 hours.

EPSILON LAMBDA CHAPTER

Murray State University - The brothers of Epsilon Lambda completed 2,000 hours of community service since fall 1996. These hours included the Super America MS-Walk for multiple sclerosis, work with the Murray City Schools crosswalk, and the Murray-Jaycees Haunted Forest. The Pikes raised $150 in food for the United Way Needline and helped raise $3,800 to help the Women's Club of Murray purchase firefighters' helmets.

ZETA ALPHA "A" CHAPTER

Kettering University - Zeta Alpha Pikes raised $2,000 for the Make-A-Wish Foundation, in addition to participating in an annual blood drive.

ZETA BETA CHAPTER

Delta State University – The Pikes at Delta State have taken part in a number of community service events this semester. The brothers engineered two campus clean-up projects and gave the intramural athletics department a big helping hand when they took part in the construction of a volleyball court. Members took part in a canned food drive for a local church in October, and have donated a part of their proceeds from fundraising to United Way.

ZETA SIGMA CHAPTER

Florida Institute of Technology – The brothers of Zeta Sigma Chapter participate in the following programs: Adopt-A-Highway, Big Brother/Little Brother, Midnight Basketball coaching in conjunction with the Palm Bay Police Department, and the Boy Scouts Thanksgiving Food Drive.

ETA ALPHA CHAPTER

Clemson University – The Pikes of Eta Alpha Chapter opened the 1997 fall semester with a charity event: along with four other fraternities, they sponsored a concert on campus that included Run-DMC, Edwin McCain, and Drivin-and-Cryin. This concert helped raise over $2,500 for Helping Hands, which benefits underprivileged children.

ETA EPSILON CHAPTER

Angelo State University – Brothers Roland Moreno, James Brewer and Benjamin Acosta deejayed a dance for a Catholic church youth group. They used sound equipment lent by the Pike lodge to provide the sound. Brother Chris Contreras has volunteered his time to talk to photography students at a local high school about the technical aspects of photography.

IOTA PI CHAPTER

University of California-Los Angeles – The brothers of Iota Pi Chapter are heavily involved in a community service project called SHARE. This program sends UCLA students to underprivileged elementary schools for tutoring. Currently, three SHARE coordinators are Pikes, while 20-25 other members of the house volunteer.

IOTA CHI CHAPTER

University of Connecticut – The month of October was especially rewarding for the brothers of Iota Chi Chapter. On the 18th, the chapter sponsored a campus-wide kickball tournament to benefit a 9 year old, Amanda Fedigan, who has been diagnosed with cancer. Amanda is the niece of Brendan Fedigan, a past SMC of Iota Chi. All teams were asked to donate a $50 fee to participate, and all the brothers helped organize and work the event to make it a great success. The proceeds went to the Amanda Fedigan Trust Fund, and the interfraternal good will benefited all the Greeks on campus.

The chapter's second philanthropy ran all semester long. Graduating senior Lynn Simoneau, a paraplegic, asked the brothers for their help in raising money to buy a handicapped-accessible van. The Pikes felt they could contribute by collecting cans for recycling. They asked Coca-Cola for help, and got a premium rate for the returned cans. They also encouraged other Greek groups and campus organizations to pitch in. The brothers on the Undergraduate Student Government assisted with campus-wide publicity for the cause. Great results have been obtained so far, and the chapter looks forward to seeing the project through to fruition.

KAPPA DELTA CHAPTER

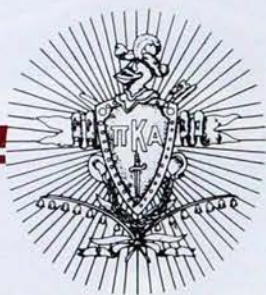

Northeastern University – Kappa Delta Chapter was named the New England Aquarium's group of the year for their long-time support of the facility. This fall, they participated in the aquarium's annual Haunted Halloween event. In addition, the chapter's support of local St. Ann's parish remains strong; the brothers provide weekly clean-up visits to the parish, as well as working on major projects.

KAPPA LAMBDA CHAPTER

Western Illinois University – Kappa Lambda Chapter serves the community through the Adopt-A-Highway program. The brothers are responsible for a length of Jackson Street in Macomb, Illinois. Additionally, the chapter has participated in several campus clean-up events with other student organizations. Several brothers coach local youth sports teams, and the chapter as a whole supports the Macomb football league by working yard markers and concessions at all games.

Zeta Beta Chapter worked to beautify the campus of Delta State University.

Chris Tucker Scholarship Fund Established

Chris has been a dedicated member of the Lion's Club of Springfield for years, and the local club recently honored his membership and years of service with a $1,000 contribution to this scholarship fund, which has an endowment goal of $10,000. Proceeds from this endowment will be awarded annually to an undergraduate brother who most epitomizes Brother Tucker's courage and zest for life.

Pi Kappa Alpha International Alumni Association

Alpha Eta (Florida) Alumni Club

Motivated even further by the winning of the 1997 Nester Award for alumni association excellence, the Alpha Eta Alumni Club hopes to accomplish even more this year. Ten new members, many of them younger alumni, have joined the club. New members Rod Whited '90 and former chapter consultant Chris Peterson '91 organized a Fall Football Reunion for the weekend of the Florida Gators victory over the Arkansas Razorbacks. Over 125 alumni, most of them initiated 1988-93, attended what is certain to become an annual event. Thanks as usual to Larry Ramers '71 for his work with the Alpha Eta Alumni Club.

Alpha Nu (Missouri) Alumni Association

Alpha Nu celebrated Super Alumni Weekend '97 on September 27, 1997. For the second consecutive year, the event was a tremendous success. Over 125 alumni returned to Columbia to watch the vastly improved Mizzou Tigers lose a tough one to the mighty Ohio State Buckeyes. Alumni were treated to a recently renovated front section of the Pike House, a receptive and growing chapter, and yet another reunion show by The Jobz, that laughable, lovable house band from the eighties. Thanks to SAW '97 co-chairmen Greg Rebman '83 and Kurt Heinrichs '83 for their great efforts. Super Alumni Weekend '98 is scheduled for September 12, 1998 when Mizzou takes on arch-rival Kansas.

Alpha Phi (Iowa State) Alumni Association

The Alpha Phi Alumni Association celebrated its first full year of existence with a successful tailgate party prior to the Iowa State vs. Iowa football game. Only the game's outcome was disappointing. Over 125 alumni traveled from all over the United States, special mention going to the most senior attendees George Haverkamp '39 and Larry Anderson '37. Special thanks to Craig Baurle '87 for arranging football tickets, Bob Roush '88 for manning the grill, and of course Tom Norris '72, Dave Tillinghast '79 and Dana Bentzinger '74. The association wishes success to the current members of Alpha Phi and extends congratulations to Scott Lucas, the first new member in Alpha Phi's recolonization process.

New members of the NSU Pike Alumni Association are welcomed to campus by the current brothers of Theta Epsilon Chapter at Northeastern State University in Tahlequah, Oklahoma.

Atlanta Alumni Club

The Atlanta Alumni Club hosted its first annual golf tournament at the Champions Club of Gwinnett in Snellville, Georgia. Nearly 40 golfers, including club president Oliver Porter (South Carolina, Xi '56), Educational Foundation Executive Director Pat Haynes (Arkansas State, Delta Theta '81) and Director of Alumni Affairs Steve Vincent (Missouri, Alpha Nu '83), enjoyed the tournament which was coordinated by John Houston (Pittsburg State, Epsilon Chi '69). Next year's tournament is already scheduled for October 5, 1998.

Big Sky (Montana State) Alumni Association

On October 3-4, 1997, the Big Sky Alumni Association of Gamma Kappa chapter celebrated Montana State's Homecoming. The current chapter, which receives from the association academic scholarships and Fraternity conference fees, provided pre-game house tours and a post-game barbecue. In addition to social activities, the alumni association further developed its advisory program which pairs executive chapter officers with alumni. Reminiscences of a Memphis Pike Hayden H. Reynolds (Rhodes, Theta '25), at the age of 90, looks back on a full and interesting life.

His freshman year was 1924 at Southwestern Presbyterian University (later renamed Rhodes College). While in college, he played piano for chapel each morning. In 1926, he played with local Memphis orchestras, most notably with Sammy Lazarov at the "Silver Slipper", a club well known to Memphians of that era. Reynolds finally started an orchestra of his own, "The Tennessee Collegians", and worked as staff pianist at WMC radio. In 1927, an agent from New York heard his band and signed them for one year to play the Pantages Theatre circuit, ranging from New York through the U.S. and into Canada. They were the headline act in the show, and a big hit. The orchestra was glad to return to Memphis, however, at about the same time as vaudeville came to a close. Reynolds and his fellow musicians were still in their teens.

Back in Memphis, Reynolds served for a period as organist at Temple Baptist Church. He continued to play with quite a few big bands until he was drafted into the Army in the early 1940s. After a couple of years as a private, he applied to Officers Candidate School. He was commissioned in the Transportation Corps and invaded Omaha Beach in France on D-Day. Reynolds came out of the Army as a captain in 1946.

After the death of his father in 1953, Reynolds took over the family insurance and real estate agency, which had been established in 1888. He went on to be elected mayor of Starkville, Mississippi, and served from 1957-61. His wife, whom he recalls as "the perfect wife", ran the business while he served as mayor. She died in 1996.

Reynolds remains active, playing the organ at 1st Presbyterian Church in Starkville every Sunday, and getting in 18 holes of golf each Friday.

News of BYGONE DAYS

100 YEARS AGO... The first chapter was established in the state of Texas when 12 alumni gathered at the Texas State Fair and Dallas Exposition to form the Alumnus Chapter at Dallas, Texas... An article in the October 1897 Shield & Diamond on fraternity life proclaimed, "The main principle of the Fraternity is fraternity. The validity and worthiness of this principle no one may question. Without it, there can be no complete education, no complete character. Social companionship and good fellowship are as air and sunshine to the proper development of student life and character. Their exclusion inevitably results in stunted, if not blighted, growth."

75 YEARS AGO... In his Passing Thoughts column, Smythe writes, "There is considerable talk in the fraternity press concerning the need for expansion of the existing nationals — and, in smaller volume, the views of those who oppose this. Apparently the majority of fraternities favor wise, careful expansion. Most commentators express doubt as to just what the solution is."... Sigma Chi chartered its first chapter outside the United States at the University of Toronto.

50 YEARS AGO... Members and pledges of Alpha Sigma Chapter (California-Berkeley) gather to pay tribute to Mother Camper on her 85th birthday. She has served the chapter as house mother for 35 years, and has kept in close touch with more than 400 alumni who still are "my boys."

25 YEARS AGO... R. John Kaegi (Oregon, Gamma Pi '67) becomes the 13th editor of the Shield & Diamond... The magazine adopts the format of an educational journal and its objective is changed to focus more on features and depth reporting on relevant issues.

Chapter Eternal

Bob T. Williams

Bob T. Williams, a 1952 initiate of Delta Zeta Chapter at the University of Memphis, entered Chapter Eternal on October 29, 1997, after a prolonged bout with cancer. He is survived by his wife, Rhee, and son, Tommy.

Bob T. gave special meaning to our Fraternity and to me personally. Many of us have similar stories of fraternal brothers who have influenced our lives. But to me this one is indeed special.

Although 14 years my senior, Bob T. was like the older brother I never had. From the time he spontaneously attended the 1970 Convention in Biloxi, Mississippi, we developed a lasting friendship. He had left his Memphis law firm at his usual 8:00 p.m. quitting time and knocked on my hotel room door at 2:00 a.m. I was pleasantly surprised. Since he didn't have a room, we were up most of the night discussing Fraternity issues and life.

Bob T. taught me how to be a leader and, more importantly, how to give to others. He did this simply through his deeds. A former chapter president, IFC president, and Mr. Memphis State University were just a few of his achievements as a student. As an alumnus, he led an unselfish life of service. He convinced me to become a board member of the local YMCA, a member of the East Memphis Exchange Club of which he became president and chairman of the board at the state level, and a fund raiser for the Memphis State University Alumni Association of which he was president. The University honored Bob T. with its Distinguished Alumni Achievement Award and inducted him into the Alumni Hall of Fame. He was president of the chapter's house corporation and served on its board for over 30 years. At the national level, Bob T. was secretary of the Memorial (now Educational) Foundation for 12 years and chairman of its Student Aid Committee. He and his law firm represented the Fraternity's Housing Commission for over 30 years. His work was always of the highest professionalism. For example, on every student scholarship loan application, he would make notes assuring himself and our Fraternity that only the truly needy were helped.

Duck hunting was one of Bob T.'s favorite sports. He introduced me to the waterfowl by retrieving his ducks that he claimed "I shot." The best times though were the late morning return trips when we were forced to converse to keep ourselves awake.

We solved the problems of the world.

One notable date which Bob T. always kept on his resume was August 21, 1966 — the birth date of his son, Tommy. He further notes, "On that day, Earl Watkins, then the Fraternity's chief executive who was suffering with cancer, presented Tommy with a framed Fraternity Crest and a Pledge Pin. Tommy was initiated in 1985." Bob T. presented a framed crest and pledge pin to my son, Jeff, on February 12, 1978, his birth date. My son still has it hanging in his bedroom. He, too, was initiated a few months ago.

Thanks, Bob T., for making our Fraternity and my life special. You will always be with us.

Michael R. Clancy, Jr.

Michael R. Clancy, Jr. was born in Cleveland, Ohio July 26, 1938 to Mr. Michael R. Clancy, Sr. and Mrs. Amelia Clancy. He graduated from Westlake High School in 1956 before enrolling at Bowling Green State University. At Bowling Green, Clancy earned in 1960 a bachelor's degree in education and ten years later a masters degree.

Clancy pledged Pi Kappa Alpha, Delta Beta chapter in 1957 and was initiated February 23, 1958. As an undergraduate, he served Delta Beta as kitchen steward, pledge educator and two time house manager. Clancy's honors included 1957 Outstanding Pledge and 1960 Outstanding Senior.

Following graduation, Clancy was a Delta Beta fixture, always ready with support and advice, never missing Homecoming or Founders Day celebrations. He also provided his Catawba Island/Port Clinton cottage for officer and pledge retreats. Even after Delta Beta went silent for a short period, Clancy was instrumental in the recolonization process. In short, he was known as "Mr. Pi Kappa Alpha" to many initiates and alumni of the chapter.

After years of volunteer service to Delta Beta, Clancy joined the national officer ranks in 1963 as district president, the equivalent of today's regional president position. In addition to serving as district president 1963-67 and 1969-74, he served on the 1968 nominating committee, chaired the 1982 nominating committee, and was an elected Supreme Council vice president 1974-76.

Professionally, Clancy began his career as an industrial arts teacher in Elmore, Ohio. In 1964, he was hired by North Olmsted High School where he remained until his retirement in 1991. During those 27 years, Clancy held the positions of administrative assistant, assistant junior high school principal, assistant senior high school principal, curriculum director, supervisor of facilities and up until retirement director of buildings/grounds.

Clancy was a member of the Ohio Association of Secondary School Administrators, North Olmsted Association of School Administrators, Northeast Ohio School Business Officials and North Olmsted School Employees Credit Union, where he served as supervisory committee chairman. He also was a past president of the North Olmsted Eagle Boosters.

Civically, Clancy held numerous positions with the Kiwanis Club, including governor of the Ohio District, and with its Key Club. He was a member of the Dover Masonic Lodge and Al Koran Shrine. Clancy served on the Westlake Youth Commission and was a member of the Chamber of Commerce. Finally, he served in the Army Reserves from 1960-69, retiring as a captain.

On December 18, 1993, Clancy married Anne E. Brick. She survives him along with stepsons Joseph and Andrew Brick, as well as two brothers Robert and Pi Kappa Alpha member Allen (Bowling Green, Delta Beta '60).

Memorial contributions may be sent to the Michael R. Clancy, Jr. Scholarship Fund, Ohio District Key Club, 65 Ceramic Drive, Columbus, Ohio 43214.

From the writer's perspective, Michael R. Clancy, Jr. left a lasting impression on the people he touched through Pi Kappa Alpha, teaching, Kiwanis/Key Club, Masons and all other organizations in which he belonged. In addition to his immediate family, members of these organizations were also his family. There were a number of things Michael really loved: His wife Anne "the Queen", with whom he always checked before taking on another project; the students he taught and worked with in Key Club, what better way to preserve the memory of Michael than through the scholarship fund which was the Queen's idea; the cottage on Catawba at which was held "Christmas in July", featuring Christmas lights seen by the many passers by; his gardening which he was doing when he had the heart attack; and finally Pi Kappa Alpha as a whole, particularly his chapter Delta Beta.

Michael R. Clancy, Jr. will be missed a great deal. At Anne's request, I include the Irish Blessing. It fits our friend and family member Michael.

An Irish Blessing

May the road rise with you,
May the wind be always at your back,
May the sun shine warm upon your face,
And rains fall soft upon your fields,
And until we meet again, may God keep you in the hollow of His hand.
